THE HIGH DENSITY HOUSING ELEMENT IN HILLSBOROUGH!

SAVE HILLSBOROUGH
AND SAY NO TO THE
HOUSING ELEMENT!

✓ WE ARE NOT SHORT ON HOUSING!

In fact, San Mateo County is losing population with many residents moving out of state.

✓ THERE IS AN ABUNDANCE OF APARTMENTS FOR RENT!

In fact, many apartment rental prices are dropping in San Mateo County due to the lack of demand. This draft plan opens up a slippery slope for our town of Hillsborough.

✓ PROPERTY VALUES WILL GO DOWN!

This means less tax money collected by San Mateo County. Hillsborough is highly valued due to the fact that it consists of only single family homes, no multi unit condominiums, apartments, or townhouses.

✓ WE JUST DO NOT HAVE THE RESOURCES!

The increase in people and traffic means we would need more police presence. Public utilities like water and power are already strained with drought and power outages. Our highly rated schools will get crowded with an increase of roughly 10-25% enrollment.

WHAT YOU CAN DO!

LET OUR HILLSBOROUGH CITY COUNCIL KNOW YOU OPPOSE THEIR PLAN BY FILLING OUT THIS FORM

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

We would like to express our opposition to the current "Draft housing plan" in Hillsborough. The current plan will add to road congestion on the vicinity roads as it does not address infrastructure issues. Proximity to El Camino is not a thoughtful idea. Many people will need access to I-280 or I-101 or to the BART. Hillsborough borders with El Camino is far from those 3 spots. It will be a poor solution to direct that traffic to El Camino, which is what the current draft will cause.

As you know, often there are many solutions to one problem. Certainly the current "draft housing plan" is among the poor solutions.

We would like to express our strong opposition to the current draft housing plan and would like to ask you not to vote for or pass the current plan that was led by an outside consultant with no personal ties to our town. We would like to suggest using the talent of individuals who live in Hillsborough in finding alternative ideas.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its residents.

Please let us know if there's anything we can do to find an alternative solution.

Tara and Mehran Farid

Dear Major, Council Members and City Attorney,

We are writing with great concern about the Housing Element Plan for our town of Hillsborough. We want to thank you first for your hard work trying to create a plan to meet the state requirements on affordable housing. However, as currently proposed, we strongly oppose to the Housing Element draft.

- the plan, as is, is a dangerous starting point of a slippery slope and will be detrimental to the community of Hillsborough, pressuring our public infrastructure, school resources, traffic, and risk changing forever the unique characteristic of what makes the unique community.

- There is a better and more acceptable alternative strategy - we should and can follow the lead of similar towns like Atherton to focus heavily on ADUs to satisfy state requirements. Atherton removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. We ask that you follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal

- Increase communication and community awareness of such a dramatic change to the town. We find that many of our neighbours have just become aware of this project recently, and may not have fully appreciated the consequence of proposed changes. We ask that more thorough discussions be held, and solutions put forward by the community and be considered by the council.

We appreciate your consideration, and thank you again for your dedication to our town and residents.

I moved to Hillsborough because of quality of the town..... large lots, quiet streets, no sidewalks, no commerce or industry. Just homes, schools, a golf course and the Racquet Club. This is what Hillsborough is about. Any changes to the zoning rules will forever change this and we will end up with far too many people on smaller lots. If anything larger lots allow for larger beautiful homes. The new zoning suggestions will forever change the character of this fabulous town. I am completely opposed to the changes suggested. If this is a must, find a location on the edges of the town and put up all the housing together in one spot where we will not see it.

I am supportive of Hillsborough's proposed zoning changes. They seem reasonable, thoughtful and practical.

I am disappointed by the NIMBY reaction that some vocal residents have had. I have received many emails that include false statements about what is being proposed, designed to invoke outrage. Because of that, I'm guessing you will receive more responses opposing the plan than supporting it. There is a lot of misinformation floating around.

Hillsborough must comply with the state mandate and the plan seems appropriate to me. Thank you for the work that has gone into it.

Greetings,

My husband, son, and I moved to Hillsborough in 2016 from San Mateo. Our reason for buying a home in Hillsborough was simple: Space and charm. Our fear is that the plan for adding more additional dwelling units will change the unique charm and obvious space that home owners seek when purchasing a home in this amazing community. We invest a lot of our wealth into our homes not because we have money burning a hole in our pockets but rather as an investment in our quality of life and mental health. The Bay Area is growing and hence we deal with over crowded roadways, stores, healthcare facilities, etc and our homes and community provide a safe haven from all of the above. Should Hillsborough become crowded and over populated there is no doubt that it's reputation will take a big hit and home values will tank and those supporting a huge tax base for Hillsborough will likely move.

Please consider reconsidering this movement and keep Hillsborough what Hillsborough has always been since it's inception: A refuge from crowded city life.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear team,

I truly know in my heart that you are going to do what's best for the town. I came out of the zoom more concerned about the impact as I stated below, as well as the impact on our housing values if this plan stands as it is.

If you could please give more visibility to all of the community, that would be helpful. Most of my neighbors in the area, as well as those in the school district who are busy raising family and getting back to work after the pandemic, do not know that this is occurring, let alone the tight time frames. If you could please provide a more targeted communication plan so that the whole town knows, I think you could really get a better sense of the community. If not, please push out the vote to 1) review other plans 2) complete a more systematic and widespread study on the impact 3) communicate more wholly into the community.

Thank you for your consideration.

Warmest,
Gerri Wong

Dear cherished members of the council of Hillsborough,

I am concerned about the current draft plan for housing. We have lived here for the past ten years and love the small, family-oriented community. I believe in diversity, equity, and inclusion and are open to development, but NOT in this rushed form that 1) does not take into account feedback from the community 2) because it was completed by an OUTSIDE AGENCY/CONSULTANT who is 3) taking the state's mandate as it stands without much thought, research, or foresight 4) not taking into account and completing a full research report on the impact of this plan, mainly how this plan affects our town's ability to SERVICE and SUPPORT the extreme increase in population as a result of this MANDATE from safety with regards to both police and fire support, water service support, school size increases, traffic, etc. to name a few. As such, most homeowners are alarmed and would like to respectfully ask that the empathetic people in charge of representing us consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve the state goals without giving up so much. My heart goes out to the homes adversely affected and those who unknowingly bought, assuming that their homes would never have huge, unsightly apartments overlooking their backyards and families. I know several families affected. I wonder how many will ultimately be affected due to this current plan. It is one thing to buy a home knowingly with these conditions, but another to not know or have a say and have it done as part of a mandate.

Smart Housing for Hillsborough makes sense. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've put into place. Both Atherton and Woodside took several years to develop their plan and carefully built it in a way that provided growth.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any bad decisions. Thank you for carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners and for moving forward with a plan acceptable to both the community and the state.

We would like to add our names to the list of residents who are in favor of ADU additions to fulfill our requirement for the housing plan.

Learning that the persons responsible for the draft had been chosen by the state and paid for by us, Hillsborough citizens, is infuriating to say the least. Clearly whomever was responsible for the draft had absolutely no concept of our unique town.

There already exist many hundreds of unregistered ADU's in Hillsborough and a bit of work to register those would yield, I feel certain, adequate numbers of housing units for the plan required by the state.

TOWN OF HILLSBOROUGH

To Our Much-Appreciated Hillsborough Town Council:

"If we build it, they will come." I think Scott Weiner said that.

Of the 4,000 houses in Hillsborough, how many are owner-occupied? How many are not occupied at all? How many are rented out? Building ADUs where the property is not owner-occupied is a no-go. Wouldn't people who reside on an owner's property have every tenant rights that California generously offers? Is rent control going to raise its ugly head? How will property owners be made aware of the extensive rights that tenants would have? When the owner wants to sell the property, can the tenant refuse to vacate?

As it has been human nature for thousands of years to protect and guard one's property, very, very few owners would welcome strangers to live within their boundaries which begs the question: what's the purpose of all this, anyway, when the state's end goal is unobtainable?

Regarding communication between Town Hall and town residents/owners ~ At no time did my husband or I receive any postcards from the Town alerting us to this upcoming unrealistic and unacceptable state mandate.

The emailed weekly news just isn't worth the time to open up and read as there is usually little interesting information in it. (Last week's news invited people to attend the North School meeting that had taken place days earlier.)

When there's a major issue involving all residents, perhaps emailing out a short video to residents (with the topic in the subject line) would guide residents/owners to an easy way to access more information on the town website. There's still time left....

Sally Meakin

I wanted to send an email since all of the many homeowners I've spoken to in Hillsborough along with my family are extremely concerned about the current draft plan for housing. In the 16 years that we've lived here, this is probably the most important issue that affects our town's aesthetics and natural features, safety, schools, property values, traffic - basically everything is at stake and could be affected adversely by the current plan. There is a reason our town is such a special, beautiful and safe place to live and we hope that we can best preserve what attracted us all to move here as much as possible. As such, most homeowners are alarmed and would like to respectfully ask that the hard-working people who are in charge of representing us to please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve the state goals without giving up so much.

One of the plans is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough and seems to have some excellent alternative ideas. Please do not vote for or pass the current plan that was led by an outside consultant with no personal ties to this special place that is home to us. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners in order to move forward with a plan that most accept and support versus the current draft plan.

Please let us know if there's anything we can do towards helping the town to reach an alternative plan that protects us better.

Hello Hillsborough,

In looking at the proposed plan and the alternative plan which has been proposed by Khristine Holtermn and numerous other town members, the alternate plan looks far superior. I urge the town to consider it's many suggestions.

Thanks,

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

We, as well as many other community members, are extremely concerned about the current draft plan for housing. In the 13 years that we've lived here, this is probably the most important issue that affects our town's aesthetics and natural features, safety, schools, property values, traffic, electric grid, sewage, water, crowding - basically everything is at stake and could be affected adversely by the current plan. Our schools are at the heart of Hillsborough and a key reason for our good property values.

Yet for many school teachers it is increasingly out of reach to live nearby!

I would love to see the housing on the Town Hall Campus be earmarked priority for teachers and police and other workers in our town!

That will be key to retaining great talent + help instill a strong sense of community.

Thank you for considering this idea.

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Royce, Vice Mayor Krolik and Hillsborough City Council Members,

Thank you for the meeting last Monday. We were in attendance at the meeting in person and then over Zoom. We continue to remain firm in that we do not agree with the plans presented for Town Hall and RHNA6 housing element update presented. We heard a lot of strong feedback for why these plans are not in the best interest in preserving our town's character and they do not represent the desire of the residents that live here. These plans were crafted by a group of consultants from Los Angeles who have no understanding, nor ties to our town. They did not factor in the need to include Centennial Park- a place where we honor our veterans and is the start of our beloved annual Memorial Day parade. The consultants also did not consider preserving the historical significance of the police and fire station, which are some of the oldest buildings of our town. When residents purchase historical homes here, they are required to preserve its historical nature. How can this important piece be overlooked when planning out the Town Hall campus? Further, why are we discussing three sets of potential plans when studies on environment, traffic, the need for increased fire and police personnel, impact on schools, etc. been done? When homeowners submit for permits, we have to jump through so many hoops to get anything approved, including notifying nearby neighbors. It seems that these plans have been well underway before many of us in the community were aware.

In order to meet the state mandates, we are in support of the alternative Smart Housing for Hillsborough proposal as a starting place. This plan was carefully drafted by actual residents of our town that sit on the HEAC committee. We feel this plan is a better way in that it prevents unnecessary "up-zoning", accelerates the creation rate for ADUs/JADUs, employs vacant lots, including town-owned properties, protects owners of older and smaller homes, reduces the amount of buffer units, incorporates SB9 units into the plan, and most importantly, largely preserves the character of our town and reflects what the majority of our community wants, while meeting the state mandates.

As you draft a new plan that incorporates the feedback that you have received thus far, we urge you to continue to reach out to your constituents, the Hillsborough Residents, and gather their input. We look to you to represent what the residents of our town want and truly hope that you can follow through for us.

Sincerely,

Joyce Bernas-Yung and Jeff Yung

Dear Sir/Madam;

My wife and I have reviewed the Draft Housing Element and would like to provide our feedback as requested. While we certainly understand the challenges faced to reach the required additional units and are in favor of many of the proposed actions to achieve it, we are vehemently opposed to upzoning the whole of Hillsborough - reducing the minimum lot size, street frontage, height restrictions, reduced setbacks, increased floor area ratios, reduced landscaping coverage, etc. This would, over time, fundamentally change the character of Hillsborough and make it a much less desirable place to live, not to mention the almost certain decline in property values.

I have also reviewed an alternative plan - Smart Housing for Hillsborough - and find it to be much more acceptable. As with any good plan, you should set a goal to meet your objectives with the least objectionable step first - in this case, ADU's and JADU's - and do everything possible to promote those in sufficient quantity to meet the goal. I think the alternative plan also goes into detail regarding acceptable additional steps that should be taken and that we are in favor of. However, changing the zoning restrictions for the town as a whole would not be acceptable to me and the many neighbors that I have talked to about this.

I would suggest that the city council either adopt the alternative plan or revise the proposed housing element to eliminate upzoning, reduce the buffer units and incorporate some of the suggestions in the alternative plan.

Thank you,
Ken and Caroline Zimmerman

Subject: Hillsborough High Density element

Stanley,

I received your note regarding your opposition to the Hillsborough High Density Housing Element and I absolutely agree with your opposition.

I have been a resident of Hillsborough since 1965 and currently live at 675 Pullman Road. In addition to your points you provided the City Council, I would like to add the following:

- Adding high density to Hillsborough will not provide a solution. High density housing is most appropriate adjacent to rail, Bart, bus lines. Congestion in Hillsborough will not help anyone.
- Property values will go down further. Hillsborough home prices are very much a function of interest rates and jobs. Jobs are quickly leaving the area and interest rates are likely now to revert to the norm of higher rates. Putting high density in the wrong area will only cause property values to permanently be negatively impacted without providing any benefit to the overall housing issues of the Bay Area. While the recession will not last forever, permanently changing the character and cheapening the product (housing) will not help. For decades Hillsborough has been careful by promoting and approving development that enhanced the community, changing that now is a mistake.
- There are many case studies of ill-conceived plans that ruin neighborhoods. In the 1950's no one thought that Detroit would ever decline. Ill-conceived plans there caused the decline faster than anyone anticipated. We should learn from this.
- Many residents, including myself, are contemplating moving from Hillsborough. Plans that do not address the interests of our residents will only speed this up to the detriment of everyone.

While I am aware that there may be constraints imposed by other governing entities, I urge the City Council to be thoughtful in exploring all alternatives (additional ADU's etc.) that would be more appropriate, especially as the Bay Area as a whole is experiencing increased vacancies, reduced jobs and lower home prices.

Thank you,

George Rogers

Dear Hillsborough Town City Hall members

I am forwarding you my below feedback email, with

Few high-level points

- My wife and I deeply love Hillsborough--we have been living here for 27 years
 - Raised 3 daughters and 1 son who attended Crocker and West School
 - I am not a democrat nor a republican, and not part of any "special interest group"
 - My educational background, UC Berkeley B.S. Industrial Engineering & Operations Research, later MBA in Finance,
 - 45-year work experience, domestic and International, as Financial Controller of global businesses, General Manager of the 4,000 employee Penang site in Malaysia, deep experience in Real Estate, Facilities construction, maintenance, engagements with many vendors and contractors. I feel I have the credibility to express my views on this important subject, in addition to my wife and I being very caring residents of this beautiful Town.
 - Gavin Newsom signed legislation in Sept 28, 2021 to increase affordable housing
 - Signing legislation, making speeches about this is obviously the very easy part
 - Gavin Newsom is a master politician, and his track record is terrible
 - California is one of THE worst mismanaged states
 - He loves to blame rather than really understand root causes, show sustained leadership to fix very serious and dangerous major issues in the State
 - All throughout the fires that ravaged Santa Rosa, Sonoma: all he did was blame PG&E
 - California Electric power grid has not had enough capacity for a long time
 - Gavin Newsome has not been part of leading and driving the solution
 - To plan and execute low-cost housing is very hard work with not enough success stories.
- The "devil is in the details"
- As you are aware, the politics of such a project is a hornets' nest of powerful interest groups....
 - I understand there are over 200 affordable housing projects in the Bay Area that are supposedly shovel ready, but still stuck in the pre-development stage due lack of funding
 - The term "low-cost housing" sounds nice but is extremely difficult to achieve
 - Builders of affordable housing must comply with the same guidelines on design and construction as market-rate housing projects. Affordable projects often must comply with even higher design standards due to some reliance on public dollars
 - The goal of building low-cost housing, for Hillsborough firefighters, police and teachers likely to be elusive: One reason
 - I bet, there will always be lower than Hillsborough cost housing for them within 15 miles of Hillsborough
 - Will the Town be able to pass a law that, if you don't work for Hillsborough, you can't buy such a low-cost house?

In my humble and candid opinion, my summary observations

- I have reviewed available material on your website and spoken with few of the hosts during the Sept 6th evening Public Open House at North School. I have not seen a compelling summary case for this project.

- All the goals and objectives of this project are probably not likely to be achieved

1) If one of the objectives is to create affordable housing for a special group: Firefighters, Police and teachers who work in Hillsborough but don't live here

- To work and live in the same town, is an elusive goal and extremely rare. I assume this is not a City Hall goal. If it is, then likely to be a false promise
- Why this group of people are not renting or buying within a 10-15mile radius of Hillsborough—the very likely answer: they can't afford it.
- Does the Town of Hillsborough really believe they can build lower cost housing within a 10-15mile radius?
 - With land prices in Hillsborough, escalating construction costs, material and labor shortages, public housing stringent requirements, union rates, etc, I don't see how this is possible
 - I am very doubtful: if and when, this project is completed, this special group will be able to afford to live in Hillsborough
- More likely, after messing up beautiful Hillsborough's very precious attributes, as we have known it for decades, other than this special group, who can afford it, will likely move-in to Hillsborough

2) If a second objective is to comply to a mandate from consummate politician Gavin Newsom, in my opinion, this should be pushed back and assign resources to find other alternatives

Mr. Newsom, is doing political grandstanding, as he wants to "check the box" for his future career aspirations. I don't know for sure, but I doubt, this "Mandate" will apply to every Town and City, in California.

3) Consider an alternative, while honoring free choice and addressing affordable housing. Good idea to redouble efforts to work with relevant County, State and Federal government agencies to establish a tiered criterion of issuing vouchers for relevant special groups to be eligible for lower cost housing. They should be given the choice to choose where they want to live.

4) Recap of my recommendations from below email

- Why not send a summary email (with less than ten slides) to all residents to make them much better aware
- 11,000 residents: Should get a high percentage of them to agree before this measure is seriously considered for implementation

Even if passed, only a "baby step" should be considered in only one location in the Town to learn from this experience

I don't know all the details, but if the State is providing part of the funding for affordable housing in Hillsborough, that amount will absolutely be dwarfed by the very large market value drop of properties in Hillsborough. This will be all borne by the residents of Hillsborough. Hence, it is essential that City Council ensure virtually all residents are well aware, eg via Email, of this seachange project and provide their feedback to you. The future of beautiful Hillsborough is in your hands

Thanks for the opportunity to provide this feedback

Best Regards

Hi

I had an opportunity to review the draft material on Housing Development on your website. I attended the 6pm Public Open House yesterday evening at North School Multipurpose Room. I briefly spoke with Ms, Liz Ruess, and I am copying her on my candid feedback regarding this unprecedented project for the Town of Hillsborough.

High level questions at the outset

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?
Intended and unintended consequences?
How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware of this project, and how many have provided their feedback?

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?

- If it is the State of California, their credibility has been on a very steep decline for over several decades. I would think the State is the least genuinely concerned body about the average worker in the State or Town of Hillsborough.
- Quality of life and living costs in California with high taxes, inflation, increasing crime rates is the real issue, not low-cost housing.
- I believe California has lost residents to other states every year since 2001.
- My employer, Viavi, moved its headquarters from San Jose to Chandler, Arizona. Oracle and HP moved to Texas, others will follow.
 - 396,000k regulations in the State of California.
 - Declining quality and slow services.
 - Example: City of Chandler, AZ offered, and we used "Concierge Service", on construction permitting & approval process. They require and we adhere to very sound water recycling, solar power use, very good environmental measures etc.
 - We have to be mindful, cost of housing, reasonable mortgage rates, only one cost element vs many others, like availability-reliability of water & utilities, higher State Taxes, etc
- Hillsborough Town should not accept, at face value, a "mandate from the State"

Intended and unintended consequences have been fully considered?

- How many teachers, firefighters and police expressed active interest in this project?
 - How many of them drive more than 30 miles each-way to work?
 - "A few miles driving distance to work" seems attractive, but a very unreasonable expectation and requirement.

- What is the projected sale price of proposed low-cost housing in Hillsborough?
 - With even lower cost housing choices within 15 miles of Hillsborough, interested firefighters, police & teachers will really buy such units in Hillsborough?
- Tinkering with the very special--charming Town of Hillsborough, heritage & uniqueness. will most certainly have unintended consequences
 - I believe this initiative will definitely make developers; utility companies, others richer
 - Have unforeseen large infrastructure costs in water, sewer, schools, etc been quantified and considered?
 - The Town could see some exodus from Hillsborough

My own immigrant's story,
attraction was: equality of opportunities NOT equality of outcomes,

- 50 years ago, fresh out of high school, with $200 in my pocket I came to America: stayed with an American family, dreamt of buying a house in Hillsborough attended CSM, UC Berkeley,
 - 37-Years ago I married my beautiful wife from Vancouver, BC, spent 7 years in Penang running HP's very large R&D and Manufacturing facility. Returned in 1995 with four children and purchased a beautiful house in precious and highly esteemed Hillsborough
 - We have three daughters and a son, they initially attended the KZV Armenian School in San Francisco
 - Then attended West and Crocker schools----great academics, character education, sports, best music teacher, etc
 - Hillsborough residents: awesome people, highly educated, successful, high parental participation in local schools
 - Our children later attended: San Mateo High School, UC Davis, University of Santa Clara, USC, University of Rome and Sorbonne. They all learned to appreciate diversity, different cultures, came back, and have successful jobs in the Bay Area.

How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware, how many have provided their feedback on this huge project?

- Hillsborough Town set up key meetings in August and September —high vacation months. There were quite a few people last night, but I would think, they make up a tiny fraction of the residents.
 - Why not send a summary email (with less than ten slides) to all residents to make them better aware
 - 11,000 residents: Should get a high percentage of them to agree before this measure is seriously considered for implementation
 - Even if passed, only a “baby step” should be considered in only one location in the Town to learn from this experience.

Thanks for listening. I work for a high-tech company and manage their Real Estate, EH&S, and Facilities in 60 global locations. I also manage Sourcing & Procurement.

Sincerely,

Assadour (Ted) Kevranian

Comment: 1, we just have not so much school education resources.

2, in fact, San Mateo county is losing population, this county doesn't lack housing.

3, From a legal point of view, if Hillsborough Draft Housing Plan get through, all land owners apply for building condominium, apartment or townhouses, this should also be approved by city.

4, There is a better plan to meet the requirements of the state. For owners with large land, they are allowed to divide the land to build more single houses. this will increase a lot of single houses, which not only meets the state requirements, but also ensures that Hillsborough only has the urban style of single houses.

Hello,

I am a recent homeowner in Hillsborough. I grew up in the Bay Area and worked from nothing starting 20 years ago until I was finally able to purchase my home here in 2019. I moved here for a variety of reasons including the space, safety, security, community, etc. in this town. This proposal is going to create a horrible outcome for my family and many others. This proposal is seemingly implying that every community member has had unfair advantages to purchase their homes which I think is wrong. Maybe that is true in some cases but I worked hard for it as many others have. Now I am hearing the dead end street we live off of (Forestview) will become a through street with a bunch of new development at the top and bottom. The street that has been safe enough for my family to bike and walk on will now be dangerous due to the traffic and lack of privacy I once had. How does this make sense for me or anyone in this community? How does this make sense for the value of my home? Where is the support or concern for people who have lived here?

I am writing to say that I am vehemently opposed to these developments and plans and think the tax paying members of this community should have more say. As officials representing our best interest, you need to do better. PLEASE DO NOT APPROVE THIS PLAN AND COME UP WITH ANOTHER SOLUTION.

Thanks,

G. Evans

Dear Marie, Council, and Housing Committee,
We were able to attend the 9/12 town update via zoom, and very much appreciated you letting us know about the important meeting.

Please know that we remain opposed to the Draft Housing Element Plan and continue to be hopeful that given the strong feedback against the Draft, that Council will explore the alternative Smart Housing Plan and other ideas presented in order to best represent Hillsborough's residents and work towards the preservation of our wonderful town which is truly the most important goal here.

Many thanks for your consideration and ongoing efforts. Please let us know if we can be helpful towards establishing alternative plans.

Best,

Amy and Michael Liou

Subject: hi - important feedback re: current draft housing plan

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

I wanted to send an email since all of the many homeowners I've spoken to in Hillsborough along with my family are extremely concerned about the current draft plan for housing. In the 16 years that we've lived here, this is probably the most important issue that affects our town's aesthetics and natural features, safety, schools, property values, traffic - basically everything is at stake and could be affected adversely by the current plan. There is a reason our town is such a special, beautiful and safe place to live and we hope that we can best preserve what attracted us all to move here as much as possible. As such, most homeowners are alarmed and would like to respectfully ask that the hard-working people who are in charge of representing us to please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve the state goals without giving up so much.

One of the plans is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough and seems to have some excellent alternative ideas. Please do not vote for or pass the current plan that was led by an outside consultant with no personal ties to this special place that is home to us. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners in order to move forward with a plan that most accept and support versus the current draft plan.

Please let us know if there's anything we can do towards helping the town to reach an alternative plan that protects us better.

Best regards,
Amy and Michael Liou

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Royce, Vice Mayor Krolik and Council Members,

Let me first begin by thanking you all for the last town meeting. As you can see by the turn out and by the length of the meeting, this issue is the most important issue that has come up in the over decade that I've lived in Hillsborough.

As stated in my last letter, we strongly oppose the draft housing plan, and even more so after the last town hall meeting. We have spoken to numerous residents, and they too are even more opposed to the draft plan after the town meeting.

I do not believe the consultant from LA understands the town we live in and what makes this town so unique. I humbly suggest that the committee look at the plans that Atherton, Woodside and Portola Valley have drafted, and in particular Atherton. These towns have a similar uniqueness as Hillsborough.

Again, I urge you to reach out to your constituents (Hillsborough residents), and get their input to draft a new plan.

Warmly,
Rita & Hardeep Walia

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

First, thank you all for your hardwork and for all that you do for our beautiful town.

I send this email today to address the concerns my family (and my neighbors) have about the current draft plan for housing. I have lived in Hillsborough for over a decade, and I believe that this is the most important issue that will affect our town's safety, aesthetics, schools, property values, and traffic. If the current draft plan for housing is allowed, it would dramatically change this town for the worse.

Hillsborough homeowners are extremely alarmed and we respectfully ask that our town representatives please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that will allow the town to achieve the state goals without giving up so much.

One of the plans is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough and seems to have some excellent alternative ideas. Please do not vote for or pass the current plan that was drafted by an outside consultant with no personal knowledge of our town. We need to look carefully at other towns (ie Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Thank you for carefully considering the feedback of Hillsborough homeowners, and listening to alternative plans. I have talked to many homeowners, and none of them are in favor of the current draft housing plan. I encourage you to reach out to your residents and get their input.

Warmly,

We sent the following email previously, but did not address it to the general plan email. We want to make sure our thoughts and concerns are directed to the correct email for considerations.

Dear Burlingame Officials and Neighbors,

My husband and I are longtime residents of Burlingame and live at [REDACTED]. We have become aware recently that the town of Hillsborough is drafting a plan to redesign their town hall campus. The construction will include building for the police department, city services and housing. The proposed building has been initially described as between 5-10 stories tall with potentially 100 housing units. While we are not Hillsborough residents, such a project will dramatically impact the safety of our neighborhood as well as the quality of our lives during and after the construction.

Our concerns are as follows:

1. Walnut Ave is one of the narrowest streets (24 ft.) in Burlingame. If vehicles are parked on both sides of the streets, it is difficult for emergency vehicles as well as Recology trucks to get down the street. A delay in the arrival of emergency services is a safety and welfare concern. It is also not an unusual occurrence for parked cars to have side mirrors damaged because the street is so narrow.
2. The potential traffic from an additional 100 residential units using a street that is already narrow and populated with many young families is a serious safety liability. How can the infrastructure be altered to ensure the safety of our residents and children?
3. We have many young families on the 700 block of Walnut. The closest signal is at Floribunda and El Camino. Many of our families walk their children to McKinley School using the crosswalk at Floribunda and El Camino. On the portion of the block that is Hillsborough property, there is no sidewalk on the west side of the street to safely walk on. A long term construction project at the corner reduces the number of safe options to get the children to school. After the project is complete, the area will be congested and still be a safety concern.
4. Accidents frequently occur at the intersection of Floribunda and El Camino. Although steps have been taken to reduce the occurrence, what additional steps can be taken to ensure safety and access for the families of Walnut Ave as well as the additional potential 100 plus new residents, their families and workers based in the Hillsborough Town Center?
5. Whenever there is a function at the Hillsborough town hall, no parking signs are put out on Floribunda, but not on Walnut Ave. Examples are the tree lighting ceremony and the Memorial Day parade. During these events, the 700 block of Walnut is completely occupied with non-resident parked cars.
6. Where will construction workers be parking during this project? Will residents and employees of the town hall project be parking on Walnut Ave after the project is complete? Is there adequate parking planned for 100 units? Families often have two cars.

7. If there is an accident on El Camino, traffic is often routed down Walnut Ave. Cars frequently do not obey the 25 mph speed limit. Non-residential parking will compound the dangers when navigating the street putting residents and their children at risk.

8. Walnut Ave makes a sharp bend when it reaches the Hillsborough town complex. Ingress and egress from the driveway at this location are already a safety concern. If a vehicle is driving south on Walnut and the morning sun is low, it is hazardous and often impossible to see oncoming vehicles. More traffic will increase the chances of an accident in these scenarios.

We have been trying to think of possible solutions and ways to mitigate problems that will impact Walnut Ave residents. Our neighborhood has never faced a problem this before. We don't know all of the possible options, the cost of various options and the legality of the various options. We are hoping the Burlingame and Hillsborough can help us with solutions. We have a few suggestions, but again, we are not sure what the best solution or combination of solutions may be.

Below is the possible list we have generated to date.

1. Design a project with fewer housing units and adequate parking.
2. Create a cul de sac for the 700 block of Walnut that ends with the boundary of Burlingame.
3. Parking permits for residents only on Walnut Ave. Potentially gardeners or other resident services could have permits for limited hours of parking.
4. Install additional traffic lights at Willow and El Camino and possibly at the Forestview intersection.
5. Because of the increase in population density, create a new traffic safety plan to access Floribunda and El Camino.
6. On the portion of the block that is within Hillsborough, pave a sidewalk on the west side for safety purposes.
7. Eliminate the driveway from the town center onto Walnut Ave. If the driveway cannot be removed, straighten the bend in the street that begins where the town hall is. This will ensure greater visibility and may help prevent accidents.

Thanks in advance for reading this email and we are hoping both Burlingame and Hillsborough will offer support and solutions to help us solve this dilemma. Please let us know what next steps can be taken to insure the safety of our neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Chris and Michael Read

Subject: Town Hall Campus Development Concerns
Date: Wednesday, September 14, 2022 11:36:45 AM

Dear Council Members,

We were present at the meeting last night and found it informative on so many levels. One of the presenters did share a slide with statistics for outreach and it was stated outreach had occurred to residents on Floribunda, Walnut and Fairway. When (date) did this outreach occur and what method was used? From our experience it seems, the outreach was not done thoroughly or in an accountable way. We are residents of Walnut Avenue in Burlingame. We did not receive notice and also know that our neighbors did not receive notice. I spoke to a Hillsborough resident who lives on Walnut and she did not receive notice. It is hard for the public to respond with concerns, questions and ideas if they are not aware of the proposed project details.

Please consider immediately notifying all residents on Walnut, Willow, Forestview, Newhall by mail or hand delivered flyers. We can help organize the delivery of flyers if necessary. Though we understand the entirety of the streets mentioned are not in Hillsborough, the residents will be negatively impacted by a housing project of the size proposed by Hillsborough.

A project of this size will have a dramatic impact on the Hillsborough Burlingame area as well as anyone traveling along the narrow El Camino corridor. The sidewalks are narrow on El Camino close to McKinley School and trees make visibility limited. Traffic often exceeds the speed limit. Bottlenecks frequently occur due to the reduced number of lanes, left hand turns, delivery vans and buses. McKinley School took the step of installing colorful cement bollards in the play yard in the effort to protect students from cars crashing through the fence into the play yard. It has happened and gratefully, no students were hurt. Even if the number of residents in the proposed housing units are for the most part using public transit, there will still be increased congestion and an increased risk for accidents.

I have written previously about the safety issues on our quiet narrow street by the addition of more population density and through traffic. We want assurances of how Hillsborough will be able to create a plan to mitigate our concerns and preserve the safety of our quiet residential neighborhood.

Though we are respectful of timelines and state requirements, we strongly believe the outreach to the greater community should be more accountable and the period for public comment should be extended beyond September 19th. To make a decision on such an important project without the adequate foundation input of the community seems shortsighted. We are hoping Hillsborough will help solve the problems noted and not exacerbate them.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and attention.

TOWN OF HILLSBOROUGH

September 13, 2022

To the Hillsborough Town Council:

I watched the meeting last night and heard all the comments from town residents; I generally agreed with them.

My thoughts:

1 - A 50-to-70 unit building at the Town Hall location is a bad idea. Even if you had a parking space for each unit, you'd still have a parking problem. What if people in a unit had more than one car (very likely)? Can you imagine the traffic jam at the light on Ell Camino every weekday morning? What about the many Burlingame children who must cross El Camino to get to McKinley School? What about the many Burlingame and Hillsborough children who walk to Burlingame High School?

If anything is done at the Town Hall site, it should be no bigger than 20 units preferably for town employees, Hillsborough school teachers, police and fire fighters. Perhaps that could be put on the lot across Walnut Avenue.

2. The ADU approach seems the best. As one speaker said last night, if we submit something the State doesn't like, resubmit something else until there is agreement. Also, make ADU permits easier to get.

3. I think a senior retirement residence is a good idea. I don't know if it qualifies with the State, however.

4. I am against reducing the size of Hillsborough lots to 1/3 acre. That is opening the barn door.

I can just see houses being scraped and developers going wild. Some changes to allow owners more leeway in making additions and changes to their homes would be welcome.

It is of utmost importance to keep Hillsborough the community that it is. I hope you will go to great lengths to do so.

Sincerely,

Jim Meakin

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

We recently heard about the town's draft housing plan, and we are concerned about what is being proposed. We understand the need for more affordable housing and appreciate the efforts made to address this important issue, but the current plan does not balance this need with the best interests of the residents of Hillsborough. Our understanding is that alternative plans have been proposed that can help achieve the state goals to increase housing while also taking into account the concerns raised by homeowners in Hillsborough. We hope that the town will carefully consider these alternative plans before submitting its housing plan. We appreciate all that everyone is doing and thank you for your efforts.

Comment: 1, we just have not so much school education resources.

2, in fact, San Mateo county is losing population, this county doesn't lack housing.

3, From a legal point of view, if Hillsborough Draft Housing Plan get through, all land owners apply for building condominium, apartment or townhouses, this should also be approved by city.

4, There is a better plan to meet the requirements of the state. For owners with large land, they are allowed to divide the land to build more single houses. this will increase a lot of single houses, which not only meets the state requirements, but also ensures that Hillsborough only has the urban style of single houses.

Hello

I am writing to strongly oppose the Housing Element Draft as proposed. I understand and agree that Hillsborough needs to meet the Housing Element allotment due to our current housing crisis, but this plan has been flawed from the beginning. It is my understanding that the State guidelines on ADU calculations suggest taking the previous rolling three year average - as a guideline.

The flaw with this calculation is that we had COVID-19 in 2019 and 2020 where the state had literally ordered people not to work, to stay home, to stay separate, limit certain types of construction, etc. In those two COVID years we had ADU's completion of 26 and 28 units. As soon as the new legislation for ADU's came out (which streamlined the process), coupled with COVID-19 pandemic ending, our ADU production shot through the roof with 65 ADUs in one year and this year we are on track for 60 ADU's/ year.

It doesn't make sense to use the artificially low ADU production years of 2019 and 2020 as factors in a calculation that massively impacts the layout of our town for the next 8 years!? We need to have a plan that utilizes ADU's as the primary way to solve our Housing Element allotment. We have a clear track record of creating at least 60 units/ year- which over 8 years is 480 units, vs the 250 proposed in the current draft of the Housing Element. I believe there have been significant miscalculations by our consultants.

It appears that every problem the Draft worked on solving was based on that idea that we needed to solve for 400 extra units vs 100-150.

I urge our town council to reconsider the proposal from the consultant and work on better community outreach to bring more home owners into the conversation.

Thank you,

My wife and I reside at [REDACTED]. We're strongly against the proposed HEAC plan. ADUs are an appropriate solution for our community which will allow us to maintain environmentally important green space. We need less single family housing in California and multifamily housing in Hillsborough doesn't make sense given the layout of our roads and distance from public transit. Rezoning to encourage small lot single family homes is a backwards policy. ADUs allow Hillsborough to offer a housing option to those who are working in our metro area. If there is a concern from the state that ADUs will not be rented out, the town can assuage the states concerns by promising to monitor the rental status in four years time. If we have built the ADUs but they are not being used as housing, the town can look at alternate measures like the city hall project. We shouldn't be afraid of our first plan being rejected by the state. An all ADU plan is one done in good faith and gives the community more time to understand what other options might be viable and what legal options are available to the town to prevent the state from forcing an environmentally disastrous plan on us.

Subject: NO to Hillsborough's draft Housing Element in its current form
Date: Tuesday, September 13, 2022 6:03:45 PM

Dear cherished members of the council of Hillsborough,

I am concerned about the current draft plan for housing. We have lived here for the past ten years and love the small, family-oriented community. We currently have four homes in Hillsborough 1) our current home 535 El Arroyo Road which will eventually house my aging inlaws 2) one that we are building as our new home at 940 West Santa Inez, 3) one we are renting, which will ultimately accommodate my aged mom 2060 Forestview, and 4) one I am building with an ADU 50 Knightwood.

I believe in diversity, equity, and inclusion and are open to development, but NOT in this rushed form that 1) does not take into account feedback from the community 2) because it was completed by an OUTSIDE AGENCY/CONSULTANT who is 3) taking the state's mandate as it stands without much thought, research, or foresight 4) not taking into account and completing a full research report on the impact of this plan, mainly how this plan affects our town's ability to SERVICE and SUPPORT the extreme increase in population as a result of this MANDATE from safety with regards to both police and fire support, water service support, school size increases, traffic, etc. to name a few. As such, most homeowners are alarmed and would like to respectfully ask that the empathetic people in charge of representing us consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve the state goals without giving up so much. My heart goes out to the homes adversely affected and those who unknowingly bought, assuming that their homes would never have huge, unsightly apartments overlooking their backyards and families. I know several families affected. I wonder how many will ultimately be affected due to this current plan. It is one thing to buy a home knowingly with these conditions, but another to not know or have a say and have it done as part of a mandate.

Smart Housing for Hillsborough makes sense. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've put into place. Both Atherton and Woodside took several years to develop their plan and carefully built it in a way that provided growth.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any bad decisions. Thank you for carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners and for moving forward with a plan acceptable to both the community and the state.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Gerri Wong

Team,

After reviewing the doc's and attending the Town Hall, here are my thoughts, which also represent those of my wife. We are 35 year Hillsborough residents, at [REDACTED].

1. It's annoying that the State forces these things on small communities such as ours. But, that is the state we live in, that can't easily be changed. The Bright side is, this gives us a chance to provide housing to the employees and teachers, etc, who work in and for our Town, a very worthwhile goal.
2. I'm Very Positive on the emphasis on ADU's/JADU's to meet these housing goals! They will have the least impact on the "character" of the Town in general. With the proposed Reduced Barriers to Development and the Promotion activities re ADU's, I believe these efforts will be very successful and exceed the max 280 unit planning allotment formula allowed by the State. Please emphasize ADU's and JADU's in your work, both before and after Plan approval. If done well, these could end up meeting the large majority of the required 554 new housing units over the years.
3. I'm also Very Positive on the plan for RD-3, the Town Hall campus. Please emphasize this in your work, before and after Plan approval.
4. I'm Very Negative on RD-1, essentially reducing the 1/2 acre minimum for almost every lot in Town. I think this will negatively change the "character" of the Town, and reduce property values. Your Plan to the State only allocates 15 units for this. I ask that RD-1 be eliminated from your Plan, the 15 units found elsewhere in your Plan, and the 1/2 acre minimum lot size be retained, with limited exceptions.
5. If RD-1 somehow stays in the Plan, please eliminate the sub-division opportunity at 1053 La Cuesta. Reasons are explained in detail in my Sept 5 letter to Tim Anderson.
6. I'm Neutral on the proposed RD-2 and O-AH districts. Though these changes may negatively affect the Town's "character," they are limited to certain specific areas, and may provide a large number of added units for the Town, a reasonable trade-off.
7. As more housing units are added over the years, it's important to add some "regulations" in some fashion to try to reserve these for people who live and work in the Town, whether employed by the Town or schools themselves, or by residents as household employees. Whether you share this detail with the State is your choice, but it needs to be built into your execution plans. Particularly with ADU/JADU's, it's important in promoting these to homeowners, that they know they have some freedom to choose who they rent to.
8. The Town exceeded the requirements of RHNA Cycle 5, a rare occurrence. The "extra" units achieved in Cycle 5 should be applied to Cycle 6, and the Town should fight for this. Maybe not as part of the initial Plan submitted shortly to the State, but definitely counted in the future as the Town executes on Cycle 6 over the next nine years.

Thank you for your consideration. I look forward to hearing positive results as the plans take shape.

Subject: Concern over draft of city housing plan
Date: Tuesday, September 13, 2022 2:02:55 PM

Dear Council Members,

I am deeply concerned about the effects of this proposed housing plan for the lovely town of Hillsborough that we call home and wanted to send along my concerns as an active parent, towns person, and resident of this area.

I have read the full plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan is not that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the public record and consider it as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you for your public service.

Dear City Council and Hillsborough Staff,

Thank you again for your time, commitment, and continued work on behalf of the town. We joined last night's City Council meeting via Zoom, and heard additional constituents' comments.

In the event that the Council decides to revisit our housing element ADU allocation, we do believe we have a compelling rationale for presenting a higher number of ADUs, based on the ABAG requirement for a "robust, funded, and clear plan to increase production [that] has been put in place." Specifically:

Robust: Hillsborough has developed and implemented a multipronged approach to make ADU development easy, efficient, and affordable:

- Streamlined permit approval and dedicated ombudsman
- Fee waivers and financial incentives

(Note: I've also attached an example of property tax incentive. Maui County offers a property tax exemption to incentivize property owners to dedicate their units to long-term rentals instead of short-term vacation rentals. Eligible properties are required to fill out a form annually (attached) and provide a copy of the signed lease -- more details at <https://www.mauicounty.gov/faq.aspx?TID=141>. Hillsborough/San Mateo could adapt something like this).

- Expedited conversions
- Amnesty program for preexisting ADU units

Funded: Hillsborough has explicitly allocated funding toward ADU production.

- The town continues to fund an ADU Ombudsman position, which has proven success in facilitating Hillsborough ADU production.
- Hillsborough has tested a fee waiver program for ADU development review, which yielded a successful increase in ADU permits issued.
- [Pending- property tax incentive]

Clear: Hillsborough's ADU approval process is transparent and accessible.

- The town website clearly describes the ADU approval process and the Ombudsman position provides dedicated one-on-one support
- Initiatives to facilitate ADU development will be advertised and promoted on the town website and in town communications.

Credible: Hillsborough has a proven track record of success.

- In the RNHA 5 (last housing element) cycle, Hillsborough achieved more than double its housing allocation. This clearly demonstrates credibility; 91 units were allocated, but Hillsborough reached 192 new permitted units. The allocated numbers were exceeded in all target categories: very low income, low income, moderate income, and above moderate income.

- Hillsborough was one of only 29 out of 539 jurisdictions in California to have met all prorated housing requirements in RHNA 5.

Hillsborough's demonstrated and planned measures to increase and maintain ADU production have proven success and will be further expanded in RHNA 6.

