Table C – Program Implementation

Jurisdiction: City of Livermore
Reporting Period: January 2011-December 2011

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION	HOUSING PROGRAMS PROGRESS REPORT – GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 65583
Name of Program	Objective	Timeframe	Status of Implementation
1.1.1 Residential Sites Inventory	Provide sufficient sites for development of 3,394 units (1,038 very-low, 660 low, 683 moderate-income, and 1,013 above moderate), including re-designating sites to allow higher density residential by right. The amendments shall be completed within three years as follows: First year: develop list of potential sites for re-designation; Second year: work with property owners, developers and community on refining list, begin redesignation of sites; Third year: complete redesignation of sites.	By 2013	Underway. First and second year program to develop list of potential sites for redesignation and rezoning is underway. City will continue working through 2012 to re-examine feasibility of listed sites, potentially add feasible new sites, and contact property owners. Update to City Council on potential sites in early 2013. Redesignation and rezoning to occur in mid-2013.
	Re-designate and rezone sufficient sites to residential designations to allow by right a minimum of 966 units affordable to low- and very-low income households: - Re-designate and rezone a minimum of 15 acres of land to Urban-High-6 Residential (with a minimum density of 38 du/acre and a maximum of 55 du/acre) to accommodate an average of 690 low-income dwelling units on residentially designated land. Sites shall have a minimum capacity of 16 units. This will provide 50% of the remaining need on sites that allow exclusively residential.

Name of Program	Objective	Timeframe	Status of Implementation
	- Amend the Downtown Specific Plan to remove discretionary constraints on a minimum of 7 acres of land already designated for higher density residential development (with a minimum density of 30 du/acre and a maximum of 50 du/acre). Sites shall have a minimum capacity of 16 units. This will provide an average of 280 new units on residentially designated land. - Increase densities on at least 2 existing Neighborhood Mixed-Use designations to Neighborhood Mixed-High to provide an average of 226 units (with a minimum density of 24 du/acre and a maximum of 38 du/acre).
	In the event that a mixed-use site or a non-vacant site, which has been included in the City's land inventory to meet the RHNA at a specific capacity, is developed commercially or with other non-residential uses, the City will identify an additional mixed-use site with the same or more capacity as the previous site.	Ongoing program.	Ongoing. No mixed-use or vacant sites were redesignated to non-residential in 2011.
	Maintain a file in the Planning Division of vacant residential acreage, which provides an inventory of land suitable for single-family and multi-family residential development.	Ongoing program	Ongoing.
	- Maintain maps indicating current zoning as well as public facilities and services to these sites.	Ongoing program	Ongoing. The City's GIS system provides updated general plan and zoning information, and map layers of the location of public facilities and services available to residential sites.
	Include information on the Site Inventory on the City's webpage.	By 2012	Complete. The Housing Element Site Inventory is included on the City's website. CDD is also developing a more customized database using GIS to track vacant and underdeveloped residential sites.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION	HOUSING PROGRAMS PROGRESS REPORT – GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 65583
Name of Program	Objective	Timeframe	Status of Implementation
	Monitor on an annual basis the development of underutilized or vacant residential sites identified to meet the - RHND.	Annually	The City monitors development of vacant/underutilized sites annually and also through regular weekly project review meetings of new development.
	As outlined in Program 1.1.5, Mixed-use Development, identify additional sites that could be appropriate for residential.	By 2012	In process. As part of ABAG's Focus Program, the City has established three Priority Development Areas (PDAs): The Downtown Area, surrounding the proposed Isabel BART station, and on the east side of Livermore encompassing the proposed Greenville BART station and national labs. The City anticipates getting underway with a Specific Plan for the Isabel PDA in 2012/2013. Via development of the Plan, the City will identify additional sites for residential to meet MTC TOD requirements.
	As outlined in Program 2.2.2, conduct a survey of sites that currently do not permit any residential or mixed-uses in order to identify additional sites that have the potential for mixed-use.	By 2012	In process. As part of program 1.1.1, the City is examining potential feasible sites to redesignate/rezone to high density residential.
	Continue to use the HIP Targeted categories as a mechanism to encourage in-fill developments and lot consolidation for larger projects.	Ongoing	Ongoing. The 2011-2013 HIP does not involve a competition. Allocations are being awarded on a first come first serve basis. The City will continue to use targeted categories to encourage infill in future competitive HIP programs.
1.1.2 General Plan Implementation	Continue to update and amend the General Plan as needed or requested to facilitate the provision of affordable housing and smart growth principles.	Ongoing	Ongoing.
	Review infrastructure needs and pursue improvements and upgrades necessary to support intensified development on infill sites within City limits.	Ongoing	Ongoing. The City annually reviews and amends it Capital Improvement Program (CIP) as needed to accommodate upgrades to support intensified development. The 2012/2013 and 2013/2014 CIP includes storm drain system improvements at the Brisa Neighborhood Plan site to accommodate potential development of up to 510 units; and funds for BART to Livermore, which will also support intensified residential development surrounding stations.

