General Comments:

For the past few years the level of building activity in the City has been extremely low. Therefore, the opportunity to provide new very-low and low income units has been severely limited. However, assistance to low and very low income households has been substantial. See status reports on the various programs in Table C.

Program 19: Inventory of Residential Sites. The City will maintain an inventory of vacant and underutilized sites to accommodate the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) of 1995 units.	The City will promote the use of the vacant and underutilized land through the following actions: Preparation of the General Plan Update; Preparation of the Historic Downtown Specific Plan; Coordinate mixed use opportunities; Apply density bonuses (FAR) through mixed use regulations.	Ongoing	Specifically, the City has already achieved 638 units since January 1, 2006 with a remaining RHNA of 1,357 units (424 very low, 309 low, 372 moderate, 252 above moderate income units). The City will ensure that an adequate supply of vacant and underutilized sites at appropriate densities and development standards to accommodate the remaining RHNA. To date, the city has completed the Historic Downtown Specific Plan and is working on completion of the General Plan update.
Program 20: Lot Consolidation Program. This program establishes incentives for lot consolidation in the downtown area in order to maximize development and redevelopment potential. Under this program, projects requesting lot consolidation may be eligible for increased floor area ratio (FAR) bonuses as well as fee assistance and other financial incentives.	Establish incentives for lot consolidation within one year of adoption of the Housing Element. In addition, actively pursue land-banking opportunities using redevelopment funds as properties become available on the market.	Ongoing	Establish incentives for lot consolidation within one year of adoption of the General Plan Update. In addition, actively pursue land-banking opportunities using redevelopment funds as properties become available on the market.

Program 21: Infill Housing Program. The City actively pursues affordable housing through infill developments. The Agency acquired an infill site and has decided to develop this site on their own. The Agency anticipates to construct seven to nine single-family houses affordable to moderate income households.	Identify and acquire, as funding permits, sites that are suitable for infill housing development, and provide sites to qualified nonprofit developers for affordable housing.	Ongoing	Identify and acquire, as funding permits, sites that are suitable for infill housing development, and provide sites to qualified nonprofit developers for affordable housing. The five year goal is 115 units. The Upland Community Housing Inc. (UCHI). Is developing a 72 unit senior housing project within the Town Center. The Agency is proposing to develop seven to nine affordable single family units on land that was acquired a few years ago.
Program 22: Extremely Low Income and Special Needs Housing. Extremely low income households and households with special needs have limited housing options in Upland. Housing types appropriate for these groups include: emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).	The City of Upland's Zoning Ordinance does not specifically address the provision of the suitable housing types. Within one year after the adoption of the Housing Element, the City will amend its Zoning Ordinance to accommodate provisions for residential care facilities emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).	Ongoing	The City is planning to prepare a comprehensive update to its Development Code after the adoption of the General Plan. The General Plan is scheduled to be completed by December, 2012. The Development Code Amendment will be completed one year after the adoption of the General Plan update. The updated Development Code will address provisions for residential care facilities emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).
Program 23: Density Bonus. State law requires the provision of certain incentives for residential development projects that set aside a certain portion of total units to be affordable to lower and moderate income households. The City's current incentives for development of affordable and senior housing are not consistent with recent changes to the State density bonus law.	The Housing Element encourages the provision of density bonuses in accordance with State Law.	2008-2014	Within one year after the adoption of the General Plan Update the City will amend its Zoning Ordinance to reflect current State density bonus law amendments. Also, the City will develop a brochure of development incentives and distribute information on the City's website and at the public counters.
Program 24: Historic Downtown Specific Plan. The City has completed the preparation of the Historic Downtown Specific Plan. This plan promotes multiple-family development in the downtown area. Requirements for a Conditional Use Permit (CUP) for higher density residential development will be modified or eliminated with the adoption of the Specific Plan.	The Housing Element promotes the inclusion of mixed uses, various housing types and densities, and improvements in the Downtown Area through the Specific Plan process.	2008-2014	The City Council adopted of the Historic Downtown Specific Plan and EIR on September, 26, 2011.

Program 25: Definition of Family The City of Upland currently has the following definition for an unrelated family, "a group of not more than five persons who need not be related by blood, marriage, or legal adoption (excluding servants) living together as a single housekeeping unit in a dwelling unit. This definition is considered restrictive and may potentially impede group housing arrangements for persons with disabilities	The Housing Element promotes the elimination of overly restrictive zoning regulations.	2008-2014	Comprehensive revisions to the Development Code will be completed within one year after adoption of the General Plan Update. (2013)
Program 26: Reasonable Accommodations. The Fair Housing Act requires that cities and counties provide reasonable accommodation to rules policies, practices, and procedures where such accommodation may be necessary to afford individuals with disabilities equal housing opportunities.	The City will create a process for making requests for reasonable accommodations to land use and zoning decisions and procedures regulating the siting, funding development and use of housing for people with disabilities within one year of adoption of the Housing Element.	Ongoing	The City continues to work on a process for reasonable accommodations to land use and zoning decisions.
Program 27: Fair Housing. The City continues to review and negotiate lending practice activities under the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) goals and Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMMA). During FY 2009, Upland contracted with the Inland Fair Housing and Mediation Board to review lending practices of three Upland lenders and three lenders chosen by the County of San Bernardino.	Continue to promote fair housing practices and provide educational information of fair housing to the public at public counters and on the City's website. Refer fair housing complaints to the Inland Fair Housing and Mediation Board.	Ongoing	The City continues to promote fair housing practices and provides educational information regarding fair housing to the public. It is anticipated that this program has assisted 43 low income individuals and families. The City staff and IMFHB have met on several occasions to discuss the creation of specific goals and accountability to those goals pursuant to the City's Analysis of Impediments report.