[Note: the draft housing element indicates that Hillsborough was one of only 38 jurisdictions in California to achieve the allocated number of units, however, the attached source HCD document SB 35 memo appears to indicate that Hillsborough was one of only 29 jurisdictions to achieve this feat. The actual number should be verified before submission to the state]

We noted Councilmember Krolik's inquiry to town staff at the Council meeting regarding surveying town residents regarding ADU interest; hopefully this will be feasible to investigate.

Thank you!

Using ADUs to Satisfy RHNA

Technical Memo

Background

Jurisdictions are allowed to use ADUs to help satisfy their RHNA requirements; however, the process is somewhat different than other aspects of the sites inventory. The standard method is to estimate the number of ADUs that will be developed in the planning period, then distribute those estimated units into each of the income categories.

Estimating Production

The estimate should be based on the average number of ADU building permits issued each year, multiplied by eight (because there are eight years in a housing element cycle). Most cities base their determination of annual ADU permits by averaging the building permits approved each year since 2018, when state law made it easier to construct the units. This is generally considered a safe harbor.

There is a small amount of flexibility in the calculations. If numbers were low in 2018 (or 2019) but were high in 2020, 2021, and 2022, a jurisdiction could potentially use 2019-2021 or 2020-2022 as the baseline. Because this is outside the safe harbor, these calculations would need to be bolstered by a logical explanation for the methodology, e.g., the jurisdiction further loosened regulations in 2019.

Projecting a higher number of ADUs than what has been demonstrated through permit approvals in recent years may be possible, but more challenging. A slightly larger number may be warranted if a robust, funded, and clear plan to increase production has been put in place. However, you are strongly encouraged to coordinate with HCD before deviating from the standard methodology.

ADU sites are not listed in the site inventory, rather they are summarized and tallied in their own subsection.

Determining the Income Distribution

ABAG conducted an analysis of ADU affordability and concluded that in most jurisdictions, the following assumptions are generally applicable. Many jurisdictions are choosing to use these numbers in lieu of conducting their own affordability analysis.

Table 1. Percent of ADUs Affordable to Different Income Categories

Percent	Income Category
30%	Very low income
30%	Low income
30%	Moderate income
10%	Above moderate

Please contact your County Collaborative Technical Assistance Provider for more information on affordability. A few key points are summarized below:

- Use building permits issued for the estimate.
- Jurisdictions do not need to list the addresses for potential ADUs.
- Make sure the assumptions in your Housing Element match the numbers reported in past year APRs.

Please visit the ABAG Housing Technical Assistance page for more information, including a webinar that covers this topic.

Sample Housing Element Write Up

Since City amended its ordinance in 2019, the number of ADUs permitted has significantly increased. City's ordinance goes beyond state law and allows 1,200 square foot ADUs. Additionally, the City website has an entire section devoted to ADUs with clear information about the standards and approval process. On average, the building department provides comments to completed ADU applications in 10 days. 2018 is not used as a base year because the old ADU standards were very restrictive and the City did not have much information on its website. Production has been consistently higher since the new ordinance went into effect.

Since 2019, the City has issued an average of 12.75 ADU permits per year, as listed below.

Year	Building Permits
2018	1
2019	10
2020	15
2022	16 (estimate based on first 6 months)

Based on the annual average of 12.75 ADU permits per year since 2019, the City is projecting 102 ADUs being permitted over the eight year planning period and is using ABAG's survey data to distribute the projected units by income category:

Income Category	Percentages	Totals
Very low	30%	30
Low	30%	31
Moderate	30%	31
Above moderate	10%	10

Based on these calculations, the City is able to meet approximately 1/7 of its RHNA through ADUs, and must accommodate another 598 units on the sites detailed in the sites inventory. See table below for a summary:

	V Low	Low	Mod	Above Mod	Total
RHNA	200	200	100	200	700
Pipeline / Approved Units	0	0	0	0	0
ADUs	30	31	31	10	102
Remaining RHNA	170	169	69	190	598

ADUs and Level of Scrutiny of Other Sites in Housing Elements

Cities that are heavily dependent on redevelopment sites (or technically nonvacant sites) face more scrutiny in their lower income sites inventory. ADUs can help some cities avoid this additional scrutiny/analysis. To simplify: if greater than 50 percent of the lower income RHNA can be satisfied by vacant sites, under construction (pipeline) projects, and projected ADUs, cities can avoid the higher standard.

For example: If the lower income RHNA is 100 and there are ten units under construction and sites for ten vacant units, a jurisdiction can avoid the heightened scrutiny if ADU projections are at least 31 units for the housing element period. (Half of 100 is 50. 10 under construction plus 10 vacant plus 31 ADUs is 51, or greater than 50.)

SB 35 Statewide Determination Summary

Cities and Counties Not Currently Subject to SB 35 Streamlining Provisions

This determination represents Housing Element Annual Progress Report (APR) data received as of June 18, 2021. The following 29 jurisdictions have met their prorated Lower (Very-Low and Low) and Above-Moderate Income Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) for the Reporting Period and submitted their latest APR (2020).

These jurisdictions are not currently subject to the streamlined ministerial approval process (SB 35 (Chapter 366, Statutes of 2017) streamlining), but the jurisdictions are still encouraged to promote streamlining. All other cities and counties beyond these 29 are subject to at least some form of SB 35 streamlining, as indicated on the following pages.

For more detail on the proration methodology or background data see the SB 35 Determination Methodology.

Subject: Housing Element Plan
Date: Tuesday, September 13, 2022 11:15:08 AM

I am wholeheartedly opposed to the housing element plan prepared by the Town of Hillsborough. It clearly is not in the service of the majority of tax-paying homeowners as it does nothing to prevent a drastic change in our town's unique character, nor does it address all the additional services that will be required (how in the world will our aging water infrastructure handle it?!) to service these new units/people, nor does it take into account the drastic reduction in property values that will result.

Most importantly, why did our required affordable housing numbers go up so drastically this year?! If we capitulate, what will the next round be...2,000?! Our town has 11,000+/- residents now, so one has to ask where all this is going? This is an existentialist threat to Hillsborough, and we need to understand it as such and fight back. I simply don't understand why we are volunteering to do more units than were required and was determined by the state to be our fair share. I know not one person who understands that, or agrees with it even remotely!

There is an alternate Master Plan being floated at this time which involves the changing of ordinances to add the appropriate number of ADU's to reach the state's goal in such a way that our town's character will not be significantly altered for the worse...I adamantly support it over the Town planned version.

Hello,

We are concerned that water and sewer providers have been included and they're input considered DURING the development and writing of the Housing draft so that adequate water and services will be available when the time comes for further development.

RESIDENT FEEDBACK ON “HOUSING ELEMENT” PLAN (3Q2022 SURVEY)

7% of Hillsborough’s 4,000+ households responded

BACK STORY

- For 2 years (since 2020), our town council has attempted to craft its state-mandated "Housing Element" to plan & execute for higher density housing as mandated by the state of California
- For the past year, the town organized a "Housing Element Advisory Committee" (HEAC) comprised of 17 residents & affected organizations (CSUS, Nueva) to make recommendations to the city council
- The town has also retained a consultancy (Houseal Lavigne) to manage the process for our proposed plan to the state
- The draft HEAC plan was revealed the week of August 8th to city council & the town residents
- Currently the town's plan is to submit the revised HEAC proposal/response as required in October 2022 at which time the state will review our plan
- TOWN could have surveyed residents, to have better data on how to represent their constituency ... So we residents took it on ourselves

SURVEY OVERVIEW

BACK STORY

- Using publicly available databases, we created a pool of 6,000+ validated email addresses, landlines & mobile phones for each Hillsborough address
- During Sept 1-12, 2022, we sent email invitations to this group in addition to posting SURVEY INVITATION to all 5,000+ members of Nextdoor Hillsborough & Hillsborough Together social networks
- In addition to our own research questions, we also included the questionnaire that the 17 member HEAC group used on itself as well as survey questions proposed by Hillsborough Citizen Alliance (HCA)
- 260+ survey responses were received (7% of Hillsborough households) of which 165 provided full contact info for the public record, and the 90+ other anonymous responses were confirmed via IP address; we assume that given the nature of our town's "own" online survey for Housing Element feedback (which are anonymous as well) that these are critical data that merits full town council & management attention

SURVEY INVITATION

Subject survey re: Hillsborough's "Housing Density Mandate" (HEAC plan)

Per our mayor Al Royce, "This is biggest single issue to confront Hillsborough in 50 years." The mayor was commenting on Hillsborough's plan to meet the state mandate for higher-density housing during 2023-2031 which must be submitted to & approved by the state during the next 2 months.

Clearly, every possible permutation of this so-called Housing Element "opportunities" exercise we are now going through necessitates a potentially DRAMATIC CHANGE TO OUR ZONING LAWS (& quality of life, property values). The majority of Hillsborough residents are UNAWARE of this.

LET'S BE HEARD AS A COMMUNITY BY TAKING A QUICK 3-5 MINUTE SURVEY TO GIVE "HOUSING DENSITY" FEEDBACK TO OUR CITY COUNCIL.

Individual responses are confidential; cumulative data will be analyzed and shared with all survey respondents prior to our presenting such analysis to Hillsborough City Council prior to their next study session on the plan.

1A. Are you aware state law mandates affordable low income & moderate income housing in ALL cities?

Our goal was to (neutrally) educate, as well as capture feedback on several different viewpoints of the proposed plan

2A - How did you learn of Hillsborough's mandate?

56% learned about this issue from social media and email. 24% learned about this from the town communications. We need to rethink how the town communicates overall, especially on critical issues like this.

2A. How did you learn of this state-mandated housing density mandate requirement for Hillsborough (multiple selections allowed)

56% learned about this issue from social media and email. 24% learned about this from the town communications. We need to rethink how the town communicates overall, especially on critical issues like this.

3A - When did you learn about the state mandate for 1st time?

More than half the town respondents were not aware of issue until past 3 months, including almost 3 out of 10 who just learned of this in past 2 weeks before survey.

3A. When did you learn about the state mandate for the first time?

4A. Were you aware proposed HB plan calls for 550+ LOW,
AFFORDABLE & MODERATE INCOME HOMES WITHIN NEXT 8
YEARS?

5A. Are you aware that similar Bay Area communities such as Atherton have TARGETs 50% OR LESS THAN HILLSBOROUGH'S ?

6A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN would RE-ZONE ENTIRE TOWN?

By a margin of nearly 14 to 1, the town is highly, very,
or somewhat concerned about the re-zoning.

6A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN would RE-ZONE ENTIRE TOWN?

By a margin of nearly 14 to 1, the town is highly, very, or somewhat concerned about the re-zoning.

7A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN EXCLUDES ANY CONSIDERATION
OF 250+ "OPEN SPACE" ACRES?

By a margin of more than 10 to 1, our town is concerned about excluding town-owned open space.

8A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN
REDUCES MINIMUM LOT SIZES from current 1/2
to as low as 1/3 acre?

By a margin of more than 8 to 1, our survey respondents are concerned about reducing minimum lot sizes according to the draft Housing Element.

9A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN MINIMIZES
"FRONTAGES" (from current 150' to as low as 50')?

By a margin of more than 11 to 1, our residents care about preserving 150 foot street frontages.

10A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES
"SETBACK" DISTANCES (from current 20' to as low as 5')?

By a margin of almost 14 to 1, our residents are concerned about reducing setbacks.

11A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN
changes zoning laws to ALLOW "LOT SPLITS" TO BUILD DUPLEXES/TRIPLEXES & MORE?

By an 11 to 1 margin, our citizens don't want to allow or increase the number of lot splits and duplexes on lots

12A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES
MINIMUM LANDSCAPE COVERAGE from 50% to 30%
(structures & hardscaping can be 70% of a lot)?

By almost 6 to 1, our residents don't want a plan that decreases minimum landscape coverage.

13A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES MINIMUM DWELLING SIZE by 70% (from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft) to encourage subdivisions of larger parcels for additional single family as well as duplex units..?

By a margin of more than 8 to 1, our townspeople don't want to reduce the minimum dwelling size from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft.

14A. How concerned are you that CURRENT PLAN ALLOWS
HIGH-DENSITY HOUSING AWAY FROM MAJOR TRAFFIC
ROUTES (El Camino Real, etc.)?

By more than 12 to 1, our town doesn't want high-density housing anywhere but near El Camino or another high traffic route.

15A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN DEVELOPERS HAVE NOT APPROACHED 10+ ACRE PARCEL OWNERS for their feedback/participation?

Our town overwhelmingly thinks the Housing Element team should have approached the owners of the large parcels included in the plan.

16A. Are you planning on adding ADU next 5 years (thru 2027)?

[multiple choices = select all that apply]

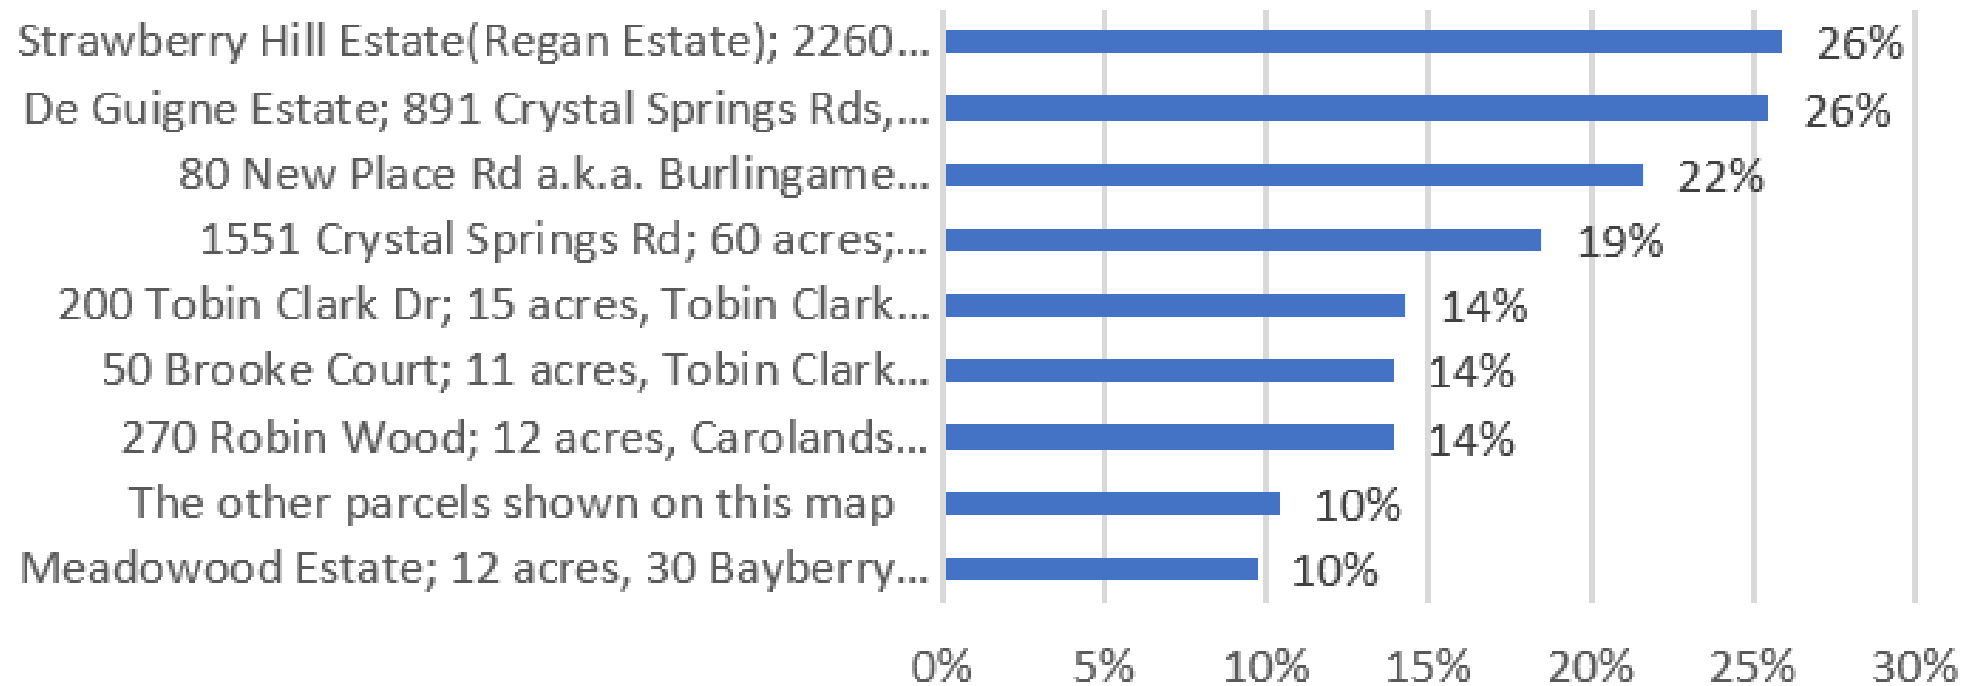

About 1/3 of our town is planning on adding at least one ADU now, with fewer than half not currently planning (and about 1/5 unsure)

17A. What is your LOT SIZE?

18A. Are you aware of these 10+ ACRE SITES
THAT ARE ELIGIBLE UNDER PROPOSED PLAN FOR REDEVELOPMENT into multi-tenant, multi-story
housing (40% low income)?

19A. Do you APPROVE of Hillsborough's current
"HOUSING DENSITY" plan for 2023-2031 (a.k.a.
"Housing Element")?

By more than 11 to 1, our town opposes this plan.

OVERWHELMING CONSENSUS ON THESE ITEMS:

- By more than 11:1, our town opposes this Housing Element plan as drafted
- By ~14:1, the town opposes re-zoning
- By >10:1, our town is concerned about excluding town-owned open space
- By >7:1, our town wants our proposal to be based on ADU/JADUs
- By ~14:1, residents really want the town to understand what other towns like Hillsborough are doing, & to engage with them to fight for our common interests

OTHER KEY FINDINGS:

- There is NO consensus about multiple detached ADUs, so the town must make a good case for this to our citizens, if this is to be included in our Housing Element
- There is a small plurality in favor of exploring denser housing at the Town Hall campus site, so the Town must make a proposal and get feedback from residents (especially local neighborhoods) before including this in our Housing Element
- There is a plurality opposed to considering taller building heights at the Town Hall campus site, so the Town must make a proposal and get feedback from residents before including this in our Housing Element
- By a margin of ~ 3:2, the Town supports the concept (but not any specific plan) of focusing on the area near El Camino Real for appropriately locating higher density housing. However, there is a very large undecided block, so the town should get approval from our citizens before making any specific plans.
 -  Items without a consensus, where the Town Council must make a strong case to gain support (or exclude the item from the plan), and then must go out and survey the town to ensure there is a consensus*

ADDITIONAL FINDINGS:

- By >8:1, our town opposes reducing minimum lot sizes according to the draft Housing Element.
- By >11:1, our residents want to preserve 150 foot street frontages.
- By ~14:1, our residents oppose reducing setbacks.
- By 11:1, our citizens don't want to allow or increase the number of lot splits and duplexes.
- By ~6:1, our residents oppose any decrease in minimum landscape coverage.
- By >8:1, our townspeople oppose reducing the minimum dwelling size from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft.
- By >12:1, our town opposes high-density housing anywhere but near El Camino or another high traffic route.
- By ~3:1, the residents oppose including highest density housing near the I-280 corridor
- By 8:11, our town overwhelmingly thinks the Housing Element team should have approached the owners of the large parcels included in the plan.
- By >11:1, the Town rejects the idea of reducing minimum lot size and street frontages in our Housing Element.
- By ~3:1, our residents support increasing the ADU component of our plan, and eliminating any "up-zoning" and overlay zones. The town must explore and attempt this approach.
- By >5:1, our residents support using Town-owned parcels (including better ingress/egress for evacuation safety) to achieve a portion of our RHNA housing unit allocation.

OTHER FINDINGS RE: MESSAGING

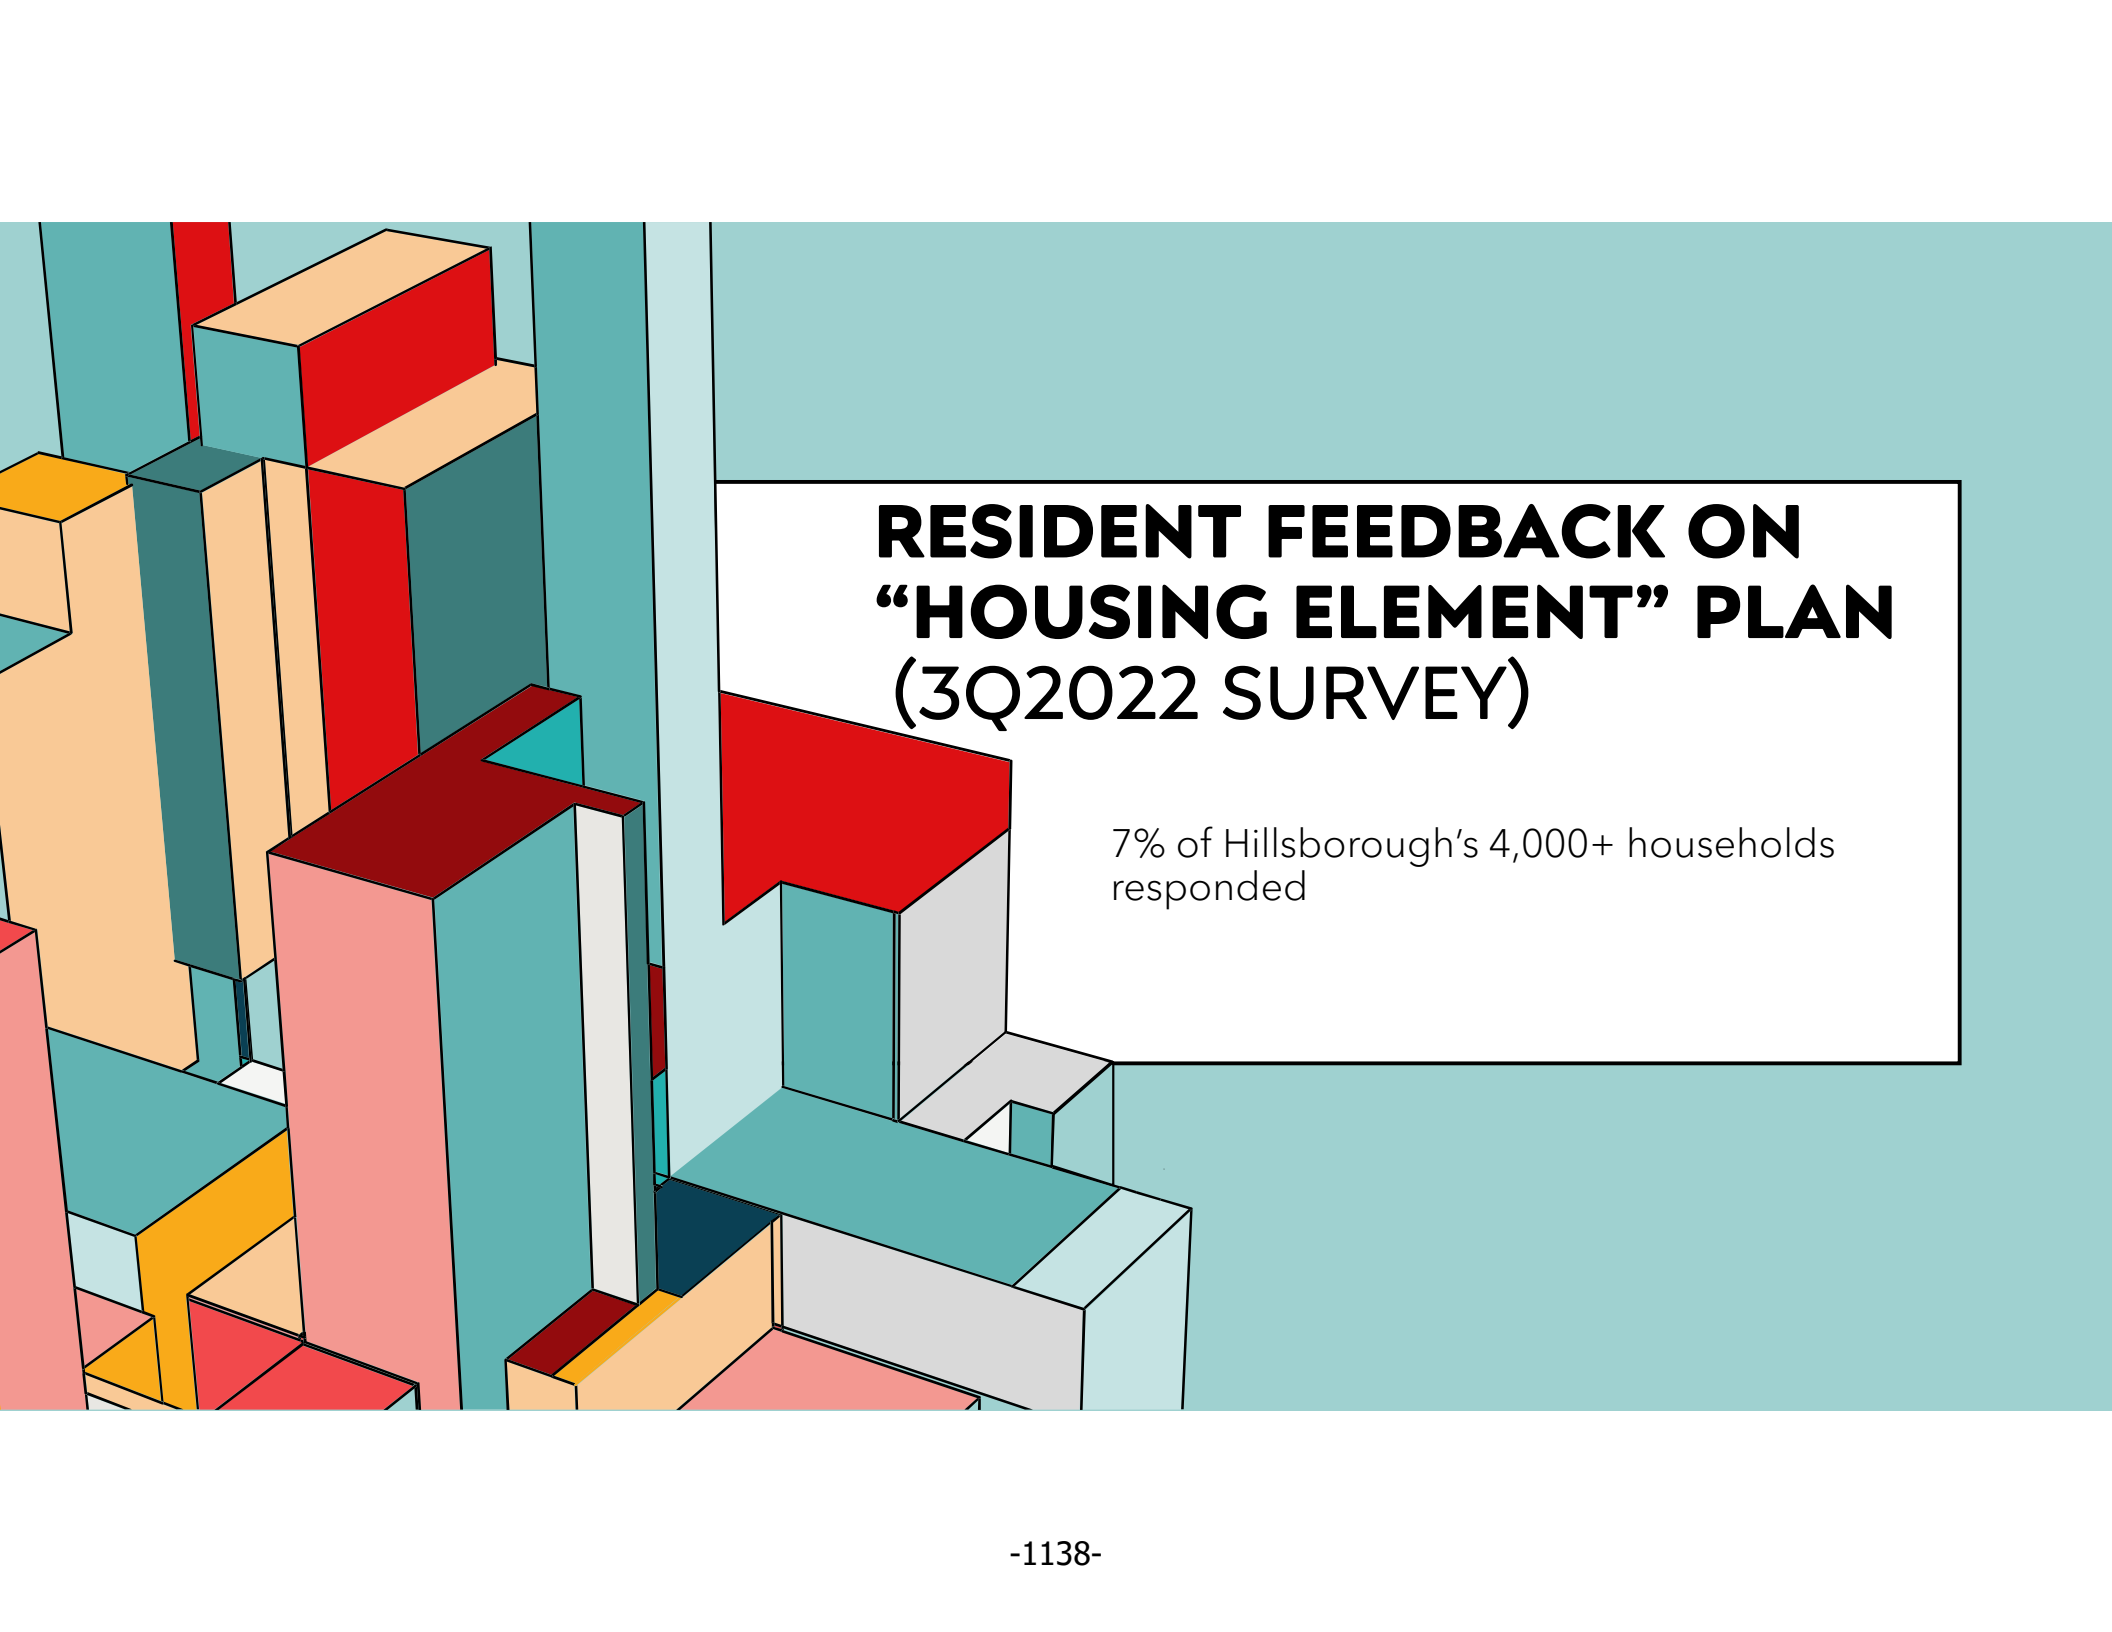

- The town needs bolster its online marketing methods/channels
 - Better outbound communications via social networking sites Nextdoor Hillsborough & Hillsborough Together
 - Strengthen email & SMS key messaging opportunities for topics such as this plan, elections, etc.
 - Weekly town newsletter is good for community relations, but the town needs to better assertively communicate re: key timely issues (residents can ALWAYS opt out)
- Surveys provide both educational oppty & data capture capability ... This enables council members to "better represent, rather than rule, their constituents"

Subject: Sep 12th City Council Meeting Comments - Housing Element
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 10:25:12 PM

Dear City Council and Staff,

Please see below for the text version of the comments I delivered at tonight's (Sep 12) City Council Meeting, delivered over email as requested by the mayor due to difficulties hearing them in the City Council chambers.

- - - - -

Hello, my name is Noelle Langmack and I am a 21-year resident of Hillsborough. I went to West and Crocker, and am currently on Eugenia Way. I would like to speak in favor of the proposed Housing Element draft.

The HEAC committee went through an extensive planning and advisory process to identify a unique and tailored plan for Hillsborough, including a large proportion of ADUs (arguably too many as it relates to Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing, echoing Anne Paulson's prior comments). In fact, in 21 years of living in Hillsborough, this is the first year I have heard of a person actually renting an ADU, and it was only one person.

We have utilized higher density housing as is appropriate and would largely maintain the current character of the town, as well as provide an opportunity for senior housing, and done so in a manner that distributes such housing across various sections of the town. In addition, we have distributed zoning changes to lot sizes across the town to make the changes more equitable.

I applaud the town for utilizing appropriate safe harbor ADU projection as specified by the state, of taking the past 3 year's data and averaging it, and using that project over the planning period. I also applaud the town for not including SB-9 units in the projection as they would not be appropriate, given a total of 0 complete or approved SB-9 projects so far, and a projection of $8 \times 0 = 0$. Further, Hillsborough's additional SB-9 restrictions make it unlikely any homeowners will utilize the law in the future without removing those extra restrictions.

I would also like to encourage the reduction of permitting fees and timelines to help expedite housing development, as well as encourage placing as few as possible additional housing amenity requirements to help make the potential for development more feasible.

I believe our council, staff, and consultants have proposed a thoughtful, realistic, appropriate, and largely compliant plan which provides our good-faith attempt to do our duty to remove barriers to housing.

As may have been noted prior, penalties for non-compliance shall be $10,000 per month to $600,000 per month, opening us to lawsuits both by the attorney general and private parties, which would waste both staff time and money that could be used elsewhere.

Thank you.

Best,
Noelle Langmack

Subject: Opposition to Current Housing Plan
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 9:00:38 PM

Hello,

As a Hillsborough resident I have many concerns with the proposed plan because it will completely change the feeling of our unique town and the reason we all pay a premium to live here. We are all drawn and want to protect the very issues that this plan is drastically changing.

First of all, there is not enough being done to fight to keep our town from drastically changing with the proposed zoning and rule changes. The city council, housing committee, Mayor and other elected officials need to do more! They have to get more aggressive with the number of ADU's, including passing ordinances now before submitting our plan, allowing for more ADU's and more incentives for ADU's. If the Council passes such ordinances, it can justify a much higher number of ADU's, which would potentially eliminate (or at least drastically slash) any high density housing in their plan. Other towns similar to ours have done this and we need to fight for that as well!

You must also demand that there be no "up-zoning", as this imposes a very unfair restriction on anyone who currently owns a smaller home, and no to smaller minimum lot sizes, no to reduced setbacks, no to increased high allowances, no to increased FAR (floor area ration), and no to reduced landscaping coverage.

If any of the proposed zoning changes are approved, they must be limited to a one time exception and not the norm, as that would ensure our town doesn't get taken over by developers, but rather stays a town of predominantly single family homes, as it was intended to be, and why it's so highly coveted.

If affordable housing absolutely has to be added, then the developers must be required to stick to strict architectural guidelines that are regulated and enforced by the town.

These guidelines must be put in place so the new buildings blend in with the beautiful architecture that is all around Hillsborough.

Dennis Moore has proposed a new plan that is much improved over the original and I support aspects of that plan, although I still think there is more work to be done to preserve our small town and ensure we've exhausted all options first, and laid out very specific changes/guidelines in zoning and architecture that will only apply to the new developments going in related to this mandate.

The best solution is to incorporate much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's as other surrounding towns with similar demographics have done and that have proven successful and reject all other strategies. Please keep Hillsborough Hillsborough!

Take Care,

Davina

Dear Members of the Town Council:

We oppose a number of elements of the proposed housing plan. We recognize California's need to build more housing, and the need for the Town of Hillsborough to contribute to the effort by rezoning to some extent. However, we should not be disadvantaged in this effort in comparison to other communities on the Peninsula which are generally similar.

We have no interest in enlarging our home which is on a smaller lot to begin with. We are older and do not enjoy seeing the new giant castles being built near us on every hilltop. But it does seem unfair to restrict younger owners' ability to upgrade and enlarge smaller homes which they may well have acquired with the intent of making such changes—changes to accommodate families.

We have one definite complaint. The Housing Element plan notice came in the mail early last week, I think. Certainly no more than 10 days ago. Strangely, it got our attention immediately with a fairly attentive review on-line. The maps got studied, a new vocabulary of urban planning got figured out to some extent. And now I understand today, September 12, is the deadline for submitting comments. Tell me that isn't so! This is a complex plan, and its implications are not immediately evident.

For example, the effect on schools completely eluded us on first review. Why such haste? Did we miss an earlier train?

Sincerely,
Jon Ross

Subject: fire and erosion risk & housing sites
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 5:08:08 PM

I am writing to express my concern over the proposal to designate the hillside areas along Hayne Rd for HD-2 housing.

Extreme fire risk:

Until you have heard a neighbor across the canyon shout "Fire! Fire" and watched the fire trucks speed toward the scene due to a single wayward spark from a car, as I witnessed a few years ago, you cannot properly understand the fire dangers along this stretch of road. A fire official who visited for our inspection once told us that, if the canyon catches on fire, the fire department will be fighting a losing battle. Adding years of construction and dense housing here would exponentially increase the risk of fire in the canyon, threatening the safety of the entire town. Dense housing would also severely limit residents' ability to escape to 280 in case of a canyon fire, putting both current residents and residents of the proposed new units in danger.

Has the Hillsborough Fire Department been consulted about the proposed use of this site? The professionals who battle and study fires, and who would be called upon to risk their lives in the event of a canyon fire, should certainly be a part of this conversation.

Serious erosion already underway:

In addition to being an area of extreme fire risk, the area along Hayne is subject to serious erosion. The town has only recently undergone a major renovation at Robinwood and Hayne to deal with erosion caused by the creek, which overwhelms its banks during heavy rains. In the area where the town proposes to build, you can already see an entire hillside covered with tarp in an attempt to stave off further erosion. Assuming that civil engineers have been called in to assess the erosion risk associated with building multi-story housing units along this hilly stretch of road, I am eager to see their report.

To conclude, allowing dense housing along Hayne would be extremely short-sighted and would prove to be not only environmentally disastrous, but also economically fraught.

280 access

In addition to the fire and erosion risks, dense housing, and the years of construction preceding it, would cut off the primary access to 280 for many town residents.

The town would be far better served by complying with the state law by way of ADUs, like other nearby towns have done, and by concentrating dense housing on the flat, town-owned property by El Camino, which poses much lower fire risk and no risk of erosion.

Sincerely,
Michelle

Subject: Draft Plan
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 5:00:06 PM

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

We have read the full Draft Plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan is not that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

We are strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

We are supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

We voice our strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you for your public service.

Kind regards,

Jerry and Lucie Weissman

By way of background, I moved to Hillsborough in 1976 with my parents and 5 siblings. I married in 1981 and after eight years in San Mateo, my wife and I moved back to Hillsborough in 1989. Our five children attended South School and Crocker Middle School. We love the community we call home.

I would like to voice my personal opposition to the current draft Housing Element Plan recently shared with the public.

I would personally support a Housing Element Plan which would:

1. Leave the RD zoning in Hillsborough as-is except (possibly) for the redevelopment of the Hillsborough Town Hall properties that would include a reasonable number of multi-family residential units. I would add that the Town should require any redevelopment plan at the Town Hall property to pay/cover its share for any added incremental costs for the Town's infrastructure (ie school construction and operations, water, sewer, police and fire protection, emergency services, etc);
2. Increase significantly the forecast number of ADU's and JADU's;
3. Eliminate the net loss buffer.

Members of the Planning Committee,

I grew up in Hillsborough and have called Hillsborough home for forty years. During a brief period after law school while residing outside of the Bay Area, we carefully considered where we wanted to raise a family and chose Hillsborough for its extraordinary community. I strongly oppose the proposed plan because it will destroy the character of Hillsborough and I cannot imagine continuing to pay a premium to remain in a town with the proposed zoning plans implemented as I understand them to be--higher population density, potentially smaller lot sizes, reduced setbacks, reduced landscaping coverage etc.

I hope that all options that will help protect the character of our town as much as possible will be evaluated before any plan proceeds.

Thank you for your consideration.

WE ARE OPPOSED TO THE PROPOSED HOUSING ELEMENT PLAN INCLUDING THE TOWN HALL SITE PLAN AND WOULD LIKE THE CITY COUNCIL TO REJECT THE PLAN.

Please include this email in today's town meeting

Dear Council members and HEAC members,

Our names are Gina and Charley Haggarty, we live at 420 Darrell Road. We have lived, raised our family, and worked as Real Estate agents in Hillsborough for over 34 years.

We are OPPOSED to the proposed housing element plan and implore the town to start over with a plan that includes ALL ADU/ADJU housing options only.

Hillsborough has incredible schools, a tight community, and larger home lots due to the lack of underlying infrastructure. The lack of roads large enough to support a Bus system, and the finite water supply make the rezoning proposal unrealistic. Additionally, the larger lot sizes in Hillsborough allow for the quiet and safe neighborhood our community expects. This was as true 30 years ago as it is today.

The proposed Housing Element Plan will be detrimental not only to the esthetics of Hillsborough, but will also negatively impact real estate values. It has been estimated that this proposal may reduce real estate values by upwards of 25%. In addition, the plan does not account for the increased usage of public resources including; roads, schools, fire, police & medical response teams.

As Mayor Rice has stated many times "this is one of the most important decisions Hillsborough will be making in the past 50 years".

We and many other residents feel the notification of such MAJOR changes was not communicated.

The Housing Element postcard which was sent out from the Town of Hillsborough was very vague. It did not include any of the drastic measures the town is proposing - rezoning on all Hillsborough lots. Instead, this news traveled through the community via word of mouth, leading to this letter. We as a community are fundamentally opposed to this proposal.

We, the Haggarty's, and many in the entire Hillsborough community are opposed to this proposal. We are fundamentally against the rezoning of Hillsborough. We oppose the housing element plan, we oppose the town hall expansion and campus site plan, we oppose all zoning or rezoning of any lot and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning, and we are opposed to having a goal to discourage redevelopment of sites with existing smaller single-family homes.

OPPOSE:

We Oppose the Housing Element Plan - Residential District 1 (RD-1); Residential District 2 (RD-2) and Residential District 3 (RD-3).
2.
We Oppose the Town Hall Expansion/Campus Site Plan - which was delivered to us this past week and is on the 9/12 agenda.
3.
We Oppose any/all zoning or rezoning of any lot and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning.

We Oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal and do not implement it in the future.

Thank you for your time.

Warmly,
Gina + Charley Haggarty

I am a Hillsborough resident and property owner and disapprove of the pending housing plan. Our elected officials can and must do better. The current proposal is simply inappropriate and not well thought out. I believe the key is coordinating a better plan for incentivizing more ADUs, which I believe will gain support from our community. Further the proposed restrictions on upsizing is unfair and will ultimately result in depreciation of property as there will be a lack of willingness to invest in properties to make them more up to date, which will ultimately impact the attractiveness of our community.

Hello,

I wanted to share my strong objection to the current housing element plan. I do not support any rezoning or lot splitting that do not meet the current zoning of 0.5 acres of land. This goes against the main goal of our founding fathers of this town and what makes Hillsborough so special.

I strongly oppose any plan to develop Town Hall. You will cut off Walnut Ave and leave a very narrow street which will be detrimental in the case of an emergency. The vehicles will not fit down that narrow street.

I strongly oppose the way this has been handled and the lack of clear information provided in a timely manner for the tax-paying citizens of this city.

I strongly oppose the town hall development, use of private land for the planning process, lack of infrastructure planning, and fire preparedness.

We need the city council to step up and at least try a better plan that fits our town (all ADUs). Please listen to what each citizen of this town has stated in many meetings and emails and hear our opposition.

I am in support of a plan that is only ADU and JADU forward, and absolutely no rezoning.

Thank you for your time,

Katie Haggarty

RESIDENT FEEDBACK ON “HOUSING ELEMENT” PLAN (3Q2022 SURVEY)

7% of Hillsborough’s 4,000+ households responded

BACK STORY

- For 2 years (since 2020), our town council has attempted to craft its state-mandated "Housing Element" to plan & execute for higher density housing as mandated by the state of California
- For the past year, the town organized a "Housing Element Advisory Committee" (HEAC) comprised of 17 residents & affected organizations (CSUS, Nueva) to make recommendations to the city council
- The town has also retained a consultancy (Houseal Lavigne) to manage the process for our proposed plan to the state
- The draft HEAC plan was revealed the week of August 8th to city council & the town residents
- Currently the town's plan is to submit the revised HEAC proposal/response as required in October 2022 at which time the state will review our plan
- TOWN could have surveyed residents, to have better data on how to represent their constituency ... So we residents took it on ourselves

SURVEY OVERVIEW

BACK STORY

- Using publicly available databases, we created a pool of 6,000+ validated email addresses, landlines & mobile phones for each Hillsborough address
- During Sept 1-12, 2022, we sent email invitations to this group in addition to posting SURVEY INVITATION to all 5,000+ members of Nextdoor Hillsborough & Hillsborough Together social networks
- In addition to our own research questions, we also included the questionnaire that the 17 member HEAC group used on itself as well as survey questions proposed by Hillsborough Citizen Alliance (HCA)
- 260+ survey responses were received (7% of Hillsborough households) of which 165 provided full contact info for the public record, and the 90+ other anonymous responses were confirmed via IP address; we assume that given the nature of our town's "own" online survey for Housing Element feedback (which are anonymous as well) that these are critical data that merits full town council & management attention

Subject survey re: Hillsborough's "Housing Density Mandate" (HEAC plan)

Per our mayor Al Royce, "This is biggest single issue to confront Hillsborough in 50 years." The mayor was commenting on Hillsborough's plan to meet the state mandate for higher-density housing during 2023-2031 which must be submitted to & approved by the state during the next 2 months.