1.1.3 Consistency with General Plan	To ensure adequate sites are available throughout the planning period to meet the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment, and to assist developers in identifying land suitable for residential development, the City will annually update its residential parcel inventory by income category.	Ongoing	Ongoing. The City updates it parcel inventory with preparation of the annual housing element progress report and as development projects are reviewed by staff.
	Should a proposed density reduction decrease the number of available sites/units below the City's RHNA for the Housing Element period, the City will identify additional sites/units to ensure the RHNA can still be met.	Ongoing	Ongoing. The City did not process any projects in 2011 with densities below that assessed in the Housing Element.
	Develop procedures to assess proposed general plan amendments and/or zone changes that would reduce density on residential sites and impact the City's RHNA.	Develop procedure by end of 2009	Complete. The City assesses proposed GPA's and zone changes that might reduce density on residential sites through its inter-departmental project referral and weekly project review meetings for all proposed new development projects.
1.1.4: Downtown Specific Plan Implementation	Continue to implement the Downtown Specific Plan as needed or requested to facilitate downtown revitalization and the provision of affordable housing and mixed-use.	Ongoing program	Ongoing. The City periodically amends the Downtown Specific Plan to facilitate revitalization, mixed-use and affordable housing.
	Continue to exempt an average of 200 units per year in the Downtown area from the HIP through 2013. This will allow a total of 2,000 units to be available at any time during this timeframe for large scale residential redevelopment catalyst projects - Continue existing DSP policy to carry over unused dwelling unit allocations during the initial ten-	Through 2013	Ongoing. The 2011-2013 HIP exempted 600 units in the Downtown Specific Plan area. Ongoing.

	year cycle ending in 2013 into subsequent years. - Re-evaluate and continue HIP exemption as needed to continue facilitating housing and redevelopment in the Downtown Specific Plan area.		Ongoing.
	Continue to utilize redevelopment funds and RDA assistance to develop key catalyst sites, promote lot consolidation, and pursue Brownfield remediation and cleanup to create opportunities for affordable housing	Ongoing	In Transition. Subject to findings regarding RDA funding.
	Monitor the need for infrastructure improvements/upgrades necessary to continue intensified development in the Downtown; and program needed improvements into the City's CIP.	Ongoing program	Ongoing. The City's CIP programs improvements/upgrades as needed for Downtown development including sewer, streetscape and parking improvements.
1.1.5: Mixed Use Development	Use the HIP to emphasize development on infill sites and to target Mixed-Use (commercial/residential) projects.	Ongoing program	Ongoing. The 2011-2013 HIP will not involve a competition. Allocations are being awarded on a first come first serve basis. The City will continue to use targeted categories to encourage infill for future competitive HIP programs.
	Identify additional sites that could be appropriate for residential Mixed-use.	By 2013	In Process. As part of the Specific Plan process for the Isabel and East Side Priority Development Areas, the City will examine potential sites/areas for residential mixed-use. As part of program 1.1.1, the City is also examining potential feasible sites to redesignate/rezone to high density residential.
	Implement Climate Change strategies that support infill, mixed-use, and high-density development (Program 2.2.2)	With development and implementation of Climate Action Plan (by 2011)	Underway. An administrative draft Climate Action Plan is being reviewed internally. A draft for public review is anticipated in summer 2012 and PC/CC review in Fall.
	To facilitate realistic capacity on mixed-use sites in General Plan areas, the City will develop form-based development standards	By 2012	Complete. In February 2010 the City adopted a new Livermore Development Code that includes new form-based zones for mixed-use with (Program 1.2.1. Comprehensive Zoning Code Update) that require a minimum percentage of residential development on mixed-use sites.		development standards that require a minimum percentage of residential development on mixed-use sites.