Other Programs
Home Weatherization Program. The Home Weatherization Program is administered by Community Action Agency	The City will continue to encourage energy conservation; In addition, as part of the General Plan update, the City will incorporate policies and measures to encourage energy conservation, including the promotion of mixed use/sustainable development.	Ongoing	Program typically serves approximately 10 households in Upland per year. In 2011, the City will encourage continued participation in this program.
General Plan Implementation Program- Encourage Energy Conservation features in Residential construction and remodeling. The City requires conformance with the UBC and Title 24 requirements. Literature is provided to the public with guidelines and information for energy conservation for the homeowner and the building contractor.	Currently, revisions to the Building Code that encourage "Green" Building techniques are being considered by the City Council.		The City will continue to encourage energy conservation; In addition, as part of the General Plan update, the City will incorporate policies and measures to encourage energy conservation, including the promotion of mixed use/sustainable development. Energy Conservation regulations and practices will be addressed in the Comprehensive Development Code update, which is expected to be completed in 2013.
Zoning Code – Generally the Zoning Code provides minimal constraints on the development of low or moderate-income housing projects. However, the Housing Element identifies several concerns regarding the residential parking requirements. The requirement for Studio Apartments is 2 spaces per unit plus .5 spaces for guests. This is considered excessive. Also, the Housing Element notes that the shared parking provisions in commercial areas adjacent to residential projects are not being implemented. This could result in higher construction costs.	The City is in the process of preparing a density bonus ordinance in compliance with the recent state laws. This will include revised parking standards for low or moderate-income housing projects. As a part of the proposed Downtown Specific Plan, the City is also considering shared parking opportunities.	2008-2014	The 2008-2014 Housing Element encourages amendments to the Zoning Ordinance that will address the following: Residential Care Facilities, Emergency Shelters, Transitional and Supportive Housing, Single Room Occupancy (SRO), Definition of Family, Density Bonus Provisions, and Parking Revisions. These amendments will be considered as a part of a Comprehensive Development Code Update, which will begin after the General Plan Update is approved in late 2012.
Accessory Dwelling Units –The Housing Element outlines the City's requirements and standards for permitting Accessory Dwelling Units or "Granny Flats". While no specific requirement was indicated as an unnecessary "constraint", a program to reduce application fees and reduce development standards may make the program more attractive to property owners.	The City will promote the use of accessory units or "Granny Flats" and will provide amendments to the Development Code that will reduce constraints on the provision of these units.		The City has revised its Accessory (Second) Dwelling Unit ordinance and will consider options to make the option more convenient and attractive to property owners (especially seniors). Provisions for administrative approval of Accessory Dwellings have been approved. This work will continue and will be considered as a part of the Comprehensive revision to the Development Code.

General Comments:

For the past few years the level of building activity in the City has been extremely low. Therefore, the opportunity to provide new very-low and low income units has been severely limited. However, assistance to low and very low income households has been substantial. See status reports on the various programs in Table C.