Clearly, every possible permutation of this so-called Housing Element "opportunities" exercise we are now going through necessitates a potentially DRAMATIC CHANGE TO OUR ZONING LAWS (& quality of life, property values). The majority of Hillsborough residents are UNAWARE of this.

LET'S BE HEARD AS A COMMUNITY BY TAKING A QUICK 3-5 MINUTE SURVEY TO GIVE "HOUSING DENSITY" FEEDBACK TO OUR CITY COUNCIL.

Individual responses are confidential; cumulative data will be analyzed and shared with all survey respondents prior to our presenting such analysis to Hillsborough City Council prior to their next study session on the plan.

1A. Are you aware state law mandates affordable low income & moderate income housing in ALL cities?

Our goal was to (neutrally) educate, as well as capture feedback on several different viewpoints of the proposed plan

2A - How did you learn of Hillsborough's mandate?

56% learned about this issue from social media and email. 24% learned about this from the town communications. We need to rethink how the town communicates overall, especially on critical issues like this.

2A. How did you learn of this state-mandated housing density mandate requirement for Hillsborough (multiple selections allowed)

56% learned about this issue from social media and email. 24% learned about this from the town communications. We need to rethink how the town communicates overall, especially on critical issues like this.

3A - When did you learn about the state mandate for 1st time?

More than half the town respondents were not aware of issue until past 3 months, including almost 3 out of 10 who just learned of this in past 2 weeks before survey.

3A. When did you learn about the state mandate for the first time?

More than half the town respondents were not aware of issue until past 3 months, including almost 3 out of 10 who just learned of this in past 2 weeks before survey.

4A. Were you aware proposed HB plan calls for 550+ LOW,
AFFORDABLE & MODERATE INCOME HOMES WITHIN NEXT 8
YEARS?

5A. Are you aware that similar Bay Area communities such as Atherton have TARGETs 50% OR LESS THAN HILLSBOROUGH'S ?

6A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN would RE-ZONE ENTIRE TOWN?

By a margin of nearly 14 to 1, the town is highly, very,
or somewhat concerned about the re-zoning.

6A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN would RE-ZONE ENTIRE TOWN?

By a margin of nearly 14 to 1, the town is highly, very, or somewhat concerned about the re-zoning.

7A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN EXCLUDES ANY CONSIDERATION
OF 250+ "OPEN SPACE" ACRES?

By a margin of more than 10 to 1, our town is concerned about excluding town-owned open space.

8A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN
REDUCES MINIMUM LOT SIZES from current 1/2
to as low as 1/3 acre?

By a margin of more than 8 to 1, our survey respondents are concerned about reducing minimum lot sizes according to the draft Housing Element.

9A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN MINIMIZES
"FRONTAGES" (from current 150' to as low as 50')?

By a margin of more than 11 to 1, our residents care about preserving 150 foot street frontages.

10A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES
"SETBACK" DISTANCES (from current 20' to as low as 5')?

By a margin of almost 14 to 1, our residents are concerned about reducing setbacks.

11A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN
changes zoning laws to ALLOW "LOT SPLITS" TO BUILD DUPLEXES/TRIPLEXES & MORE?

By an 11 to 1 margin, our citizens don't want to allow or increase the number of lot splits and duplexes on lots

12A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES
MINIMUM LANDSCAPE COVERAGE from 50% to 30%
(structures & hardscaping can be 70% of a lot)?

By almost 6 to 1, our residents don't want a plan that decreases
minimum landscape coverage.

13A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN REDUCES MINIMUM DWELLING SIZE by 70% (from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft) to encourage subdivisions of larger parcels for additional single family as well as duplex units..?

By a margin of more than 8 to 1, our townspeople don't want to reduce the minimum dwelling size from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft.

14A. How concerned are you that CURRENT PLAN ALLOWS
HIGH-DENSITY HOUSING AWAY FROM MAJOR TRAFFIC
ROUTES (El Camino Real, etc.)?

By more than 12 to 1, our town doesn't want high-density housing anywhere but near El Camino or another high traffic route.

15A. How concerned are you CURRENT PLAN DEVELOPERS HAVE NOT APPROACHED 10+ ACRE PARCEL OWNERS for their feedback/participation?

Our town overwhelmingly thinks the Housing Element team should have approached the owners of the large parcels included in the plan.

16A. Are you planning on adding ADU next 5 years (thru 2027)?

[multiple choices = select all that apply]

About 1/3 of our town is planning on adding at least one ADU now, with fewer than half not currently planning (and about 1/5 unsure)

17A. What is your LOT SIZE?

18A. Are you aware of these 10+ ACRE SITES
THAT ARE ELIGIBLE UNDER PROPOSED PLAN FOR REDEVELOPMENT into multi-tenant, multi-story
housing (40% low income)?

19A. Do you APPROVE of Hillsborough's current
"HOUSING DENSITY" plan for 2023-2031 (a.k.a.
"Housing Element")?

By more than 11 to 1, our town opposes this plan.

THANK YOU

Subject: FW: Not in favor of current Hillsborough Housing plan

From: Megan Martin Strickland [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, September 12, 2022 1:44 PM

Subject: Not in favor of current Hillsborough Housing plan

Dear City Counsel - It is with great concern from a Hillsborough family that we write to you this morning. We understand that there is a high density housing proposal that would put at risk our schools, fire safety, and most of the other town infrastructure (water, sewer, electricity, parking, etc) with no real plan on how to solve those issues or generally how to fund them properly in the short and long term.

Our family has three children in the public school district in Hillsborough, and we are writing to voice our opposition to the current plan. We do not support it.

The plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as the primary solution to meet the state of California's requirements. We also feel that any efforts to rezone current government or private properties be vetted by multiple other third parties in order to assure proper solutions for infrastructure down the road.

We support the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

We appreciate your work and look forward to being intimately involved in the solution process together.

Best,

Tim and Megan Strickland
[REDACTED]

The following surveys were submitted by Aaron Zornes on 9/12/2022.

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Are you aware that state law (housing affordability/density mandate a.k.a. "Housing Element") is forcing all cities & towns in California to eliminate barriers that prevent increased production of affordable low income & moderate income housing? [pick one]

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Are you aware that state law (housing affordability/density mandate a.k.a. "Housing Element") is forcing all cities & towns in California to eliminate barriers that prevent increased production of affordable low income & moderate income housing? [pick one]

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Are you aware that state law (housing affordability/density mandate a.k.a. "Housing Element") is forcing all cities & towns in California to eliminate barriers that prevent increased production of affordable low income & moderate income housing? [pick one]

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Q. 1A

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Are you aware that state law (housing affordability/density mandate a.k.a. "Housing Element") is forcing all cities & towns in California to eliminate barriers that prevent increased production of affordable low income & moderate income housing? [pick one]

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 “housing units” during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Are you aware that state law (housing affordability/density mandate a.k.a. "Housing Element") is forcing all cities & towns in California to eliminate barriers that prevent increased production of affordable low income & moderate income housing? [pick one]

- ☐ Yes

Subject: Comments for Council Study Session on Housing Plan
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 1:55:41 PM
Importance: High

Dear Council Members:

I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it because.

1. It unnecessarily rezones ("up-zones") the entire City. That would vastly shrink the minimum property footprint for the 99% of the parcels that are for single family homes, such as the provision to reduce the minimum home size to 800 square feet. It is a "mini-mall" type solution for Hillsborough. Forcing this through would renege on the 70-year compact on which we bought our homes that the minimum lot size is ½ acre and the minimum home size is 2,500 square feet. This re-zoning would make Hillsborough resemble Millbrae, tanking our property values by 20%, according to the top realtors in town. On average, that is $1 million per home. The alternative plan highlights that other viable options are preferable which will preserve our bucolic character, charm, and property values.
2. It will cause dramatic change to the residential character and 10%-25% increase in school enrollments (and in following, class sizes) which will destroy major reasons why people want to live here
3. It Opens a slippery slope making future "up-zoning" easy.
4. Erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes from upgrading their properties
5. It imposes burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed. The town admitted in the last council meeting its estimates of units generated by its plan are "excessively conservative." Adding a 20% buffer to that is a buffer on top of a buffer. HDD, not "the law," dropped a footnote to its RHNA letter with a "helpful hint" of using a 15-30% buffer. The law only requires that the plan is designed to generate the required units – which in Hillsborough's case is 554. The Town can provide a plan for the required units. If for any reason HCD suggests changes, the law provides cities 120 days past the January 31, 2023 deadline as a grace period.
6. It omits large town-owned parcels

Instead, I support the alternative Smart Housing for Hillsborough plan because it will meet all requirements of our RHNA allocation while preserving the Town's special character. SHFH will ...

1. Prevent unnecessary "up-zoning." It will apply zoning changes only if absolutely necessary and only for affected parcels

2. Accelerate the creation rate for ADUs and JADUs which gives residents greater control while taking advantage of a rising trend in Hillsborough
3. Employ vacant lots, including town-owned properties
4. Protects owners of older and smaller homes
5. Adds housing in a safer way

The town should focus on generating new units from town owned property if the SHFH is insufficient. Re-developing the large town-owned properties donated to the city is viable - it would be consistent with the idea of the donation of the properties to preserve the bucolic character of Hillsborough and Hillsborough could resort to eminent domain to re-develop a portion.

The Town should address the following open questions:

As to the Town's plan to develop private parcels, has the Town talked to the owners to see if they are willing to develop the property?

What did Hillsborough do to shape the methodology for allocation? The methodology gives no consideration or accommodation for high cost of real estate, or residential only, or vacancy rates, or impact on property values. This is a state mandate with no funding forced on the property owners to pay in the form of diminished property value and increased property tax and service rates to subsidize housing for others. Unfunded state mandate.

What did Hillsborough do over the last 8 years to increase housing stock other than ADUs?

What did Hillsborough do to lobby the RHNA allocation methodology rules so that it did not discriminate against and adversely impact residential only cities? Cities with very high real property costs? Cities with very low levels of vacant lots? Cities with very low level of jobs in the city (as opposed the region)?

Did Hillsborough work with other similar cities? Work with the League of Cities? Work with groups dedicated to preserving local control?

What did Hillsborough do to lobby ABAG/HCD to decrease H's allocation?

What did Hillsborough do to negotiate with other surrounding cities/counties to solve on a sub-regional basis?

What solutions have council members deliberated upon and recommended? Where is Council member Krolík's plan - she is the council liaison overseeing building and planning. Where is the Hillsborough plan for smart growth? What plan did they develop over the last 8 years in anticipation of the 2023 cycle?

What is written analysis of the proposed plan by Building and Planning? ADRB? Hillsborough Beautification Committee? Wireless Communications Advisory Committee?

What is the analysis and recommendation of Councilmembers Krolik and Cole who oversee the committee process?

Why is the report outsourced to a consulting firm from Chicago? Why is the draft plan so long and stacked with additional policy statements and ancillary policies like outlawing tear downs?

Where is the cost estimate of this plan? On the Town? And how it will affect the Town's resort to tax and rate increases to offset their cost? To the property owners in terms of property value loss and rate/tax increases?

Where is the analysis of the cost to city departments to accommodate the 17% increase in housing units beyond the full capacity we have now? Police. Fire. Water. Electricity. Roads. Traffic. Building and Planning.

Where is the Town's written analysis comparing the approaches from other residential only cities across California? Southern California is one year ahead in this process. Where is the report on lessons learned? Best practices?

Mayor Royse, Deputy Mayor Krolik, Councilors Cole, May and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I appreciate all your efforts to serve the public in Hillsboro, my neighbors and I are opposed to this plan for the following reasons:

- 1) Hillsborough has always been a high-quality, high-priced residential area. It's quiet, safe, and beautiful. Each inhabitant has his own private space, but it is also a 100-year-old city. There are fewer and fewer, and the public facilities in our city are old and lacking. For example, there is only a small community park in Hillsborough, which is far from my home and cannot meet the needs of residents to exercise and socialize. I suggest that the necessary public facilities in the city should be updated and increased, let Hillsborough continue to grow and make the city more liveable, adding a few hundred apartments is not the only solution to the housing shortage, if public facilities are not updated and increased, this can be a disaster for the city.
- 2) I am strongly against the redevelopment of our historic city hall site, especially the inclusion of high-density buildings without a careful study of the impact on town infrastructure, schools, utilities, parking, etc.
- 3) If denser housing is added, such denser housing in our community will be more prone to fires and other emergencies. Please do not change our partitions.
- 4) I object to the use of such a small number of attached dwelling units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns use more ADU/JADU in their plans, and so should we. The town should allocate at least 62 ADUs per year, which has been our plan for the past two years.
- 5) I object to set the target (Policy 4, Target 4.5) to "discourage redevelopment of existing smaller single-family dwellings". This goal and its implementation would violate homeowners' property rights and impose gratuitous penalties on homeowners. Remove this goal from our plan and do not implement it in the future.
- 6) I am against any new housing unit (except ADU) that does not have 1:1 parking.
- 7) I object to the lack of transparency and timing of this process. Records of many HEAC and other planning committee meetings were unavailable, planning department team members provided varying details at different times, and a "preliminary" plan for the "town hall campus" was only available three days before the public review. Nearly every resident was surprised by the process and lack of detail, but city planners classified the impact as "significant."
- 8) I support alternative approaches to our housing elements, using as many ADUs/JADUs as possible, reducing or eliminating "buffers", and utilizing open space to achieve our RHNA goals. I support an assessment of senior housing based on the 2014 Housing Elements and the 2022 HEAC Recommendations. I support approaches that reduce the lengthy permit application process and encourage the use of ADUs for rental purposes to ease urban housing pressures. Many of my neighbors agree with the above. Please include this email in public records and consider it when you complete your application to the state on September 12 and beyond.

Sincerely,

Anna Day

Hello,

We object strongly to rezoning the entire town of Hillsborough. We moved to this community because of the quality of life and less dense housing. We strongly oppose reducing the minimum lot size to 1/3 of an acre. This changes the town and creates a denser living environment. We also see no reason to restrict renovations of older and smaller homes in Hillsborough. That is overly restrictive and not necessary since lots are 1/2 acre and up. Lastly, we disagree with reducing the frontage landscape from 50% to 30%. This also creates a denser feel to the town and makes it similar to neighboring towns. If we wanted to live in that type of environment, we wouldn't have moved to Hillsborough.

In summary, we strongly disagree with rezoning the entire town of Hillsborough. Rezone where appropriate to create affordable housing. Create housing in available spaces in Hillsborough. We moved here so we could live in a town that was less dense and had a high quality of living privacy, gardens, good schools, and less congestion.

Thank you,
The Atkesons

Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 12:26:13 PM

To Whom It May Concern -

I am deeply concerned about the negative repercussions of the draft Housing Element plan that is currently being considered by Hillsborough and to voice my opposition to the plan. I do not support it. We purchased our house in Hillsborough in 2016 expressly to be near dear friends, family, a safe and quiet neighborhood, and the extraordinary North school district. Now that we have two school-aged children, it is of utmost importance to us that we maintain the integrity of all the reasons for which we became a part of the Hillsborough community/purchased a home here.

While I wholeheartedly believe in providing accessible housing and the diversity that comes along with it, I believe the plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADUs as a solution to meet California's requirements.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Finally, I'd like to say a big 'THANK YOU!' to all of you for representing our community. I realize it's a volunteer position — and at times a thankless one!

Thank you for taking the time to consider my feedback as a dedicated Hillsborough community member,
Yvette Lui

Subject: Opposed to Current Housing Element Plan
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 12:26:03 PM

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik and Council Members,

No doubt you're feeling as though you're in a tough spot: On the one hand there is a mandate from Sacramento that says Hillsborough, just like 481 other municipalities, must comply in an effort to create more affordable housing in the State. Regardless of your opinions about the law, you must fulfill your oaths of office to comply with the laws of the State. It's a solemn oath, to be sure.

Yet, you have also been elected to represent the people of Hillsborough. The Housing Element issue is, as Mayor Royse has said repeatedly, the "single most important issue facing Hillsborough in 50 years." The very reasons why people move here in the first place – and remain – are at serious risk.

Our schools are among the best in California year after year. Parents move here because they can feel confident that their kids will get a great education and not have to incur the costs of private school. The proposed Housing Element plan will increase student population by 100 - 200 students without a clear plan about how classroom size can remain intact.

Many people pay the steep price to live here because they know parcel sizes are larger, giving them not only beautiful views but also the privacy they seek. By undermining these two advantages Hillsborough enjoys over other towns, Council will be giving current residents stronger reasons to leave and incoming residents fewer reasons to want to move here.

Every town in California can claim it is unique. But not every town has a generations-old charter of single family homes, of no retail, a respite from the hubbub of city living or the buzz of downtown. The founders of Hillsborough had a good idea of what they wanted to do and our role is to preserve that spirit.

Hillsborough can and should submit a plan that complies with State mandate yet also aligns with our values. The current plan as proposed is NOT that plan. Here's why:

1. It relies on an unsubstantiated "requirement" of a 20% buffer in housing. The 20% was a suggestion but NOT a requirement. This 20% buffer can be 0 if a plan is well-thought out and reasonable
2. It rezones ("up-zones") the entire City.
3. It will dramatically change not only to the residential character of the town but will significantly increase school enrollments by 10%-25% (and in following, cause class sizes to bulge) which will destroy major reasons why people want to live here
4. It causes a slippery slope making future "up-zoning" easy.
5. It erodes the property rights of smaller homes by preventing them from upgrading / expanding their own homes
6. It imposes burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.

7. It inexplicably omits large town-owned parcels

Instead, Council should consider a plan that significantly relies on ADUs and JADUs WITHOUT penalizing homeowners (like me and a vast majority of residents) who live in old ranch homes and might wish to increase the footprint of the home.

ADUs and JADUs are the absolute right path for a town like Hillsborough. It's a practice widely embraced by residents with minimal marketing, has proven effective in helping us meet our first RHNA allotment and, with the right tweaks to ordinances and fast-tracking of the right types of ADUs/JADUs, will only grow in popularity and practice. Hillsborough is so unlike most towns in California, it's foolish to expect we'd be able to submit a plan that matches what others are doing. We're already signaling our willingness to do our part and demonstrating a desire to help California meet its housing plans. Let's not upend what makes Hillsborough Hillsborough because we think that's what HCD is looking for. We know our town far better than they do. Let's submit the plan we KNOW will work for us. If they reject it, we can come back with a contingency plan. But let's not negotiate against ourselves.

Thank you for your continued service to Hillsborough.

Please include this comment in the public record.

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

3Q2022 HILLSBOROUGH HOUSING DENSITY SURVEY

Section A. SHORT SURVEY (3-5 minutes) - NATURE OF "HOUSING DENSITY" REQUIREMENT & OUR TOWN'S PROGRESS

BACK STORY: Our Hillsborough community of 4,000+ homes is mandated to add an additional 554 "housing units" during the 8 year period 2023-2031 (average of 69 units per year) ... whether they be ADUs (accessory dwelling units/granny flats, in-law apartments), duplexes, lot splits (take one lot, break into two lots, build duplexes on each new lot), multi-story apartment buildings or simply more single family homes on much smaller lots. This is required by our California state government (SB 8/9/10 effective 1-Jan-2022) and is related to our official RHNA (Regional Housing Needs Allocation) obligations to increase the number of housing units available across all income levels. A portion of these units MUST be designated LOW-INCOME HOUSING to encourage housing equity for underserved populations of San Mateo County.

LEGEND: ADU = accessory dwelling unit; H = Hillsborough; HCD = California Department of Housing & Community Development; HEAC = Housing Element Advisory Committee; Housing Element = component of Hillsborough's general plan; RD-1, -2 & -3 = residential districts within town of Hillsborough; RHNA = Regional Housing Needs Allocation plan (RHNA plan); SB-9 = State Bill 9 allows homeowners in most areas to streamline housing permitting & to divide their property into two lots; SB-10 = State Bill 10 makes it easier for cities to zone for smaller, lower-cost housing developments of up to 10 units

Subject: Opposed to the Proposed Housing Element Plan
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 11:31:40 AM

HCA IS OPPOSED TO HILLSBOROUGH CITY COUNCIL'S PROPOSED HOUSING ELEMENT PLAN.

Here are the reasons Council must reject their completely unnecessary plan:

1. It relies on an unsubstantiated "requirement" of a 20% buffer in housing. The 20% was a suggestion but NOT a requirement. This 20% buffer can be 0 if a plan is well-thought out and reasonable
2. It rezones ("up-zones") the entire City.
3. It will dramatically change not only to the residential character of the town but will significantly increase school enrollments by 10%-25% (and in following, cause class sizes to bulge) which will destroy major reasons why people want to live here
4. It causes a slippery slope making future "up-zoning" easy.
5. It erodes the property rights of smaller homes by preventing them from upgrading / expanding their own homes
6. It imposes burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.
7. It inexplicably omits large town-owned parcels

Furthermore, we urge Council to slow down and rethink a seriously flawed process that has not only relied on poor quality information and false assumptions (such as the 20% buffer "requirement" and the ill-found conclusion that HCD penalized Santa Monica for submitting an ADU-heavy plan instead of the truth that they were penalized for submitting FALSE data!), but significantly cut a vast majority of residents out of the process.

We ask that Council avoid these temptations...

- to rely too heavily on its consultants, Houseal Lavigne, who have NO experience working on housing allocation and rezoning plans with towns like Hillsborough that have a half-acre minimum single-family property charter and no retail.
- to believe that "it's just a plan" and "no developers will ever act upon it." That would be both disingenuous and dangerously naive. Developers will jump at the chance to build multi-family units in Hillsborough, especially with extra tax breaks granted to those who build affordable housing.
- to rely too heavily on two late-summer open houses and the input of a small group of 17 residents (though dedicated, well-meaning and intelligent they no doubt are) when, in fact, so many people are only recently wading into this weighty and complex topic. A group of HEAC members were so disgruntled and frustrated, they took hundreds of hours to craft their own well-thought out, alternative plan that is highly worthy of consideration (Smart Housing For Hillsborough). That many residents only now getting involved today suggests that the Town's messaging was utterly ineffective. Headlines like "Participate in the Future of the Planning for Your Town!" do not do justice to the gravitas required to invite people into the process. This process requires far more input from residents than the 150 total who attended two Open House sessions late in the summer.

- to negotiate against ourselves by submitting a plan that we THINK might satisfy HCD, Governor Newsom and the Legislature FIRST rather than offer a plan it strongly believes works for Hillsborough residents, our history and values AND demonstrates our willingness to do what's right for Hillsborough.
- to reject the idea of slowing down the process so late in the game, even if it means incurring penalties, of not getting it just right on the first submission. But that is EXACTLY what Council should do and right now. But by not rethinking, resetting and expanding the conversation to include more citizens, the danger is far more profound and long-lasting.

Considering Mayor Royse's repeated and correct warning that the Housing Element is "the most significant (one) to face Hillsborough in 50 years," this is not the time for Council to "trust a process" that has been deeply flawed, reliant on wrong information, and exclusionary. Instead, it's a time to acknowledge – while there's still time – not to start over but to know that there is still more to be done and that we need more time for citizen engagement.

Hello,

We object strongly to rezoning the entire town of Hillsborough. We moved to this community because of quality of life and less dense housing. We strongly oppose reducing the minimum lot size to 1/3 of an acre. This changes the town and creates a denser living environment. We also see no reason to restrict renovations of older and smaller homes in Hillsborough. That is overly restrictive and not necessary since lots are 1/2 acre and up. Lastly, we disagree with reducing the frontage landscape from 50% to 30%. This also creates a denser feel to the town and makes it similar to neighboring towns. If we wanted to live in that type of an environment, we wouldn't have moved to Hillsborough.

In summary, we strongly disagree with rezoning the entire town of Hillsborough. Rezone where appropriate to create affordable housing. Create housing in available spaces in Hillsborough. We moved here so we could live in a town that was less dense and had a high quality of living-privacy, gardens, good schools, and less congestion.

Thank you,

Candace and Bob Savoie

Hello,

As a Hillsborough resident I have many concerns with the proposed plan because it will completely change the feeling of our unique town and the reason we all pay a premium to live here.

First of all, there is not enough being done to fight to keep our town from drastically changing with the proposed zoning and rule changes. The city council, housing committee, Mayor and other elected officials need to do more! They have to get more aggressive with the number of ADU's, including passing ordinances now before submitting our plan, allowing for more ADU's and more incentives for ADU's. If the Council passes such ordinances, it can justify a much higher number of ADU's, which would potentially eliminate (or at least drastically slash) any high density housing in their plan. Other towns similar to ours have done this and we need to fight for that as well!

You must also demand that there be no "up-zoning", as this imposes a very unfair restriction on anyone who currently owns a smaller home, and no to smaller minimum lot sizes, no to reduced setbacks, no to increased high allowances, no to increased FAR (floor area ration), and no to reduced landscaping coverage.

If any of the proposed zoning changes are approved, they must be limited to a one time exception and not the norm, as that would ensure our town doesn't get taken over by developers, but rather stays a town of predominantly single family homes, as it was intended to be, and why it's so highly coveted.

If affordable housing absolutely has to be added, then the developers must be required to stick to strict architectural guidelines that are regulated and enforced by the town. These guidelines must be put in place so the new buildings blend in with the beautiful architecture that is all around Hillsborough.

Dennis Moore has proposed a new plan that is much improved over the original and I support aspects of that plan, although I still think there is more work to be done to preserve our small town and ensure we've exhausted all options first, and laid out very specific changes/guidelines in zoning and architecture that will only apply to the new developments going in related to this mandate.

Thank you,
Dana Gross

We are long time residents. We moved into Hillsborough in January 1987.

I was at the information session at North school last Tuesday. After careful consideration of the situation, we objected to the rezoning of the entire town, and the prohibition of smaller, older units to renovate. It is unfair to stop residents from upgrading their homes.

Sir or Madam,

I have reviewed the full plan and various documents obtained at both of the Town's open house sessions this summer, and developed an understanding of the State's mandate. I would like to thank the Council members and staff for the extensive time and work on behalf of Hillsborough navigating this challenging issue. Generally, I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing, especially if it enables our town employees and teachers housing closer to their work. However, this current draft plan does not seem to fit the unique nature of our town's current residential community.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important when considering a Housing Element plan as we have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction, which on its surface would make providing affordable housing unrealistic. There are probably very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings an academic, theoretical approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data and not the reality of our community. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with inclusive and transparent discussion and community engagement, and in consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There may be superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please consider this email on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our plan submission to the State..

Thank you for your public service.

Respectfully,

William McCreery

Dear Hillsborough Town City Hall members

I am forwarding you my below feedback email, with

Few high-level points

- My wife and I deeply love Hillsborough--we have been living here for 27 years
- Raised 3 daughters and 1 son who attended Crocker and West School
- I am not a democrat nor a republican, and not part of any "special interest group"
- My educational background, UC Berkeley B.S. Industrial Engineering & Operations Research, later MBA in Finance,
- 45-year work experience, domestic and International, as Financial Controller of global businesses, General Manager of the 4,000 employee Penang site in Malaysia, deep experience in Real Estate, Facilities construction, maintenance, engagements with many vendors and contractors. I feel I have the credibility to express my views on this important subject, in addition to my wife and I being very caring residents of this beautiful Town.
- Gavin Newsom signed legislation in Sept 28, 2021 to increase affordable housing
- Signing legislation, making speeches about this is obviously the very easy part
- Gavin Newsom is a master politician, and his track record is terrible
 - California is one of THE worst mismanaged states
 - He loves to blame rather than really understand root causes, show sustained leadership to fix very serious and dangerous major issues in the State
 - All throughout the fires that ravaged Santa Rosa, Sonoma: all he did was blame PG&E
 - California Electric power grid has not had enough capacity for a long time
 - Gavin Newsome has not been part of leading and driving the solution
- To plan and execute low-cost housing is very hard work with not enough success stories. The "devil is in the details"
 - As you are aware, the politics of such a project is a hornets' nest of powerful interest groups....
 - I understand there are over 200 affordable housing projects in the Bay Area that are supposedly shovel ready, but still stuck in the pre-development stage due lack of funding
 - The term "low-cost housing" sounds nice but is extremely difficult to achieve
 - Builders of affordable housing must comply with the same guidelines on design and construction as market-rate housing projects. Affordable projects often must comply with even higher design standards due to some reliance on public dollars
 - The goal of building low-cost housing, for Hillsborough firefighters, police and teachers likely to be elusive: One reason
 - I bet, there will always be lower than Hillsborough cost housing for them within 15 miles of Hillsborough
 - Will the Town be able to pass a law that, if you don't work for Hillsborough, you can't buy such a low-cost house?

In my humble and candid opinion, my summary observations

- I have reviewed available material on your website and spoken with few of the hosts during the Sept 6th evening Public Open House at North School. I have not seen a compelling summary case for this project.
- All the goals and objectives of this project are probably not likely to be achieved

1) If one of the objectives is to create affordable housing for a special group: Firefighters, Police and teachers who work in Hillsborough but don't live here

- To work and live in the same town, is an elusive goal and extremely rare. I assume this is not a City Hall goal. If it is, then likely to be a false promise
- Why this group of people are not renting or buying within a 10-15mile radius of Hillsborough—the very likely answer: they can't afford it.
- Does the Town of Hillsborough really believe they can build lower cost housing within a 10-15mile radius?
 - With land prices in Hillsborough, escalating construction costs, material and labor shortages, public housing stringent requirements, union rates, etc, I don't see how this is possible
 - I am very doubtful: if and when, this project is completed, this special group will be able to afford to live in Hillsborough
- More likely, after messing up beautiful Hillsborough's very precious attributes, as we have known it for decades, other than this special group, who can afford it, will likely move-in to Hillsborough

2) If a second objective is to comply to a mandate from consummate politician Gavin Newsom, in my opinion, this should be pushed back and assign resources to find other alternatives

Mr. Newsom, is doing political grandstanding, as he wants to "check the box" for his future career aspirations. I don't know for sure, but I doubt, this "Mandate" will apply to every Town and City, in California.

3) Consider an alternative, while honoring free choice and addressing affordable housing.

Good idea to redouble efforts to work with relevant County, State and Federal government agencies to establish a tiered criterion of issuing vouchers for relevant special groups to be eligible for lower cost housing. They should be given the choice to choose where they want to live.

4) Recap of my recommendations from below email

- Why not send a summary email (with less than ten slides) to all residents to make them much better aware
- 11,000 residents: Should get a high percentage of them to agree before this measure is seriously considered for implementation

Even if passed, only a "baby step" should be considered in only one location in the Town to learn from this experience

I don't know all the details, but if the State is providing part of the funding for affordable housing in Hillsborough, that amount will absolutely be dwarfed by the very large market value drop of properties in Hillsborough. This will be all borne by the residents of Hillsborough. Hence, it is essential that City Council ensure virtually all residents are well aware, eg via Email, of this seachange project and provide their feedback to you. The future of beautiful Hillsborough is in your hands

Thanks for the opportunity to provide this feedback

Best Regards

Assadour (Ted) Kevranian

Hi

I had an opportunity to review the draft material on Housing Development on your website. I attended the 6pm Public Open House yesterday evening at North School Multipurpose Room. I briefly spoke with Ms, Liz Ruess, and I am copying her on my candid feedback regarding this unprecedented project for the Town of Hillsborough.

High level questions at the outset

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?
Intended and unintended consequences?
How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware of this project, and how many have provided their feedback?

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?

- If it is the State of California, their credibility has been on a very steep decline for over several decades. I would think the State is the least genuinely concerned body about the average worker in the State or Town of Hillsborough.
- Quality of life and living costs in California with high taxes, inflation, increasing crime rates is the real issue, not low-cost housing.
- I believe California has lost residents to other states every year since 2001.
- My employer, Viavi, moved its headquarters from San Jose to Chandler, Arizona. Oracle and HP moved to Texas, others will follow.
 - 396,000k regulations in the State of California.
 - Declining quality and slow services.
 - Example: City of Chandler, AZ offered, and we used "Concierge Service", on construction permitting & approval process. They require and we adhere

- to very sound water recycling, solar power use, very good environmental measures etc.
 - We have to be mindful, cost of housing, reasonable mortgage rates, only one cost element vs many others, like availability-reliability of water & utilities, higher State Taxes, etc
- Hillsborough Town should not accept, at face value, a “mandate from the State”

Intended and unintended consequences have been fully considered?

- How many teachers, firefighters and police expressed active interest in this project?
 - How many of them drive more than 30 miles each-way to work?
 - “A few miles driving distance to work” seems attractive, but a very unreasonable expectation and requirement.
- What is the projected sale price of proposed low-cost housing in Hillsborough?
 - With even lower cost housing choices within 15 miles of Hillsborough, interested firefighters, police & teachers will really buy such units in Hillsborough?
- Tinkering with the very special--charming Town of Hillsborough, heritage & uniqueness. will most certainly have unintended consequences
 - I believe this initiative will definitely make developers; utility companies, others richer
 - Have unforeseen large infrastructure costs in water, sewer, schools, etc been quantified and considered?
 - The Town could see some exodus from Hillsborough

My own immigrant's story,
attraction was: equality of opportunities NOT equality of outcomes,

- 50 years ago, fresh out of high school, with $200 in my pocket I came to America: stayed with an American family, dreamt of buying a house in Hillsborough attended CSM, UC Berkeley,
 - 37-Years ago I married my beautiful wife from Vancouver, BC, spent 7 years in Penang running HP's very large R&D and Manufacturing facility. Returned in 1995 with four children and purchased a beautiful house in precious and highly esteemed Hillsborough
 - We have three daughters and a son, they initially attended the KZV Armenian School in San Francisco
 - Then attended West and Crocker schools----great academics, character education, sports, best music teacher, etc
 - Hillsborough residents: awesome people, highly educated, successful, high parental participation in local schools
 - Our children later attended: San Mateo High School, UC Davis, University of Santa Clara, USC, University of Rome and Sorbonne. They all learned to appreciate diversity, different cultures, came back, and have successful jobs in the Bay Area.

How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware, how many have provided their feedback on this huge project?

- Hillsborough Town set up key meetings in August and September —high vacation months. There were quite a few people last night, but I would think, they make up a tiny fraction of the residents.
 - Why not send a summary email (with less than ten slides) to all residents to make them better aware
 - 11,000 residents: Should get a high percentage of them to agree before this measure is seriously considered for implementation
 - Even if passed, only a “baby step” should be considered in only one location in the Town to learn from this experience.

Thanks for listening. I work for a high-tech company and manage their Real Estate, EH&S, and Facilities in 60 global locations. I also manage Sourcing & Procurement.

Subject: Smart Housing for Hillsborough solution for state of California requirements
Date: Monday, September 12, 2022 9:09:26 AM

Dear City Counsel - It is with great concern from a Hillsborough family that we write to you this morning. We understand that there is a high density housing proposal that would put at risk our schools, fire safety, and most of the other town infrastructure (water, sewer, electricity, parking, etc) with no real plan on how to solve those issues or generally how to fund them properly in the short and long term.

Our family has three children in the public school district in Hillsborough, and we are writing to voice our opposition to the current plan. We do not support it.

The plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as the primary solution to meet the state of California's requirements. We also feel that any efforts to rezone current government or private properties be vetted by multiple other third parties in order to assure proper solutions for infrastructure down the road.

We support the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

We appreciate your work and look forward to being intimately involved in the solution process together.

Best,

Tim and Megan Strickland

Subject: Hillsborough Housing Elements First Draft - Public Comment

Dear Members of the Planning Department and Consultant Teams,

Thank you for the work you have put into creating this first draft of the Hillsborough Housing Element. It has been an enormous feat, and one I recognize has been challenging by both internal and external deadlines.

I am providing feedback after a thorough review, and hope my comments will be helpful in continuing to shape the Housing Element. The following are a combination of personal recommendations and identification of gaps between existing state law/HCD guidance and Hillsborough's Draft Housing Element. I have attempted to reference or link to existing standards wherever possible.

Section 6: Housing Constraints

- Hillside development standards are identified as a constraint, but no commitment is made to remove said constraint. Plenty of cities (both in the Bay Area and around the world) build at a higher density on slopes than is currently allowed by the Town of Hillsborough, and are able to successfully mitigate the impact of erosion and landslides, therefore this is a fixable constraint if only the density guidelines were modified. Please include a commitment in the next revision to modify hillside development requirements to allow higher density dwellings in order to further the efforts to reduce barriers to housing in the Town of Hillsborough.
- The housing element does not currently assess permitting timelines relative to required state law, or provide data on which the assessment is based, eg SB35, HAA, CEQA (requirements as per each individual state code). Please include this in the subsequent draft.
- The housing element does not provide clear evidence for the claims about typical fees, permitting times, etc., and base these claims on data that the public can access to confirm the city's assertions. Further, a breakdown of fees is not even provided. In the subsequent revisions, please provide a clear breakdown of all typical fees as required in the requisite analysis, as well as an analysis of the fees in relation to jurisdictions in the area, and links to all base data. Such breakdowns should include permitting timelines and fees for ministerial review, zoning changes, EIRs, site plan reviews, architectural reviews, specific plans, and all other relevant items. The breakdown should also include any impact fees identified by category, such as traffic, flood, police, parks, waste, etc. (HCD Building Blocks, Fees and Exactions, Processing and Permitting Procedures)
- The housing element does not explain whether the city's planning and building departments have established procedures for recognizing and issuing permits for projects that were "deemed approved" by operation of the Permit Streamlining Act. Please address this in the subsequent revision.
- The housing element's analysis of constraints does not use outcome-based metrics, such as the city's relative rank by rents and housing production, to assess cumulative constraints. Further, the cumulative effect of constraints is not addressed at all. Please include a cumulative constraints analysis in the subsequent revision. See direction from HCD: "The analysis of potential governmental constraints should describe past or current efforts to remove governmental constraints. The analysis should identify the specific standards and processes and evaluate their cumulative impact on the supply and affordability of housing. Each analysis should use specific objective data (quantified, where possible)" (Building Blocks, Land-Use Controls).§
- To mitigate the burden of constraints that arise from the interaction of state and local law, Hillsborough should either make the review of housing projects ministerial (and thus exempt from CEQA), or limit the scope of their project-level discretionary review to aesthetic issues. Under McCorkle Eastside Neighborhood Group v. City of St. Helena (2018) 31 Cal.App.5th 80, aesthetic review does not trigger CEQA unless the project is in a historic district. Said recommendations should be identified in the programs section with commitments to adopt them.

Section 8: Sites Inventory Analysis:

- Overview:
 - Utilization of 20% No Net Loss buffer is applauded; thank you for ensuring this has been incorporated in the plan. Given that the Town of Hillsborough has never constructed multi-family housing at the densities projected in this element, it is especially prudent to include 20% or higher buffer.
 - Avoiding the use of SB-9 projection is applauded - as the Town does not currently does not have any completed or approved projects SB-9 projects to base a forward projection on, it is appropriate that this has been excluded from the Housing Element approach.
 - Please include an electronic spreadsheet that identifies the proposed parcels as well as APN numbers (Sites Inventory Instructions, Pg 1)
- Approach 1: Promotion of Accessory Dwelling Units
 - Utilization of the ADU safe harbor methodology for the projected number of units over the next cycle is applauded.
 - In terms of affordability breakdown, ADU affordability (pg 90 of the Housing Element) is vastly over-assumed. One problem is that very few people who build ADUs in Hillsborough actually rent them out (anecdotally, as a resident for 20+ years this year was the first time in my life I ever met someone who rented their ADU rather than use it for a guest house or pool house). The second is that the ADU study performed was taken by only 160 people in a town of 11,400 residents, and only 14% of the 160 respondents were current ADU owners (so 22 people). Of those 22, only 6 filled out the question on how much they charge for monthly rent. 42% of the total people surveyed indicated an interest in building an ADU (~67 people), and out of those 67, only 10 indicated what range of rent they would plan to charge. Only one person who resides in an ADU filled out the survey, and they did indicate the range of rent they pay. Projecting that ADUs would be deeply affordable, and assuming that 63.32% of our low-income allocation will be filled by ADUs is an extrapolation that simply can't be made when only 6 people in the town indicate what range of rent they currently rent out their ADU for (a sample size of ~.05%). The survey results cannot be relied on to project income affordability categories. Significant changes should be made to the projected income category allocations in order to account for the extreme cost of housing in the Town of Hillsborough, and guidance taken from regional/ABAG studies regarding market rates for ADUs should be adjusted to factor that in when projecting income distribution. These changes should allocate the vast majority of units in the AML category, and very few (less than 50% overall) to the MI, LI, and VLI categories.
- Approach 2: Amendments to the Town's Zoning and Subdivision Ordinances
 - Rezoning strategies in terms of the creation of R-1, R-2, and R-3 zoning, as well as expanded allowance on building height, units per acre, and lot size are applauded. Such changes, especially the much-increased densities in the R-2 and R-3 zone, provide a practical and realistic incentive for development.
 - Rezoning for R-2 neighborhoods with an affordable housing overlay comes with a density proposal of 20 units per acre, or 24 units per acre when restricted to senior-only housing (pg 93 of the Housing Element). Given the extreme costs of land in the town, those densities should be increased to the top end of the Mullin-Densities at 30 units per acre for the base density, and 34 units per acre for senior-only housing, to increase the chances of actual development. Without appropriate density, it is extremely unlikely that an affordable housing developer would choose to build in the town of Hillsborough.
 - In relation to the projected number of units that may result from the changes to the RD-1 district, it may be beneficial to increase that projected number slightly (to perhaps 30-45 units, if supported by past data or site analysis), as residents currently do not find the projected number of units, 15, to be worth changing the entire town's minimum lot size and frontage requirements for. Regardless of the final projection, the town should still continue with the changes to decrease minimum lot size and street frontage to allow for additional subdivisions and opportunities for homes.
- Suitability and Availability:
 - While site suitability factors and scoring are outlined in pages 97 and 98, please expand on the scoring applied to the selected Housing Opportunity sites, and the scoring for the R-2 sites which were not selected as Housing Opportunity sites.
- Housing Opportunity Sites:
 - I applaud the city for having selected sites that are realistic for development, and for not selecting sites that will not likely develop (eg open space in which the ownership would revert back to the original owner, or currently occupied Town land which has no projected discontinuation). It is clear that the town has completely a true review of opportunity sites and selected sites not just as a paper exercise for compliance. In particular, the larger estates of Strawberry Hill and De Guigne should remain part of the identified Housing Opportunity sites, at as high of density zoning as possible, in order to ensure that people of various incomes are distributed throughout various parts of the town, and not only concentrated near El Camino on the City Hall lot. Wherever possible, the city should consider increasing the maximum number of units per acre, whether at market rate or for affordable housing, in order to maximize realistic changes of development in the next planning period.

- The current site capacity analysis utilizes the “Step 1” strategy - Utilizing Minimum Densities to Calculate Realistic Capacity of Sites (Site Inventory Guidebook, Pg 19). In order to utilize this method, for housing opportunity sites 2, 3 and 4, please ensure that the following is implemented in the Housing Element: “the general plan or zoning must require the specified minimum number of residential units on the identified sites regardless of overlay zones, zoning allowing nonresidential uses, or other factors potentially impacting the minimum density” (Site Inventory Guidebook, Pg 19). While the current site capacity analysis identifies allowed units per acre, a requirement for the minimum number of units to be built (should the parcel be developed) is not specified. Please include such minimum requirement for units per parcel in the subsequent revision of the Housing Element.