	Revise General Plan FAR restrictions to ensure mixed-use development can occur consistent with form-based development regulations in areas for mixed-use.	By 2013	Complete. In February 2010 (concurrent with adoption of the new Livermore Development Code) the City amended the Neighborhood Mixed-Use (NM) designation in the General Plan to require mixed-use on these sites. (Previously the designation still permitted entirely commercial projects.)
	Continue existing density incentives to promote mixed-use near transit and allow more intense residential development; also identify additional areas near transit where density incentives can be applied.	By 2013	In Process. In addition to the Downtown Area, ABAG has approved another two Priority Development Areas (PDAs) in Livermore; one near the proposed Isabel BART Station and one on the East side encompassing the Greenville BART station. Specific Plans will be developed for these sites that will identify zoning and standards to facilitate high density residential and mixed use.
	Continue to utilize Redevelopment Agency funding and other financial subsidies to promote lot consolidation to increase opportunities for mixed-use development.	Ongoing program.	In Transition. Subject to findings regarding RDA funding.
1.1.6: BART Land Use	When a BART station location is identified in Livermore, review and revise General Plan and Zoning designations to allow for transit-oriented, high density, mixed-use development as part of the new location.	By 2013 (dependent on BART preferred alignment)	Underway. The City anticipates getting underway with a Specific Plan for the Isabel PDA in 2012/2013. With development of the Plan, the City will identify additional sites for residential to meet MTC TOD requirements. The plan would establish zoning to allow transit-oriented, high density, and mix-use development near transit.
1.2.1: Comprehensive Update of Zoning Code	Stakeholder and Public Participation – Develop participatory public input process that involves stakeholders, property owners, and	July 2007 through February 2010.	Complete. In February 2010 the City adopted a new Livermore Development Code. The stakeholder and public participation process the residential development community in both the creation and adoption of the code.		included seven workshops and three public hearings early on. One workshop involved an intensive, four-day design and planning effort in collaboration with citizens, property owners, developers, interested parties and staff. The process also included stakeholder interviews early on with homebuilders, property owners, realtors, key community groups, and city commissions. A website was also maintained throughout the update, which contains all workshop presentations, summary documents, and draft regulations.

	Include form based regulations where appropriate, as well as the Green Building, Subdivision, and Water Efficient Landscape Ordinances and provisions. The updated code will incorporate smart growth principles to reduce vehicle trips, facilitate pedestrian and bicycle travel and encourage sustainable development and infill projects that maximize the use of existing infrastructure.	With completion of zoning code update by February 2012.	Complete. In February 2010 the City adopted a new Livermore Development Code. The code includes new form based regulations and smart growth principles to reduce vehicle trips, facilitate pedestrian and bicycle travel and encourage sustainable and infill development. The code includes a new neighborhood mixed-use zone to reinforce walkability, introduces thoroughfare street standards to create more pedestrian friendly, walkable environments, and allows flexible parking adjustments near transit and for shared parking.
	Ensure updated zoning districts will allow and reflect the site capacity and permitted densities specified on sites identified in Program 1.1.1. Residential Sites Inventory, and that new form based regulations and development standards do not hinder achieving these densities.	With completion of zoning code update by February 2012.	Complete. The new form-based mixed-use districts allow greater flexibility in standards, but are consistent with the underlying General Plan designations and densities. In many conventional residential zoning districts, standards were simplified and/or consolidated to eliminate confusion. Care was given to ensure proposed changes maintained consistency with the General Plan in regard to density.
	- To this end develop form based regulations and/or new zoning	By 2012	Underway. The new Development Code introduces form-based districts district with development regulations to implement UH-6 General Plan Designation (38-55 du/acre).		for high-density residential development. Specific Plans for the Isabel and East Side Priority Development Areas may also introduce form-based regulations as appropriate.