Program 19: Inventory of Residential Sites. The City will maintain an inventory of vacant and underutilized sites to accommodate the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) of 1995 units.	The City will promote the use of the vacant and underutilized land through the following actions: Preparation of the General Plan Update; Preparation of the Historic Downtown Specific Plan; Coordinate mixed use opportunities; Apply density bonuses (FAR) through mixed use regulations.	Ongoing	Specifically, the City has already achieved 638 units since January 1, 2006 with a remaining RHNA of 1,357 units (424 very low, 309 low, 372 moderate, 252 above moderate income units). The Agency is proposing to develop seven to nine affordable single family units on land that was acquired a few years ago.
Program 22: Extremely Low Income and Special Needs Housing. Extremely low income households and households with special needs have limited housing options in Upland. Housing types appropriate for these groups include: emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).	The City of Upland's Zoning Ordinance does not specifically address the provision of the suitable housing types. Within one year after the adoption of the Housing Element, the City will amend its Zoning Ordinance to accommodate provisions for residential care facilities emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).	Ongoing	The City is planning to prepare a comprehensive update to its Development Code after the adoption of the General Plan. The updated Development Code will address provisions for residential care facilities emergency shelters, transitional housing, supportive housing, single-room occupancy (SRO).
Program 23: Density Bonus. State law requires the provision of certain incentives for residential development projects that set aside a certain portion of total units to be affordable to lower and moderate income households. The City's current incentives for development of affordable and senior housing are not consistent with recent changes to the State density bonus law.	The Housing Element encourages the provision of density bonuses in accordance with State Law.	2008-2014	Within one year after the adoption of the General Plan Update the City will amend its Zoning Ordinance to reflect current State density bonus law amendments. This plan promotes multiple-family development in the downtown area. Program 25: Definition of Family The City of Upland currently has the following definition for an unrelated family, "a group of not more than five persons who need not be related by blood, marriage, or legal adoption (excluding servants) living together as a single housekeeping unit in a dwelling unit. This definition is considered restrictive and may potentially impede group housing arrangements for persons with disabilities	The Housing Element promotes the elimination of overly restrictive zoning regulations.	2008-2014	Comprehensive revisions to the Development Code will be completed within one year after adoption of the General Plan Update. (2013)
Program 26: Reasonable Accommodations. The Fair Housing Act requires that cities and counties provide reasonable accommodation to rules policies, practices, and procedures where such accommodation may be necessary to afford individuals with disabilities equal housing opportunities.	The City will create a process for making requests for reasonable accommodations to land use and zoning decisions and procedures regulating the siting, funding development and use of housing for people with disabilities within one year of adoption of the Housing Element.	Ongoing	The City continues to work on a process for reasonable accommodations to land use and zoning decisions.
Program 27: Fair Housing. The City continues to review and negotiate lending practice activities under the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) goals and Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMMA). During FY 2009, Upland contracted with the Inland Fair Housing and Mediation Board to review lending practices of three Upland lenders and three lenders chosen by the County of San Bernardino.	Continue to promote fair housing practices and provide educational information of fair housing to the public at public counters and on the City's website. Refer fair housing complaints to the Inland Fair Housing and Mediation Board.	Ongoing	The City continues to promote fair housing practices and provides educational information regarding fair housing to the public. It is anticipated that this program has assisted 43 low income individuals and families. The City staff and IMFHB have met on several occasions to discuss the creation of specific goals and accountability to those goals pursuant to the City's Analysis of Impediments report.

Other Programs
Home Weatherization Program. The Home Weatherization Program is administered by Community Action Agency	The City will continue to encourage energy conservation; In addition, as part of the General Plan update, the City will incorporate policies and measures to encourage energy conservation, including the promotion of mixed use/sustainable development.	Ongoing	Program typically serves approximately 10 households in Upland per year. In 2011, the City will encourage continued participation in this program.
General Plan Implementation Program- Encourage Energy Conservation features in Residential construction and remodeling. The City requires conformance with the UBC and Title 24 requirements. Literature is provided to the public with guidelines and information for energy conservation for the homeowner and the building contractor.	Currently, revisions to the Building Code that encourage "Green" Building techniques are being considered by the City Council.		The City will continue to encourage energy conservation; In addition, as part of the General Plan update, the City will incorporate policies and measures to encourage energy conservation, including the promotion of mixed use/sustainable development. Energy Conservation regulations and practices will be addressed in the Comprehensive Development Code update, which is expected to be completed in 2013.
Zoning Code – Generally the Zoning Code provides minimal constraints on the development of low or moderate-income housing projects. However, the Housing Element identifies several concerns regarding the residential parking requirements. The requirement for Studio Apartments is 2 spaces per unit plus .5 spaces for guests. This is considered excessive. Also, the Housing Element notes that the shared parking provisions in commercial areas adjacent to residential projects are not being implemented. This could result in higher construction costs.	The City is in the process of preparing a density bonus ordinance in compliance with the recent state laws. This will include revised parking standards for low or moderate-income housing projects. As a part of the proposed Downtown Specific Plan ,the City is also considering shared parking opportunities.	2008-2014	The 2008-2014 Housing Element encourages amendments to the Zoning Ordinance that will address the following: Residential Care Facilities, Emergency Shelters, Transitional and Supportive Housing, Single Room Occupancy (SRO), Definition of Family, Density Bonus Provisions, and Parking Revisions. These amendments will be considered as a part of a Comprehensive Development Code Update, which will begin after the General Plan Update is approved in late 2012.
Accessory Dwelling Units –The Housing Element outlines the City's requirements and standards for permitting Accessory Dwelling Units or "Granny Flats". While no specific requirement was indicated as an unnecessary "constraint", a program to reduce application fees and reduce development standards may make the program more attractive to property owners.	The City will promote the use of accessory units or "Granny Flats" and will provide amendments to the Development Code that will reduce constraints on the provision of these units.		The City has revised its Accessory (Second) Dwelling Unit ordinance and will consider options to make the option more convenient and attractive to property owners (especially seniors). Provisions for administrative approval of Accessory Dwellings have been approved. This work will continue and will be considered as a part of the Comprehensive revision to the Development Code.