Section 10: Housing Plan:

- As per Pg 21 of the Site Inventory Guidebook, “the housing element should include monitoring programs with next-step actions to ensure sites are achieving the anticipated development patterns. The programs should identify modifications to incentives, sites, programs, or rezoning the jurisdiction will take should these strategies not yield the expected housing potential.” The current draft of the Housing Element contains Goal 7.4, “Monitor the residential sites inventory and the Town’s progress in meeting RHNA.” However, this goal does not include a commitment to explicit changes that would be taken if the anticipated development were not materializing in the planning period (mid-cycle adjustments). Adjustments that could be considered include an automatic density bonus, ministerial permitting, reduced impact fees and parking requirements, or other relief from constraints. Such adjustments should be identified in specificity, with provisions regarding when they are triggered and which kinds of homes or developments they apply to. Please include this commitment to specific mid-cycle adjustments that apply to ADUs, single-family homes, and multi-family homes in the next revision of the Housing Element.
- The town currently has no verification or reporting method for determining whether ADUs which have been built are being rented out, and what the rental price is. The current Housing Element does not identify steps to create any such program. Please include in Goal 7.4, “Monitor the residential sites inventory and the Town’s progress in meeting RHNA,” a commitment to develop and launch such a program and policies which will allow adequate data capture for ADU usage and affordability.
- In relation to AFFH, the list of actions in this section shall include concrete timeframes for implementation, measurable outcomes, explicit prioritization (“high,” “medium,” or “low”), and “must be created with the intention to have a significant impact, well beyond a continuation of past actions.” (AFFH Guidance Memo pg 52, 71).
- Several programs throughout this section commit to actions to study a potential policy and then present the study findings to the city council for “for consideration and adoption.” It is unclear with the current wording whether a commitment is being made to adopt the identified policy, or whether the commitment is being made to consider adoption. Please clarify and ensure that the commitment is made to actually adopt the specified policy.
- On page 142, for goal Goal 2.2, “Allow one JADU and multiple ADUs on lots one acre and larger within the RD-1 zone,” I would recommend changing this proposal to “½ acre” to increase the ability of residents to development additional ADUs on their lots.
- Within Goal 4.1 “Policy 4: Plan for and Support the Development of “Missing Middle,” Multi-Family and Affordable Housing,” please include a commitment to imparting few amenity constraints on multi-family development (such as parking requirements, balconies and roof decks, open space, requirements for finishes and appliances that go beyond what the state building code mandates) in order to increase the potential for housing development and prevent barriers from being enacted while the town is in the process of developing standards for the new R-2 and R-3 zones.

In addition, as a quality engineer, I cannot help but also point out smaller errors I noticed in the first draft so they may be revised in the subsequent draft -

- Page 6, “a 167 person subcommittee” should be “a 17 person subcommittee”
- Page 10, “HEAC Meeting 4 was held for HEAC members...” should be “HEAC Meeting 3 was held for HEAC members to...”
- Page 10, under “What housing types and densities would you find acceptable in Hillsborough?”, the currently listed answer neglects to include the result from the HEAC survey in which apartments/condos tied for the highest number of votes. Please include apartments/condos in the listed types of housing that the HEAC found appropriate.

What housing types and densities would you find acceptable in Hillsborough?

HEAC members discussed that housing types such as ADUs, JADUs, smaller single-family detached homes, duplexes, and fourplexes may be appropriate in Hillsborough. They also expressed that increased density throughout the community should be accomplished through lot splits while greater density should be concentrated near El Camino Real due to its proximity to transit stops.

- Page 10, under “How can the Town encourage/promote the development....”, the currently listed answer neglects to include “lowering or waiving building fees” and “guarantee building timelines for RHNA projects”, two items which were not only voted in favor in the survey answers from the HEAC, but were the second highest voted on item. Please include them in the listed responses in this section.

How can the Town encourage/promote the development of these new housing types and densities? What barriers exist? How do we overcome them?

HEAC members discussed that the biggest barriers to developing new housing types in Hillsborough are public opposition, the Town's current zoning ordinance standards, and the likelihood that developers will want to develop these housing types. The HEAC members discussed ways that Hillsborough can overcome these barriers and encourage the development of new housing types and densities through financial incentives that support higher density and affordable housing, amending the Town's current zoning ordinance to enable new housing types and densities, and to provide transparency and education to residents.

- Page 11, the sentence needs to say “ 80 percent of the HEAC members agree that more than one ADU should be allowed on a lot greater than one to the extent allowed by RHNA” to reflect the actual question asked of the HEAC members
- Page 15, please provide additional information regarding the ADU study. Eg, “A total of 160 responses were collected, with 14% (n=22 people) of respondents being current ADU owners, 42% (n= 67 people) representing potential ADU owners, 43% (n=69 people) representing people not interested in constructing an ADU, and 1% (n=2 people) representing current residents of ADUs.” (the numbers in this sentence are my estimation based on the results provided to HEAC members)
- Page 23-28, needs column headers
- Page 23, “durantion” should be “duration” (x2)
- Figures in Section 5 (pages 32-77) should indicate whether they are showing metrics for the town of Hillsborough, the County, or the State in the Figure title
- Page 59, two typos highlight (spacing and abrupt end of sentence)

The time during which the largest share of Hillsborough's housing units was built is 1960-1979, where 1,455 units built (36%) and approximately 80% of the Town's housing stock was constructed prior to 1980. This is consistent with trends seen in the County, where more units were built during 1960-1979 than any other period. Since 2010, only 53 units, or 1.3% of the current housing stock, has

- Page 72 is a repeat page with the same text as page 71
- Page 79, abrupt end of sentence

Is this a constraint?

YES. Limiting height to between 22-32 feet does not allow for structures larger than three stories. Combined with the density and lot coverage requirements discussed above, this further limits the type of development which may occur on a lot. Zoning ordinance updates designed to mitigate

- Page 131, needs column headers and data got rearranged in the rows
- Page 142 below should be 2.2(c)

Goal 2.2: Allow one JADU and multiple ADUs on lots one acre and larger within the RD-1 zone.

- Action 2.2 (a): Review best practices and sample ordinance language for similar multiple attached or detached ADU programs in jurisdictions of similar size and make up in the ABAG region and throughout the state.
- Action 2.2 (b): Based on the findings of Action 2.3(a), draft potential ordinance language facilitating allowing a maximum of two ADUs (attached or detached) and one JADU on lots one acre and larger within the RD-1 zone and conduct community outreach for feedback.
- Action 2.4 (c): Present to City Council for consideration and adoption, language allowing a maximum of two ADUs (attached or detached) and one JADU on lots one acre and larger within the RD-1 zone.

Thank you again, and I look forward to seeing the next revision after public comment.

Best,
Noelle Langmack

Hillsborough Councilmembers:

Having now read the Housing Element in detail, including the various presentations provided, I am struggling to understand why we cannot pursue the alternate plan proposed by the SHFH (attached). This presentation captures many of my concerns. I am very aware of the affordable housing crisis we face in the Bay Area, but as Hillsborough is a town without any commercial properties (i.e., 100% residential) I am struggling to understand why the solution would be to up-zone the entire town and begin to erode at the characteristics that make Hillsborough so desirable, promote our quality of schools, and prop up home values.

For example, we are strongly considering adding an ADU to our home to aid in the acceleration of ADU development, and we believe we can convince many of our friends to do the same.

Thank you for your public service and I look forward to discussing further with you.

Best regards,

Hillsborough 2023-2031 Housing Element

A Better Plan:

Smart Housing for Hillsborough

Introduction: Why Is Hillsborough Doing this?

- California's Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) has determined that California's housing crisis is the result of too few units of housing in the state
- HCD created a "Regional Needs Housing Allocation" (RHNA, pronounced "REE-na") assigned throughout the state, and the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) has allocated housing unit numbers to each Bay Area community
- Hillsborough needs to submit a plan late this year to HCD to add 554 new units of housing to our town during this 8-year period
- Hillsborough City Council retained a consulting firm, Houseal Lavigne to provide professional guidance and appointed a 17-member citizen advisory group to serve as advisors to give feedback as the plan was developed.
- Staff has created a draft plan, called the Housing Element (a component of our town's General Plan) to meet our RHNA obligations

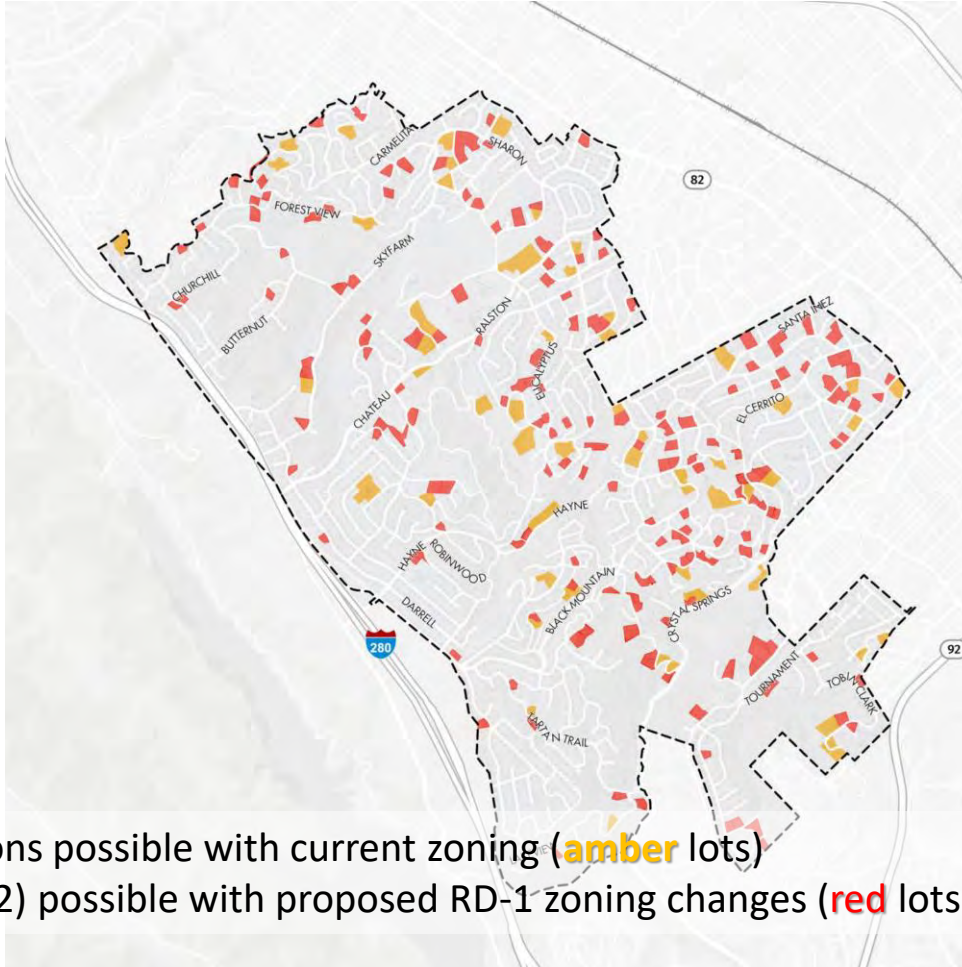

Key Elements of the Town's Initial Draft Plan

- “Up-zones” the entire town in order to allow denser development.
- Has a stated goal to “protect” (ban renovations of) older, smaller homes (meaning no upgrades to larger homes).
- Accelerates development by speeding up ADRB approvals, streamlining processes, and eliminating fees and reviews.
- Transforms the Town Hall site into a large apartment building-style multi-unit development.
- Allows subdivision of three large estates into town house-style multi-units.
- Expands development of housing affordable to residents of all income levels.

Key Elements of the Town's Initial Draft Plan: By the Numbers

- Shrink lot size by 33% (from 1/2 acre to 1/3 acre).
- Reduce street frontage by 33% (from 150 to 100 feet).
- Reduce landscape coverage from 50% to 30% (structures and hardscaping can be 70% of your neighbors' lots!).
- Reduce minimum dwelling size by 70% (from 2500 sq ft to 800 sq ft) to encourage subdivisions of larger parcels for additional single family as well as duplex units.
- Assumes ADU construction at the average level of 2019-2021 (35 / year * 8 years = 280 units).
- Provide a buffer of 20% (111 extra units) in case some sites are not developed.

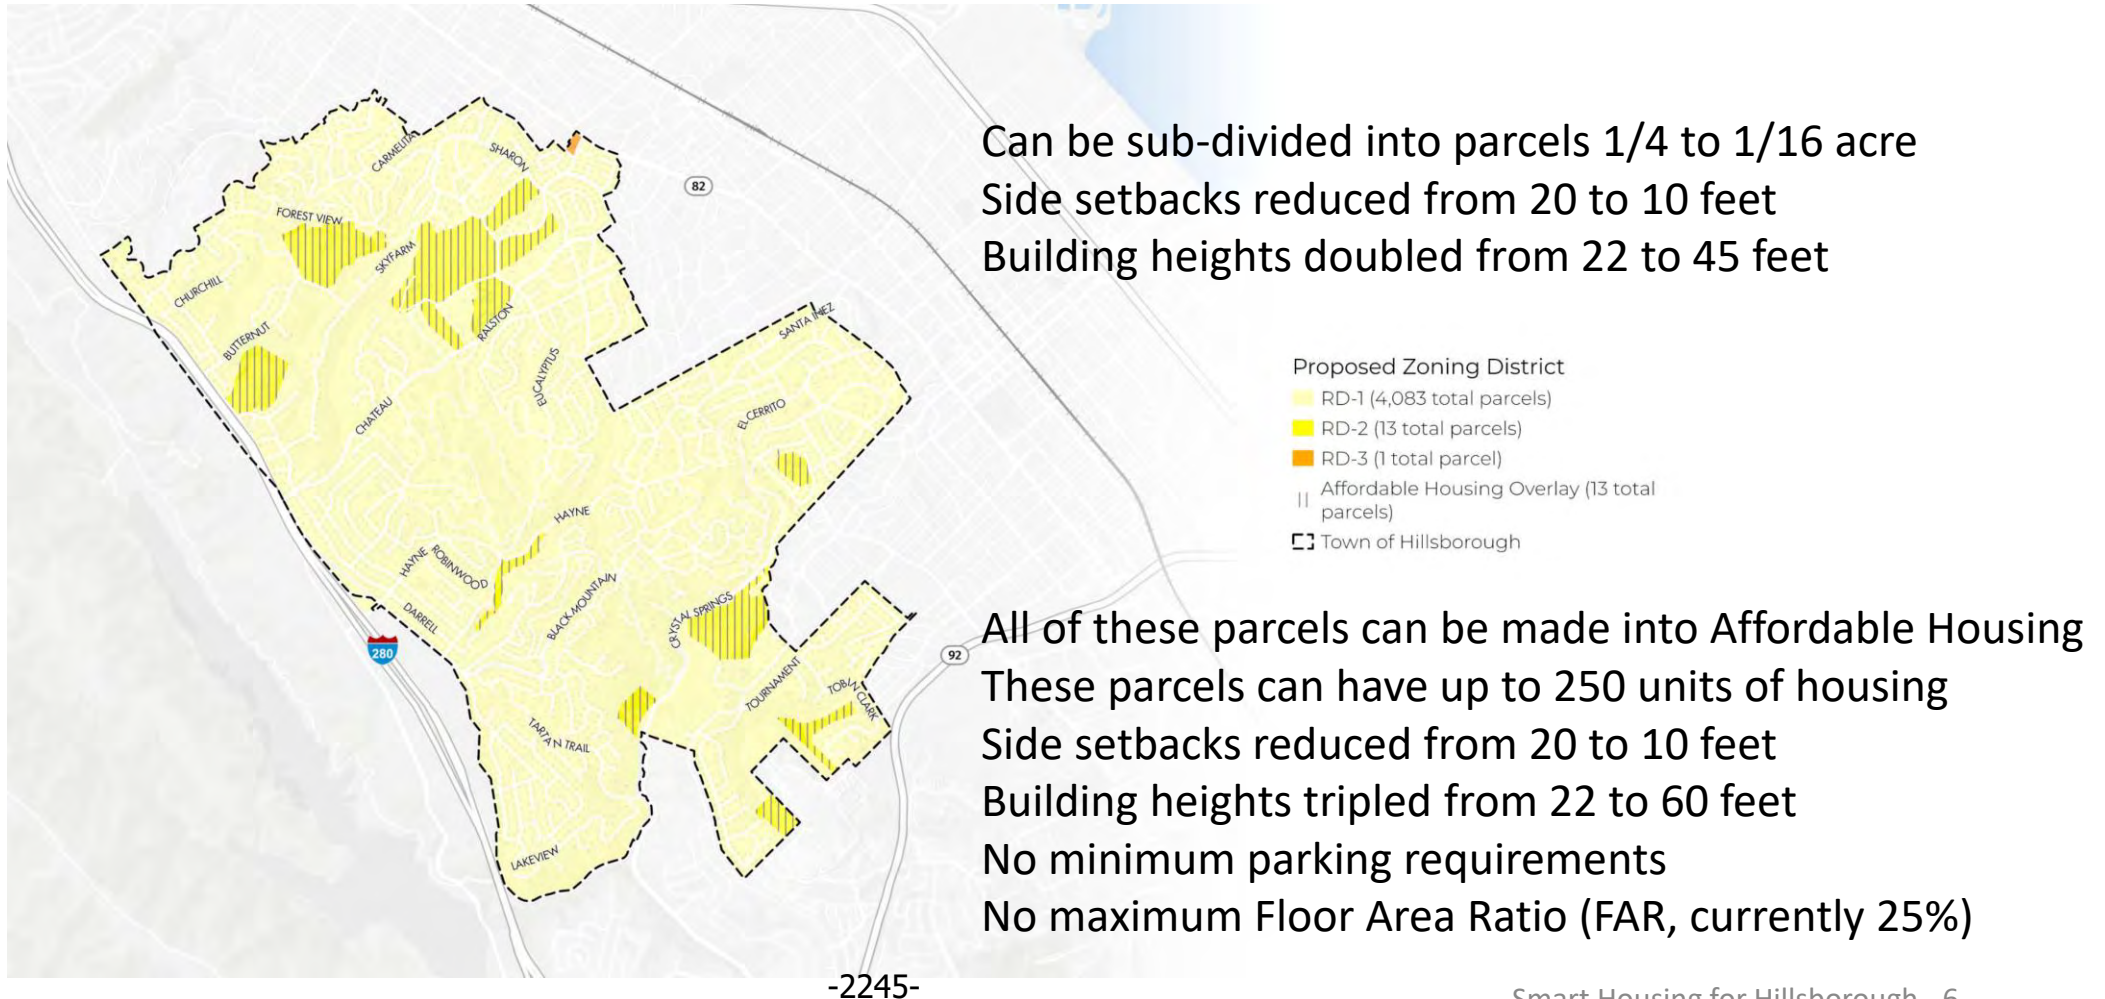

Entire Town Will be Up-Zoned

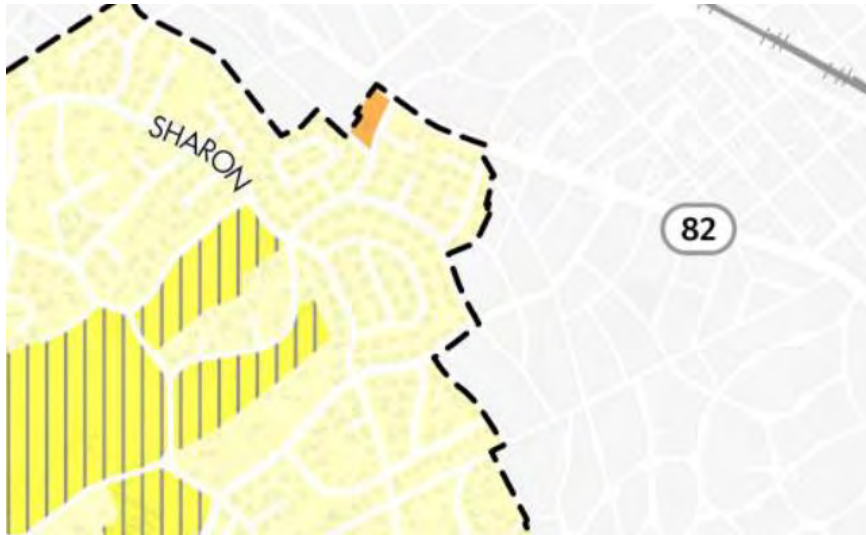

61 SB-9 sub-divisions possible with current zoning (amber lots)
293 (additional 232) possible with proposed RD-1 zoning changes (red lots)

- Your neighbors could sub-divide their lots, packing more houses closer to yours on smaller lots
 - Fire hazard, loss of privacy, traffic congestion, construction nuisances
- Slippery slope – more up-zoning in the future
- Do we want Hillsborough to become like Millbrae?

13 (“RD-2”) Parcels Can Have “High Density” Housing Up to 250 Units

Town Hall Site (“RD-3”) Up-zoning with Large Apartment Building

Plan is not yet confirmed

Vision is to include town service needs and housing

First 1-2 floors reserved for town offices, including Police

Housing estimated to be at least 100 units

Likely to be a 5-10 story tall apartment-style building

The Town's Initial Draft is not Acceptable to the Majority of Homeowners

We spoke to dozens of neighbors, who objected to the Initial Draft Housing Element Plan for the following major reasons:

1. Dramatic change to landscape and 10-25% increase in school enrollments will destroy top reasons people want to live here.
2. Opens a slippery slope making future “up-zoning” easy. Every homeowner we spoke with opposes this.
3. Erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes from upgrading their properties in the future.

Additional Concerns About and Flaws in The Town's Initial Draft

1. Realtors with whom we have spoken indicate the initial draft proposed Housing Element plan could reduce our home values by 20% town-wide!
2. Increases risk to citizens by weakening our fire safety, evacuation in case of fire or flood emergencies, water pressure, water supply, and traffic management.
3. The plan places unnecessary burdens on us all – underestimates ADU's, overestimates the needed "buffer," and omits large town-owned parcels.
4. No buy-in by the owners of the three large estates designated for development in the initial draft plan. One owner actively opposes the initial draft plan.
5. We bear the high costs for new roads, sewers, utilities, additional police, fire, teachers, social services, and on and on. And some of these developments may pay no property taxes.

Hillsborough vs Millbrae: Side-by-Side Comparison

Hillsborough

Millbrae

Should Hillsborough be zoned like Millbrae?

A Plan That Better Meets Our Needs Today and Tomorrow

and meets our RHNA obligations:

Smart Housing for Hillsborough

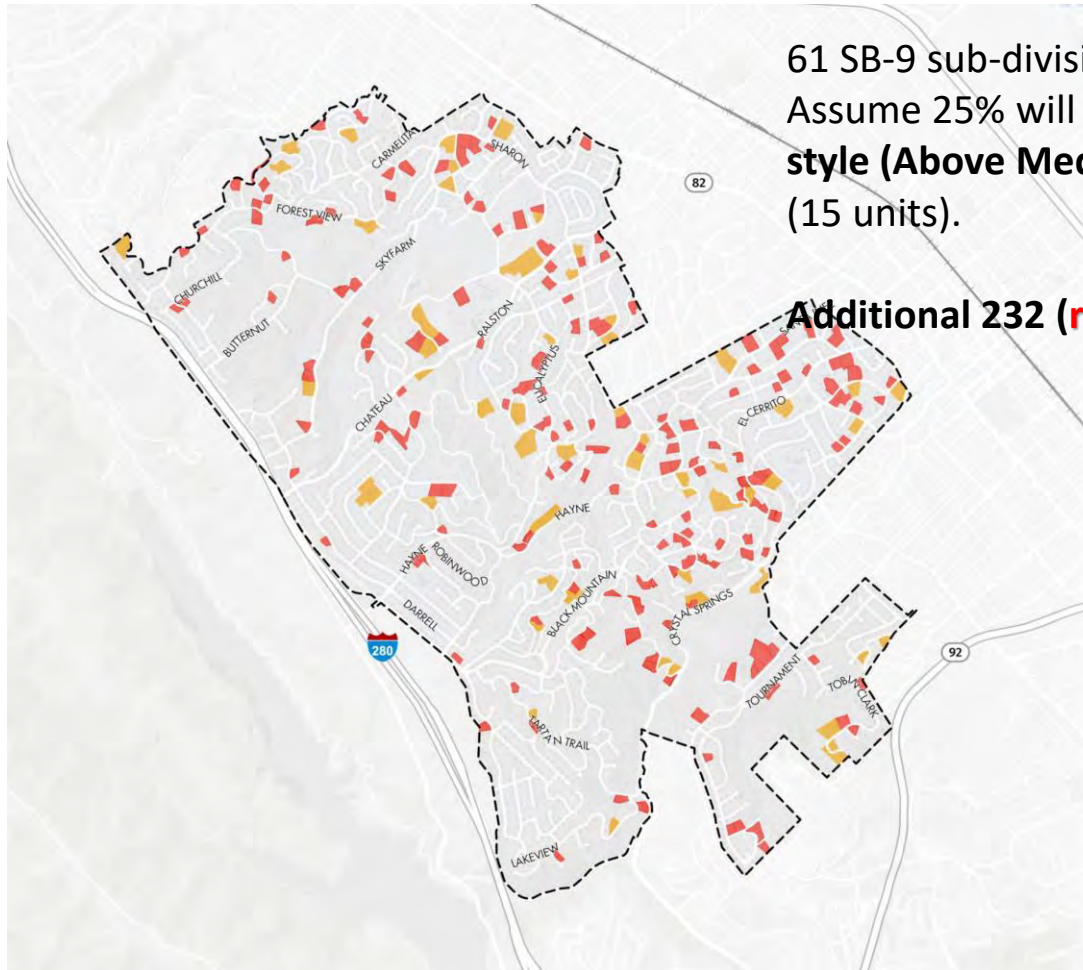

Smart Housing for Hillsborough: Goal and Principles

- Goal: meet all requirements of our RHNA allocation while preserving the Town's special character.
- Principles
 - Prevent unnecessary “up-zoning” – Only apply zoning changes if absolutely necessary, and then only for affected parcels (not town-wide).
 - Accelerate the creation rate for ADUs/JADUs and use them in the plan.
 - Employ vacant lots in our plan, including town-owned properties.
 - Protect owners of older and smaller homes.
 - Add housing in a safer way that avoids creating hazards for all.

Smart Housing for Hillsborough: Plan Details

- Reduce the buffer units to a reasonable number (10%).
- Identify all 84 privately owned vacant sites, contact the owners, and work to get their buy-in for planned development (21 units).
- Recognize that some owners will do subdivisions of their properties as allowed under California law (SB-9). Incorporate those SB-9 units into the plan (15 units).
- Accelerate the development of ADU's/JADU's (512 units).
 - Utilize the alternate method for estimating ADU creation allowed by ABAG/HCD for a higher ADU estimate based on 2021 ADU construction.
 - Create incentives and lower costs for additional ADU creation, including with new construction and major remodels.
 - Allow additional ADU's on larger (0.75+ acre) lots.
- Develop some of the large and vacant town-owned sites if needed (but it probably won't be needed) (53 units).
- Plan a contingency to produce additional housing if absolutely needed (85 units).
- Ensure construction does not increase fire danger.
- Result: achieve our RHNA obligations without the downsides of the initial draft plan.

No Up-Zoning (Except in Contingency Situation)

Additional 232 (red lots) not required for SHFH plan

Small, Vacant Parcels

- There are 51 vacant parcels in Hillsborough from 0.5 to 7.5 acres. Work with the owners of these smaller, vacant parcels to get some developed. These parcels can produce 84 units of “AMI” housing. Assume 25% get developed over the next eight years. 21 units.

Large Parcels (10+ Acres) Can Have “AMI” Housing on Lots at Least 1/2 Acre in Size

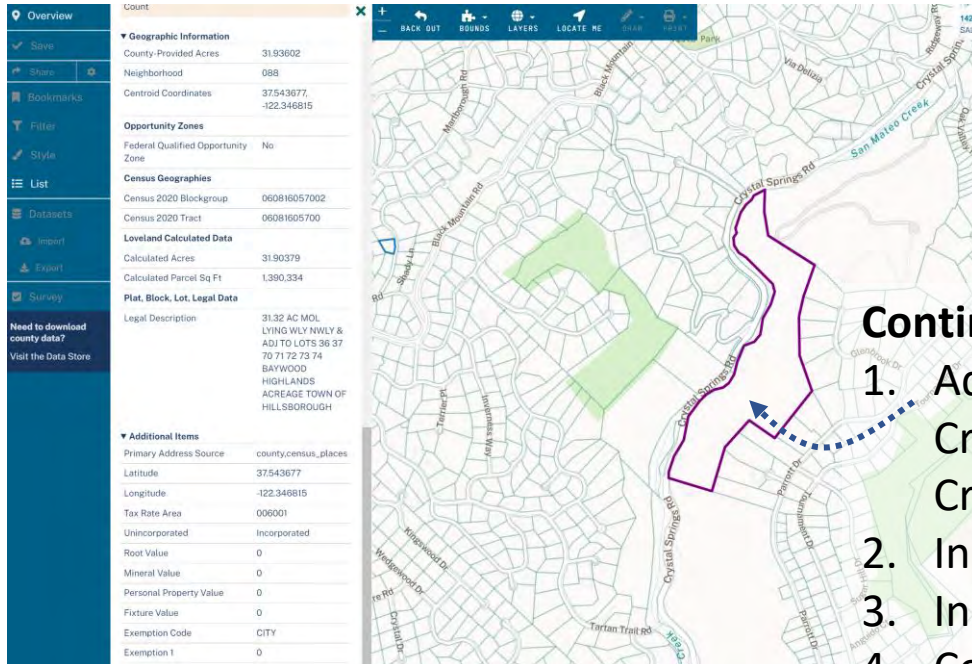

Three 10+ acre parcels included (53 units)

1. Hayne/Robinwood/Denise
2. 50 Brooke Court
3. 1551 Crystal Springs Rd
4. If any of those sites are disallowed, include town-owned 32-acre vacant parcel adjacent to De Guigne estate, City Hall site, Strawberry Hill, or the De Guigne estate.

-2255-

Contingency: Only If Elements of This “Smart Housing for Hillsborough” Plan Is Rejected by HCD

Contingency: Additional properties can be developed (85 units).

1. Add Town-owned parcel 038181310 for “AMI” housing: west of Crystal Springs Rd, south of De Guigne Estate, and north of 1551 Crystal Springs Rd (#4 on the previous slide).
2. Include De Guigne and Strawberry Hill estates for AMI housing.
3. Incent more small vacant parcels and subdivisions for AMI housing.
4. Consider other Town-owned parcels for AMI housing.
5. Consider Town Hall site if there is a necessity, including for a small number of AMI units. Will require up-zoning just for this one site (the rest of the town remains with current zoning restrictions).

Frequently Asked Questions

- Don't "ADU-heavy" RHNA submissions get rejected by HCD?
 - No. Only one ADU-heavy plan we're aware of was rejected, and that is because their accounting for historical ADU unit creation was inaccurate and had other violations. Atherton has submitted their plan with a similar proportion of ADU's to the SHFH plan, and has high confidence it will be accepted.
- Do we need to have a 20% "no net loss buffer?"
 - No. HCD suggests a 15% to 30% buffer as a guideline. We can justify having a lower buffer because this plan has solid historical basis in our ADU construction in 2021, and it includes a contingency that can raise our buffer if HCD insists.
- Will California HCD take over our government if we don't achieve our RHNA obligations?
 - That seems highly unlikely. Hundreds of jurisdictions failed, in some cases epically (e.g., SF), to achieve their RHNA 5 obligations, and California has taken over none of them.
- Are there other penalties we could face with the SHFH plan?
 - No. If HCD accepts our plan, we can execute it and avoid any potential penalties – and not destroy what makes Hillsborough special.

Dear City Council Members & City Planning Staff,

I am writing that any specific agreements and votes be delayed until the citizens of Hillsborough have more time for assessment and input on the proposed solutions to the state mandated low income housing solutions. We have only recently been given the opportunity to more thoroughly review the master plan proposal. Unfortunately due to summer travel plans, my husband and I were unable to attend either of the two meetings made available in late August and September to help citizens become better informed with an in person information/question session.

Although we support coming up with concrete solutions to this housing challenge, we are still unclear on the final proposed solutions and would appreciate more time to better understand the impact to our specific properties and the overall impact to the overall quality of life in Hillsborough.

Many rumors are circulating on the specifics of the proposal and further time and analysis are needed. We ask that any vote to adopt the details of the current proposal be delayed until more time has been allowed for public review and input.

Thank you for your consideration of our request for more time for assessment and input before the council makes any binding commitments to the state mandated low income housing initiative.

Best Regards,

Laura and Mark Flessel

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

First and foremost, thank you for your service. I am writing regarding my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan for the Housing Element. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered manner.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Thank you again for your public service.

Hey everyone,

In response to state mandates, the Hillsborough City Council has proposed a plan to add 554 new housing units to the town (155 very low income, 89 low income, 87 moderate income, 223 above moderate income). Here is the link to the plan: <https://hillsborough-housing-planning-element-update-hlplanning.hub.arcgis.com/pages/draftelements> Unfortunately, Hillsborough's state mandated housing allocation is significantly larger than our neighboring cities including Atherton, Woodside and Portola Valley. But the City Council failed to appeal Hillsborough's allocation so the 554 number is unlikely to change. The proposed plan is flawed in many ways. It purports to rezone the entire town instead of changing the zoning only where appropriate. The plan also has a stated goal to ban renovations of older, smaller homes. It shrinks the minimum lot size to 1/3 acre from 1/2 acre and reduces the frontage landscape coverage from 50% to 30%. The plan also includes an extra 111 units to provide a 20% buffer!

Several groups have formed to voice their opposition to the plan. One has developed an alternative plan: <https://app.box.com/s/caegj8llugehg61u73amgp6pgdavyqcg> The alternative plan eliminates rezoning the entire town, accelerates the addition of ADUs, protects owners of older and smaller homes and reduces the buffer units to 10%.

To oppose the current plan, you must email the Town Council before Monday and cc the Council members and the key staff. It really doesn't matter what you say, it is just important that your opposition to the plan is counted. Below are a few talking points and the pertinent emails.

It has been determined that if the town's plan is implemented as is, our property values will decline as much as 20%. A more moderate plan is available and should be considered by the Council. Please feel free to forward this email to anyone you think may be interested in voicing their opposition.

Best,
Gina

TALKING POINTS

I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it for the following reasons:

1. It unnecessarily rezones ("up-zones") the entire City.
2. It will cause dramatic change to the landscape and 10%-25% increase in school enrollments will destroy major reasons why people want to live here
3. It Opens a slippery slope making future "up-zoning" easy.
4. It erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes from upgrading their properties
5. It imposes necessary burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.
6. It omits large town-owned parcels

Dear Hillsborough Council members,

We are writing to express our strong opposition to the current Draft Plan which we think would result in a reshaping of our town that would be very detrimental to the character of Hillsborough that makes it unique. We also think that if these changes are enacted- specifically, the reduction of lot sizes, the reduction of street footage requirements and the reduction of the minimum dwelling size- there could be a severe negative impact on property values in Hillsborough. This is bad for residents, bad for the state as it would reduce property tax collections and would be sad as we mentioned above for the character of what makes this town so unique.

We agree that ADUs need to be added and that our town needs to do its part to support affordable housing as this is for sure a crisis in California that needs to be addressed. That said, we must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

Again, we'd like to voice our strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you for your public service and please reach out to us if you need further feedback on this important matter,

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. We five HEAC members want to register our opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public, and propose an alternate approach.

Our objections are that the draft Housing Element shared at the last Council meeting:

- "Up-zones" the entire town, reducing lot sizes, street frontages, setbacks, and landscape coverage, changing the character of Hillsborough for the worse
- Substantially underutilizes ADU's as a solution, resulting in the need for high density development of currently-open land
- Has a stated goal to "protect" smaller homes from upgrades
- Has too large of a buffer, creating the need for "up-zoning" to accommodate the buffer

Instead, we propose that the town submit a Housing Element that:

- Eliminates up-zoning except on specific parcels required to gain HCD approval - no up-zoning for the entire town, and no changes to our current RD zoning except if we need a small number of higher-density housing sites
- Increases significantly the forecasted number of ADU's/JADU's - including passage of new ordinances that will accelerate ADU/JADU construction
- Removes from consideration the idea to restrict upgrades of smaller homes
- Proposes a sensible no net loss buffer size, along the lines of 10-15%

A number of proposals have been put forward which allow our town to achieve our RHNA Cycle 6 allocation in a way consistent with our proposal above. We know you share our goal to achieve our statutory obligations in a way that keeps Hillsborough a vibrant and special place for the future. If we can help you, please do not hesitate to reach out to us for help.

To Whom it May Concern:

The drastic regulatory Housing changes proposed by the State in the past few years is absolutely governmental overreach and offensive. Folks who live elsewhere shouldn't have the right to determine massive changes just because they can. These proposed changes have multiple impact on all kinds of issues and people.

Plant and wildlife concerns, power usage, sewage disposal, water usage, not to mention increased pollution and fire hazard. Mandated development constraints on current residents who will be forced to endure the lengthy rebuilding of OUR community, which will take years to effect, by definition, will increase taxes, stress schools, Town Hall employees, fire and police services, not to mention lower OUR property values in the process.

I should hope that the Board and Committee working on this plan would approach it slowly and with concern for all residents and future residents of our beautiful Hillsborough.

As I look over the proposals and consider the options as "mandated" I feel utilizing the current Town Hall/Police/Fire/ parking area, etc. commands the obvious spot for a four or five story building which could accommodate a number of affordable units. This would be in keeping with all the current development in surrounding towns throughout to Peninsula, allowing access to bus lines and an easy walk/drop off to trains. I also believe that incentivizing AD units is in order.

Looking over the proposed Housing Opportunity sites, two of which I am unfamiliar, it seems as though the Affordable Housing units are weighed much more heavily at Strawberry Hill.

My husband and I have lived on Redington Road for 26 years, knowing that at some point, the Strawberry Hill property would pass on to heirs and parcels sold in some fashion. The proposed development is outrageous! The idea of the Historic driveway becoming an access to 172 homes off Redington is offensive to the heritage of the property and impact on residents of Redington Road. Our street via Skyfarm gets overloaded with 280 to 101 traffic now, can you imagine the impact of 172-400 automobiles per day?

At the very least, the same Macadamia Access should be used for the Blue and Purple planned development.

Sincerely,
Doris and Robert Rivett

Subject: Objection to current rezoning plan for Hillsborough

Regarding the plan to rezone Hillsborough, the current proposal is not only flawed, but rezoning our entire town will be detrimental to our property values, and the environment that makes Hillsborough so esthetically attractive and livable for thousands of residents.

You've accepted housing and density numbers that far exceed the close by towns of Portola, Woodside and Atherton. This is unacceptable.

There are alternative proposals out there, far more reasonable, and we are insisting those be considered, and our voices heard.

Hire a person to help expedite ADUs for the next 24 months, and modify some of the overreaching barriers to those. Give homeowners here a reasonable chance to apply for and build attractive ADUs as housing on our own properties that can be rented to teachers and others needing affordable housing.

We completely object to the current proposed plan.

Sincerely,

Marci and Lou Palatella

Subject: Increasing our ADU production
Date: Friday, September 9, 2022 3:38:03 PM

Please include this in the feedback to the Council meeting this coming Monday, on the public record.

We should be able to justify a much higher number of ADU's in our Housing Element, with strong supporting facts about 2021 results and preliminary 2022 trends, and backed by a solid set of policies that show that our RHNA Cycle 6 ADU/JADU projection should be at least 512 units, but potentially higher. Throughout this note, whenever I use the term ADU, I am also including JADU (it's just too awkward to repeatedly type both).

Here's some thoughts about how we could do this:

- We should incentivize homeowners to construct ADU's. We can reduce bureaucratic hurdles and waiving all Planning fees for ADU's that don't encroach on neighbors.
- We can work to "pre-approve" some prefab detached ADU options - this would reduce inspection costs and construction costs, while coming up with a structure style that could fit well in our town's style, and which supports solar panels to reduce the load on our town's grid.
- We could work to streamline how utility lines get installed (it takes forever to get a second meter or new electrical line) - the town could maybe organize multiple projects to get utility drops within a window of time that could make PG&E's job much easier and more efficient.
- We could require a minimum of one ADU with any new construction or substantial renovation (like a "gut" renovation or a renovation that would otherwise qualify for a required fire sprinkler installation). Construction that fails to meet this standard could be assessed a "housing impact" fee, which can be used to fund our ADU program and rental assistance/subsidies.
- We could seek out grant programs that would subsidize the construction of ADU's.
- We could consider allowing detached ADU's, in some circumstances, to be up to 1200 square feet in size - perhaps only those ADU's that comply with our current setbacks and FAR restrictions, are the only detached ADU on the site, are one story, that are solar powered and fire safe, etc.
- Of course we could continue to allow JADU's and full ADU's to be added as second story additions.
- We could continue and expand the ADU survey program, asking residents if they would consider building an ADU (and providing information on the same), and asking people during the permitting process (but only for informational purposes, not for denying a permit) if they would be willing to rent out their ADU at a rent level accessible to lower income residents, as well as asking if they would be willing to have their ADU listed in a town directory of properties potentially available to our public school teachers, police, our town staff, and fire personnel permanently staffed in our town.
- We could create a directory of ADU's where the owner agreed to rent to lower income tenants, and list the properties with non-profits that facilitate rental advertising, screening, subsidies, and partnering.
- We could create a directory of ADU's where the owner agreed to rent to public school teachers, police, our town staff, and fire personnel, and make this list available only to the relevant potential tenants.

- We could continue and expand the ombudsman role, outreach and education, and the "amnesty" policy for pool house and guest house conversions to ADU's.
- We could extend the "amnesty" policy to allow pool and guest houses to be rented as ADU's.
- For all of the above, if adopted, we can distribute this information and promote this through multiple channels, to ensure our town's homeowners are aware.

If we pass the required ordinances and put in place the necessary policies for the list above, while starting the research on the longer term things (PG&E, pre-fab units), that would help convince HCD that we will achieve a much more aggressive number of ADU's in RHNA Cycle 6. Please add this feedback to my other comments submitted.

Let's all work together to keep Hillsborough's special character while helping to solve the state's legitimate housing needs. Thanks!

> TO HILLSBOROUGH TOWN COUNCIL

> Hillsborough's response to SB 9 and 10 should have two objectives:

> 1) Provide 554 units of needed housing for out teachers, police, fire, and others.

> 2) Do so in a way to damage Hillsborough as little as possible.

> Regarding damage, my view is that the value of Hillsborough is in the character of its neighborhoods, its lovely homes, some on substantial grounds, verdant landscaping, and set back of housing from streets creating a semi-rural atmosphere. If the Council disagrees with this opinion of what makes Hillsborough special, this opinion of what needs to be protected, we have a real problem. Talking to many residents at the last information meeting there was universal agreement that above all else the Council needs to protect the present character of the Town. If this is not the foremost goal of Council I respectfully submit to you Council is out of step with the residents.

> So we want to provide 554 units while protecting the character of the Town from damage. Let's look at the possible plans.

> The consultant's plan, I have heard someone call it R1 and will call it that, has the potential to seriously damage the character of the Town. The effect of deciding to up zone the whole Town is to open up the potential for not just 554 new units but a very large increase of population as larger properties are broken into 1/3 acre lots with limited setback. Developers will have a field day, and talk about extra demand on schools, police, etc. anticipated from just 554 units. Wait and see the demand in years hence when substantial parts of town get built up on 1/3 acre lots.

> But this is not the principal problem with R1. The problem is we don't know whether it is necessary to go as far as the R1 proposal. The consultant has done his job, probably as requested by Staff, with an iron-clad belt-and-suspenders proposal intended to pass legal muster. But we are going to look very foolish if much milder proposals, like the Atherton ADU proposal, turn out to be acceptable.

> My humble view is that the job of the Council in all this is not to be seeking the most legally iron-clad solution but to be very creative in finding a way to do as little as possible, the goal being to give maximum protection to the character of the Town described above. I would even suggest we are not doing our job if we don't first submit a modest plan, perhaps get a rejection, and then get into a back and forth process where we only give what we have to. Only through that kind of process (and by carefully reviewing other city plans and what succeeds) will we be sure we are not giving away more than we need to.

> So what do we submit? For reasons stated above we don't submit the R1 proposal as our first shot. On the other hand, I think we have to steer away from a proposal that relies too heavily on ADUs. I understand we will know how Atherton does before we submit. But I think in our plan we have to give the State some real meat, some undertakings that the State can depend upon for a reasonable part of the 554.

> The surest thing we have is the Town property on Floribunda. I saw reference to 100 units there. Why only 100? Has the maximum architectural effort been put into using every inch of property? Are we using the parking lot across the street? Are we rezoning this area so we can build up to the curb? Are we building two, three, four towers? Are we moving current activities to other Town property, for example, police to the marshaling yard? (And I understand there are other Town properties that could be used as sites for existing Floribunda sited activities). The cost of moving activities and such may be more than will be financed by a developer. If so, we should step up with some of the General Fund or float a bond. Seems to me that maintaining the character of the Town is a worthwhile use of the General Fund.

> Goal should be at least 250 units at the City Hall location. If no way can be found to get to that number put in the plan our best, most optimistic estimate. But rearchitect the whole area for maximum occupancy. It does not have to be beautiful.