	Parking - Review and revise parking standards as appropriate for seniors and persons with disabilities. - Review and revise parking requirements as appropriate for smaller units (studios and one-bedroom units).	With completion of zoning code update by February 2012.	Complete.
	Emergency Shelters, SRO's, and Transitional and Supportive Housing - Define emergency shelters, SRO's, and transitional and supportive housing consistent with state descriptions. - Identify zoning districts and/or form based areas where emergency shelters can be permitted without discretionary review, and where SRO's will be explicitly permitted; - Allow transitional and supportive housing to be explicitly permitted as a residential use, subject only to those restrictions that apply to residential uses of the same character in the same zone.	With completion of zoning code by February 2012.	Complete. The new Livermore Development Code defines these uses, and permits transitional and supportive housing as a residential use. The City is currently underway identifying zones where emergency shelters can be permitted and will incorporate this change with the next Code Amendment in 2012.
	Review zoning code regulations to ensure compliance with fair housing practices.	By February 2012.	Complete.
	Complete comprehensive Livermore Planning and Zoning Code update by February 2012.	By February 2012.	Complete. The new Livermore Development Code was adopted February 2010.
	To facilitate realistic capacity on mixed-use sites in General Plan areas, the City will develop form-based development standards	By 2012	Complete. In February 2010 the City adopted a new Livermore Development Code that includes new form-based zones for mixed-use with (Program 1.2.1., Comprehensive Zoning Code Update) that require a minimum percentage of residential development on mixed-use sites.		development standards that require a minimum percentage of residential development on mixed-use sites.

	Revise General Plan FAR restrictions to ensure mixed-use development can occur consistent with form-based development regulations in areas for mixed-use.		Complete. As part of the Livermore Development Code, new form-based regulations were analyzed to ensure any underlying FAR restrictions would not hamper mixed-use development.
1.2.2 Mobile Home/Manufactured Home	Continue to allow mobile /manufactured homes that meet State and City codes, as well as design review requirements in all residential districts	Ongoing	Ongoing.
	Through the Minor Home Repair Program continue to provide approx. 15 to 20 rehabilitation grants to upgrade mobile home units.	2009 to 2014	Ongoing. The City provided 6 grants in 2010 and 3 grants in 2011 for mobile home units.
1.2.3. Secondary Dwelling Units	Promote the development of secondary dwelling units by providing technical assistance and placing information at public counters and City website.	By 2010	Complete.
	Continue to exempt secondary dwelling units from certain development impact fees.	Ongoing	Ongoing.
1.3.1 Licensed Community Care Facilities	Consistent with State law, continue to allow licensed community residential care facilities in all residential districts as a means of providing housing for these special need groups.	Ongoing	Ongoing. The new Livermore Development Code continues to allow licensed community residential care facilities in the residential zoning districts.

1.3.2: Universal Design	Continue to include universal design features as project specific criteria to achieve a higher project-specific rating in the HIP	2011-2014 HIP Program	Ongoing. The 2011-2013 HIP does not involve a competition. Allocations are being awarded on a first come first serve basis. The City will continue to include universal design features as project specific criteria to achieve a higher rating in the HIP when the competition resumes.
	Include universal design as "emphasized" category in future HIP programs.	2011-2014 HIP Program	Ongoing. The 2011-2013 HIP does not involve a competition. Allocations are being awarded on a first come first serve basis. The City will continue to include universal design features as emphasized category in future HIP programs.
	Develop residential design guidelines and standards that encourage "visitability" and universal design features in new homes.	By 2013
	Expand consumer awareness by providing information on universal design features at the City's Permit Center and develop resource information for the City's Permit Center website.	By 2013
1.3.3: Development of Housing for Persons with Disabilities	Continue to provide monetary subsidies, such as assistance with fee payments and construction and land costs, to market-rate developers and non-profits to encourage the development of housing for persons with disabilities.	Ongoing program.	Ongoing. In 2011, a non-profit developer acquired a single family property through a loan from the City's Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP1) which will provide shared, services-supported housing for persons with mental health disabilities to live independently. This home will be operated by a non-profit services provider in collaboration with Alameda County Behavioral Health Care Services. In May 2011, the City assisted the same non-profit to acquire a 2-bedroom unit for use as permanently affordable rental housing for persons with developmental disabilities. The Livermore Housing Authority is providing Section 8 assistance to support the unit.

