Table C Program Implementation Status

Housing Element Program	Housing Element Objective	Timeframe	Status of Program Implementation
H-1 Monitor the supply of residential land	H-A-1 Maintain a supply of residentially-designated land that is adequate to accommodate Healdsburg's share of the regional housing need and facilitate residential turnover with relative ease.	Ongoing	Available residentially-designated sites can accommodate up to 751 additional units. units/acre / acres / max units VLR 0-1 205.09 167 LR 1-3 16.12 12 GMU 0-3.5 11.81 62 MR 3-6 30.04 156 DR 3-8 0.52 4 MHR 6-10 14.16 150 HR 10-16 9.87 162 O/HR 10-16 3.14 38 Total 751
H-2 Consider the potential impact on the achievement of the City's quantified housing objectives when reviewing proposed residential development projects and proposals to downzone residential properties or reclassify residentially-designated property to other uses.	H-C-1 Maintain an adequate supply of land appropriate in terms of density and location for the development of housing affordable to lower- and moderate-income households.	Ongoing	No proposed residential development projects or proposals to downzone residential properties or reclassify residentially-designated property to other uses were reviewed during 2011.
H-3 Maintain City staffing and/or contracted services at levels adequate to ensure the prompt consideration of residential development applications.	H-B-1 Minimize the length of the review process for residential development applications to the extent feasible in order to minimize development costs.	Annual budget adoption	City staffing levels were maintained during 2011 at levels adequate to promptly consider residential development applications. The two parcel map applications received during 2011 were approved within 8 weeks of a complete application. Design review approval was granted by staff for 5 residences within 2 weeks of a complete application, and an application subject to Planning Commission review was approved within 4 weeks.
H-4 Explore the possibility of sponsoring a ballot measure that exempts housing units included in mixed-use buildings from the Growth Management Program.	H-B-2 Lessen the City's Growth Management Program as a constraint on the development of multi-family housing, if feasible.	Staff initiates City Council consideration by June 2011	The Central Healdsburg Avenue Special Study Area Plan Committee is considering alternative approaches to address the GMP's limitations on multi-family housing development in the Plan Area.

H-5	Revise the Subdivision Ordinance to grant to the Planning Commission authority for final action on applications for subdivisions of four or fewer parcels that do not require the acceptance of dedications.	H-B-3	Minimize the time needed for the City to review and act on applications for small subdivisions of residentially-zoned land.	2010	Implementation completed in 2009.
H-6	Amend the Zoning Ordinance to delete the conditional use permit requirement for multi-family housing projects in the Downtown Residential District.	H-B-1	Minimize the length of the review process for residential development applications to the extent feasible in order to minimize development costs.	2010	Implementation completed in 2010.
H-7	Complete construction of the Eden Housing Apartments project.	H-C-2 H-C-3	Work with non-profit organizations to benefit from their expertise and the resources available to them for the development of affordable housing and its on-going support. Facilitate the development and occupancy of housing affordable to lower- and moderate-income households, including first-time homebuyers.	2010	Implementation completed in 2010. The Foss Creek Court project includes 19 extremely low-, 32 very low- and 13 low-income units.
H-8	Complete the Victory Studios project.	H-C-3	Facilitate the development and occupancy of housing affordable to lower- and moderate-income households	2010	Implementation completed in 2009. The Victory Studios project includes 7 extremely low-income units.