> Next add the property in the Tobin Clark area. Don't know much about the property but understand it is close to bus lines. Rezone this property so on this property and this property alone two or more high rise apartment buildings can be built as at City Hall. Seems to me the property is far enough away so high rises would not be terribly objectionable. And get a buy in from whomever owns it, whatever it takes. Put in the plan, and be optimistic, the number of units that can be built on that property.

> Next fill in with ADUs with a description of how we are going to positively incentivize residents to build more ADUs, (tax rebates?), not just loosen regulations.

> If the State does not accept this plan turn to adding other properties.

> At the risk of offending everyone, and I am doing it because it is important, not to make a point about the past, I'd like to remind the Town of another situation where the Town jumped to do what it thought was legally required without adequately considering alternatives, and without adopting an alternative much less damaging to the Town. In 2015 the State imposed water conservation requirements on cities and Towns across California. Before that mandatory cut-back edict cities and Towns were in a voluntary conservation mode.

> Hillsborough wanted to be in iron-clad belt-and-suspenders compliance and put in mandatory drought regulations back by substantial penalties. It turned out this was totally unnecessary. Hillsborough was already leading the state in conservation and no other city or town put in the mandatory restrictions and substantial penalties Hillsborough did. Other cities and towns stayed with voluntary conservation, and by past history, Hillsborough could have easily met objectives by voluntary conservation. By focusing on meeting the law, rather than the welfare of Hillsborough residents, many residents ended up paying penalties found nowhere else in California.

> This time let's be smart about it. Don't have fear of the law be the principal thing that guides our proposal. Let fear of changing the character of hillsborough guide us. Initially propose what is best for the Town even if there is some doubt the State will accept it.

> Thank you.

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I have known 3 of you for a very long time and I do sincerely appreciate all your efforts on behalf of all us citizens. Unfortunately, I want to register my opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically, I oppose:

- Reduction in lot sizes, and other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency situations, destroy property values, and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning.
- Having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future.
- Using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. Add more ADU/JADU's to our plan. This should be the center piece of the solution to our Plan with the State.
- Including a buffer larger than is needed in our Housing Element draft. Follow the HCD guidelines, and don't include any net loss buffer not required by law. Including a large buffer requires us to consider changes that destroy what makes Hillsborough special and destroy our property values. Use no buffer at all where it is not required, and a smaller buffer whenever one is required.

Many people in our town agree on these four points - I'm sure you've heard the feedback as you've been considering this plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Very truly yours,

Jamie Greene

Dear Council Members,

Thank you for your work on the Housing Element Plan and thank you for sharing the proposal draft with the community.

I'd like to express deep concerns about the impact of many of the suggestions in the proposal. Many of the recommendations would fundamentally change the character of our town in an irreparable manner. For example there are four particular concerns: There should be no changes to lot size minimum, to set backs minimum, to floor area ratios and to landscaping coverage.

I favor a solution that increases the number of ADU's and offers more incentives to build ADU's. I also support many of the ideas presented in the alternative plan called Smart Housing for Hillsborough.

Thank you for incorporating this feedback. I appreciate your hard work to solve this issue in a way that preserves the character of our town.

Subject: Improving Communication In Hillsborough
Date: Sunday, September 11, 2022 10:19:00 PM

For the past several months, Mayor Royse has correctly beat the drum, warning residents that the Housing Element is “the most significant issue Hillsborough has faced in 50 years.”

Although the turnout for the September 6 Housing Element Open House was substantially higher than that of the first one on August 25, it was still pitifully low, especially considering just how significant (and potentially fraught) an issue this is for residents. Unofficially, fewer than 30 residents attended the August Open House and fewer than 120 attended the second and last Open House. By way of reminder, there are 4,000 residences and 11,000 citizens in Hillsborough. So many people I’ve spoken with over the past few weeks had NO idea about the Housing Element issue until they either read it on Hillsborough Together, Nextdoor or received a survey created by a fellow resident.

City Clerk Lisa Natusch and City Attorney Christopher Diaz dutifully walked Council and meeting attendees through the “State requirement” for communicating issues to Hillsborough residents. One would have thought they’d left no stone unturned by dint of the many places where the Town’s message about the Housing Element was communicated. Unfortunately, the woeful attendance during two Open Houses is proof that the Town’s communications effort is not working. It might be tempting to blame resident apathy or poor timing (end of Summer, day after Labor Day) and certainly there may be some of this. But for a topic so significant as housing density in Hillsborough, there is something else. Let’s face it, the “required standards” for communicating major issues are outdated.

In communications, there are three key elements: Audience, Message and Channel. Who are we communicating with? What are we saying to them? Where are we saying it? The first is straight forward: the audience for issues like the Housing Density is residents of Hillsborough. In particular, those who own property in the town. For Messaging the Housing Element, this has, regrettably, been a serious disappointment and a black eye for the Town. Whereas Mayor Royse’s message has been clear and sobering, the messages churned out by the Town have been misaligned (at best) and misleading (at worst). The headline message repeated in email, on the Town’s website and direct mail, “Participate in the Future of the Planning for Your Town!” completely misses the mark. A far better headline would have been more urgent, weighty and – justifiably – attention-grabbing. Adding an exclamation point at the end of the sentence does NOT result in more engagement... The headline message should have been more along the lines of

“Biggest Issue Facing Hillsborough in 50 Years – Learn More” (the Mayor’s own words!)

Or, at the very least,

“Possible Big Changes to Hillsborough Housing Density - Join Us”

“A Plan for Major Housing Changes - Your Feedback Needed”

The Channel, or outlets for the messages, are primarily email, the Town’s own website, public notices in local newspapers and on occasion, direct mail. While using multiple outlets (also known as “omni-channel”) for getting the message out is the right thing to do because of audiences’ various media consuming habits, the Town has relied too long on channels that are not as strong as they once were. Though email is still mission critical, people have inbox fatigue. Unless a subject line truly stands out, too often an email just gets deleted. Or, if opened, a quick scan and then deleted. Particularly if the headlines are neither relevant nor attention-grabbing. One key channel the Town has completely omitted from its channel strategy is Social Media. In particular, Facebook, Nextdoor, Hillsborough Together and, perhaps, even creating a Slack channel (the latter not strictly a Social Media tool but offers similar capabilities of real time communication). Like it or not, these Social Media channels have replaced the local newspaper. That makes their use mission critical to any entity looking to reach audiences, whether business customers or town residents. And the Town should have a managed presence on each channel and even consider purchasing advertising for major issues facing the town, including crime prevention, wildfire preparedness, drought management and now the Housing Element. It’s easy to target messages to people by various “segments” or “affinities” including geography. While it’s not necessary to be aggressive about every topic facing Hillsborough City Council, it behooves Council to think more creatively and expansively about how to get the right message out through the right channels, not to “meet the State requirement” but, instead, to make sure that for the most important issues like the Housing Element, the messages are landing the way they are supposed to. Perhaps it’s time for a full review of the Town’s communications practices and policies.

Please include this comment in the Public Record.

Subject: Re: Housing Element Concerns
Date: Sunday, September 11, 2022 9:21:33 PM

Dear Mayor Royse and Members of the Council,

Thank you for your response to my email regarding the draft housing element. I was able to attend one council meeting, and have followed the issue since.

As further comment on the Town's draft plan, our primary points of opposition to the draft plan as presented by the Town are:

- 1) Reduction in lot sizes and other changes to the current "RD" zoning. Denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will increase fire risk, destroy property values, and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special and why we chose to make it our home. Please do not change our zoning.
- 2) Making so little use of ADUs to reach the numbers required in the plan. ADU construction does not entail the same deleterious effect on the character of the Town as would rezoning, and should be the primary means by which we accomplish the state's mandate.
- 3) Assuming that the area near Golf Course Drive/Hayne Rd is a suitable location for higher density housing. While this area is near Highway 280, this intersection is a bottleneck already, with traffic backing up in all directions during prime commute times. In addition, it is not an area where residents can realistically be expected to rely on anything other than automobile traffic. It is too far to be walking distance to the businesses on El Camino/Burlingame Avenue and the hill is too steep for the return journey to be practical by bicycle. Concentrating additional housing here will simply entail more cars on the road more often, and the current traffic load in this area is already problematic. To the extent that any high density development is to be permitted, it should be located only in those portions of the Town already in walking/bicycling distance to the markets, restaurants, and other services in Burlingame and San Mateo, to minimize the increase in automobile traffic on quiet rural streets. It is not the additional housing itself that should be equitably distributed throughout the town, but its impact; additional population and traffic is much more disruptive to the quieter parts of our Town than to those parts that already enjoy proximity to the vibrant downtowns of our neighbor cities.

We urge you and the council to adopt in large part the alternative proposal drafted principally by Dennis Moore, which preferentially relies on ADUs rather than duplexes and high-density housing to meet the required increase in permitted housing within our Town, with the exception of the portion that identifies areas near Golf Course Drive / Hayne Rd as suitable for more density. Those areas are not suitable locations for significant housing increases for the reasons expressed above in point 3.

Best regards,
Melissa and Gerrit Klaerner

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Klaerner,

I just wanted to acknowledge receipt of your email (attached) and thank you for sending.

As you are probably aware, every town's Housing Element must be updated every eight years to reflect our Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA) numbers (as determined for our town by the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG)) , AND demonstrate how the town has adequately planned to ensure that there will be enough capacity to meet the projected need. A first draft of the Town's RHNA 6 Housing Element Update - prepared by staff with assistance from a citizens' committee- was just released and will be discussed (no formal action proposed but for council feedback) at our Monday's (August 8) council meeting. I urge you to attend and share your thoughts, ideas, and concerns at that meeting. I do note the concerns and thoughts you express in your email - they are certainly valid - and I would welcome any ideas you may have on addressing them and yet submit a plan in compliance with the state requirements. I would also note that the state has some fairly rigid time requirements on submitting a final plan and failure to meet those deadlines, or to submit a plan not in compliance with the state requirements, could subject the town to some significant penalties, all of which I am sure will be discussed at Monday's council meeting.

We have also planned a number of additional public meetings designed to both provide information to our residents and provide venues for their feedback, prior to the Draft Housing Element being sent to the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) for their review and comments. Those meeting dates and venues will also be discussed at Monday's council meeting or can be found on the town's website.

I would reiterate that his plan is still only in draft form. Accordingly resident input is very important and very welcomed .

I thank you for your interest and hope to see you at our Monday council meeting (will be conducted in a hybrid format, so you can attend live or virtually).

Sincerely,

Al Royse

Dear Hillsborough Town Council,

We write to express concerns regarding the proposed modifications to the Housing Element of the General Plan and to request that the Town "pause" this process to allow full consideration of the available options, the effects of various options on Town residents, and the concerns of the residents who came to Hillsborough for its current character and will be adversely affected by drastic changes thereto.

First, we ask the Town to hold a town referendum on these proposed drastic and permanent changes to ensure that the taxpaying residents who will be affected are able to be heard.

Second, we ask the Town to actively advocate for the safety of everyone in this high and very high fire risk area by pursuing reduction of the mandated number of new housing units (and strategic location thereof), or exemption from the requirement all together as was accomplished by Marin County.

Third, we ask the Town to carefully consider the viability of accommodating any required increase in housing units on town-owned properties (many of which are empty spaces) rather than by modifying the zoning regulations on existing parcels (such as lot sizes and setbacks) that make our town unique. Further, the proposed plan to concentrate these additional units on certain Hillsborough neighborhoods near transit corridors unfairly burdens those neighborhoods and thoughtlessly exacerbates existing problems (such as water pressure in upper West Hillsborough and traffic congestion at transit interchanges such as the US-280/Black Mountain Rd intersection).

Subject: OPPOSITION TO THE CURRENT HOUSING ELEMENT PLAN
Date: Sunday, September 11, 2022 3:38:46 PM

We want to respectfully lodge our strong opposition to the current housing plan you are considering implementing.

As we read it, this proposed plan is flawed in many ways. We are absolutely opposed to rezoning the entire town instead of changing the zoning only where appropriate. The plan also has a stated goal to ban renovations of older, smaller homes. It shrinks the minimum lot size to 1/3 acre from 1/2 acre and reduces the frontage landscape coverage from 50% to 30%. The plan also includes an extra 111 units to provide a 20% buffer!

In summary, we oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it for all of the following reasons:

1. It unnecessarily rezones ("up-zones") the entire City.
2. It will cause dramatic change to the landscape and 10%-25% increase in school enrollments will destroy major reasons why people want to live here
3. It Opens a slippery slope making future "up-zoning" easy.
4. It erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes from upgrading their properties
5. It imposes necessary burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.
6. It omits large town-owned parcels

We believe these changes will significantly erode property values and make Hillsborough a less appealing place to live!

We're aware that an alternative plan eliminates rezoning the entire town, accelerates the addition of ADUs, protects owners of older and smaller homes, and reduces the buffer units to 10%.

Please enter our comments into the public record.

To whom it may concern:

After review of the proposed housing/zoning plan that has been submitted to our Board by the outside consulting firm, we strongly urge the town council to reject the major aspects of this proposal and think carefully and creatively of alternate plans that are better suited to our town and community,

As a family we moved to Hillsborough 40 years ago attracted to its excellent schools, bucolic atmosphere, large property zoning, as well as public safety. We are concerned that the current proposal will greatly impact our schools, increase traffic, as well as overload existing police and fire protection services.

Hillsborough residents have historically shown a "Can Do Spirit" when faced with similar circumstances in the past. When state school funding was drastically diminished we came together three times and passed local school tax initiatives. In addition, Hillsborough was one of the first towns in California to create a non-profit Schools Foundation to supplement the said diminished state funding. Also, we as residents passed a local Police and Fire Tax to ensure higher quality services. That is "The Hillsborough Way".

We can do this without totally changing this town with measures that will impact generations to come as well as decrease our property values.

We can look no further than our neighbors in Atherton who have developed a bold plan that incorporates higher numbers of ADU/JADUs. We can do the same with encouragement from the town.

As an example, we met with an architect today who informed us that we already have a JADU in our home that only needs minor adjustments to meet the JADU requirements and permits. How many homes in Hillsborough already have such facilities that no one is aware of?? We can aggressively encourage all homeowners to investigate these possibilities thus increasing the ADU/JADU numbers.

Consultants from Chicago do not understand the philosophy of our town nor will they be here in years to come to live with the repercussions of their cookie-cutter recommendations. Thirty years ago some of us remember a similar consulting group from “away” producing statistics that predicted lower birth rates with future decreased enrollment in our schools. That recommendation resulted in the unfortunate closure of North School, only to be reversed 5 years later when the growing large school population necessitated the re-opening of North School. Where were the supposed consulting experts at that time?? Long gone, with their fees in pocket.

Now is the time more than ever for you as Board Members to show strong “CAN DO LEADERSHIP” and encourage Hillsborough residents to once again show that we can meet this challenge the “HILLSBOROUGH WAY”.

Sincerely,

Pauline Beare and John P. Beare, MD

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. We five HEAC members want to register our opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public, and propose an alternate approach.

Our objections are that the draft Housing Element shared at the last Council meeting:

- "Up-zones" the entire town, reducing lot sizes, street frontages, setbacks, and landscape coverage, changing the character of Hillsborough for the worse
- Substantially underutilizes ADU's as a solution, resulting in the need for high density development of currently-open land
- Has a stated goal to "protect" smaller homes from upgrades
- Has too large of a buffer, creating the need for "up-zoning" to accommodate the buffer

Instead, we propose that the town submit a Housing Element that:

- Eliminates up-zoning except on specific parcels required to gain HCD approval - no up-zoning for the entire town, and no changes to our current RD zoning except if we need a small number of higher-density housing sites
- Increases significantly the forecasted number of ADU's/JADU's - including passage of new ordinances that will accelerate ADU/JADU construction
- Removes from consideration the idea to restrict upgrades of smaller homes
- Proposes a sensible no net loss buffer size, along the lines of 10-15%

A number of proposals have been put forward which allow our town to achieve our RHNA Cycle 6 allocation in a way consistent with our proposal above. We know you share our goal to achieve our statutory obligations in a way that keeps Hillsborough a vibrant and special place for the future. Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang,
City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

My family and I have lived in Hillsborough for twenty years. I appreciate all the efforts you make to keep our town a welcoming, livable place. However, I want to register my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element. This plan is clearly a step in the wrong direction.

The plan fails to fully utilize ADUs and JADUs. Other towns use far higher numbers of ADUs and JADUs, and the Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADUs per year. In particular, I support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.

The Housing Element's changes to our current "RD" zoning creates greater risk of fire and other emergency situations. This is a horrid change considering the risks already present due to climate change and the fires that continue to ravage California.

The goal of "Discourag[ing] redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes" is a misguided one. This goal violates homeowners' property rights and penalizes those homeowners with no compensation. This goal should not be implemented.

All new housing units (other than ADUs) should have 1:1 parking.

By using ADUs and JADUs, the Town can meet its housing requirement without redeveloping the historic town hall site. Furthermore, the inclusion of over 100 units on the "Town Hall Campus" does not take into account potential environmental impacts on town utilities, parking, schools and other services. Such studies should be completed before inclusion of the site.

Many people in our town share these criticisms. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Re: Housing Element Opposition Letter
Our File No: 5328-04

Dear Mayor Royse and Council Members:

My name is Brett Gladstone and I have been a land use attorney in San Francisco for 39 years specializing in the entitlement of projects throughout the Bay Area. I represent the Hillsborough residents who make up the Hillsborough Committee for Balanced & Equitable Housing (“the Committee”). My clients offer a related but slightly different point of view from the group that is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough, which has written you. Both groups believe the State will accept the Town’s Housing Element with an altered ADU/Junior ADU forecast, and little to no rezoning. However, my clients have a more immediate concern over the inadequacy of the Town Hall Campus than Smart Housing for Hillsborough.

Town of Hillsborough
San Mateo County
Mayor Alvin L. Royse
RE: Housing Element Opposition Letter

For the reasons discussed below, my clients believe that the RHNA 2023 requirements should and can be met by a combination of more aggressive ADU creation, and by the use of State Law SB-9, rather than a rezoning of most or all the Town. Rather than rezoning, immediately below, I list the Committee's proposed solutions for the 2023 RHNA Housing Element. Later in this letter I will discuss the Committee's concerns with the Town Hall Campus and why it should be removed completely from the Housing Element plans. Finally, I will outline a few additional concerns with the proposal as it stands today.

PROPOSED SOLUTIONS: SUBMIT THE HOUSING ELEMENT WITH AN INCREASED ADU/JADU FORECAST AND SB-9 ALLOWANCES RATHER THAN RE-ZONING

We believe that the current draft underrepresents the number of ADU's that are likely to be built or could be built with additional effort from the Town. It focuses on a 3-year average taken during a pandemic, and ADU permits still have 5+ month approval periods today. When new ADU streamlining laws took affect and the COVID pandemic eased, the Town's ADU production jumped to 89 applications, with 81 entitlements and 64 permits given in the year 2021, and 2022 is on a similar trajectory. The three-year average methodology is only a suggestion from HCD and need not be used. The State's Independent Auditor and The Bay Area Council suggest that an alternative accounting can be used where the pandemic or local conditions affected the ADU production rates. Please see state technical letter attached.

The State is receptive to deviations from that range were the Town to put together a plan to demonstrate to the State that the Town will exceed the current average of 62 ADU units per year. The Town can so demonstrate by doing several things: (1) adopting the ADU suggestions in this letter; (2) implementing an ADU education outreach plan; (3) offering financial incentives including waiving fees for senior or lower income residents and waving increased taxes; (3) pre-approving three ADU designs in advance as per the Town's consultant Robert Kain; and (4) require all new homes of over $1.5 million in value to include an ADU of a minimum size and/or a Junior ADU.

1. It appears that the Town has underestimated the number of JADU's that can be created by ignoring the fact that so many existing homes have more bedrooms, more garage space, more storage space/internal recreation space than actually needed now that the birth rate is falling, and family sizes are decreasing.
2. The Housing Element should also include an appropriate number of dwellings and ADU's that can be created using SB 9 (without any local rezoning) since that law allows: (1) an additional regular dwelling unit in all lots currently zoned for one unit; and (2) the subdivision of lots of at least 5,000 square feet without variances; and (3) the creation of a dwelling, ADU and Junior ADU on the newly created lot and the original lot. Given this State law, there is no reason for the Housing Element to rely on rezonings throughout the Town and on the huge up-zoning of the Town Hall site for the RHNA allocation. In particular, sites along the San Mateo border should be analyzed for potential SB-9 units. The “Smart Housing” alternative suggested by some residents states that 61 SF-9 units are possible, and the Housing Element should analyze and include (if appropriate) this number.

3. Contingency Plans if the Housing Element with my clients’ changes should be rejected by the State:
 - a. Since 2005, the RHNA has been discussing senior housing opportunities of a light-mid density because units can be smaller. The Housing Element should investigate the utility of open town-owned sites for senior housing. With the life expectancy increasing, senior housing, already at a premium in the Bay Area, will be an increasing need.
 - b. The Housing Element should require the Town to request that private schools put in place long-term plans to build limited blocks of teacher housing on site every-time the Town is asked to approve construction to enlarge a school size (also in earlier RHNA plans).
 - c. The Housing Element should discuss requiring larger Town institutions to submit by a certain date a master plan for housing on the land of such institutions. For example, many Town churches have extra land.

IMMEDIATE CONCERNS WITH THE TOWN HALL CAMPUS AS A HIGH-DENSITY HOUSING SITE, MAKING IT UNSUITABLE TO BE INCLUDED IN THE 2023 HOUSING ELEMENT:

1. There are many significant issues with the Town Hall Campus site which should have relegated this site as un-developable for high-density housing.
2. According to architectural historian Chris Van der Planck (his letter is attached), there are at least two buildings at the Town Hall campus which must be kept in place given their significance as historic resources. The police station, as the town’s oldest building, is of greatest historic significance. The site has major environmental issues as listed in Jan 2019 Indigo Report. The utilities in the area are unequal to property development, there is known and possible contamination with lead/asbestos/gas by-products, there is possible riparian/wetlands/endangered species from a nearby creek and culvert, and the area is a major seismic risk. As such it is not suitable in its current form for housing. The site must go through significant environmental and other site reviews before even considering placing any housing on this site. The state should be informed in the Housing Element draft that there are significant environmental hazards.

3. The Draft Housing Element does not sufficiently analyze the risks and expenses of development of the Town Hall site with one or more buildings of 6 or more stories. There is no reassurance to citizens in the draft Housing Element that the important logistical and environmental issues regarding the development of the Town Center Site will be addressed. In fact, citizens have been told the CEQA document to be prepared for that development is extremely unlikely to be a full EIR. However, full EIR's are required where, as here, significant historic resources are proposed for demolition or where environmental hazards or inadequate utilities are present. The Housing Element and its CEQA approval should list the above referenced problems with regard to such an intense development of the Town Hall site.
4. My clients believe that there is a potential conflict of interest inherent in the process of using this site, given the potential benefit to the City, city workers, and consultants working on the process. The fact that the RFP for consultant work on the Town Hall site was decided, announced and awarded before HEAC input, and that the direction of the project has been driven by that RFP work design, creates high potential for conflict-of-interest concerns which my clients will be watching closely, particularly in the face of such overwhelming public disagreement with the plan.
5. To date, no zoning details have been provided for proposed RD-3 zoning for this site, meaning that there are no proposed limits on the site for height, setback, residential vs civic vs high density intermingling, etc. Residents have a right to comment on this zoning just like the other RD-1 and RD-2 zoning proposed in the Housing Element. Additionally, during this process, there has been inconsistent information provided to residents throughout the comment period, leaving different town members with different facts; the fact that there are no details on the Town Hall site means it is premature for the Housing Element to rely on this site so strongly for delivery of a number of new units.
6. One particular concern here is moving a police station and related environmental toxins directly into a residential block.
7. Additionally, multiple proposals show a proposal to reroute Walnut Avenue which results in several issues with Emergency Access to the residents therein, many of whom have small children or are elderly and/or disabled. This proposal was already evaluated years ago and found to be unsuitable, and as such should not be reconsidered.
8. Very preliminary plans for the Town Center campus are only to be provided five days before community input closes on September 19, 2022. This is an obvious due process problem as it gives residents only five days to understand and critique the Town Hall campus plan. Moreover, as of today, a week or so before the public review period ends, the Housing Element's "Housing Resources" section remains blank.

9. The Housing Element should look at each of the Action Items in the 2014 Housing Element to explain why those Action Items cannot be carried out in the next Housing Element cycle. In particular, the residents near the Town Hall site deserve a serious analysis as to why the lower density plan for that site is not feasible. There were some concerns from the Fire Department as to that site, but those concerns should be looked at again in light of new technology and new State Fire regulations.
10. The Housing Element states that almost all the lower income units are to be placed within the new Town Hall development. This means that the less fortunate will be "ghettoized". They deserve to live among residents of all income categories for their own benefit and for the benefit those of upper incomes. Low to Moderate income units should be spread throughout the Town, especially in underutilized school district properties as the North School is currently subject to overcrowding.

OTHER ISSUES:

11. The Department of Housing and Community Development has created RHNA numbers for towns and cities that greatly overestimate the need for additional housing units in the next 5-10 years. The California State Auditor has done an audit requested by the California Joint Legislative Audit Committee, attached hereto. It is very critical of the RHNA process that the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) has used to provide key housing guidance for the State's local governments.
12. Moreover, the Housing Element reports that during the period January 1, 2014, through the last day of 2021, the Town exceeded the RHNA 5 allocation by 111%. This supports the idea that the town may not need a Town Hall project of the extreme density that is planned there.
13. The "buffer guidelines" the State has suggested can range between 15% and 30% in case some units do not get built. Additionally, as the buffer is intended to replace any homes or units removed from Hillsborough, and the majority of Hillsborough housing is above the San Mateo County AMI, the buffer, at a more reasonable level of 5-10%, does not need to be spread across all income levels, but instead just to the AMI or above categories, or something more balanced.

There are many inconsistencies and irregularities with how various sites were considered and how mapping occurred. Why some sites were considered, and others were not is stated, and yet there are no records of the process for evaluating sites or their site scores. This should be public information.

Town-owned open space sites should be considered. While open spaces are important, they can be relocated to other areas of town. While we were told that no open space sites were listed because of grading problems or the lack of interest by developers, these are not appropriate justifications for why the pros and cons of development of these sites were not analyzed. Grading issues should not be a justification for exclusion of those locations. Grading is cheaper and less time consuming than in past due to new technologies.

CONCLUSION:

My clients reserve the right to exercise all legal remedies unless the Housing Element is substantially changed as outlined above.

Very truly yours,

Brett Gladstone.

Re: Town Hall Campus

Hon. Mayor Royse and the Hillsborough City Council,

I prepared this memorandum in regard to the Draft Housing Element for the Town of Hillsborough, dated August 4, 2022 – in particular Housing Opportunity Site 1: Town Hall Campus. I understand that the Town has commissioned a study to analyze the proposed redevelopment of the Town Hall campus at 1600 Floribunda Avenue, but I wanted to bring to your attention the fact that parts of the property contain potential historic resources, including the Hillsborough Police Department headquarters.

I am an independent architectural historian and historic preservation consultant based in San Francisco. A native of Burlingame, I hold an M.Arch. in Architectural History and a Certificate in Historic Preservation from University of Virginia's Graduate School of Architecture. Since 2007, I have flourished in my career as an independent historic preservation consultant. In this capacity I have completed hundreds of historic resource evaluations, historic structure reports, National Register nominations, cultural resource surveys, and all manner of analyses throughout California – including at least 30 studies in San Mateo County. I meet the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Architectural History and History. In addition, I have won several preservation design awards, including from the California Preservation Foundation and the American Institute of Architects – Northern California Chapter.

It was recently brought to my attention that the Town has prepared a Draft Housing Element that includes the Town Hall campus in its list of potential housing opportunity sites. According to the draft, Housing Opportunity Site 1 comprises a 2.5-acre site near the intersection of Floribunda Avenue and El Camino Real. The site presently contains several buildings, including Hillsborough Town Hall, Hillsborough Police Department, a single-family dwelling, and Centennial Park. The site also includes parking, perimeter landscaping, and a corporation yard.

Although most of the site appears to have been developed in recent decades, the complex at the northwest corner of the property contains one or more buildings that may have architectural and/or historical significance. I have been asked to prepare an independent historic resource evaluation (HRE) for the property, and even though I have not yet begun in earnest, I decided to send this memo with some preliminary information about the property. The section of the Hillsborough Police Station closest to El Camino Real was initially constructed in the early twentieth century by the Pacific Bell Corporation as a switching station. In 1912, two years after Hillsborough incorporated, town officials approached Pacific Bell about purchasing the building, which at that time was in Burlingame. With the purchase complete, Hillsborough annexed the property and converted the Spanish Colonial Revival switching station into a combination town hall/police station.

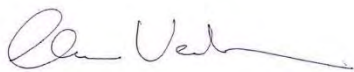

Since 1912, Hillsborough's civic center incrementally expanded. In 1927, a wing was built on the east side of the Town Hall. Several years later, the Town hired architect John E. White to design Hillsborough Fire House No. 1 adjoining the Town Hall to the south. In the late 1930s, another wing was added to the south side of the fire station. This wing, which today houses the Finance Department, is designed in a compatible, if more restrained, Spanish Colonial Revival vocabulary. A matching single-family dwelling was then constructed behind this wing in the late 1930s/early 1940s – possibly as a residence for the fire chief.¹ John White, who designed the former firehouse, was an associate of Bernard Maybeck, and he was likely responsible for other parts of this complex. White specialized in suburban government buildings, having designed comparable town halls and other public facilities in Ross, Burlingame, and Atherton.²

The rest of the site, including the current Town Hall, was developed much later on toward the end of the twentieth century and even though it is designed to be compatible with the original building, the current Town Hall has no architectural or historical significance.

Although more research and investigation needs to occur before reaching a firm conclusion on the potential significance of any part of the site, according to the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), all parts of the complex that are over 45 years old need to be evaluated prior to demolition or extensive exterior alterations. And, as you know, all projects undertaken by a public agency are subject to CEQA.³ I assume that this analysis will be done as part of the background studies that are currently underway, but if not, I highly recommend that you have an HRE prepared by a credible consultant.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Christopher VerPlanck

Regional Housing Needs Assessments

*The Department of Housing and Community Development Must Improve Its Processes to Ensure That Communities Can

The Governor of California
President pro Tempore of the Senate
Speaker of the Assembly
State Capitol
Sacramento, California 95814

Dear Governor and Legislative Leaders:

As directed by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, my office evaluated the Regional Housing Needs Assessment (needs assessment) process that the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) uses to provide key housing guidance for the State's local governments. The availability of sufficient housing is of vital statewide importance, and HCD's needs assessments are what allow jurisdictions to plan for the PUBLIC LETTERSUMMARYINTRODUCTIONCHAPTERSAPPENDICES

RESPONSES

In reviewing the needs assessments for three regions, we identified multiple areas in which HCD must improve its process. For example, HCD does not satisfactorily review its needs assessments to ensure that staff accurately enter data when they calculate how much housing local governments must plan to build. As a result, HCD made errors that reduced its projected need for housing in two of the regions we reviewed. We also found that HCD could not demonstrate that it adequately considered all of the factors that state law requires, and it could not support its use of healthy housing vacancy rates. This insufficient oversight and lack of support for its considerations risks eroding public confidence that HCD is informing local governments of the appropriate amount of housing they will need.

HCD's needs assessments also rely on some projections that the Department of Finance (Finance) provides. While we found that most of Finance's projections were reasonably accurate, it has not adequately supported the rates it uses to project the number of future households that will require housing units in the State. Although these household projections are a key component in HCD's needs assessments, Finance has not conducted a proper study or obtained formal recommendations from experts it consulted to support its assumptions in this area. Finance intends to reevaluate its assumptions related to household growth as more detailed 2020 Census data becomes available later in the year, but without such efforts, Finance cannot ensure that it is providing the most appropriate information to HCD.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL S. TILDEN, CPA
Acting California State Auditor

RESPONSES

The Legislature recognizes that the availability of housing is of vital statewide importance and that the State and local governments have a responsibility to facilitate the development of adequate housing. State law requires the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) to conduct assessments to determine the housing needs (needs assessments) throughout regions in the State. The needs assessments rely on projections of future population and households developed by the Department of Finance (Finance). HCD is required to consider certain factors identified in state law and then can adjust the needs assessments for any of the factors. For example, it makes an adjustment to achieve a healthy vacancy rate in the housing market and an adjustment to reduce the number of overcrowded households. Regions use the needs assessments to plan for additional housing to accommodate population growth and address future housing needs.

HCD's Housing Needs Assessment Process Lacks Sufficient Reviews and Support

HCD does not have a formal review process for the data it uses to determine its needs assessments. As a result, the needs assessments for two of three regions we reviewed included errors. One data error reduced a region's needs assessment by nearly 2,500 housing units. HCD also did not demonstrate that it adequately considered certain factors when creating the needs assessments of the three regions we reviewed. For one of those factors, the healthy vacancy rate, HCD did not perform a formal analysis to adequately support its assumptions. HCD's insufficient oversight of its process

Finance Provides Reasonable Population Projections, but It Has Not Provided Sufficient Support for Its Household Formation Projections

Finance's projections of the statewide future population are reasonably accurate, but it did not sufficiently support its projections of the number of future households. To calculate the household projections, Finance identifies rates at which it expects individuals in different age groups to form new households and applies those rates to its population projections. Although Finance worked with HCD to solicit some advice from experts when it established these rates, it did not conduct a formal study or receive clear recommendations to support them. As a result, Finance cannot ensure that it is providing the most appropriate information for HCD to include in its needs assessment process. Finance stated that it intends to reevaluate its assumptions related to household growth after it reviews 2020 Census data when those data become available later this year.

Summary of Recommendations

Legislature

To provide HCD additional clarity and guidance in conducting its vacancy rate adjustments, the Legislature determine and use separate healthy vacancy rates for owned housing and rental housing.

HCD

To ensure that its needs assessments are accurate and do not contain unnecessary errors, by June 2022 HCD should institute a process to ensure that its staff performs multiple reviews of data in its assessments.

To demonstrate that its needs assessments are complete and address all relevant factors, by September 2022 HCD should establish a formal process to document its consideration of all factors required by state law in its needs assessments.

To ensure that it adequately supports the vacancy rate adjustments it makes to needs assessments, by February 2023 HCD should perform a formal analysis of healthy vacancy rates and historical trends to inform those adjustments.

Finance

To ensure that the household formation rates that it provides HCD are appropriate, Finance should, by February 2023, conduct a comprehensive review of its assumptions about the household formation rates it uses in projections, and it should document that review.

Legislature's efforts to ensure that the State is planning for the construction of enough homes to meet its housing needs and that local governments are facilitating that development, state law requires the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) to conduct periodic housing needs assessments to determine existing and projected housing needs throughout California. HCD fulfills its responsibilities under state law by creating Regional Housing Needs Assessments (needs assessments). As Figure 1 shows, HCD provides the needs assessments to councils of governments, which we describe in the text box, across the State and directly to counties that are not in such a council.

housing needs to the cities and counties within its boundaries. For counties without a council of governments, HCD provides allocations to those counties as well as to the cities within them.¹ Cities and counties must then develop plans to accommodate the existing and projected housing need. HCD performs needs assessments every five to 11 years. HCD does not complete all assessments at the same time and does not always cover the same period, because it attempts to align the needs assessment process with other planning processes, such as regional transportation planning. The three needs assessments that we reviewed are those of the Santa Barbara County Association of Governments (Santa Barbara Association), the Sacramento Area Council of Governments (Sacramento Council), and Amador County.

RESPONSES

State law requires HCD to use population projections developed by the Department of Finance (Finance) when it completes the needs assessments. Finance factors into its projections multiple sources of information, including data from the U.S. Census Bureau (Census) and records of driver’s licenses, births and deaths, school enrollments, and tax filings. Finance provides state- and county-level population projections to assist state, regional, and local planning, among other purposes. Finance also projects the number of future households, based on the population projections and the percentage of people in the population who are expected to form their own households in the future, which is known as the household formation rate.

Table 1 describes the factors that state law requires HCD to consider in its needs assessments, including vacancy rates. State law requires HCD to consider vacancy rates in existing housing and the vacancy rates for healthy housing markets when developing the needs assessments. A low supply of housing can result in low rental vacancy rates, which in turn can lead to housing price increases. Therefore, HCD adjusts its needs assessments so that housing markets can achieve a healthy vacancy rate. In some cases, that adjustment will add to the number of housing units HCD determines a region needs so that the region can obtain a healthy vacancy rate. State law specifies that the minimum vacancy rate for a healthy rental housing market is 5 percent, but the law does not define the healthy vacancy rate for owned housing.

however, HCD's practice is to do so.

State law also requires HCD to adjust its needs assessments to account for long-term housing challenges, such as overcrowding, which occurs when a housing unit has more than one resident per room. The Legislature added this overcrowding factor to the needs assessment process in 2017. HCD must also consider cost-burdened households, which are households that pay more than 30 percent of their income for housing costs. When it determines it is appropriate to do so, HCD includes in its assessments adjustments for cost burden and overcrowding. Among the sources HCD uses to determine these adjustments is data that state law requires councils of governments to provide. The councils provide data comparing the cost burden and overcrowding for their respective regions with that of other comparable regions in the United States. HCD then uses this information to calculate adjustments for each council of governments' needs assessment. Table 2 shows a hypothetical example of how HCD incorporates adjustments for the various factors to determine the number of housing units in its needs assessments. Appendix A shows the three needs assessments that we reviewed.

* This reduction includes individuals housed in prisons and jails, legal dormitories.

† The household formation rate represents the likelihood that individuals in the region's projected population will head their own households. Finance uses different household formation rates for different age groups, which we have simplified for illustrative purposes here.

‡ Factors that state law requires HCD to consider, but that it did not include as an adjustment in the needs assessments we reviewed.

§ HCD makes the cost burden adjustment only after applying all the other adjustments.

Finally, state law requires HCD to consider housing units that communities will need to plan to replace. Some housing units become uninhabitable during the future period covered by the assessments, such as housing lost due to damage, deterioration, and house or apartment building fires. State law requires HCD to review housing replacement needs, and HCD does so by obtaining from Finance the number of housing units a council of governments or county has lost over the past 10 years. HCD then determines the rate at which the region loses housing units and makes an adjustment in the needs assessment to replace those houses. In response to recent wildfires that have destroyed a significant number of houses, the Legislature added the requirement in 2018 that HCD must also consider any housing recently lost during a state of emergency that the Governor declared. Similar to the cost burden factor discussed above, state law requires councils of governments to provide data to HCD on housing lost during a state of emergency for consideration in the needs assessments.

Local Actions After HCD Completes a Needs Assessment

within its region. The council, in consultation with HCD, must develop a proposed methodology for distributing the allocation. The council of governments must conduct a survey and ensure public participation when developing the methodology. The council of governments establishes a draft allocation and then may hear appeals of the allocation, if any are raised. It then must make the allocation final and adopt it.

State law requires local governments, such as cities and counties, to create plans to meet housing needs. Local governments must adopt a general plan, which is a blueprint for meeting the community's long-term vision for the future. Within the general plans, state law requires local governments to include a housing element, which contains an analysis of existing and projected housing needs in their communities. Cities and counties must state their goals, policies, and programs related to the development of housing, to accommodate projected housing needs allocated by their council of governments or HCD. The community, through the housing element, must attempt to meet these housing needs, such as by changing the zoning on specific parcels to allow residential development.

Needs Assessments Can Be Contentious but Are a Critical Component of Addressing Housing Challenges

Some stakeholders have criticized the needs assessment process and HCD's needs assessments. For example, some homeowners and advocacy organizations believe that HCD's needs assessments have produced higher numbers of housing needs than are reasonable. Changes to state law that became effective in January 2019 allow HCD to account for

RESPONSES

We are aware of two lawsuits that challenge HCD's process, including one that alleges that HCD did not consider all factors as required by state law. In one lawsuit, the Orange County Council of Governments, which is independent from the larger Southern California Association of Governments, sued HCD, alleging that HCD failed to use the appropriate population forecast, failed to appropriately evaluate household overcrowding and cost burden rates, and used unreasonable vacancy rates. In the other lawsuit, several interested individuals and two nonprofit corporations filed a lawsuit alleging that HCD failed to consider data regarding the relationship between jobs and housing in its assessment for the Association of Bay Area Governments, which is the San Francisco Bay Area council of governments. Both lawsuits are pending final resolution. To avoid interference, we did not review the needs assessments for either of the councils involved in these lawsuits as part of this audit.

The needs assessments affect the planning for housing availability across the State and are an important but sometimes contentious component in addressing California's housing crisis. Housing availability and affordability has become a key economic issue, as the Legislative Analyst's Office (LAO) reported in 2019. The LAO noted that the significant shortage of housing, particularly within coastal communities, contributed to higher housing costs for Californians. The LAO also noted that high housing costs increase the State's poverty rate and, in particular, put low-income Californians at risk of instability and homelessness. As discussed above, the State's role in identifying existing and future housing needs to guide the housing planning process is under public scrutiny. Determining accurate, appropriate, and defensible housing needs is a key step in facilitating state and local efforts to plan for housing development.

HCD's Housing Needs Assessment Process Lacks Sufficient Reviews and Support

Key Points

- HCD made several errors when entering data into calculations for its needs assessments, which reduced the amount of housing needs in the needs assessments for two of the three regions we reviewed. HCD does not have a sufficient management review process to ensure that it identifies such errors before finalizing needs assessments. Without effective review processes, HCD may be making similar errors in needs assessments for other councils of governments.
- HCD could not demonstrate that it followed work group recommendations when it considered the balance between jobs and housing, and did not maintain consistency in its consideration of housing destroyed during a state of emergency, when it produced the needs assessments for the three regions we reviewed. In at least one needs assessment, the omission led HCD to understate housing needs by not accounting for units that had been destroyed in a wildfire.
- HCD did not adequately support its adjustment to the needs assessments to address vacancy rates for the councils of governments we reviewed. Despite the

RESPONSES

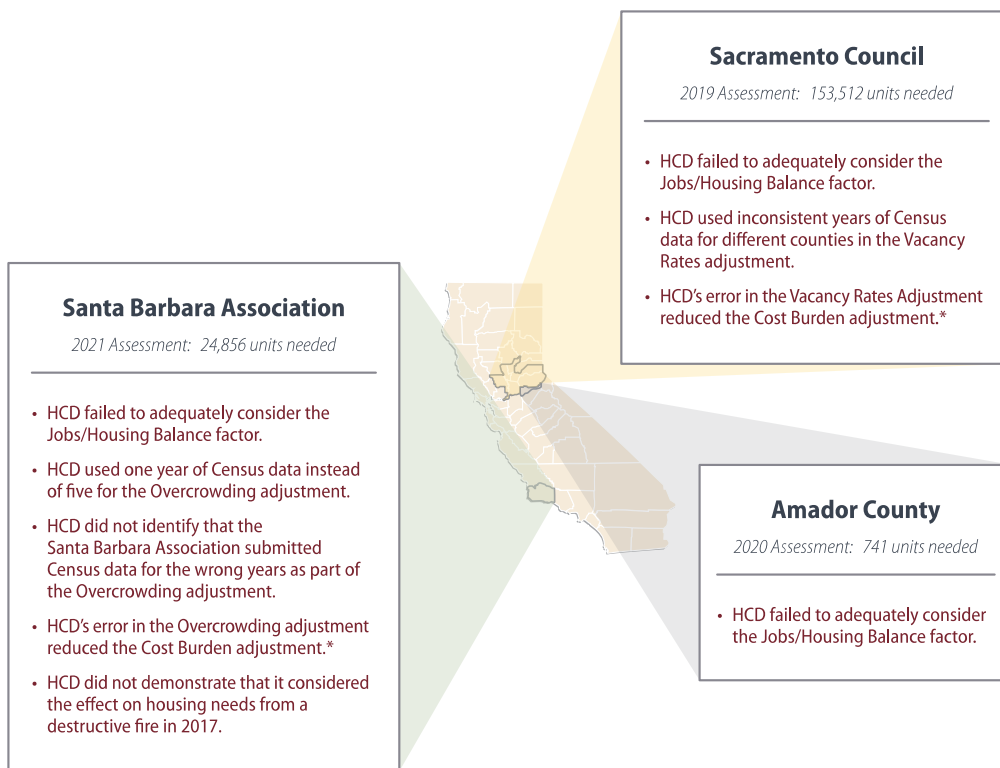

- HCD's reviews of comparable regions selected by councils of government have been inconsistent because the department does not have a formal process for such reviews. As a result, it did not identify a problematic proposal from a region and inappropriately reduced its needs assessment.