	Continue to allow flexibility in standards and as feasible, incorporate flexible standards (such as reduced parking for seniors and disabled as well as smaller units) into the zoning code to facilitate special needs housing.	By 2012 (with zoning code update)	Complete.
	Continue to provide down payment assistance to provide more affordable housing opportunities for persons with disabilities.	Ongoing program.	Ongoing. In March 2011, the City assisted a developmentally disabled homebuyer to purchase a unit through the Below Market Homeownership and Mortgage Assistance Programs. The Livermore Housing Authority provided a Section 8 homeownership certificate for the homebuyer.
1.3.4: Emergency Shelters, SRO's, and Transitional and Supportive Housing	Emergency Shelters - Define emergency shelters (separate from community care facilities), consistent with state regulation; - Identify zones where emergency shelters can be permitted without discretionary review. (The City will consider those zones where shelters are currently permitted with a CUP i.e. RG, NC, CB, CO, and CP as well as the CS district).	With zoning code update by 2012	Complete. The new Livermore Development Code defines emergency shelters. The City is underway identifying zones where shelters will be permitted and will incorporate this change with the next LDC amendment in 2012.
	Single-Room Occupancy Units (SRO's) - Define single-room occupancy units, consistent with state regulation; - Identify zoning district(s) where SRO's will be explicitly permitted; - Ensure zoning district standards and permitting procedures support SRO's.	With zoning code update by 2012	Underway. The City is underway identifying zones where SROs will be permitted and will incorporate this change with the next LDC amendment in 2012.

	Transitional Housing - Define transitional housing as multi-family housing providing supportive and case management services for a limited duration, consistent with the state's description; and - This use will be explicitly permitted as a residential use, subject only to those restrictions that apply to residential uses of the same character in the same zone.	With zoning code update by 2012	Complete. This use has been defined in the new Livermore Development Code and is permitted as a residential use in residential zones.
	Supportive Housing - Define supportive housing as multi-family housing linked to onsite/offsite services, and occupied by a target population, but with no limit on length of stay, consistent with the state's description; and - This use will be explicitly permitted as a residential use, subject only to those restrictions that apply to residential uses of the same character in the same zone.	With zoning code update by 2012	Complete. This use has been defined in the new Livermore Development Code and is permitted as a residential use in residential zones.
	Participate in 2009 regional homeless count to assess local need, where homeless are residing when they are not on the street, and how and where they are accessing services.	By end of 2009	Complete. The City also participated in the completion of an additional regional homeless count in 2010.
1.3.5: Reasonable Accommodation	Adopt policies that reflect the City's existing administrative procedures to address Reasonable Accommodation requests.	By 2011	Complete. The new Livermore Development Code outlines procedures to address reasonable accommodation (Chapter 9.06).
	Develop public handout that outlines the Community Development Department's procedures for reasonable accommodations.	By 2011	Underway.
	Continue to conduct fair housing tests for reasonable accommodations in multi-family rental properties; and	Ongoing program.	Ongoing. In 2011, 10 rental properties in Livermore were tested for reasonable accommodations for

2.1.1: Housing Implementation Program (HIP)	Continue to implement the HIP as a means of managing and balancing growth with the provision of a variety of housing types, as well as adequate services, facilities, and infrastructure.	Ongoing program, 2009-2014.	Ongoing.
	Consistent with General Plan policy, future HIP programs shall address the need to provide very low- and low-income housing units to meet ABAG's housing needs determination; and shall establish allocations sufficient to accommodate any remaining RHNA through 2014. - In the event there are insufficient allocations in any specific program area such as TDC allocations, for sites identified in the inventory, the City will reprogram allocations as needed in order to meet the City's regional need.	By 2011(2011-2013 HIP); and by 2014 (2014 to 2016 HIP).	Ongoing. Consistent with General Plan policy and as part of the Community and Infrastructure Report, the City considers the need to provide very-low and low-income housing consistent with ABAG's housing needs determination, when establishing the growth range and HIP policy.
	Continue to allow exemptions to the HIP competition in the Downtown and in conjunction with the TDC Program to achieve City goals pertaining to smart growth, infill development and resource preservation	Ongoing program.	Ongoing. The City continues to allow exemptions to the HIP competition. The 2011-2013 HIP provided exemptions for projects in the Downtown Specific Plan area and for TDC projects.
	Continue to allow the HIP exemption for projects with at least 35% very-low income units and emphasize these types of projects.	Ongoing program	Ongoing.
	Provide information on emphasized categories on Community Development website and conduct outreach to local developers.	By 2011(2011-2013 HIP); and by 2014 (2014 to 2016 HIP).	Ongoing. Information on the HIP program and application process are posted on the city website. City planning staff is also available to meet and answer questions one-on-one with potential applicants. The City also conducts notification and outreach to local developers.