HCD Has Made Errors When Completing Its Needs Assessments Because It Does Not Sufficiently Review and Verify Data It Uses

HCD does not have an adequate review process to ensure that its staff members accurately enter data that it uses in the needs assessments. As Table 1 shows, state law requires HCD to consider a variety of information for its needs assessments for councils of governments, including population projections, housing vacancy rates, and income data. HCD staff members enter the data the department obtains from various sources into a spreadsheet for each council of governments and uses the information to determine the housing needs. However, HCD does not sufficiently review its staff member's data entries for accuracy. As Figure 3 shows, we noted data entry errors in two of the three assessments we reviewed. We discuss the other issues presented in Figure 3, including an inadequate consideration of the relationship between jobs and housing, in the following section.

RESPONSES

Source: Analysis of state law, HCD needs assessments, and HCD's 2010 SB 375 implementation work group report.

Note: We were able to determine the impact on needs assessments from some, but not all errors and omissions presented in this figure. For example, HCD did not collect data on the jobs/housing balance, and therefore we could not quantify the effect of HCD not considering this factor. We discuss selected errors' impacts on HCD's needs assessments here and here in the report text.

* Because HCD makes the cost burden adjustment after applying the other adjustments, errors that increase or reduce other adjustments also increase or reduce the cost burden adjustment.

One data entry error resulted in a lower, inaccurate number of needed housing units in the Santa Barbara Association's needs assessment. HCD's needs assessment letter explained that its overcrowding adjustment relied on Census estimates from five years of survey data. However, ~~2318~~ had only used five-year estimates. HCD explained that staff members entered data from the wrong table on the Census website. Had HCD used the five-year estimates as it intended for this step in its calculation, Santa Barbara's needs assessment would have included 1,338 more housing units, or about 5 percent more than the inaccurate assessment HCD provided to the Santa Barbara Association.

HCD made a similar error when using Census estimates to adjust the Sacramento Council's assessment. It had intended to use the 2013–2017 Census vacancy estimate for all the counties within the Sacramento Council, but it mistakenly entered the 2012–2016 estimate for Sacramento County. This error reduced the Sacramento Council's needs assessment by 2,484 units. Although this number represents a small portion of the region's overall needs assessment of more than 153,000 units, it still represents homes for individuals and families for which the Sacramento Council needs to plan to accommodate.

Because HCD did not verify the information the Santa Barbara Association submitted for its needs assessment, it made an additional error. HCD incorporates into the needs assessments some information it receives from the councils of governments, such as data on overcrowding. The Santa Barbara Association submitted data on comparable regions' overcrowding rates using the 2014–2018 Census data, which HCD then incorporated into its overcrowding calculation. However, HCD had intended for its calculation to incorporate 2015–2019 data. Although this particular error was not large, it was in addition to the other errors in the assessments we reviewed, as discussed above. It concerns us that HCD does not have a formal review process to ensure that these important housing needs assessments are as accurate as possible.

We identified these errors, which would be difficult to detect management to verify that staff members retrieve and enter the correct data in the spreadsheets. However, HCD told us that its primary process for identifying errors in its needs assessments is to send a draft assessment to each council of governments for review rather than to have HCD supervisors or other HCD staff members review the drafts.

HCD's reliance on the councils of governments for checking the accuracy of the needs assessments is problematic. As we discuss in the Introduction, the needs assessment process can be contentious and draws attention from numerous stakeholders. Therefore, some councils of governments may be reluctant to propose changes or corrections to their needs assessments that increase their own housing needs. In fact, two of the errors we identified inaccurately lowered the needs assessments, but HCD stated that neither the Santa Barbara Association nor the Sacramento Council notified HCD of the errors, and no record we reviewed indicated whether the two councils of governments noticed the errors at all.

When we brought these concerns to HCD's attention, its deputy director of housing policy development (housing policy deputy) stated that the department plans to conduct and document supervisor reviews of its needs assessments for its next planned round of assessments in 2023. It is crucial that HCD do so to ensure that councils of governments plan for the appropriate amount of housing and to maintain public confidence in the validity of the State's assessments of local housing needs.

HCD Did Not Demonstrate That It Adequately Considered Certain Factors That State Law Requires for Housing Needs Assessments

the reliability of its needs assessments. The law requires HCD to review data and assumptions that councils of governments submit for the factors considered in housing needs assessments, and it allows HCD to make adjustments to the needs assessments after this consideration. HCD may accept or reject the submitted information, and it must issue a written determination on the data assumptions for each factor and the methodology it will use.

Although HCD generally included most of the factors outlined in state law in the three needs assessments we reviewed, it did not adequately demonstrate how it considered two factors: the balance between jobs and housing in the region (jobs/housing balance) and housing lost in emergencies, such as wildfires. The housing policy deputy stated that HCD addresses these factors through its projected household data and other adjustment factors, and currently documents that consideration with an assertion in its final needs assessment that it considered all factors specified in state law.

When we asked HCD about its specific consideration of the jobs/housing factor, HCD indicated that it relied on a work group's draft analysis of jobs/housing relationships. However, this analysis is outdated and provided limited direction for how the jobs/housing balance would affect needs assessments. The housing policy deputy stated that HCD had studied the jobs/housing balance factor in 2010, 12 years ago. The analysis noted that the inconsistent data available between regions makes regional comparisons of jobs and housing difficult and that statewide standardized employment data are not available for comparison purposes. Although it did not recommend specific adjustments for the jobs/housing balance factor, the 2010 work group indicated that HCD should solicit specific information from councils of governments to address this factor. However, HCD did not specifically request such information from the Sacramento Council, the Santa Barbara Association, or Amador County—

RESPONSES

HCD believes that its other adjustments for different factors also addressed the jobs/housing balance factor. Specifically, HCD asserted that its adjustments to address low vacancy rates, high overcrowding, and high cost burdens address jobs/housing balance issues. However, HCD did not provide an analysis that demonstrated how, or to what extent, these adjustments address the jobs/housing balance. The housing policy deputy also noted the potential for inequitable adjustments for jobs/housing balance between regions because regions receive needs assessments at different times but agreed to review data sources and seek academic perspectives on approaches to account for the jobs/housing balance in the next round of needs assessments. HCD also agreed that as part of its review of the jobs/housing balance factor, it would consider either adding a specific adjustment or modifying its other adjustments, such as increasing the cost burden adjustment, to better account for the factor in the future.

The second factor HCD inadequately considered was housing lost during emergencies. HCD did not consider housing lost during emergencies in a consistent manner across different regions, which led it to understate housing needs in the Santa Barbara Association's needs assessment. State law requires HCD to consider data and assumptions submitted by a council of governments on housing lost during a state of emergency declared by the Governor if that lost housing has not been rebuilt or replaced at the time of the collection of data for the needs assessment. In 2017 the Governor declared a state of emergency in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties due to the Thomas Fire, which destroyed more than 1,000 housing units and other structures. HCD did not consider the loss of units caused by this wildfire, as required by state law, and did not make an adjustment for this factor in the 2021 Santa Barbara Association needs assessment, as it did in another region, which we discuss below. We believe HCD should have worked with state and county officials to HCD's housing policy deputy explained that HCD believes another factor addresses housing lost to fire emergencies. As we discuss in the Introduction, HCD determines the replacement rate at which each council of governments' region loses housing units and applies an adjustment in the needs assessment to replace housing. The replacement adjustment reflects the average annual rate of housing loss over the past 10 years that a council of governments needs to replace for units that have been destroyed or demolished, or are no longer inhabitable. The housing policy deputy stated that Finance provides it with information on the rate of housing replacement, such as when there is a fire that requires a building to be replaced. Although HCD considered replacement units in the Santa Barbara Association needs assessment, it did not include a separate consideration for units destroyed in emergencies. HCD's replacement adjustment identified the average rate that housing is replaced in Santa Barbara County based on 10 years of data from Finance. However, this approach minimized the effect of a wildfire by combining it with normal years of housing losses, resulting in less overall housing than actually needed.

Furthermore, HCD's approach to the Santa Barbara Association's declared state of emergency was not consistent with the approach it took in another assessment. Specifically, for the Butte County Association of Governments, HCD worked with county and state officials, including Finance, when it considered and then included an adjustment specifically for housing destroyed in the 2018 Camp Fire, for which the Governor also declared a state of emergency. HCD noted that it included the adjustment for the Butte County Association of Governments because this fire and associated housing loss was particularly large. We expected HCD to consider housing lost in declared emergencies consistently.

HCD needs to thoroughly document its required consideration of each factor because the needs assessment

RESPONSES

Although state law permits HCD to determine what adjustments, if any, to make in response to a particular factor, documenting the specific methodology and determination will enhance transparency and public trust. It will also allow HCD to more effectively justify its conclusions to stakeholders and potentially avoid litigation. It is also important that HCD conduct its needs assessments consistently across different regions and in compliance with state requirements, especially when adjusting for sensitive issues such as wildfire disasters.

The Healthy Vacancy Rate HCD Used in Assessments We Reviewed Was Poorly Supported

HCD did not provide adequate support for a critical determination it made about the healthy housing vacancy rate that it used in the three needs assessments we reviewed, raising questions about whether HCD can support the rate in its other assessments. State law requires HCD to consider how councils of governments' vacancy rates compare with healthy vacancy rates when determining housing needs assessments. As we discuss in the Introduction, state law specifies that a healthy vacancy rate for rental housing should not be less than 5 percent, but it does not specify a healthy vacancy rate for owned housing, allowing HCD to make that determination.

HCD used a 5 percent healthy vacancy rate for the combined rental and ownership markets for two of the councils of governments' assessments we reviewed.² HCD calculated the vacancy rate adjustment by subtracting the region's overall vacancy rate from the 5 percent healthy vacancy rate. Based on that rate, the vacancy rate adjustment for the Santa Barbara Association resulted in an increase of more adjustment would have increased by 40 percent, to 5,600 housing units. Therefore, it is important that the rate that HCD uses is adequately supported.

HCD concluded that its choice of a single healthy vacancy rate for the overall market instead of separate rates for owned and rental housing was appropriate. HCD stated that in 2018, for the current round of needs assessments, it began evaluating vacancy rates across the total number of homes available, a change from its previous approach of separating the rental and ownership markets before evaluating vacancy rates in each of them. HCD stated that it changed its approach to reflect the fact that some owned housing becomes rental housing over time. Conversely, a development may be rented for an initial period and then sold to owners after a condominium conversion. However, as shown in Figure 4, the vacancy rates of the two categories are significantly different—ownership vacancy was much lower than rental vacancy over the past 15 years. We are concerned that HCD has not completed a formal analysis to support its claim that a single healthy vacancy rate was appropriate.

HCD Targeted a Vacancy Rate That Is Between Historical Rates for Rented and Owned Housing

RESPONSES

* Before it started using a single 5 percent vacancy rate in 2018, HCD used separate rates for rental and owned housing for each assessment.

When we asked HCD for its support for using the 5 percent healthy vacancy rate in the assessments, it provided only limited information that did not adequately support its assumptions. HCD explained that although it understands that the ownership vacancy rate is somewhat lower than 5 percent, the literature it reviewed indicated that a healthy rental vacancy rate is likely somewhat higher than 5 percent, and it believes the 5 percent is defensible for the combined market. However, HCD did not thoroughly analyze vacancy rates when it began to use this healthy vacancy rate assumption in 2018. HCD provided a summary document from a work group it convened in 2010 that reviewed historical vacancy rates in different regions, but the work group's summary did not reach a conclusion on a healthy vacancy rate. Instead, the summary referenced information the work group had reviewed, including government reports, and noted a range of vacancy rates among other states that included separate rates for owned and rented housing. Additionally, some of the information was outdated because several of the government reports the summary cited were published in the 1980s. The summary also stated that HCD had used the same healthy vacancy rates—using separate rates for owned and rental housing—since 2006 and may adjust them for current economic conditions.

Despite the large impact of the vacancy rate adjustment on a region's total needs assessment, HCD has relied on the 5 percent healthy vacancy rate without providing adequate support for its approach. For example, HCD made a vacancy rate adjustment to increase Sacramento's needs assessment by more than 22,700 units, or nearly 15 percent of the total housing needs. Therefore, we expected HCD to provide sufficient analysis and support for its assumptions underlying risks making adjustments that are not reflective of a region's true housing needs.

HCD Did Not Identify a Problematic Proposal From a Region and Inappropriately Reduced Its Needs Assessment

HCD did not sufficiently review the regions that councils of governments compared themselves to as part of the needs assessment process. For two factors in its needs assessments, state law requires HCD to consider how a council of governments' regional data compares to that of other similar regions in the nation. For these factors—overcrowding and cost burden—the law requires councils of governments to provide data from regions they propose as “comparable.” For the cost burden adjustment, state law requires councils to provide data from “healthy” housing markets. State law allows HCD to adjust a council of governments' needs assessment based on these factors, thus allowing communities to plan for more housing to better address the housing crisis. Under state law, HCD must consider the information a council of governments submits, though it does not have to use that information in its final needs assessment. State law does not provide criteria for the councils of governments to select comparable regions to propose. However, in correspondence to the council of governments we reviewed, HCD recommended that several non-housing factors—such as population, median income, and jobs per capita—be included for comparison to help guide councils of governments in their selections of comparable, healthy regions.

HCD's reviews of comparable regions selected by councils of government have been inconsistent because the department

RESPONSES

HCD does not have a documented process to guide its evaluation of councils of governments' proposals to ensure that its reviews are consistent. HCD explained that even though it does provide guidance on what criteria councils of governments could use for their proposals of comparable regions, it has avoided instituting a specific, formal review process because state law specifically allows councils of governments to determine what regions are comparable. However, state law also gives HCD the ability to reject those same proposals. Therefore, we believe it is important for HCD to have a formal process to review the comparable regions that councils of governments propose so it can ensure that it is using this authority consistently for different needs assessments.

The Santa Barbara Association provided HCD with a comparable region proposal that we found problematic. In January 2021, after working with HCD to adjust its comparable region proposal, the Santa Barbara Association provided a memo to HCD explaining that it based its selection of comparable regions on certain categories, such as population, household size, rent-to-income ratio, age distribution, and poverty. These criteria resulted in the Santa Barbara Association choosing regions that were likely experiencing housing problems similar to its own region because they also had higher, unhealthy, rates of overcrowding and cost-burdened households compared to national averages. The use of household sizes and rent-to-income ratios to select comparable regions was problematic. For example, the overcrowding rate—reflecting the number of housing units that have more than one person per room in a region—is likely higher in a region with a higher average household size. Similarly, a region with a higher rent-to-income ratio is likely to have more households with heavy cost burdens. Higher overcrowding and heavier cost burdens than the national average indicate that those housing markets are not healthy.

RESPONSES

explained that it views its role as providing guidance to councils of government in their process of selecting comparable regions, rather than being prescriptive. However, our concern is that the Santa Barbara Association specifically used certain criteria that resulted in it selecting unhealthy housing markets, which HCD acknowledges is an approach that has led it to reject other councils' comparisons. Had HCD compared the Santa Barbara Association to regions with cost burden rates closer to the national average, we estimate that its needs assessment would have increased by 470 housing units to about 25,300, or an increase of 1.9 percent. Without a consistent process to review the criteria that councils of governments propose to identify comparable regions, HCD may be allowing some regions to plan for less housing than they otherwise should.

Recommendations

Legislature

To provide HCD additional clarity and guidance in conducting its vacancy rate adjustments, the Legislature should amend state law to clarify whether HCD should continue to use a healthy vacancy rate that includes both rental and owned housing or whether it should determine and use separate healthy vacancy rates for owned housing and rental housing.

HCD

To ensure that its needs assessments are accurate and do not contain unnecessary errors, by June 2022 HCD should institute a process to ensure that its staff performs multiple reviews of data in its assessments

RESPONSES

To demonstrate that its needs assessments are complete and address all relevant factors, by September 2022 HCD should establish a formal process to document its consideration of all factors required by state law in its needs assessments.

To ensure that it adequately supports the vacancy rate adjustments it makes to needs assessments, by February 2023 HCD should perform a formal analysis of healthy vacancy rates and historical trends to inform those adjustments.

To ensure that it does not reduce its needs assessments based on inappropriate information provided by councils of governments, by June 2022 HCD should develop a formal process to review the appropriateness of councils of governments' proposed comparable regions, including identifying the criteria it will consider when reviewing councils of governments proposals. HCD should use this formal process and criteria to consistently evaluate the appropriateness of the proposals to ensure that they identify regions with healthy housing markets.

Finance Provides Reasonable Population Projections, but It Has Not Provided Sufficient Support for Its Household Formation Projections

Key Points

- Finance's population projections are the basis of HCD's needs assessments, and they are generally accurate. Projections for counties with less than 250,000 residents were less accurate than for counties with more than 1 million residents, but the accuracy of projections has improved over time.
- Finance also creates projections of the number of future households in the State by county. Although HCD uses the household projections in its needs assessments, Finance has not conducted a rigorous analysis to support the household formation rates it uses for the projections.

Finance's Population Projections Have Generally Been Accurate

The basis of housing needs assessments are population forecasts that Finance produces. State law requires Finance to produce short- and long-range projections of the population, and it does so for the entire State and its counties. To develop its population projections, Finance projects future births, deaths, and migration, or movement into and out of the State, to determine the State's future population by county. HCD then uses the projections for five to 10 years into the future in its needs assessments, depending on the period the assessment covers.³ To review the accuracy of Finance's previous population projections and their potential impact on HCD's needs assessment process, we compared the statewide population projections for 2020 that Finance published in 2011 to Census data for 2020. We found that its projections were overestimated by just 2.7 percent. The variables that

RESPONSES

We also reviewed the process and data that Finance uses to make its projections and found that it is appropriate. Finance has programmed the software that it uses to make projections to identify and remove illogical results and fix errors in the results. Finance staff members also perform reviews of these projections. Staff members compare the projections to previous projections to ensure that there are no unexpected or dramatic changes. Finance also stated that managers review the results before the department provides the data to HCD.

When we reviewed Finance's county-level projections over several years, we noted that their accuracy varied. The projections Finance made in 2011 for the 2020 population were less accurate in counties with less than 250,000 residents than in counties with more than 1 million residents. For example, Finance projected that Colusa County's 2020 population would be nearly 25,000, but the actual population according to the 2020 Census was only about 22,000, a difference of 12 percent. In contrast, Finance projected that Orange County's 2020 population would be 3.2 million, and the actual 2020 population was 3.19 million, a difference of 0.4 percent. However, we reviewed subsequent projections that Finance published in 2013, 2016, and 2019 of 2020 county populations and found, as would be expected, that its 2019 projections were more accurate.

Finance plans to account for 2020 Census results when making its next population projections in 2023. When we asked Finance about the differences that we identified in its projections compared to Census data, it had already begun reviewing those differences in preparation for its next population projections. In fact, it had identified a series of events and changes that may have affected the accuracy of its projections in specific counties. For example, Finance noted that its projection for Mono County was inaccurate due to population reductions resulting from staffing changes at a adjustments in its approach for projections as it incorporates 2020 Census data into its next population projections, which it expects to release in early 2023.

Finance Has Not Adequately Supported Rates It Uses to Develop Household Formation Projections

Finance did not have a rigorous process to support its projections of the number of households in each region, despite the importance of this data in determining a region's housing needs. One of the factors that HCD's needs assessments include are the projections of the number of households that Finance expects in future years in communities across the State. Finance estimates the number of expected households by identifying a household formation rate for different age groups in each county. The household formation rate represents the likelihood that individuals in particular age groups will have their own households. HCD applies the rate by age group to the population projections to estimate the number of households that will exist in the future in a region. Because local governments will need to plan housing to accommodate these new households, HCD includes this expected new demand in its needs assessment process.

We expected Finance to use household information in the 2010 Census as its basis for projecting household formation rates, as 2010 data forms the basis of its current set of population projections.⁴ However, Finance explained that instead it estimated current household formation rates using information from earlier Census data as well as the 2010 Census. Specifically, Finance projects that Californians will be increasingly likely to form their own households in the relatively low household formation rate, which may have resulted from cultural, demographic, or economic changes, such as the Great Recession that began in 2007. According to Finance, its household formation rate reflects an assumption that household formation patterns in California will increase over time to pre-2010 levels—those before that recession, when people were more likely to own homes or take on fewer roommates.

However, Finance did not formally study how Californians would form households. In partnership with HCD in 2014, it solicited advice from some experts participating on the 2015–2025 Statewide Housing Plan Technical and Research Advisory Committee (advisory committee) to guide its decisions on household formation rates. Finance noted that its household formation rates were the result of deliberations among members of the advisory committee. This advisory committee is different from the work group mentioned previously that HCD convened in 2010 that discussed vacancy rates. However, our review of available documentation from the advisory committee found that it did not make any conclusions about household formation rates. The advisory committee also did not provide Finance any formal guidance, analysis, or report on household formation rate trends.

In 2015 and 2016, Finance and HCD staff members reached out to several university professors and other experts from the advisory committee to discuss household formation rates. In a series of emails, staff members from Finance and HCD communicated with experts to discuss factors that may affect household formation rates, such as changes in young adult behavior after the Great Recession and slowing immigration and birth rates. This discussion also reflected concerns about relying on 2010 Census data, because the data reflected conditions during a recession. As part of these conversations, HCD and Finance proposed to the experts several different household rate trends, one of which Finance now uses.

years, we expected Finance to better support the assertion that it is using the most appropriate rate. For example, Finance could have documented an analysis of historical household formation trends, a review of academic literature, and its consideration of all factors relevant to household formation rates to demonstrate that its household projections are defensible.

Needs assessments can change significantly depending on the accuracy of Finance's assumptions. Slight changes to household formation rates, which directly increase or decrease the number of projected households, can change HCD's needs assessments by thousands of units. For example, if HCD's needs assessment for the Santa Barbara Association used household formation rates 1 percent lower, the region's needs assessment would decrease by 17.5 percent, or about 4,350 fewer units of housing.⁵ Similarly, if the needs assessment used 1 percent higher household formation rates, the needs assessment would increase by as many units.

Finance plans to reevaluate its household formation rates soon. Finance believes the household formation rates it uses are still reasonable because available Census data generally indicated that it was still a reasonable expectation for household formation rates to increase in the future and that it would make sense to wait to formally reevaluate its assumption after detailed 2020 Census data is available. Finance also explained that its assumption that household formation rates will grow over time helps it to avoid projecting that recession-era economic issues and housing affordability problems will persist and affect household growth indefinitely in the State. However, without a formal comprehensive review of more recent demographic and economic information, Finance cannot adequately assure the public, stakeholders, and HCD that it is providing the most appropriate household formation rates that HCD includes in the critical needs assessment process.

Finance

To ensure that the population projections it provides to inform HCD's needs assessments are as accurate as possible, by February 2023 Finance should review its projections for the counties with the most significant projection inaccuracies and adjust its methodology as necessary based on 2020 Census data and other information.

To ensure that the household formation rates that it provides HCD are appropriate, Finance should, by February 2023, conduct a comprehensive review of its assumptions about the household formation rates it uses in projections, and it should document that review.

We conducted this performance audit in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards and under the authority vested in the California State Auditor by Government Code section 8543 et seq. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on the audit objectives. We believe that the evidence obtained provides a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our audit objectives.

HCD HOUSING NEEDS ASSESSMENTS WE REVIEWED

The chair of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee (Audit Committee) directed the California State Auditor (State Auditor) to conduct an emergency audit to examine HCD's regional housing needs determination process. We reviewed three of HCD's regional housing needs assessments: the Sacramento Council, the Santa Barbara Association, and Amador County. We provide those assessments in tables A.1 through A.3 to give context to the findings in our report. As noted in the Introduction, for counties without a council of governments, HCD also provides allocations of housing needs to the county and cities within it. Table A.4 provides the allocation HCD provided to Amador County and the cities within that county. In contrast, the councils of governments provide allocations of housing needs by income category to their member counties and cities.

HCD did not provide consistent details in the three assessments reviewed, and as a result, there are some differences among the assessments we display below. The time covered by the assessments, and the total housing needs that communities must accommodate, vary. HCD does not complete all assessments at the same time and does not always cover the same period because it aligns the needs assessment process with other planning processes, such as regional transportation planning. The total regional housing needs assessment corresponds to the time period displayed

SCOPE AND METHODOLOGY

The Audit Committee directed the State Auditor in October 2021 to conduct an emergency audit to examine the regional housing needs determination process. The audit was approved under Joint Legislative Audit Committee Rule 17. Recognizing that Rule 17’s cost limitations prevented us from satisfying all objectives of the emergency audit, we focused our work on the first three objectives contained in the emergency audit request. The table below lists those objectives and the methods we used to address them.

Evaluate HCD’s process for developing regional housing needs determinations to ascertain whether it complies with state law and results in appropriate calculations. Assess whether HCD properly used vacancy rates for rental markets and for the entire housing market.
- Reviewed the process HCD used to create three needs assessments for the Sacramento Council, the Santa Barbara Association, and Amador County, and determined which factors listed in state law it considered, and whether its consideration was appropriate.
 - For the same three assessments, which HCD completed after changes to state law in 2018, reviewed each adjustment HCD made in the assessments and determined the relative impact of the adjustments on the overall assessment.
 - For the three assessments we reviewed, assessed HCD’s support for the 5 percent healthy vacancy rate it uses for the overall housing market, including reviewing available historical information and economic research.

RE: Agency Response to 2021-125 Regional Housing Needs Assessments: The Department of Housing and Community Development Must Improve Its Processes To Ensure Communities Can Adequately Plan For Housing

Dear Mr. Tilden:

Thank you for the opportunity to review and provide comments to the audit pertaining to the Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) process led by the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD).

- ① As noted, the state's RHNA process requires consultation with Councils of Governments and intensive data analysis to determine the housing needs for regions. We appreciate that the audit found that HCD follows a sound methodology in administering this responsibility and offers some process improvement recommendations.

Attached you will find a detailed response from HCD summarizing the additional resources and process improvements that are underway including increasing staff and standardizing documentation processes.

The Business, Consumer Services and Housing Agency (Agency) and HCD are committed to maximizing opportunities

RE: Regional Housing Needs Assessment

Dear Mr. Tilden:

- ① This is the California Department of Housing and Community Development's (HCD) response to the Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) audit conducted by the California State Auditor. HCD is pleased to see the audit found no significant problems with the methodology or instances of double counting. The auditor also identified that statutory changes that allow HCD to provide adjustments to the existing and projected regional housing needs have resulted in larger determinations.

Still, the audit found opportunities for process improvements and HCD is committed to implementing those recommendations. HCD has already added more staff to the RHNA team and, in partnership with our internal audit team, continues to improve the quality of our determination particular following the auditor's review, process and quality control improvements will be beneficial moving forward.

-2346-

Recommendation 1 (Quality Control/Quality Assurance):

To ensure that its needs assessments are accurate and do not contain unnecessary errors, by June 2022 HCD should institute a process to ensure its staff perform multiple reviews of data included in its assessments, including data that staff input and councils of governments (COGs) submit.

- Response: HCD agrees with the first recommendation (page 25 of 38) and will complete documenting the process by the proposed deadline. HCD has started to create additional process documents to aid in implementing this recommendation. HCD is committed to more accurately determining the housing need moving forward and values the improved process suggestions.

Recommendation 2 (Jobs Housing Factor and Units Lost):

To demonstrate that its needs assessments are complete and address all relevant factors, by September 2022 HCD should establish a formal process to document its consideration of all factors required by state law in its needs assessments.

- ② Response: HCD is committed to continuous process improvement and providing public documentation of the processes we implement. While HCD does consider all factors described in statute, HCD agrees with the second recommendation (page 26 of 38) and has already initiated the creation of additional process documents to aid in implementing this recommendation.¹ HCD will complete the documentation process by the proposed deadline.

Recommendation 3 (Vacancy Rate): To ensure that it

RESPONSES

- (3) Response: As the auditor's report states, the Legislature did not specify what vacancy rate to use for ownership housing. Given that housing units can fluctuate between renter and home ownership, and acceptable rental vacancies could be higher than 5 percent, HCD's 5 percent target rate for total housing stock vacancy is a reasonable application of the statute. However, HCD agrees with the third recommendation (page 26 of 38) and will complete a formal analysis of trends and compile updated research on this topic by the proposed deadline.

Recommendation 4 (Comparable Region Analysis): To ensure that it does not reduce its needs assessments based on inappropriate information provided by councils of governments, by June 2022 HCD should develop a formal process to review the appropriateness of councils of governments' proposed comparable regions, including identifying the criteria it will consider when reviewing councils of governments' proposals. HCD should use this formal process and criteria to consistently evaluate the appropriateness of the proposals to ensure that they identify regions with healthy housing markets.

- Response: HCD agrees with the fourth recommendation (page 26 of 38) and, by the proposed deadline, will formalize a technical assistance document outlining the comparable regions process, as well as a list of criteria HCD will use when reviewing comparable region proposals. Though HCD can accept or reject data provided by COGs, HCD also recognizes the inherent challenge of COGs identifying regions that meet both the undefined concept of comparable and having a healthy housing market given the extent California's housing crisis.

CALIFORNIA STATE AUDITOR'S COMMENTS ON THE RESPONSE FROM THE BUSINESS, CONSUMER SERVICES AND HOUSING AGENCY

To provide clarity and perspective, we are commenting on the response to the audit from the Business, Consumer Services and Housing Agency (agency) and HCD. The numbers below correspond to the numbers we have placed in the margin of the response.

- ① The agency and HCD mischaracterize our conclusions. Our report does not state that HCD follows a sound methodology when developing needs assessments. Rather, we identified several problems with HCD's methodology, such as its limited review of staff members' data entries and a lack of adequate consideration of factors required by state law.

the needs assessments we reviewed. Specifically, for the jobs/housing balance in the region, it relied on outdated information during its consideration and did not follow up with regions as it intended. For housing lost in emergencies, HCD did not consistently consider this factor across different regions. As a result, HCD understated housing needs in the Santa Barbara Association's needs assessment and potentially reduced the overall reliability of the assessment.

- ③ HCD asserts that the 5 percent target rate for total housing stock vacancy is a reasonable application of state law. However, as we note in the report, HCD did not adequately analyze healthy vacancy rates when it began to use this healthy vacancy rate assumption in 2018. We are concerned that HCD has not completed a formal analysis to support its claim that using the same healthy vacancy rate for both rental and owned housing was appropriate.

Department of Finance

March 4, 2022

Michael S. Tilden California State Auditor (Acting)
621 Capitol Mall, Suite 1200
Sacramento, California 95814

Re: Department of Finance Response to Draft Audit 2021-125

Dear Michael:

The California Department of Finance has received the California State Auditor's (CSA) draft findings concerning the ~~Regional Housing Needs Assessment Process~~. The below

RESPONSES

CSA first recommends that Finance review its population projections for counties after 2020 Census data are made available. As this is a standard practice for any demographer updating population projections after the release of a new decennial Census and the department intends to conduct this review as it always has, we agree with CSA's recommendation.

Finance's household projections rely on projecting trends in household formation from the 1990, 2000, and 2010 Censuses to 2030. They are intended to show what might happen if these trends continue into the future. There are various reasons why patterns of household formation may be different in the future, such as economic changes, the impact of new government policies, as well as imbalances between housing supply and demand. As these are not generally predictable, we periodically reevaluate trends and assumptions, particularly after the release of a new Census; thus, we agree with the Auditor's second recommendation that Finance review assumptions used in projecting household formation rates after the release of the necessary detailed Census 2020 data later this year.

CSA also recommends that Finance document this review. Each decennial Census is an opportunity to reevaluate and reexamine models and assumptions. Much of Finance's analysis and deliberation has traditionally been internal. Finance agrees with the Auditor's recommendation and will explore ways to more fully document existing processes.

- ① Finally, as the audit notes, Finance reasonably limits its reliance on Census 2010 data for its household projections because that census occurred during the unique—and temporary—economic conditions present in the wake of the Great Recession. In consultation with an advisory committee composed of demographers and other experts in academia, government, and the private sector, Finance's process also reflects the long-run trend evident from the 1990 and 2000 of as much recent American Community Survey (ACS) data as possible to evaluate changes in household formation since the 2010 Census. Comparisons of Finance's earlier projected headship rates and ACS data indicates that the assumptions underlying the projections are reasonable; and that use of Census 2010 based rates exclusively would have resulted in household under-projection.

Thank you for the opportunity to review this draft report. If you have any questions, please contact Walter Schwarm, Chief Demographer.

Sincerely,

Keely Bosler
Director

CALIFORNIA STATE AUDITOR'S COMMENT ON THE RESPONSE FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

To provide clarity and perspective, we are commenting on Finance's response to our audit. The number below corresponds to the number we have placed in the margin of the department's response.

- ① Finance overstates our report's conclusions. We did not make a determination that Finance's reduced reliance on 2010 Census data was reasonable. As we indicate in the report, Finance explained that its household formation rate reflects on that page that Finance asserted to us that its household formation rates are reasonable based on these and other considerations. However, Finance did not provide us a documented analysis to demonstrate that the household formation rates it used in its projections were reasonable.

Using ADUs to Satisfy RHNA

Technical Memo

Background

Jurisdictions are allowed to use ADUs to help satisfy their RHNA requirements; however, the process is somewhat different than other aspects of the sites inventory. The standard method is to estimate the number of ADUs that will be developed in the planning period, then distribute those estimated units into each of the income categories.

Estimating Production

The estimate should be based on the average number of ADU building permits issued each year, multiplied by eight (because there are eight years in a housing element cycle). Most cities base their determination of annual ADU permits by averaging the building permits approved each year since 2018, when state law made it easier to construct the units. This is generally considered a safe harbor.

There is a small amount of flexibility in the calculations. If numbers were low in 2018 (or 2019) but were high in 2020, 2021, and 2022, a jurisdiction could potentially use 2019-2021 or 2020-2022 as the baseline. Because this is outside the safe harbor, these calculations would need to be bolstered by a logical explanation for the methodology, e.g., the jurisdiction further loosened regulations in 2019.

Projecting a higher number of ADUs than what has been demonstrated through permit approvals in recent years may be possible, but more challenging. A slightly larger number may be warranted if a robust, funded, and clear plan to increase production has been put in place. However, you are strongly encouraged to coordinate with HCD before deviating from the standard methodology.

ADU sites are not listed in the site inventory, rather they are summarized and tallied in their own subsection.

Determining the Income Distribution

ABAG conducted an analysis of ADU affordability and concluded that in most jurisdictions, the following assumptions are generally applicable. Many jurisdictions are choosing to use these numbers in lieu of conducting their own affordability analysis.

Table 1. Percent of ADUs Affordable to Different Income Categories

Percent	Income Category
30%	Very low income
30%	Low income
30%	Moderate income
10%	Above moderate

Please contact your County Collaborative Technical Assistance Provider for more information on affordability. A few key points are summarized below:

- Use building permits issued for the estimate.
- Jurisdictions do not need to list the addresses for potential ADUs.
- Make sure the assumptions in your Housing Element match the numbers reported in past year APRs.

Please visit the ABAG Housing Technical Assistance page for more information, including a webinar that covers this topic.

Since City amended its ordinance in 2019, the number of ADUs permitted has significantly increased. City's ordinance goes beyond state law and allows 1,200 square foot ADUs. Additionally, the City website has an entire section devoted to ADUs with clear information about the standards and approval process. On average, the building department provides comments to completed ADU applications in 10 days. 2018 is not used as a base year because the old ADU standards were very restrictive and the City did not have much information on its website. Production has been consistently higher since the new ordinance went into effect.

Since 2019, the City has issued an average of 12.75 ADU permits per year, as listed below.

Year	Building Permits
2017	2
2018	1
2019	10
2020	15
2022	16 (estimate based on first 6 months)

Based on the annual average of 12.75 ADU permits per year since 2019, the City is projecting 102 ADUs being permitted over the eight year planning period and is using ABAG's survey data to distribute the projected units by income category:

Income Category	Percentages	Totals
Very low	30%	30
Low	30%	31
Moderate	30%	31
Above moderate	10%	10

Based on these calculations, the City is able to meet approximately 1/7 of its RHNA through ADUs, and must accommodate another 598 units on the sites detailed in the sites inventory. See table below for a summary:

	V Low	Low	Mod	Above Mod	Total
ADUs	30	31	31	10	102
Remaining RHNA	170	169	69	190	598

ADUs and Level of Scrutiny of Other Sites in Housing Elements

Cities that are heavily dependent on redevelopment sites (or technically nonvacant sites) face more scrutiny in their lower income sites inventory. ADUs can help some cities avoid this additional scrutiny/analysis. To simplify: if greater than 50 percent of the lower income RHNA can be satisfied by vacant sites, under construction (pipeline) projects, and projected ADUs, cities can avoid the higher standard.

For example: If the lower income RHNA is 100 and there are ten units under construction and sites for ten vacant units, a jurisdiction can avoid the heightened scrutiny if ADU projections are at least 31 units for the housing element period. (Half of 100 is 50. 10 under construction plus 10 vacant plus 31 ADUs is 51, or greater than 50.)

Subject: Concerns with the Draft Housing Plan
Date: Saturday, September 10, 2022 12:27:08 AM

Dear: Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I want to register my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically:

- 1) Why concentrate all this dense new housing in four areas of town as opposed to allowing the town's natural annual ADU growth to meet the required quota? Why undertake the expense of tearing down the town hall and replacing it with a high-rise with no parking allocation for 100 new residents?
- 2) While I understand you hired the consulting firm after an extensive RFP process, I fail to understand why a Chicago firm with no understanding or sensitivity to the Peninsula real estate market was hired. Additionally, why all these tight time schedules are now being imposed with just a couple of days to respond. I understand the town has missed various deadlines which has contributed to this last-minute scramble. Why isn't your consulting firm managing the process better?
- 3) Why hasn't the alternative plan been given more visibility to the community. It does not appear that any consideration has been given to their plan. You wouldn't even allow them to present within last evenings indoor function. You force them to be outside behind a table with limited visibility. From my perspective that just doesn't seem fair.

Thank you,

Reid Stephenson

To whom it may concern:

We strongly oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan, and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it for the following reasons:

1. There is no need to rezone the entire city of Hillsborough.
2. School enrollments will increase 10%-25%, our community school system will be severely impacted, real estate values will suffer.
3. It creates an opportunity for future "up-zoning".
4. It erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes from upgrading their properties
5. The plan underestimates the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.
6. The plan completely omits large town-owned parcels.
7. There is a lack of planning for infrastructure - sewer, water, parking, traffic, electrical, etc.

We are urging the city council to adopt the plan proposed by the town of Atherton - remove multi-family zones, reject rezoning, and meet the state requirements by increasing the numbers of ADU's and JADU's.

Subject: Comments: DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN

To whom it may concern, I request that all comments submitted to the town of Hillsborough on the DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN be made publicly available to all town residents.

THOUGHTS ON THE DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN

Good things that have happened:

1. Town residents and the HCA are getting involved in the discussion
2. Town staff have made limited efforts to involve town residents

Significant Problems:

1. I do not see any appreciable buy-in from either 1) Town staff or 2) Town residents for the overall goals of the "Housing Element"
 - o For example: the City Manager told me "this is just a plan"
2. I do not know who planned the process that led to the DRAFT 2023-2031 plan, but whoever did, and instructed staff, consultants and volunteer residents to come up with one draft plan set this process off in the wrong direction from the outset. There are many ways to accommodate the overall goals of the "Housing Element". It would have been much better to come up with 2-3 plans and then have residents debate and discuss which plan(s) best suit the town of Hillsborough.

3. The town has many intelligent & capable residents who are willing to help. The town is not using the resources that it has at it's disposal optimally.
4. It is not reasonable to put forth such a plan and not examine how the town might deal with the impacts on the "the infrastructure" in Hillsborough - one is talking about adding about 600 housing units to the town (this is a significant percentage of the town's housing units):
 - o Schools
 - o The water system
 - o The police
 - o The firemen
 - o Town staff (who clearly are already over capacity and currently are not able to properly monitor building projects in the town)
 - o Evacuation routes in the event of an emergency situation
 - o The power grid (which is already not maintained properly)
 - o Communications
 - o Fire safety - adding about 600 units will lead to higher density housing in many areas of the town that are already considered to be a high fire risk areas
 - o Roads
 - o Additional impervious surfaces
 - o Property values
5. Land is expensive in Hillsborough and there is a lot of money to be made building additional and/or different housing units in Hillsborough. While some feel this is just a plan - market forces are going to push rapid development of areas that are either sub-divided and/or re-zoned to smaller lot sizes

Suggestions:

1. Listen carefully to the wishes of the residents, they are the ones that need to live with implementation of any Housing Element Plan that the town submits
2. Make use of the many intelligent & capable residents who are willing to help think through the issues and suggest alternative plans

3. Facilitate submission of independently generated alternative plans and promote them at town halls
4. Give alternative plans equal and objective attention - plans suggesting meeting the RHNA by incenting the use of ADU's in Hillsborough are a good way to get around many of the failings of the plan that is currently available and circulated by town staff (DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN)
5. Do not give in to deadlines and time pressure - those of us who have written grants know that the best product emerges close to deadlines

Question:

1. There may be elderly residents, retirees (or others) and young tenants in Hillsborough who are already within the 4 AMI categories (120%, 81-120%, 51-80%, 0-50%). Have town staff made themselves aware of how many such parties are already within Hillsborough? Should they (and the homes/ADU's/Jr ADU's/rooms that they occupy) be counted for the purposes of meeting the Housing Element?

Orna Resnekov, Trustee

Hillsborough City Council:

I strongly oppose Hillsborough's current draft of the proposal to satisfy and in some respects exceed the CA state requirement. I do not agree that drastic changes to existing zoning ordinances, creating substantial congestion/safety risks, and taking away from the nature like setting of our town is necessary in order to gain certification from HCD.

My recommendation is for Hillsborough to:

- Allow sufficient time for residents to properly review and provide feedback to the current plan only recently circulated. Many residents are completely unaware of the drastic changes intended to be pushed through in the near term.
- Revise the plan to disallow changes to zoning ordinances unless completely necessary and to be evaluated strictly on a case by case basis.
- Revise the plan to consider Hillsborough's good work in development of ADUs which has significantly exceeded set targets in the recent past and may be accelerated to help meet the required thresholds. Further on this point, my understanding is that town owned sites are available to be incorporated into the submitted plan.

Hillsborough will not be able to maintain its community feel while paving the way for dense development being proposed and contemplated in the current plan. Many thanks for your consideration.

I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it for the following reasons:

1. It unnecessarily rezones the entire City. We should rezone only where appropriate.
2. It will cause dramatic change to the landscape.
3. It will cause 10%-25% increase in school enrollments. The "temporary" portables have been employed at South school for over 23 years!
4. It erodes our property rights, including a goal to prevent owners of smaller homes and older from upgrading their properties.
5. It imposes necessary burdens on all residents by underestimating the number of ADUs likely to be built while overestimating the "buffer" units needed.
6. It omits large town-owned parcels.
7. Any high density housing should be designated as senior housing to minimize the burden on our schools.
8. There are more moderate plans and solutions put forward that should be considered by the council.

Thank you for all the work put into the current Hillsborough Housing Element Plan.

Several comments/suggestions for the plan:

1. Do NOT rezone the entire town/all parcels - the amount of resources, time, and disruption this causes is not worth the churn and concern it creates among residents. In addition, it is unlikely that it will create more affordable housing as private landowners will not take action on this rezoning for decades, if ever.
2. Instead, focus only on town-owned / city hall parcel of land as it is sizable, and easily accessible to downtown amenities being on El Camino.
 1. Senior residents can downsize and retire in these condos, thus freeing up more housing stock in Hillsborough
 2. It will provide more affordable housing to new residents
 3. It will not disrupt the property values and character of the town that many residents have voiced as a valid concern

Thanks for taking this feedback into account.

Hello,

I'm writing to express my deep concern about the draft Housing Element plan that is currently being considered by Hillsborough, and to voice my opposition to the plan. I do not support it.

I believe the plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as a solution to meet California's requirements.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Finally, I'd like to say a big 'THANK YOU!' to all of you for representing our community! I realize it's a volunteer position — and at times a thankless one!

My general overall first impressions:

Overall I object to the top down form of government by the State! (I realize it's not part of this, just my opinion)

I don't think rezoning of the entire town is a good idea!

Seems like the addition of ADU's is going fine! (Sixty units in a year?)

I understand the the need for affordable housing! (Not sure it's possible in Hillsborough other than ADU's)

It seems like there are many apartments units being built all over the Peninsula! (What is the number of affordable units and what is the vacancy factor?)

Is the population on the Peninsula increasing or are people leaving the area?

In general, I think more consideration should be given to alternative plans!

Thank You!

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

I have lived in Hillsborough since 2014 and have been impressed by the growth and development of our town. Thank you for the fine work you are doing on the mandate to increase low income housing across the state.

I have read the full draft plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan is not that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the

Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments. I have reviewed the draft housing plan and would like to request that you consider incorporating more ADUs and reject the other strategies that have been presented. The obvious strain on infrastructure: water, sewer, cellular, parking, and electrical are a major concern. And most importantly, the long standing education system that has so carefully been built and fostered over the years would be inundated and stressed.

Rezoning and lot splitting is not the best solution for Hillsborough. I think we can work together to encourage and incentivize residents to build more ADUs as we've seen with neighboring towns such as Atherton. Let's remove all multi family overlay zones from the proposal and stay true to the long standing neighborhood and community that is Hillsborough.

Thank you for all your hard work on this matter and for your dedication to our town and residents.

Sincerely,
Renee Fitzpatrick

Subject: Hillsborough Re-Zoning Plan
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 10:14:29 PM

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

I have read the full plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan is not that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 10:12:36 PM

Dear Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

My family has been Hillsborough residents for seven years. We all enjoy very much what Hillsborough has been well known for - its green and lush woods and hills, its super low crime rates, and its extreme privacy.

We appreciate all your efforts to serve the public in Hillsborough, and want to voice our strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan will hurt our town significantly in the long run, in our opinion.

First of all we strongly oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create more danger for fire and other emergency situations and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning. Most areas of the town have already been marked as " high fire danger zone" by the state, therefore getting home insurance have already been very difficult. We can not make it worse.

Second, we very much oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. If Atherton, a community similar to us, adopted a reasonable method to estimate their number of ADUs (which is much higher than the number based on the safe harbor method), we do not see why we need to use the safe harbor method when we have a track record of completing a much higher number of ADUs in the past . The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.

Third, we oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Please remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future. We also oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking.

All in all, we want to work together to at least maintain the charm of our town, to keep Hillsborough special as it has been. The burglary rate has increased quite much over the past period, we would like to turn it around, not making it worse. Building dense units on or near woody slopes will only increase the fire danger, earthquake danger, and restraint on water usage.

In summary, we heartily support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the unreasonable 20% " buffer" to achieve our RHNA goals. We support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development. Thank you for your considerations

Sincerely,

Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 9:52:51 PM

Dear Council Members,

First, I'd like to thank you for your commitment to our Town and the time you have spent working with the consultants on the Draft Housing Element. As you know, I was on the HEAC and observed the process and the decision making of the consultants. While I appreciate that we were present in theory to give feedback and express opinions, I did not feel that the final draft is reflective of what many of us believe is best for Hillsborough in the long term. Houseal Lavigne pushed an agenda that was ignorant of the particular and very unique aspects of our small town and the result is a draft that may work in a larger city with an urban and commercial center, but not one that works for us. Many alternatives to rezoning were quashed at the moment they were introduced during the HEAC meetings, leading me to believe there was an agenda that was decided before the community was enlisted to discuss the topic. We were given information (e.g. we had to do this or we would go into receivership) that was misleading and prevented honest analysis of the situation as well as potential other options. What the consultants created to present to Sacramento leaves no negotiating power in the future, and no consideration for the ramifications of what this plan will mean for the viability of our schools, our infrastructure, our neighborhoods and management of safety and emergency systems. We can meet most of the housing quota through ADUs and more logical use of our current town-owned vacant properties. Additionally, few citizens really understood what was happening around this issue, and while the Town did send postcards and emails, the information was vague. At this point, however, the community at large is engaged and ready to add to the discussion. As you all know, we have an educated and productive citizenry and it is time to consider their ideas, their thoughts and utilize their skills and knowledge to work towards a solution that actually makes sense for our town and that will not jeopardize the characteristics of Hillsborough that make it a great place to live.

I do not approve of the Draft Housing Element plan and hope each of you will consider further edits and constructive and open discussion with the community to improve upon the plan.

Best,

I strongly oppose the draft housing element as I attended the open house on Tuesday and review the draft housing element. The plan is very bad for our town.

I strongly oppose changing the zoning to reduce the lot sizes and to build the high density housing through our neighborhoods. For example, On the draft housing element, high density housing will be builded in 50 brook ct. This will create danger of fire and other emergency situations.

Please review our feedback and consider alternative proposal.

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I have reviewed the draft of the proposed housing element plan. I am emailing you to strongly oppose it. Instead, I am presenting an alternate option:

The proposed plan clearly underestimate the potential of ADU and JADU as it uses the projection based on previous year. Many residents are still not aware of building ADU/JADU in their backyard. Therefore, I am proposing the following:

In order to satisfy the state legislature, a Proposition is to be presented to the voters of the town for the following:

Residents can elect to build ADU/JADU in their backyard if they are willing and their property is able to comply to the building requirement. These residents will receive subsidies and even incentives.

Residents who are not willing to build or their property is not suitable for building ADU/JADU will subject to a parcel tax of a certain amount. These tax collected will be used for subsidies and incentives.

Town will go door by door to promote and educate every resident if the proposition is passed. If the town failed in getting enough ADU built, the money can be used for paying the fine imposed by the state.

I am registering my objection to the Draft Housing Element recently shared with me. These plans are not good for me or the people of Hillsborough.

I believe that there is a lack of information and yet the impact could be devastating to the Town of Hillsborough. This should not be rushed to judgement until someone evaluates what needs to be done and what other cities are doing to deal with this issue.

I have lived in Hillsborough for 48 years. Our kids grew up here and also live in this community because of the schools, police department, fire department and feeling safe in a community like ours. What will be the implication of all these changes and who would like to be held accountable for bad decisions.

When we moved into our home, it was a 2200 square foot home but as our family grew we increased the size to 3800 square feet. I oppose the goal of discouraging redevelopment of existing sites to larger homes. This would violate homeowners' property rights and makes no sense at all. I oppose any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. I believe we can achieve our required allotment with the use of ADU'S and vacant lots as a contingency.

As I said earlier, what are other cities implementing and why? I feel we should be moving slowly to reach a reasonable goal..

Subject: Opposition to the Housing Element Draft
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 5:25:18 PM

Dear Mayor Royce and Town Council,

We strongly oppose this current draft and request that the Town Council recommend a complete rejection of the draft and redraft a new Housing Element that reflects the needs and desires of the community while also addressing our responsibility to the State.

Our names are Karim and Roberta Salma. We've lived in Hillsborough for close to 50 years, raised three children here and are now retired here at the ages of 81 and 88 years old. We were shocked to recently learn what the Town has proposed in the Housing Element Draft. We do not feel properly notified and we do not feel the Town has given its citizens a reasonable amount of time to review the draft or the Town Hall proposal. This draft is out of touch with the needs of our Town and has a terribly flawed plan to solve our housing allotment.

I support using ADU's to solve our housing allotment. We should not use 2019 and 2020 in our ADU calculation because those two years had work restrictions and the ADU process was not as advantageous. We also need to reduce the buffer zone of 20% to a more reasonable number of 10% or less. If any denser housing is needed, it must be for seniors. In only a few years 25% of the population will be seniors, where will they live? I support the evaluation of senior housing in both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC. No matter what is built it needs to have a ratio of 1:1 parking and guest parking. I'm 88 and my wife is 81 and we and all our friends still drive.

Now that we know the ramifications of not meeting the housing allotment goals, we are now looking seriously into building an ADU on our property. Many other residents may hear this "call to action" if they are properly informed and educated by the Town.

Thank you,

Karim & Roberta Salma

I appreciate the open house and the opportunity to learn more about this issue. I appreciate your work on this matter and thank you for it. I have a few concerns with the draft plan:

1. I would encourage the town to focus on ADU development. The plan forecast can be more truthful to the recent changes in the rate of ADU development and reflect a much more likely number. This forecast will greatly change the gap needed to make up the difference.
2. I would encourage the town to adopt changes to the ADU process to make them easier to build, including removing fees and allowing for tiny homes and pre-fabricated units.
3. We should be very aware of parking and hold any plans accountable to include parking and not overwhelm streets with parked cars. We should not assume that any housing will have occupants that will not own cars.
4. I would encourage the town to spread the higher density housing between the three elementary schools as we can assume these new neighbors will want to be a part of our great school system.

Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 5:12:39 PM

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

We are writing to express concerns about the Hillsborough Town's draft Housing Element plan recently shared with the public. We would like to ask you not to vote for or pass the current plan that was led by an outside consultant with no personal ties to Hillsborough that is home to us. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Specifically, we oppose reduction in lot sizes, and other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency situations, destroy property values, and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Secondly, we do not agree on using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and it helped to preserve their town while meeting the state requirements.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners in order to move forward with a plan that most accept and support versus the current draft plan.

Sincerely,
Danny and Linda Lin

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I'd like to thank all of you for the time and energy you give to serve the residents of the town of Hillsborough. We have chosen to live and raise our families in this town because it truly is a unique and special place.

I was born and raised in the town of Hillsborough (Mayor Royse: Jennifer and I went to West together and were friendly as children) and have made the choice to raise my 4 children here as well. One of things I often hear within our community is how unique our town is as so many who were raised here have also chosen to return and raise our own families here. I am writing to you because I do not want to see the spirit of our town shift for the worse. I want to note my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. In my opinion, this plan will destroy the fundamental concepts that Hillsborough was built on and the reasons why so many of us have chosen to live here.

I am specifically opposed to a reduction in lot sizes and any other changes to our zoning in order to accomplish the number of housing units mandated by the state. We should be utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's as possible, reducing or eliminating the buffer and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. I oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking. This denser housing will have dangerous implications on our environment, schools, road and the infrastructure our town was built on. Do not change our zoning as this is what makes Hillsborough special.

I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. I believe the town should be re-negotiating with the state in regard to the number of housing units that need to be built just as other towns in our area did. In addition, the other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.

I oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Our town is being blindsided by the draft housing element as so many people that I have spoken to have no idea that the draft housing element exists. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.

The denser housing, particularly the inclusion of multiple family units at any one site (Deguine Estate, Strawberry Hill, Town Hall, etc), has not been sufficiently studied in regard to the impact on town utilities and schools, nor has there been adequate time for community input. Please remove these from the draft plan.

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Sincerely,

Carley Goldberg

I was raised in Hillsborough at [REDACTED] and numerous family members either live in or lived in Hillsborough. We love Hillsborough and it is our hope to remain here as long as possible.

I am writing today to express my very serious concern about the proposed city council plan for additional housing. I am distressed that efforts were not made to appeal our state allocation of 554 units. As you know, other communities such as Atherton, Woodside and Portola Valley have been successful at lowering their required numbers. My understanding though is that it may be too late for any appeal. This is very unfortunate.

With regards to the current proposal we are very much against this plan for the following reasons:

1. rezoning of the entire city is unnecessary
2. the corresponding increase in population will overwhelm our school districts and town systems
3. future “up zoning” will be easier to achieve if this plan is approved
4. the erosion of our property rights and the resultant decrease in our property values as a result of this plan
5. omission of large town parcels is an over reach and unnecessary
6. reduction in lot size will completely change the nature of our town
7. frontage landscape coverage reduction will devalue all of our homes and greatly impact our neighborhoods

Please reconsider and cast your votes and efforts toward the alternative plan of “Hillsborough 2023-2031 Housing Element, A better Plan: Smart housing for Hillsborough”

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

Thank you all for the efforts that lead up to the open house this week. Dealing with some of the mandates for our town is no small task, the work is appreciated. I was fortunate to hear about the open house the day of and upon attending really learned a lot. Much of which was very new information to me as I believe much of the communication fell below my radar.

As I have learned of the current thinking, I'd like to register my concerns and fundamental lack of support given what I have seen thus far. I do, however, firmly believe there are some compromises and alternatives that could work for all interested parties. In the spirit of this belief, I'd like to outline a few key elements that could benefit from some additional thought and adjustment.

- The redevelopment and re-zoning of the town hall sight is issue number one for me. Zoning specifications need to be broadly socialized. The size/number of units most certainly must be revisited. A height cap of 3 stories as to enable it to stay tucked in behind oaks on the El Camino side is very important, a requirement of parking in the structure, and prohibiting decks and balconies at the location are big items.
- The baseline count for ADUs is a foundational point, we can do more in this area...no doubt about it.
- Changing the existing zoning requirements as it pertains to lot size, etc is very destructive to a defining element of Hillsborough's differentiation.

These were just a few points that were top of mind. I do have thoughts and ideas on a forward direction and I am willing and able to commit time and energy to work together with other community members to find a solution. I simply felt this too important not to make my feelings known and to offer my support in any way....

Thanks for listening and stay well.

Regarding the plan to rezone Hillsborough, the current proposal is not only flawed, but rezoning our entire town will be detrimental to our property values, and the environment that makes Hillsborough so esthetically attractive and livable for thousands of residents.

You've accepted housing and density numbers that far exceed the close by towns of Portola, Woodside and Atherton. This is unacceptable.

There are alternative proposals out there, far more reasonable, and we are insisting those be considered, and our voices heard.

Hire a person to help expedite ADUs for the next 24 months, and modify some of the overreaching barriers to those. Give homeowners here a reasonable chance to apply for and build attractive ADUs as housing on our own properties that can be rented to teachers and others needing affordable housing.

We completely object to the current proposed plan.

Subject: Changes in Zoning , Housing Element in Hillsborough
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 4:00:33 PM

To Whom it May Concern,

My husband and I have been residents of Hillsborough for 22 years. We have raised our children here and established strong roots. When we heard about the proposed plan to replace our beautiful town hall with a 100 unit housing complex, we were absolutely stunned that this would even be considered. We are opposed to this 100%, we live on Floribunda Drive in Hillsborough. The last thing we need is more housing and what is even more shocking is that there are no plans for parking. Where will residents of this apartment building park, on our streets? The traffic on Floribunda is already crazy without adding more traffic and possibly parked cars. Our infrastructure is already compromised on

El Camino without adding hundreds of more cars.

This is the worst decision that could ever be considered. Not only will this decision impact the value of our homes but it will impact the three schools in the Hillsborough school system.

You must reconsider, this is a terrible proposal and many of my friends who are residents are opposed to this plan as well.

Dear Hillsborough City Council:

We are writing on behalf of South Bay YIMBY regarding Hillsborough's 6th Cycle Housing Element Update. As a regional pro-housing advocacy group, South Bay YIMBY works to ensure cities adopt housing elements that are fair, realistic, and lawful.

Per GOV §8899.50(a)(1), Hillsborough's housing element must affirmatively further fair housing by 'taking meaningful actions... that overcome patterns of segregation.'

As our past letter showed, your city is segregated from the rest of the Bay, as only the richest 1% of households can afford an average home in your city. To grow into an integrated city, law requires you to provide low income (LI) folks with a range of housing options that meet their needs. Yet, your Draft falsely claims 57% of LI folks would have their needs met by ADUs built in Hillsborough.

Few, if any, of your ADUs further fair housing goals. A 2020 survey from Berkeley's Center for Community Innovation found 40% of ADUs are held off the long-term rental market, often as home offices, while 32% of ADUs are rented to families or friends for discounted rents. Sweetheart deals to family and friends do not promote integration, as required by law. When your city is 38% whiter than the Bay Area, providing LI units disproportionately to family members reifies existing patterns of racial segregation.

Less than a third of ADUs are actually rented on the open market. But ABAG's general findings on ADU affordability don't extend to your city, where LI folks can't afford open market rate rents. The cheapest Hillsborough ADU on Zillow rents for $4,500.

Hillsborough will likely reply to these objections by pointing to a local ADU survey, but that local survey had only five respondents indicate the rent they charge. Portraying this as a valid survey on affordability is malpractice. What's more, the survey does not show a single ADU is rented affordably to a tenant who is not simply a family member.

To be clear, ADUs are a valuable part of a healthy mix of housing choices. But not every LI family wants to live in someone else's backyard. Not every LI family is small enough to live in a small ADU. And even those LI families who'd happily live in an ADU can't do it in Hillsborough because virtually no ADUs are available to the public at an affordable rent.

To AFFH, your city should entirely lift its ban on Mullin-density housing. As of 2020, your city banned apartments in 100% of residential areas, effectively banning affordable housing built at-scale. Aside from creating more choice for LI families, lifting exclusionary zoning will also yield homeownership opportunities to build intergenerational wealth in a high opportunity community that ADUs, as rentals, cannot. Plus, more choice allows larger LI families to find 3+ bedroom units, rare among ADUs, that meet their needs.

We appreciate that the Draft proposes lifting some exclusionary zoning, but the Draft still nonetheless slots nearly twice as many LI families into ADUs as do drafts from other small, exclusionary cities. Hillsborough should, at minimum, add 80 more units of LI capacity by expanding RD-2 and O-AH zoning to govern more parcels. A Draft that did this would at least be normal among small, exclusive towns in the Bay Area, in terms of the reliance on ADUs to AFFH and integrate low income folks into the town. Being average among other exclusionary towns should be the absolute bare minimum for AFFH.

Thank you,

Salim Damerdji, South Bay YIMBY

Subject: Strong opposition to the Draft Housing Element
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 2:25:05 PM

Dear Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

We appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. We want to register our strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in our opinion. Specifically:

- * We support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the "buffer", and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. We support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.
- * We oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.
- * We oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger for fire and other emergency situations and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning.
- * We oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future.
- * We oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking.
- * We oppose the redevelopment of the historic town hall site and believe we can achieve our allotment through the use of ADU and vacant lots as a contingency. We particularly oppose the inclusion of >100 units (density calculation sources for the 2.5 acre site not provided) on the "Town Hall Campus" in the housing element submission with no zoning specifications listed, before any environmental or other studies on the impact on town utilities, parking, schools and other services have been completed, and with no time provided for adequate community input. In our opinion this is far too many units at this site. Because it is a town-owned site, development will be expected once this site is included in the plan, it cannot be included without proper and thoughtful preliminary planning. It should be removed from the draft plan.
- * We oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.

Many people in our town agree on these points - We're sure you've heard the feedback as you've been considering this plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Sincerely,

Helena Yang and Kent Liu

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan is not that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1.

We also have no sidewalks, no street lights, and thanks to our town's incompetency, extremely poor cellular service. Building out affordable housing units would further exacerbate these already concerning safety issues.

Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you for your public service.

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

My husband and I live in North Hillsborough and we have 2 young boys who attend North Hillsborough Elementary. We moved to Hillsborough 7 years ago because we felt this town was beautiful, safe, and had top tier schools but we are very concerned with the current Draft Plan. We are worried the Draft Plan will increase class sizes and ruin our prestigious public schools that we have worked so hard to preserve. Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

I have read the full plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. I was present on Tuesday evening and had the opportunity to ask additional questions. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Due to our unique qualities, I feel that this plan neglects to look at the long term ramifications of rezoning. Most particularly to our school districts facilities, police and fire capabilities, current infrastructure limitations and the long term environmental implications.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan, which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. Dear Mayor, Council Members and City Attorney,

I am writing with concern about the Housing Element Plan for our town. I'd like to first thank all of you for your efforts in attempting to create a Housing Element draft that meets the state requirements. I'm sure the task of trying to please the community as well as satisfy the state is daunting. However, I don't think the current plan is the right one for Hillsborough.

I strongly oppose the Housing Element draft as proposed. While I understand that Hillsborough needs to meet the Housing Element allotment due to the current housing crisis, this plan does not reflect the interests of the residents of Hillsborough in any way. While there are many issues with the current plan including water needs, fire safety, parking, future impact on our schools I would like to address just two that I feel I can speak on with clarity as I was only made aware of this issue two weeks ago.

Similar to other towns like ours, we should be attempting to meet our allotment mostly with ADU's. My husband and I have a pool house we are currently remodeling to meet the requirements of an ADU, so you can add one more to Hillsborough's total for 2022. Meeting our allotment with ADU's stays consistent with our town's history and avoids a slippery slope that could lead to the eventual downfall of our very special community.

Another serious issue to consider is that most people in our community do not understand what is happening and what the potential impacts of the Housing Element will be. It seems the communication efforts made by the town were ineffective, leaving residents feeling blindsided and that our interests were neither considered nor understood by the council. In the past week or so, many more community members have become aware and are trying to educate themselves on this issue as it will have a significant impact on our town. With this in mind, I'd like to suggest that you make more targeted efforts to reach and inform the community as well as extend the deadline to provide feedback.

Thank you ,

Joanie Schlampp

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

For the past 38 years, I have had the privilege of being a Hillsborough Resident. I am a proud past student of West, North & Crocker, and now my two boys attend West. First of all, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. As a Hillsborough, Mother & homeowner, I am writing to strongly discourage you to say NO to the current proposed plan.

I have read the full plan and attended the September 6th Open House. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area, and we MUST be thoughtful and considerate to the impact in our community, climate, the schools & the charm Hillsborough is known for. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan (in my opinion) completely misses the mark.

Hillsborough is unique with having no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. There are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered.

Please note that I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan (and I hope you are too), which brings a one-size fits all approach to a town that is objectively, based on the data, an outlier. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents. This is ill-considered and reckless.

I understand that employees of the city have requested a lower number of low income homes required, and I encourage our city to continue to push back and request a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

Subject: Housing Plan
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 1:22:13 PM

To whom it may concern:

I am learning more about the draft housing plan, and while I absolutely recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and deeply appreciate the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our town, the current plan is not acceptable. The consulting firm seems to have run a playbook that was one size fits all approach to appease Sacramento without thinking critically if there is a better path forward. The consultant has offered a blanket plan (ie: re-zoning) that is NOT tailored to our community. I hope that everyone can partner together to come up with a better solution.

The focus of Hillsborough's plan must be on ADU and vacant lot development and must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. Not enough has been done by way of partnering with residents to explore satisfying State requirements through more aggressive measures around allowing for and providing incentives for ADU's & JADU's. The State guidelines on the ADU calculations suggest taking the previous rolling three year average. But there is a flaw with the calculation in that we had COVID-19 where the state limited certain types of construction. As soon as the new legislation for ADU's came out (which streamlined the process), coupled with COVID-19 pandemic ending, our ADU production increased substantially. Based on the 2021 ADU run-rate it seems the entire 8 year allocation can be met through ADU's alone and the town is underestimating the potential for ADU's as part of its proposed plan. While I understand this may not satisfy the state completely, we need to enter into a negotiated outcome and follow the lead of other towns like Atherton and Woodside.

Furthermore, there is a clear lack of planning for infrastructure in this plan: sewer, water, cellular coverage, electrical and parking need to be heavily considered. More specifically, where is the parking plan for the 100+ units located on El Camino? What about the impact on our streets and sidewalks? If 100+ units are to be built in the Town Hall area, the traffic, which is already very busy, will become overwhelming. Without a proper parking plan in place, there will be a direct impact on all of the streets in the surrounding area. It doesn't seem that a proper Environmental impact survey has been accomplished prior to putting together this plan. Additionally, reduction in lot sizes and denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency services, diminish the quality of our town's crown jewel (our schools) and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special.

The fact that we have zero commerce, no retail, no industrial, the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1 and 70% of our town is designated as a High Fire Risk zone, 554 units seems like a very aggressive requirement for our town and must also be addressed and lowered. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. There are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State.

I know the town is trying their best and I recognize this is an impossible situation, but as Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. The clear answer here is incorporating much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's as other towns have done with the rejection of all other strategies. Atherton removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. Hillsborough must follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal. Listen to your citizens and set aside the consultant's flawed recommendation. If the Council passes ordinances allowing for more ADU's/JADU's, it can all but eliminate any need for high density housing and work to come up with a better plan while negotiating with the state.

Subject: Hillsborough Re-Zoning Plan

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

My name is Suzanne Tomlinson and I am currently raising four children in this wonderful town of Hillsborough. My parents immigrated to this country from Korea over 45 years ago with almost nothing in their pockets and worked incredibly hard to provide us with stellar public school education. That hard work ultimately allowed me to build a career here in NY and then California and for me to raise my children in this very special town.

I attended the September 6th Open House at North School to learn more about the Draft Plan and have read the full plan posted on the Town website. I support the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area, and in particular, for members of these actual communities such as teachers, nurses, police and firefighters. As a child of an immigrant family who watched her parents work 3-4 jobs at a time, overnight, and her mother work countless midnight shifts as an ICU nurse, I love the thought of giving contributing community members the ability to live in the communities in which they serve.

I am also appreciative to all of the Councilmembers for serving this town and giving its citizens the opportunity to have input on this very big decision. The incredible public schools, focus on safety, and deep respect between neighbors are all reasons I carried out my parent's legacy and worked so very hard to be able to raise my four children here. I trust that the Councilmembers are doing everything they can to maintain the integrity of this very unique town – and again I truly thank you for spending the time to read this letter!!

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan. Hillsborough's attributes are really important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and has very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. The current Draft Plan feels like an outside-in, cookie-cutter consultant approach that does not take into account these unique qualities of the town. At the open house, the sentiment I heard was that the consultants did not have the pervue to consider implications of safety, education, traffic & congestion among other topics that directly impact all citizens of this town. I was also upset to hear that the 17-person citizen's committee feedback was not incorporated into the draft plan.

Specifically, I am concerned about: (1) the many unintended consequences of re-zoning the entire town through a blanket plan without understanding what all potential implications will be; (2) related to that, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed changes on current residents – as mentioned, what specific impact will the plan have on schools, safety (we are already seeing an uptick on this front), public departments, traffic, congestion, maintenance, etc. If citizens are going to ultimately bear the cost of such plan, we should be informed as to what that impact will be and have input into such a big decision; (3) Hillsborough strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so). I really do not understand why we are not able to carry-forward those units when no other neighboring town was even able to meet its goal (and by the way without any consequence). Can we not push harder to make sure we get credit for those excess units created? (4) personally, I did not feel like the forum of the September 6th open house was conducive to collecting and hearing actual feedback from citizens. I had expected a presentation of the plan and a chance (as a group) to hear Q&A from actual citizens/neighbors. I felt the diffused "table station" format was a very ineffective way for me to learn more about the proposal and hear other people's perspectives – which was the reason I left work early to attend such event.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have demonstrated our ability to meet and exceed set goals. [In fact, I have recently received approval for an ADU on our property - where I am very hopeful my parents can ultimately move into.] We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes. Let us please not rush into a plan developed by third-party consultants without taking the time to really think through all the unintended and potential long-term implications. There are many citizens of this town who are willing to volunteer their time to help think through these potential implications, so do kindly call upon us to do so.

I therefore wanted to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Sincerely,
Suzanne Tomlinson

Subject: Comments for Housing Element Plan
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 12:18:19 PM

We are James and Caryn McDowell, and we own and reside on Fagan Drive, here in Hillsborough. We moved here in 2016 with our two children, who graduated from both North School and Crocker Middle School, and during that time, I served on the Board of the Hillsborough Schools Foundation (HSF) for two years. We are submitting this comment to the City of Hillsborough on the current draft housing element plan, scheduled for discussion at the September 12, 2022 meeting.

We recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and understand the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our Hillsborough, however, the current plan is not acceptable to us.

In addition to our comments below on the overall impact to Hillsborough, we have additional objections because of our painful experience of subdivision in the neighboring property. Our quiet cul-de-sac has already been subject to two re-zoning efforts in the past two years, one of which was approved over the objection of every resident commentor, and the other (which sought to further subdivide the just-approved subdivision) appeared to be on track for approval, until a resident identified issues of non-compliance with the existing regulatory rules in Hillsborough. A city-wide plan that allows smaller lots and smaller frontage will likely encourage yet another subdivision, which will lead to further long-term loss of the semi-rural character of the neighborhood and Hillsborough as a whole, additional loss of property value, and extraordinary disruption caused by building multiple new homes.

The focus of Hillsborough's plan must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's, although some additional thought must be given to neighbor privacy in this matter), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. These existing rules are critical to the character of Hillsborough. Although the extraordinary increase in ADUs and JADUs has given us some concern, especially some of the extraordinarily small setback requirements, it appears the entire 8 year allocation required by California can be met through ADU's alone and the city is underestimating the potential for ADU's as part of its proposed plan. While we understand this may not satisfy the state completely, we need a negotiated outcome and follow the lead of other towns like Atherton and Woodside.

Furthermore, there is a clear lack of planning for infrastructure in this plan: sewer, water, cellular coverage, electrical and parking are already difficult or insufficient for the current housing stock – while we suffered no power outages in 2017, there have been multiple outages in the last two years, and the frequency of these interruptions is increasing. The cellular coverage has been an ongoing issue for as long as we have lived in Hillsborough, and we all know the water system is stressed across the entire region. Additionally, reduction in lot sizes and denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create additional fire danger and tax other emergency services. As we understand it, 70% of our city is designated as a High Fire Risk zone—we are subject to inspection by County fire—adding density without the ability to widen streets appears to be a recipe for disaster in case of fire or earthquake. And any plan must recognize that shocks to the school-aged population will stress and possibly destroy the decades-long work the City, the School Board and HSF have done to make our schools among the best in California!

We understand this is a difficult dilemma, but the consulting firm used by the city seems to have used a one-size-fits-all approach, including a blanket re-zoning of Hillsborough. As Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. Atherton removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. Hillsborough must follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal. Please listen to your citizens and set aside the consultant's flawed recommendation. If the Council passes ordinances allowing for more ADU's/JADU's, it can all but eliminate any need for high density housing and work to come up with a better plan while negotiating with the state. I hope that everyone can partner together to come up with a better solution.

Please feel free to include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development. Thank you again for all you do!

Sincerely,

James and Caryn McDowell

Subject: Opposition to the Draft Housing Element
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 12:17:45 PM

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I understand that this draft will be a compromise to what make Hillsborough special. Below are my views:

- I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.
- I oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation.
- I oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking.
- I oppose the redevelopment of the historic town hall site and believe we can achieve our allotment through the use of ADU and vacant lots as a contingency. I particularly oppose the inclusion of >100 units (density calculation sources for the 2.5 acre site not provided) on the "Town Hall Campus" in the housing element submission with no zoning specifications listed, before any environmental or other studies on the impact on town utilities, parking, schools and other services have been completed, and with no time provided for adequate community input. In my opinion this is far too many units at this site. Because it is a town-owned site, development will be expected once this site is included in the plan, it cannot be included without proper and thoughtful preliminary planning. It should be removed from the draft plan.
- I oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.

Many people in our town agree on these points - I'm sure you've heard the feedback as you've been considering this plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

First, I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, Keeping Hillsborough one of the best places to live, but all the change will change our inhabitant area forever, both for human and for animal who live in Hillsborough. I want to register my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically:

1) This plan will completely change the town's dynamics and culture and inhabitant which residents as we worked so hard and appreciate and cherish.

2) I see this Housing Element presented as a worst-case scenario so that we residents can accept a compromised plan which is still a bad plan for the town and us residents.

3) I strongly oppose the redevelopment of our historic town hall site especially the inclusion of a high density building without careful study of impact on town's infrastructure, schools, utilities, parking, etc.

Take a look at the population, Hillsborough has more retired, and seniors live in than other place, take a look at the population chart, it is making their life very difficult.

4) I oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger for fire and other emergency situations. DO NOT CHANGE OUR ZONING.

It seems we do have bigger living space, but on the other hand, we do have more people live in the household than US average. the number is people per household in Hillsborough is 3.1, and the US nationwide average of people per house is only 2.6. and it is absurd to even try to downsize it.

5) I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.

6) I oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future.

7) I oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking.

8) I oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.

9) I support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the "buffer", and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. I support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.

10) I support an approach that reduces the lengthy permit application process and gives incentives to ADUs for rental purposes so that residents can decide what they want to do.

Many of my neighbors agree on above mentioned points. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the state.

Sincerely,

Maggie Huang

Hillsborough Resident

Housing Element Open House #2 Comments
Tuesday, September 6, 2022

#	Name	Comment
1		No rezoning of the City!
2	Nawmarie Panalfou - [REDACTED]	I opposed Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge City Council to reject it - we oppose it all
3	Monic Stuart - [REDACTED]	The current proposed plan is not going to have the desired effects. It will simply increase fire risk, safety and decrease property values. I favor using land near resources (stores/businesses/public transportation) I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
4	Dennis Moore - [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
5	Ani Vartanian Boladian - [REDACTED]	I love the idea of mixed affordable housing at Town Hall location. My strong preference is 1/3, 1/3, 1/3 in terms of affordable allocation. But no rezoning of all lots. Instead, allow for looser ADU, JADU requirements I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
6	Jamie Greene - [REDACTED]	I think all plan items except ADUs should be used to solve our problem I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
7	Tim Murphy - [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. 8	David & Diana Beatson - [REDACTED]	This plan will lower the quality of our schools, and property values and actually be very difficult for the low cost occupants to live in the community I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
9		This is absolutely a terrible idea. What are alternatives?? Need to move away from compliance mindset to finding creative solution or determine how to counter the State's mandate/explain other options. This will decimate our beautiful community.
10	Marilyn Meier	In order to fulfill our mandate in the next 8 years, I think that we cannot relax only on ADUs. We need to build some apartments that are at least 3 stories high. Units near ECR on 280 make the most sense to me. I agree with the proposed zoning changes.
11		We current residents. Our children are raised. We would not qualify for low income housing but we would like to downsize and still reside in Hillsborough. A duplex, 4-plex or even 8-plex would be wonderful. We love our home town!
12		Please update the plan to include the number of ADUs that have been proposed and built in the last 2 years
13		Also, think about allowing 2 ADUs per lot, to increase the count for housing
14	Jane Williams	I must have been asleep when the announcement was made that I no longer live in a democracy!! This is unacceptable
15		Any affordable housing should include 80, 100, and 120% of AMI. Mixed housing works best vs. 1-class for housing, for stigma reasons
16		No rezoning. ADUs.

17		I also do not believe a high density, no parking unit at Town Hall is appropriate given environmental, parking, utility or other reasons I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
18		This is very hard. Please be sure to weigh every public comment seriously. These are well thought out ideas. They should have been included and sought MUCH sooner.
19	Magile It	50 Brooke Court is not work. It is a very steep Hills and very small entrance. We object. It is a ridiculous plan.
20	Peilu Shu	It's not ok to build townhomes at 50 Brooke Court because of fire hazard, traffic constraint, safety of the neighbors. Please stop the plan.
21	David Can - [REDACTED]	No low income housing in Hillsborough
22		The state should not be allowed to eliminate our zoning authority and guidelines!!
23		No rezoning . No multi-family homes. ADU are acceptable IF they are consistent with setback feet from property lines
24		It's quite unfortunate that each of these plans has a major downside. Would be good to push for highest possible ADU # possible and minimize some of the other options to minimize impact. Might be good to show only 10% of each of other options to have good faith effort but also have room to negotiate
25	Les + Kim Keyak [REDACTED] Les@sportleasing.com	My wife Kim and I are for ADUs and 1/3 acre lots with some consideration of the setbacks and lot width. We are against for rent housing and high density housing for Hillsborough. I am a housing provider with approximately 60 units of affordable housing/Section 8 and have a lot of experience in this matter.
26		No rezoning - stop. No 100 apartments with parking (they will own cars!). ADUs are the simple solution. Public safety - brownouts - grid cannot handle volume today
27		I think its very important that we are able to count ADUs that are currently on residence's properties but were built before the permits that allow them to be counted. It should count if it's eligible, regardless of paperwork.
28		[REDACTED] it screw it
29		When was the Regional Needs Housing Allocation established? What year? Has it been adjusted for the loss in population because of the high cost of living in California Concer. There really isn't a need for more hosing in California!!
30		We oppose!!
31		Given we share a zip code with Burlingame why can't Bayshore redevelopment be in question? What about total cost to maintain infrastructure and schools?
32	Peilu Shu	This draft plan is going to change the dynamic and culture of Hillsborough we all cherish for so many years. Please stop it
33		Why doesn't the Town better communication more information about identifying ADUs - specifically what an ADU is and how to get older ADUs deeded as such?
34	Maggie It	This draft plan is going to change the dynamic of Hillsborough, we decline it.
35		Hillsborough don't have the water, road, and school to support a big increase in its residents. No. No. No.
36		No on the project. We don't need more residences. People are leaving, not coming.
37		[REDACTED] no
38		This current plan is not acceptable. We do not want any rezoning in Hillsborough. We should focus on ADUs as that will allow for the town to develop as necessary. We agree that housing is needed, but through ADUs.
39	Giovanni Ottolini jottolini@nccrc.org [REDACTED]	Good evening, my name is Giovanni Ottolini, I represent 7000 men and women in San Mateo County. These men and women are hardworking blue collar carpenters and other skilled tradespeople. All too often their voices are left out of this Housing Element discussion. I would love to see Labor Standards adopted in the Housing Element to level the playing field for responsible contractors that pay a livable wage in one of the most expensive counties in the US. I am a field rep. for Carpenters local 217 in Foster City. members of this community deserve and opportunity to work in their local community and earn a fair wage for their skilled labor. I would love an opportunity to speak more about how this important community component of the Housing Element. Thank you for reads.
40		Solution: ADUs should be emphasized!
41		I am opposed to the R2 zoning plan. I would like us to pursue ADU/JADU only solution, similar to Atherton. I have a young family here and came for the existing characteristic of the neighborhood. Please consider not including R2.
42		No rezoning! STOP
43		Please make available information about how you figured on 100 units at Town Hall
44	F. Koffle	Stop Sacramento from taking over local community zoning!!!
45		What happens if we just don't do it? Where does funding come from?
46		Site 3 is not going to work! Look at Brooke Court size. It's too narrow.
47		I oppose the current plan that plans to build many multi-family units. I would support a plan that mostly consists of ADUs and some units on site for teachers, police, etc.
48		This proposal is too aggressive, that is destroyed the landscape of the town's housing structures of many decades of history! In order to create more affordable housing, ADUs, low rise multi-units around El Camino and 208 would be more appropriate. No. No. No.
49	David.hakam@haknian.com	Hillsborough must not wrongly give up its unique qualities. Changes to zoning law should not be tolerated. I support the path presented by Dennis Moore
50	Pauline & John Beare	We want ADUs only. No to consultants
51		Only ADU allowable. Do not re-zoning

52		If there is any way forward with increasing ADUs that is by far the most palatable approach to this. This disperses the need and solutions town-wide
53		The areas identified put all of the burden for change and all of the implications of change on a minority of town residents with a disproportionate impact on a minority for real estate value, police needs, traffic impacts, infrastructure impacts (water, street, construction, noise, etc.)
54	Carley Goldberg	I do not support multi-family homes. I'd like to see us accomplish the housing crisis by building more ADUs. Our schools and streets cannot handle the proposed housing element.
55	Gene Chan, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
56	Susan Alcalá, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs Please consider the above as well as finding ADUs which are not currently registered (because they are older), but could count
57	Nick Panagotou [REDACTED]	Can this all be achieved by ADUs? Low and moderate income housing has many negatives that this Town will regret allowing
58		As a Hillsborough owner. We oppose this low income housing units or any housing
59	Rupert and Maryellie Johnson	Please no rezoning ADU is best approach further discussion is needed
60		Housing the site at Town Hall is a sensible idea. Where will the police station go? What about parking? This should be built where there are no homes and more empty lots so it doesn't disturb others
61		I am emphatically against rezoning Hillsborough
62		Do not rezone this is a dangerous precedent
63		Please make a list of all developers and real estate and contractors consultant public info
64		We can meet the housing demands through ADUs - many exist already and are not being counted - make an effort to identify existing ADUs. Reduce permit fees for ADUs, make it easier to get structures deeded ADUs
65	Stanley Lo owns many properties in Hillsborough	We do not want affordable units. We oppose the housing element in this beautiful town.
66		Have you looked at the parcel off 280 between 280 and Country Club and Black Mountain? If it belongs to the SFPUC the City can condemn it for higher use: housing
67	Alex Dyner	I'd like to see/hear a presentation of the plan and the logic of it compared to Atherton's plan. The Atherton plan seems more favorable to current residents but perhaps I'm missing something
68		Why are we even considering adding more housing to Hillsborough, the Bay Area, and California when there isn't enough water!!
69		Please don't build on any of the steep land which borders Crystal Springs Road (the south side). It would really destabilize the hill
70		Can we trade real estate credits with a less built up town, in the same way that carbon credits are traded
71	Susale Alcalá	Town Council - please consider an outreach or survey to find second units in existence prior to housing elements (therefore uncoded) to see how many we have that could count. I know of 3 off the top of my head.
72		The suggested housing units for Hillsborough is way too much for our community to have to accept
73		It is well understood that our property values will decline under these proposals, we should also receive a proportional reduction in our property taxes
74		Can Hillsborough sell property to an approved property developer, who will create units that would be ONLY for Hillsborough employees like police, fireman, teachers, gardeners, nannies, and housekeepers
75		Forcing us to change possible property sizes will change the character of Hillsborough
76	Nick Panagotou [REDACTED]	Where is the water coming from? There needs to be a water source before any development occurs
77	John Lockton, [REDACTED]	The town is much too afraid of the details of the law. The Council should be looking after the needs of residents, not focusing on religiously following the law. I know this is difficult for lawyers on the Council to accept, but there is the law and the enforced law. In the 2015 drought we put in strict rationing and penalties to abide by the law. It all turned out to be a good faith effort was enough, for towns that did not comply, would a good faith effort not be enough here? May be you should test it by adopting the alternative plan which gives more flexibility before going to the Town plan. If you do everything in the Town plan it is hard to see how it can ever be reversed
78		We bought in Hillsborough for its unique character and good schools. I am in support of the ADU and Town Hall redevelopment. I am 110% opposed to subdivision and housing opportunity sites. Instead I think we should really encourage promoting ADUs to hit the number. I think this could be easily accepted.
79		What happens if we don't do anything? What would the fees be? Are there any state funds to support the construction costs?
80		I think the town needs a committee to spread out and go door to door to determine how many ADUs are actually on properties -- not just current coded ones.
81		Where are we going to get water, electricity, schools, excess traffic on narrow roads. We do not want to rezone!

82		I respect the housing mandate however using private property (Strawberry Hill) and building multiple heights and multiple units is just not responsible. Please do not rezone that site. Mandates are just suggestions. Trees/animals are all important! Where would they go but in areas where they are not wanted!
83		The current ADU strategy is counter-productive. An ADU now can qualify as very-low income housing if its just a small pool house. People (and the Town of Hillsborough) are encouraging this strategy, knowing full well that it won't provide much if any new housing in Hillsborough. Not fair! We need strategies that will increase housing and increase the diversity and vitality of Hillsborough.
84	Susan Comartin	I don't want any kind of rezoning in any part of Hillsborough. IF we need auxiliary housing, allow ADUs. We have not enough water, fire, and police and schools for 3000-4000 more people
85	Sally Farr	Dear Town Council, I have major objections to the plan that has been proposed to meet the CA requirements re additional housing in Hillsborough. Specifically, I oppose rezoning for smaller lot sizes as well as the idea of a 10-story building at Town Hall (with no consideration for parking and the strain on Town services/schools that will inevitably result). I am much more inclined to favor addressing the state requirements by encouraging Hillsborough residents to build ADU and JADU buildings. I hope the Town Council will provide residents with an opportunity to voice their concerns/objections. Thanks for listening!
86	Brian Desler, [REDACTED]	We oppose the rezoning of single-family homes to 1/3 acre. Emphasize ADUs and development (at higher density) of vacant parcels that are large. Full disclosure, our family owns the 20 acres on Tartan Trail/Crystal Springs and we are willing to explore higher density than the current 8 approved home sites
87	Maria Farmas, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs I oppose housing in Hillsborough
88	Khristine Holterman, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs
89	Mana Jamali, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs This town could not support 6 story tall buildings. Schools, traffic...we as a community should focus on building ADUs and JADUs
90	Libby and Bill O'Leary, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs Please do not submit the consultant's plan. It does not look like it contemplates negotiation - it looks like it was drafted to automatically comply with the RHNA. You (as our valued representatives) can create a better outcome for our Town.
91	Laith Salma, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. I oppose the current draft. We need at least 60 ADUs/year allocated, plan is critically flawed
92	Ingrid deMoor, [REDACTED]	I oppose Hillsborough's proposed Housing Element plan and urge Hillsborough City Council to reject it. I support the alternative Smarter Housing for Hillsborough plan because: I want the town to submit a Housing Element that utilizes only ADUs and vacant properties to achieve our RHNA allocation. it does not require the entire City of Hillsborough be rezoned it allows those with older, smaller house from expansion it includes a sufficient number of ADUs and/or JADUs SM Fire Marshall needs to make building ADUs easier. WUI and AMP (alternative means of protection) increase costs significantly making ADU building cost prohibitive

98	Lorne Rosenfield, drr@drrosenfield.com [REDACTED]	Strongly against the plan we don't support rezoning the entire Town - if necessary, I am in favor of zoning to support more senior housing.
99	Gina Rosenfield, [REDACTED]	I vehemently oppose the town's plan. We don't need to rezone the entire town, and a majority of the high density units should be comprised of senior housing.

1	Jenny	I appreciate the need for more housing! If you put 100 units/200-300 people at Town Hall (30-60 feet) for those of us on Walnut/Floribunda - you will block our light/air/less ventilation/distancing re: Covid, xxx parking stalls, increased dog waste, and extreme construction noise.
2		This does not gibe with facts. Other Bay Area Plans have only ADUs/JADUs. We must submit an all ADU/JADU Plan
3		I have just added an ADU. I took 6 (!) months to get a permit - which is a lot given these goals. A big part of this was access to a fire hydrant - and they would only county feet in one direction. Please make standard rules/guidance real in practice.
4		I comment the Council and staff for their excellent efforts to make the Town's response as transparent as possible. Well done by all!
5		The Town should help simplify the process of adding ADUs for residents and incentivize them to build them to meet and/or exceed the target number to qualify for affordable housing. Also, the Town should put yard signs on every corner to notify residents of the proposed changes.
6		If residents build ADUs for very to us become and hom - less there is nothing to prevent them from renting there for very high rental fees thus defeating the state's mandate. This is a real estate developers "dream"
7		Market to the community - ADU guidelines and non-conforming units that could be rented to add an ADU. Please live here for a long time and don't realize the changes and opportunities.
8		20% buffer is too much
9		Why isn't Racquet Club lot being considered?
10		Can modular structure for an ADU?
11		Does eminent domain pertain to home values significantly lowered by 100-unit buildings built with no citizen appeal process?
12	A. Kenneth Hoasler; [REDACTED]	I will and so will my family support the city's efforts to comply with the state mandate to submit a plan. I personally believe this is just a huge effort in futility. It just can't happen as there are basic economic laws that, if broken by the state mandates, will result in economic catastrophe. In 1968 I resigned my US Army Captain Commissioner at end of my 2nd Tour in Vietnam. Part of my reason in addition to wanting first to come home to the "World" as I remember California. The other reason was all the "eyewash" requirements put forth from the Pentagon - I am talking about Body Count. My company - 7th Air Regional was required to certify a minimum of 500 dead Viet Cong or No Vietnamese soldier that are killed every week. So, we did our duty and filled in 500 enemy bodies dead every week. Know case now, if we leave local control of planning we are dead. So we do our duty to submit to this crazy plan. I am happy to help be of service.
13		Concern: to add 100 units at Town Hall, we assume it will be reasonably tall building (maybe OAH - 60 feet). These could be a considerable privacy concern for citizens of Walnut and Fairway and across Floribunda and even Pepper - looking into houses/backyard. Also block light/noise impacts - but privacy impacts will reduce property values.
14		RD-1 Subdivision - the coverage is fairly distributed in the city, possibly too much in and around Santa Inez
15		Start by developing the open spaces in Town (which are fire hazards at the moment) and the Town owned acreage
16		Let's find a way without changing our minimum lot size - even if it means introducing townhouse areas to the burdens of Town. Thanks
17		The Town Hall site is very worrisome for the proposal; 100 units = 200-300 people. Today the Walnut/Floribunda power is very faulty and often is last to be repaired. No sidewalks - difficult to cross El Camino Real now. Very poor cell/WiFi service. No Parking. Easily disrupted water/trash service. With an additional 200-300 people and existing city services, crossing over the Hillsborough/Burlingame border will be very challenging
18		Town Hall lot/project Communications - perhaps "700" notices have gone out about housing (many over 300 pp long). No details on what this will look like. No specific details to those of us who live within 250 feet? Different standards
19		RD-1 only provides 15 new units. Why bother? It creates heartburn for a lot of residents
20	Dennis Moore	Opposed to re-zoning the entire Town. We should go to HCD with a plan to build on ADUs/JADUs only. If we have to. No changes to our RD Zone setbacks, street frontage, FAR, Lot sizes
21	Peggy McLaughlin	If I understand that we must present a good faith plan, then I suggest our plan detail zoning of OA-H sites allow for maximum zoning for Senior Housing only, i.e., zoning which = 665 units we need. All senior "sounds like Hillsborough" and is not as crazy as Woodside's "plan." Seniors would not impact our schools would add limited traffic and could very well be "low income"
22		I see zero reason to plan for the 20% buffer. Based on my understanding of the requirements we only have to submit a plan for the 100% target, not 120%. I would propose that Hillsborough submit a plan based upon ADUs similar to Atherton.
23		Can the City please be transparent about the level of state funding that we would lose by not complying? My belief is that we receive virtually nothing from the State because we are not viewed as needing assistance. The other 'penalties' by non compliance may be real but I don't believe "state funding" is an issue
24		Can we not offer to subsidize less wealthy Towns in the state (like a 'green credit offset') so that a Town without the means to build, but the desire to do so is helped by the more affluent communities?
25	Peggy McLaughlin	It's my understanding that re-zoning of the majority of Hillsborough (RD-1) would yield only 15 additional units. If that's correct, I would like to eliminate the plan for RD1 re-zoning.
26		Ask Burlingame Country Club to build some affordable staffing housing; consider teacher housing on our school properties; ask Crystal and Nueva to also build some staff housing
27		As density is increased, I hope you will make the size of the main house (for new construction) small than the mega-mansions currently being approved. We need room for trees that are the character defining features of Hillsborough. Thanks for your thoughtful work on this.

28		The proposed plan of Burlingame and San Mateo as how the concentration would be next to our City the concentration and traffic.
29		This forum does not allow residents to haer others thoughts and does not provide collaboration or discussion. This was NOT a meeting.
30		Residents with homes directly touching Town Hall site received no direct notice of site or potential plans or chance to be part of HEAC
31		Not Adequate Review - we are supposed to get a 45-day public comment period for all this, but the RD-3 site has no zoning parameters and the first chance to review the plan will be September 12 (38 days in) and that will be highly preliminary
32		Concerns with Town Hall Site: Bad power corridor along Walnut. Shared Burlingame/Hillsborough inconsistent policies. No WiFi/Cell Service. Proposed site impacts one home and touches 4 others directly (what setbacks). Visual/Privacy/Light impact on up to 15 homes. At least 2 ADUs in direct area; already dense. Inconsistent water/trash. Many work from home there. No parking - many will park on Fairway/Highgate. People will try to cut through homes on Fairway/Walnut border to get across to parking. Significant noise/construction/impact on existing residents. Likely high impact on house values which are some of the highest in Hillsborough. Huge impact on several elderly/disabled residents nearby.
33		What are the consequences if 554 units are not built within the next 8 years?
34		Bad idea that will ruin our beautiful Town of Hillsborough. This is an assault on Single-Family Zoned Areas. There are 100,000 apartments in San Mateo County alone - and they are not full. Please fight this and save our Town. Thank you. No one believes that low income housing will be created in Hillsborough.
35		How can we be in 45-day public comment with no RD-3 plan for Town Hall?
36		Town-owned Free Space has been discarded - consider spreading things out rather than having HEAC vote an OK on impacting Town Hall neighbors without them present
37		With all the new housing where will the children go to school? My understanding is that North School and Crocker are at capacity
38		Why does this plan assume that owners of large parcels (i.e., Strawberry Hill) will be willing to sell their property for this housing element?
39	Steven Wierenga, [REDACTED]	Development of the De Guigne estate will generate 100s of additional daily vehicle traffic on Crystal Springs Road due to residents and service vehicles. Crystal Springs Road is already unsafe for bicyclists and cross traffic. A four-way stop will be required at Ridgeway Road and a 3-way stop at Tartan Trail.
40		No to RD-1, RD-2, and, RD-3. Keep RD with no changes. Submit an ADU/JADU plan like Atherton
41	Steven Wierenga, [REDACTED]	Strawberry Hill site needs a second access road for resident traffic and emergency vehicles
42	Steven Wierenga, [REDACTED]	Existing Ridgeway Road access to the De Guigne estate is totally inadequate for development of upper parcel. Does not support increased traffic, emergency access, underground utilities, etc. A second access is required; consider Glenbrook Court from Parrott Drive. Would require a 4-way stop at Crystal Springs/Ridgeway
43		Why has Hillsborough not pushed back on their RHNA goal (fire safety, zoning, etc.) like other communities have? Our community - with no sidewalks/lighting/parking/etc. is very poorly set up for this.
44	Jenny	Grew up in Town. Understand we need to add units. If we add, make the main home smaller so there still is size (trees, backyard) to keep the character of the Town. Also concerned about water shortage and safety.

Housing Element Online Survey Responses

Survey

Please provide your feedback on Section 1: Purpose and History below
3	Interesting history. No doubt your are sincere.
4	The purpose does not fit the small town of Hillsborough. We don't even have side walks! The fire risk and water restrictions already pose burdens for residents.
6	The description of history does not incorporate a big reason people pay top dollar to live here: the landscaping, room for gardens, lots of trees, and architectural diversity. So there are important values that residents seek to protect.
10	this is the WORST survey form ever
12	I am strongly against adding R-2 zoning. As stated in the history, this does not make sense in Hillsborough and will completely change the character. I would like to understand why other cities with similar zoning like Atherton do not need to do this.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	I am providing these comments on, and objections to, the draft Housing Element Plan dated August 4, 2022 ("Draft Plan") -- as a Hillsborough resident since 2008. My family has been in Hillsborough since the late 1970s.

Please provide your feedback on Section 2: Public Participation below
3	It appears you did some outreach--still there are scores of Hillsborough residents who are completely unaware of this and when some of the particulars presented, are furious and see this as nothing but a land grab.
4	There has not been enough to notify and inform all Hillsborough residents of the plan. A mailer should have been sent to every resident months ago
5	The town has not been aggressive enough to communicate the plan the engage public feedback
6	The HEAC meetings examined many options but I am not sure there was a lot of consensus.
10	how are supposed to dictate full sentence critiques of 150 page PDF document?
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	While the State has imposed on the Town a mandate of 554 additional housing units for the 2023-31 cycle, the Draft Plan is an unacceptable proposal for meeting that number. The Draft Plan would radically and irreparably change the character of our Town.

Please provide your feedback on Section 3: Review of Past Performance below
3	Huge kudos to the town for work on permitting ADUs and working with local agencies.
5	It seems that since we exceeded the last target set by the state we should get a reduction in the current one. I understand the town has tried this without success. Are there other avenues to appeal this decision?
10	there is no way the answers to this survey can be USEFUL

13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	The Draft Plan would also harm our property values. At least three key changes need to be made to the Draft Plan.

Please provide your feedback on Section 4: General Plan Consistency below
3	Sacramento clearly does not understand economics, nor does it pay any attention to our fire and water crises as well as endangered species protection and the pitiful quality of mass transit-which is of limited utility as long we live in a Covid reality.
4	The plan does not work for Hillsborough. Too many additional units per capita, does not make any sense. For that reason lack of space, we should be exempt from this plan
10	you need data-driven questions, multiple-choice, YES/NO, etc.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 1 -- We should target the state-mandated 554 housing units -- which is already too high, a remarkable 12% increase over Hillsborough's existing housing stock, in an era when California's population is decreasing.

Please provide your feedback on Section 5: Housing Needs below
3	Guess what? Everyone doesn't get to live wherever they wish. If I had the choice, I'd live in Monaco or the Upper East Side. But I can't afford it.
4	Yes, there is a need for housing, but we are not a normal community that can support it. Hillsborough is very unique and the quality of life that residents buy in Hillsborough for will be lost. Schools and natural resources will be over burdened
6	Page 70 uses 2020 home prices. We are in 2022 so why use 2 year old numbers. The charts are interesting but the bottom line is that the cost of land in Hillsborough is such that unless housing is subsidized the free market will determine buyers & renters
10	there is no way ANY council member or city manager can make sense of the answers to this survey that could or should affect the document
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 1 (continued) -- The Draft Plan proposes that we should voluntarily exceed the 554-unit mandate, in the name of a "buffer" that would take us to a goal of 665 new housing units for Hillsborough. There is no need for the Town to do this.

3	All true. Reality is a key reason that there is not more building going on, here and everywhere else in CA.

4	We do not have the infrastructure to support we are not a normal community that can support this extreme growth in proportion to our small population. Schools and natural resources will be over burdened
6	The number of residents who favor increased density in the town is a very small minority. The views of people who live here has to account for a lot.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 1 (continued) -- Nor is there any legal requirement that we do this. A 12% increase is more than enough. Our target number should remain 554, not 665.
15	Nor is there any legal requirement that we do this. A 12% increase is more than enough. Our target number should remain 554, not 665.
Please provide your feedback on Section 7: Housing Resources below
3	This is the elephant in the plan--who is going to pay for this? The proposed Brooke Ct site will cost millions to grade and build roads for ingress and egress. Who's going to pay for that without the promise of decent ROI?
4	Hillsborough is zoned 100% single family homes because we only have 11,000 people, 500 more units in a town without any room for more schools is unrealistic
6	Can't comment because there is nothing listed
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 2 -- The Draft Plan provides for too few ADUs (only 280). ADUs should be the primary means of meeting our 554-unit allocation.
15	The Draft Plan provides for too few ADUs. ADUs should be the primary means of meeting our 554-unit allocation.
Please provide your feedback on Section 8: Sites Inventory Analysis below
3	Vacancy tax. That would subsidize a lot of low-income rent vouchers.
4	Zoning for Multi family units should not be allowed. It's not allowed for a reason, we don't have the resources to support it, and it's not what our town was designed for
5	Is the Burlingame Club and Golf course included in the site availability analysis? It is a large piece of relatively undeveloped land and should be included
6	The town owns a number of properties. Some may not be suitable for development, but some may be. A big weakness of the draft is that those were not listed and individually analyzed. Sites 2 and 3 would need additional road access for fire safety
8	Please further explain the need to restructure most lots in town to RD1 when it doesn't appear that a great many housing until will result. It seems that this proposed change is not worth the push back from residents.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Charge 2 (cont) -- We should take a more realistic and current estimate of 65 ADUs per year (which is the 2021-22 rate). Over 8 years that would produce 520 housing units.

Please provide your feedback on Section 9: Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing below
3	Life is not fair, I'm sorry to tell you.

4	Some places just do t make sense for adding more housing due to the constraints within the town, we are that town. We are only zoned for single family homes for a reason
6	Support most of the AFFH goals to eliminate discrimination. Marketing to underrepresented communities is fine but oppose any kind of quotas or preferences based on race, color, ancestry etc
11	It seems the low income folks will be sequestered into the “projects” with all the attendant status and possibly racial stigmas, especially among school-age children. They should be scattered throughout the town.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 2 (cont) -- For the remaining 34 units, we should continue to lobby the State (see FAQ 12) to accept some or all of our 101-unit overage from HE5.
15	For the remaining 34 units, we should continue to lobby the State (see FAQ 12) to accept some or all of our 101-unit overage from HE5.
Please provide your feedback on Section 10: Housing Plan below
1	The current plan would result in significantly more traffic and density, as well as burden on our schools (especially disproportionate burden on West and North). This would increase noise and pollution and lower the quality of life of current residents.
2	I'm a new homeowner in HBO, so this is my first input into the plan. It would worsen traffic, put burden on our schools, and change HBO from a small town to higher density w/more noise & strain on our utilities.
3	Social engineering is never a good long-term idea. The crazy rich will always find a work-around. The merely comfortable will do whatever is in their power to maintain their property values. This is a land grab. The media will have a field day.
4	The plan is dangerous for a very small community with a high fire risk and already limited water supply, and limited school availability
5	Overall, I am opposed to reducing minimum lot size to 1/4 acre. This is a significant reduction which will change the nature of the town. Explore options to meet targets without this change
6	Oppose Action 4.3(a), impact fees to be assessed against new above moderate housing. Oppose Actions 4.5 a, b & c which would limit ability of private property owner to redevelop their property. Oppose 7.1 unless residents can participate in 21 Elements?{
7	I'm against RD-1 lowering minimum lot size.
8	Please further detail the Town's interactions with the owners of the opportunity zones and their potential for actual development.
9	I am adamantly opposed to the housing plan. It will unnecessarily deteriorate the appeal of the town and burden property owners. There are other better ways to meet the state mandate such as relying more on ADU development or developing median income lots
11	There seems to be no consideration for the abundant wildlife that populates the Strawberry Hill open space. There are Bobcats, Foxes, Coyotes, Deer, Skunks, Opossums, Raccoons, Hawks, Owls, Rabbits...a complete ecosystem. Where will those animals go?
12	I am strongly against adding R-2 zoning. It does not make sense in Hillsborough and will completely change it. I would like to understand why other cities with similar zoning like Atherton do not need to do this.
13	Against new multi-family zoning. Atherton has similar housing profile and they dropped multi-family zoning from their housing element proposal (after feedback from residents) and made it work. Why are we not able to do the same?
14	Change 3 -- We should not change our zoning to add the proposed new HD-2 and HD-3. Under the above strategy, new zoning is not necessary to meet the 554 number. Respectfully submitted, Ted Ulliyot

We should not change our zoning to add the proposed new HD-2 and HD-3. Under the above strategy, new zoning is not necessary to meet the 554 number. Respectfully submitted, Greg Hampton

1. How do you determine which income level and ADU falls into?
2. RD-1 will have a NEGATIVE impact on Hillsborough and has the potential to destroy Hillsborough's ambiance and the unique nature of the community. With these proposed changes, Hillsborough will become just another Bay Area city. Reducing minimum lot size, in particular, is a no-go in my view.
3. These changes will seriously change the characteristics of the town. I am against these proposals. I would suggest to have more ADUs built to meet the mandate.
4. It does not make sense for the state to have some a mandate across all types of cities. The contribution for cities like Hillsborough to affordable housing units are so minuscule but will have a huge impact to the characteristics of the city.
5. Why would HCD be so strict about how a city meets its RHNA obligation? The board should also consider submitting a proposal with only ADUs and the city hall property changes, without changing the zoning to properties 10 acres and above.
6. I am against the new zoning proposed. The changes are so big and will really impact the characteristics of the city. Suggest to consider having ADU/JADUs plus the city hall lot to meet the state mandate.
7. I support RD-1 and RD-3 but strongly oppose O-AH/RD2.
8. Will some of the planned development be for senior housing?

Subject: Draft Housing Element - opposition
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 11:57:13 AM

Dear Hillsborough City Council,

I am writing to respectfully convey my opposition to the Draft Housing Element. I attended the information session earlier this week and, while I appreciate the spirit of the plans and the considerable work all of you have invested, I believe the proposal is fundamentally flawed. The vision described in the plans would decimate our beautiful community and is a vastly different environment than the one that I, and my 10,000+ fellow neighbors, proudly call home.

The current plan blatantly disregards zoning rules which have been in place since Hillsborough was established more than 100 years ago. I am perplexed how a new state law can suddenly supersede the laws that have governed our Town for over a century, and frankly, why many move to Hillsborough in the first place - a residential community with large lot sizes, quiet streets with little traffic, ample parking, etc.

I am concerned that efforts to date reflect the Town's desire to comply with the State's request, rather than take a big step back and consider the broader implication this proposal would have on our community. I wonder how much the Town has challenged what the State has asked of us -- such as to re-negotiate the number of units proposed, or consider the terrain of which much is sloped and inhospitable to development, or understand infrastructure challenges like parking and traffic which our small town is simply not in a position to accommodate.

I support affordable housing and hope we can find an alternate way to create opportunities for more people to live in our Town, especially senior citizens, people with disabilities, and people who work in our Town including essential workers. I believe other residents have shared with you smart ideas about how to achieve this goal without compromising the spirit of our community. Allowing for more ADUs and JADUs seem like a reasonable alternative as well as utilizing vacant lots, coupled with re-negotiating with the State to lower the number of units being asked of us to be more in line with nearby peer communities.

Thank you for considering my feedback and that of others who have shared similar concerns. Please include this email in the public record and consider it at next week's Town Council meeting before you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Sincerely,

Holly Rockwood

Subject: Opposition to the Housing Element Proposal
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 11:15:54 AM

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

Thank you for your public service. I appreciate the effort you are making and am empathetic to the challenge you have ahead of you.

I am a resident of Hillsborough and wanted to voice my strong opposition to the current housing element plan. I would ask the council to reject the current plan in favor of an alternative plan that better reflects the input of the community while meeting our obligations to the state and future potential residents.

I am supportive of bringing more affordable housing to the Peninsula and specifically within our Hillsborough community and believe this is essential to the continued success of the collective community. I believe it is possible to do so in a way that is equitable while balancing the unique aesthetics of our town.

Unfortunately, the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public is not good for the town nor for future potential residents that may occupy that housing. I would ask the council to consider the following points in rejecting the current proposal:

- A. The process for soliciting community input and feedback was/is deeply flawed
 - a. Most of our residents recently became aware of the town's draft plan nearly ½ way into the public comment period despite the town's claim that over 700 notifications were made
 - b. The draft plan has been revised multiple times during the comment period (e.g. the language around the number of proposed units at town hall has been edited in different versions of the plan posted on the town's website). Further details on what's being proposed at the town hall site is being released 3 business days before the council meeting which is insufficient time to allow for serious consideration of the options. This lack of transparency has eroded trust in the process and the individuals leading the process.
 - c. Previous RHNA efforts identified multiple viable ideas and solutions that have been ignored in the current plan such as further use of ADUs to meet our commitments, fewer / no zoning changes, senior living being integrated into the plan and housing for teachers on school campuses. These ideas have broad community support.
 - d. Multiple HEAC members have been opposed to key aspects of the plan and their feedback has been ignored while minutes from these sessions were not collected or shared.
- B. The proposed plan drastically underestimates the Number of ADUs we will build in 8 years
 - a. The town is on track to build 60+ ADUs this year and for many years to come
 - b. The plan uses a flawed methodology looking at the past four years which includes the year 2019 when AB-881 And AB-68 were not in effect and 2020 when they weren't understood meaning it was difficult for Hillsborough residents to get an ADU through the planning department. We have seen the impact of the passage of these state laws recently as the number of ADUs in 2021 was 64 and in 2022 we expect that number to be even higher. This is despite the town still making it difficult to get ADUs through (ours spent 5 months in planning with the ADU specialist even though it is a conforming structure that is supposed to be allowed to go straight to the building department)

- c. The consultants and town staff have argued that we need to use a conservative number to ensure we are not out of compliance on Jan 1st 2023 which has led them to propose planning for only 280 ADUs. This is deeply flawed logic as only one ADU-heavy plan I'm aware of was rejected by the state, and that is because their accounting for historical ADU unit creation was inaccurate. Atherton has submitted their plan with a similar proportion of ADU's to what is realistic in Hillsborough and has high confidence it will be accepted. We should as well.
- C. The proposed plan will change zoning which endangers all who work, visit and live here
 - a. The denser housing will create a fire danger and other emergency situations
 - b. The plan does not contemplate infrastructure improvements needed (e.g. schools, roads, parking, fire department, traffic, cellular and internet communications, noise and the San Mateo Emergency Vehicles guidelines allowing for 35' wide streets with throughway or 96' cul de sacs.
- D. The proposed plan violates homeowners' property rights:
 - a. Policy 4, Goal 4.5 to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes" and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights
 - b. In addition, it will penalize those homeowners with no compensation
 - c. We should remove this goal from our plan, and not implement it in the future
- E. The proposed town hall site would destroy a historical building core to the identity of our community and create significant issues for the residents occupying the site and those that live around it while ignoring other viable options to build housing
 - a. The inclusion of >100 units as outlined in the draft plan (density calculation sources for the 2.5 acre site not provided) on the "Town Hall Campus" in the housing element submission with no zoning specifications listed, before any environmental or other studies on the impact on town utilities, parking, schools and other services have been completed, and with no time provided for adequate community input.
 - b. In my opinion this is far too many units at this site and because this is the only proposed site not owned by a private landowner it will bear the full weight of any future development with the externalities outlined above. Further it will be expected to be developed in spite of these issues because the other sites the plan has identified have shown no willingness to engage with the planners. The town hall site should be removed from the draft plan in favor of more amenable and equitable options.
 - c. Further in past meetings staff and consultants have communicated the site would be for "landscapers, house keepers and teachers" etc. while in the same breath saying that no underground parking would be available because there was access to public transit. I believe this represents a lack of understanding of the needs of these residents who rely on cars for their livelihood which should be further studied and understood before being included in the housing plan.
 - d. The current plan ignores more viable options that do not involve the destruction of historical landmarks in our community.

For these reasons I oppose the current draft housing plan and would ask the town council to reject the plan as written. In its place I would ask the council to commission the development of a new plan with a new committee that is supported by a majority of the residents of our town and from our town that aligns to the unique aesthetic within our town while being equitable and inclusive of potential future residents.

The key elements of that plan in my opinion are:

1. Utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible assuming 60 – 70 per year based on the past 2 years while developing plans (e.g. elimination of fees, streamlining the submission process so ADUs don't get "stuck" with the ADU specialist and can be submitted directly to the building department in line with state law, multiple ADUs on larger lots etc.) to accelerate the building of such structures
2. Eliminate the unnecessary "buffer" of housing stock needed above our target to something more reasonable (e.g. 5%)
3. Utilize vacant lots including town owned properties and private land from amenable owners to achieve our RHNA goals without up zoning those properties
4. Build affordable housing for our teachers on / next to our schools
4. Evaluate the creation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC for the town hall site at far lower densities than currently proposed
5. Protect owners of older and smaller homes
6. Add housing in a safer and more diffuse way across Hillsborough at viable sites (versus 100+ units on our Town Hall lot) that avoids creating hazards and undo burden for all

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank You,

Jeff Ford

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I want to register my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically:

- 1) This plan will completely change the town's dynamics and culture most of our residents appreciate and cherish for so many years. It will eliminate what makes Hillsborough so special and destroy many residents and our kids' memories of our beautiful hometown Hillsborough.
- 2) I see this Housing Element presented as a worst case scenario so that we residents can accept a compromised plan which is still a bad plan for the town and us residents.
- 3) I strongly oppose the redevelopment of our historic town hall site especially the inclusion of a high density building without careful study of impact on town's infrastructure, schools, utilities, parking, etc.
- 4) I oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger for fire and other emergency situations. DO NOT CHANGE OUR ZONING.
- 5) I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.
- 6) I oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future.
- 7) I oppose having any new housing units (other than ADU's) that do not have 1:1 parking.
- 8) I oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.
- 9) I support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the "buffer", and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. I support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.
- 10) I support an approach that reduces the lengthy permit application process and gives incentives to ADUs for rental purposes so that residents can decide what they want to do.

Many of my neighbors agree on above mentioned points. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the state.

Sincerely,

Peili Shu

Subject: More ADU's or a better plan...
Date: Thursday, September 8, 2022 10:39:08 AM

First and foremost, I feel for all of you as you try to navigate through this housing element situation. While I absolutely recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and deeply appreciate the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our town, the current plan is not acceptable. The consulting firm seems to have run a playbook that was one size fits all approach to appease Sacramento without thinking critically if there is a better path forward that is more tailored to our community. I sincerely hope that everyone can partner together to come up with a better solution on this.

The focus of Hillsborough's plan should be on ADU and vacant lot development and must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. Not enough has been done by way of partnering with residents to explore satisfying State requirements through more aggressive measures around allowing for and providing incentives for ADU's & JADU's. The State guidelines on the ADU calculations suggest taking the previous rolling three year average. But there is a flaw with the calculation in that we had COVID-19 where the state limited certain types of construction. As soon as the new legislation for ADU's came out (which streamlined the process), coupled with COVID-19 pandemic ending, our ADU production increased substantially. We are currently putting in an ADU directly because of this and we know so many residents wanting to follow suit. Based on the 2021 ADU run-rate it seems the entire 8 year allocation can be met through ADU's alone and the town is underestimating the potential for ADU's as part of its proposed plan. While I understand this may not satisfy the state completely, we need to enter into a negotiated outcome and follow the lead of other towns like Atherton and Woodside in the process.

Furthermore, there is a clear lack of planning for infrastructure in this plan: sewer, water, cellular coverage, electrical and parking need to be heavily considered. More specifically, where is the parking plan for the 100+ units located on El Camino? What about the impact on our streets and sidewalks? If 100+ units are to be built in the Town Hall area, the traffic, which is already very busy, will become overwhelming. Floribunda is a major access/egress point for the town and I cannot possibly imagine construction taking place there. Also, without a proper parking plan in place, there will be a direct impact on all of the streets in the surrounding area. It doesn't seem that a proper Environmental impact survey has been accomplished prior to putting together this part of the plan in particular.

Reduction in lot sizes and denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency services, diminish the quality of our town's crown jewel (our schools) and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. The fact that we have zero commerce, no retail, no industrial, that the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1 and 70% of our town is designated as a High Fire Risk zone, 554 units seems like an incredibly aggressive requirement for our town and must also be addressed and lowered. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. There are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in our fine State.

I know the town is truly trying their best and I recognize this is an impossible situation, but as Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. The clear answer here is incorporating much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's as other towns have done with the rejection of all other strategies. Atherton removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. Hillsborough must follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal. Listen to your citizens and set aside the consultant's flawed recommendation. If the Council passes ordinances allowing for more ADU's/JADU's, it can all but eliminate any need for high density housing and work to come up with a better plan while negotiating with the state.

Please consider all of this on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development. We can do better! Thank you again for all you do!

Sincerely,

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

I enjoyed the opportunity to attend the September 6th Open House to learn more about the Draft Plan. I have read the full plan and various associated documents posted on the Town website and developed an understanding of the State's RHNA6 mandate. To all of the Councilmembers, thank you for your service on behalf of Hillsborough, both generally and especially as we navigate this challenging issue. I am supportive of the objective to develop more affordable housing throughout the State and in the Bay Area and specifically Hillsborough but we must ensure we do so in a thoughtful, carefully considered, and long-term manner. Unfortunately, the current Draft Plan does not do that.

Hillsborough possesses attributes that are important to properly contextualize when considering a Housing Element plan. We have no retail, no industrial, no commerce, and the town is currently zoned entirely RD-1. Unlike the vast majority of other towns fully zoned as RD-1 in California, we have very limited undeveloped land. Hillsborough also faces very high costs for both land and construction. Empirically, there are very few towns with situations similar to Hillsborough in the State. Furthermore, Hillsborough also strongly outperformed our allocation by 111% in the last RHNA5 cycle (one of very few to do so), and yet under the current legislation we receive no carry-forward credit for the excess units that we delivered especially during the Covid-19 pandemic when construction was paused for such a long time.

I am strongly opposed to the current Draft Plan. There is absolutely no reason to re-zone the entire town through a blanket plan that creates unnecessary complexity. Crucially, the current Draft Plan fails to articulate in any form the expected cost and impact of the proposed zoning changes on current residents.

I am supportive of a Housing Element plan that builds on our existing demonstrated strengths. Our plan should focus heavily on ADUs, where we have consistently exceeded expectations. We must engage in thoughtful, long-term planning with fulsome and transparent discussion and community engagement and appropriate consideration of the cost and impact of any proposed changes.

I want to voice my strong opposition to the current Draft Plan. There are superior alternative plans to propose to the state for our RHNA6 submission. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you for your public service.

Dear Hillsborough Councilmembers:

Thank you for your continued effort to develop a long-term strategy in the face of significant challenges caused by the State's housing requirements. I have empathy for your role in developing a workable solution given the sensitive nature of the impact to our Town. I have taken time to read the full plan and associated documents to gain a complete understanding of the State's requirements and the current Draft Solution.

I am disappointed in the current draft as it clearly implements a one-size fits all approach to solving this issue. A complete rezoning of the Town is a lazy effort and fails to take this opportunity to think creatively while leveraging things that are already working in our Town. Additionally, the current draft does not contemplate or articulate the considerable impact to cost and safety in our community.

I have reviewed the alternative plan presented by SHFH and find their approach to be much more creative, thoughtful, and less impactful on the characteristics that make our Town so special. Our proven ability to deliver ADUs at scale and speed should be heavily leveraged in any solution. While I fully recognize this won't satisfy all the State's requirements it should certainly be considered foundational to our effort. We should learn from some of the neighboring communities that have taken a more measured approach. I believe with more effort and a willingness to consider alternative solutions our community can come together to solve this challenge.

Thank you for your continued effort and for your consideration.

Subject: Comments on Housing Element Draft Proposal
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 10:10:24 PM

Good evening, Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik,

Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to share my family's thoughts on the proposed housing changes here in our beautiful town. I appreciate the event on Tuesday as I found it very helpful. What I walked away with more than anything else was that all of us homeowners and the governing members of Hillsborough are all on the same team looking to achieve a solution that works for everyone, especially the homeowners who love this community. I have heard some great ideas from my fellow neighbors, and I have no doubt that we can accomplish a housing plan for the California state officials that is thoughtful, effective and is a win-win for all parties.

From the turnout of the event, I am sure you are getting a lot of feedback from the community so I will keep my thoughts and comments to really two points.

First, I feel the ADU number that was included in the initial draft proposal is too low and used estimates during the pandemic which were on the lower end. From the data I have seen, I feel a number more in the ballpark of 55-60 per year would be accurate and fair driving the estimate for this proposal over eight years to roughly 440 to 480 ADU's.

Second, and by far the most important, and to be honest, most shocking to me from the draft, was the proposed changes in zoning for the Town of Hillsborough. I understand that this was a draft proposal, but I could not believe that the consultant was proposing a broad stroke across the entire town and changing the zoning from single-family homes. If this was to go through, I think it would be an utter disaster in keeping with the charm of this historic community. I think it would create a feeding frenzy for developers whose goal would be to come in and build quick cheap housing and then leave or move onto the next build. It would impact the property values without a doubt and in turn drive down home prices and property taxes people pay to live here. It would increase the average number of students per class room which would make the schools less desirable than they currently are. And finally, it most likely would drive a lot of people out of this town. What made the town so special will have been lost forever. I am all for revised zoning for certain parts of the town where we need to accommodate affordable housing however, I think this needs to be in very limited and strategic parts of this town. I also feel that the distribution of any new students coming into the system should be equally distributed amongst the three elementary schools.

We live in a very special town. There is no question to that. My wife and I our 4 boys moved here in 2011 and we're lucky and blessed to have bought a home that was built in 1931 by Angus McSweeney. The gardens were designed by both Thomas Church and John McLaren. It is a very special home that we have spent a lot of time and energy and money restoring as we feel it is our duty and obligation to keep some of this old world charm alive in an ever-changing and synthetic world. Over the pandemic, I really dove into the history of the house and more importantly the history of Hillsborough. I was able to find pictures of the town going back to 1920. I also have a copy of the book "No Sidewalks Here" detailing the rich and long history of this town. Of course, things change over time, however, the town and its community have always held the history, heritage and beauty first and foremost in the decisions which have impacted the planning of Hillsborough. it would be catastrophic, sad and depressing if the proposed elements of rezoning across the entire community went through.

Thank you for allowing me to share my thoughts and opinions on this very important matter and I am confident that we as a community will solve this in a way that we can be happy and proud of.

Subject: I strongly oppose the draft Housing Element
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 10:06:17 PM

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

We'd first like to say thank you for your service to our town; I have lived in Hillsborough for almost 20 years and absolutely love this community. Lindsey grew up here and attended North, Crocker and BHS.

I realize you are in a difficult position with this situation, however, that doesn't change the fact that we're disappointed with how this process has gone and with the proposed plan itself. We want to register our strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public, and our distress at how you communicated this extremely serious policy with residents.

Frankly, residents feel there was neither adequate nor clear communication on this issue. We hope you are all aware of that. So whether it was your intent or not, the community as a whole now believes that the process has not been above board, and it colors our view of the council and city government.

We support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the buffer, and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. Why use data from the depths of Covid to calculate future ADU construction? How is that data valid looking forward? Why use data to calculate future ADU construction from the period before the city provided incentives to do so? How is that data valid looking forward? The state selected its criteria arbitrarily; it doesn't make that data useful. Our ADU calculations must be reconsidered.

If a development on the town hall parcel is necessary, why isn't senior housing suggested in the plan? That change alone would address many of the residents' concerns about parking, traffic and school impact.

I believe residents will flock to the opportunity to add ADUs if they understand both the benefits of adding them and the alternatives to not adding them. Even speaking for my family, last night at the community meeting we learned that a garage can be converted to an ADU. We have previously resisted adding an ADU to our property due to the high cost of construction. But converting a garage would make financial sense. Why weren't simple facts such as this widely communicated to residents over the last couple years? Why jump suddenly to rezoning the entire town and adding large multifamily buildings? Why wouldn't incremental steps be considered and encouraged first?

Again, we oppose using too high of a buffer, requiring more housing to achieve our RHNA obligations. People in our town uniformly agree on this.

Everyone understands that offering what the State asks without pushback or negotiation is the easy solution. But the residents of our town expect you to act in our best interests and – now that we're aware of the situation – I hope you hear our unified voice: we do not want you to submit the draft plan as currently written.

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Sincerely,

John and Lindsey Bruel

Subject: Feedback on Housing Plan
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 9:47:46 PM

First, I strongly believe that the housing crisis needs to be solved, and that adding more, and more affordable, housing to Hillsborough is critical.

However, adding housing - including rezoning for added housing - without also first guaranteeing that adequate infrastructure is in place, is a disservice to the city, its existing residents, AND to the new residents that will arrive.

Hillsborough is not a safely walkable city - there are not consistent sidewalks, for one. I've lived around the corner from the Town Hall for the majority of the past 28 years (on Pepper, at Floribunda), and my 5 year old recently started at North School. Walking - or biking - from my house to North is exceedingly dangerous, especially for children, as is walking/biking/strolling around our neighborhood, specifically due to inconsistent and inadequate sidewalk coverage. The Town Hall site - the closest one to public K-8 schools - will be highly desirable for parents, and their children simply can not safely walk to school unless the walking routes are safe. Ensuring this should be guaranteed before even rezoning - not merely by optimistically hoping we can compel future developers to fix it.

Public transportation in and from Hillsborough is abysmal. The lone SamTrans bus stop near Town Hall is wildly insufficient, and the bus doesn't come nearly often enough. I spent months trying to take public transportation to CSM from my home, and even at 19, my time was far more economically spent by driving for 40 minutes total and paying for gas and parking, than it was by spending 3+ hours total on the bus.

Since public transportation and walking are not viable options, every single new housing unit in Hillsborough will, inarguably, require at least one vehicle per unit - if not one per adult. In order to even rezone, steps must first be taken to guarantee that nobody can even consider building housing without ensuring at minimum one parking space per unit, and ideally 2 or more. I'm aware that state law might allow us to get away with certain size units not having mandated parking, but this is the same as minimum wage - it's a minimum, and one that a business should be ashamed of not exceeding. Similarly, Hillsborough must have higher standards than merely meeting the minimum - we should be establishing a statewide record for how accessible and desirable our housing units are, for all intended socioeconomic demographics.

To reiterate, I will firmly and loudly advocate for increasing housing in Hillsborough - ideally far exceeding the state mandates - but only if the corresponding infrastructure (including parking and pedestrian/biking/public transportation access) is explicitly required as a condition for the rezoning.

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

First, thank you all for your hardwork and for all that you do for our beautiful town.

I send this email today to address the concerns my family (and my neighbors) have about the current draft plan for housing. I have lived in Hillsborough for over a decade, and I believe that this is the most important issue that will affect our town's safety, aesthetics, schools, property values, and traffic. If the current draft plan for housing is allowed, it would dramatically change this town for the worse.

Hillsborough homeowners are extremely alarmed and we respectfully ask that our town representatives please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that will allow the town to achieve the state goals without giving up so much.

One of the plans is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough and seems to have some excellent alternative ideas. Please do not vote for or pass the current plan that was drafted by an outside consultant with no personal knowledge of our town. We need to look carefully at other towns (ie Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Thank you for carefully considering the feedback of Hillsborough homeowners, and listening to alternative plans. I have talked to many homeowners, and none of them are in favor of the current draft housing plan. I encourage you to reach out to your residents and get their input.

Warmly,
Rita and Hardeep Walia

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee,

I am writing to provide comment on the current Housing Element plan. I have spoken with many homeowners here in Hillsborough and am concerned about the current draft plan for housing. We moved into Hillsborough 15 years ago for its aesthetics, privacy, less traffic congestion, safety and award winning schools with small class sizes. With the proposed changes, I feel all of these things will be adversely affected. The upzones will allow for dense development. Banning the renovations of older, smaller homes takes away property rights of homeowners. Accelerating development by the ADRB would negate the careful planning involved to maintain the town's aesthetics as well as limits comment from surrounding neighbors. The proposal to put in high density housing at the Town Hall site would very likely cause massive traffic congestion. Moreover, what about the infrastructure to support all of these changes? What are the plans to increase Police and Fire for safety? What about our already strained water use? Electricity? Sewage? Parking? Etc. And the impact of having more students coming to our schools? Will we have the capacity to maintain our small classroom sizes? Hillsborough is such a special place and as a homeowner here, I would hope that we can somehow retain the character of our town while still meeting the state mandates. Please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve these state goals. Smart Housing for Hillsborough has some great alternative ideas that incorporate the features that homeowners here in Hillsborough want to retain, while still attempting to meet the state mandates. I am in support of getting more aggressive with the number of ADUs including passing ordinances now before submitting our plan. We can get more aggressive with the ADUs and JADUs by offering incentives. The hope is that we could potentially eliminate any high density housing plan. I am against "up-zoning", smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks, increased floor ration and reduced landscaping coverage. All of these things will change the natural beauty of our unique town as well as decrease our property values.

Thank you for considering my comment and for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners. My hope is that our town can move forward with a plan that is accepted and supported by the majority of our community.

Sincerely,
Joyce Bernas-Yung and Jeff Yung

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Hillsborough city manager, council members and planners,

Thank you all for bringing a Housing Element draft plan to the residents of Hillsborough, I support the need for affordable housing, and I strongly believe that we will have a final plan that preserves the character of the town and meets the requirements of the State. Here is my feedback:

- 1) The primary source of Hillsborough's housing allotment should be from ADUs. Using the average of the past 3 years is not a good method, since 2019 and 2020 numbers were affected by Covid. Raising the average from 35 to 55-60 ADUs a year is feasible and sustainable.
- 2) I propose the city work with local private schools(Nueva, Crystal Springs) to build housing units for school faculty and staff on school land.
- 3) I propose the city develop suitable land for SB 9 housing units.
- 4) I do not support the idea of developing multi-family units on the Town Hall site. With 100+ units planned at such a busy location, and no underground parking, it would be a disaster for traffic and would cause serious safety concerns for those who like to jog and walk their dogs along Floribunda. A down-sized development for senior housing(20-30 units) is a viable option.
- 5) I support a tax or bond measure for a new town hall and police station.

Thank you!

George Wu

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz:

I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I want to register my strong opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public.

This plan is NOT good for the town, in my opinion.

Specifically:

- I support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the "buffer", and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals. I support the evaluation of senior housing as suggested by both the 2014 Housing Element and the 2022 HEAC.
- I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. The Town should allot a minimum of 62 ADU's/ year, which is what we are already on track to complete for the most recent two years.
- I oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger for fire and other emergency situations and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning.
- I oppose the lack of transparency and the timing in the process. Minutes to many HEAC and other planning committee meetings are unavailable, planning department team members provide different details at different times, and "preliminary" plans for the "Town Hall Campus" are only being provided three days before public review. Nearly every resident has been surprised by this process and the lack of details, yet the impact has been categorized as "Major" by town planning staff.

Most of our friends who are Hillsborough residents agree on these points - I hope you all have heard what is becoming cacophonous feedback against the proposed plan as you've

Subject: Opposition to the proposed Hillsborough Housing Element and Town Hall Campus projects

Dear Hillsborough Town Council and Team considering the 2023 Housing Element Plan,

We believe bringing more affordable housing to Hillsborough is a good idea; and, creating an equitable and balanced plan to do so will be required. But, the Town so far seems to have missed an opportunity to engage with the community and co-develop a workable plan to meet the need for housing which satisfies the environmental, safety, and day to day needs for current AND future residents. Although the Town created an HEAC committee, from what we've heard, their input has been largely ignored. Further, the public comment windows are incredibly short (such as a mere three business days to comment on a proposed town hall campus- five days before the end of public commentary). To wit, we are extremely worried about the town submitting a poorly conceived Housing Element which residents will have to live with for the next 8 (or 16, 24, etc) years.

Here are our major concerns with the current plan, and we ask that the Town Council directly address each during the Town Meeting on the 12th of September.

1. Please Address: It appears the current HEAC and Previous RHNA (2005, 2014) ideas & concerns were not addressed in the 2023 Housing Element draft, making it seem that the community input and past planning cycles were not honored:
 - a. ADU potential is under-represented significantly by using 3-year average taken during a pandemic. Despite many residents being excited to add ADUs, the current permit process for two of us on our street who just went through it took 5-6 months and required significant non-Code-based rework. In the 2014 RHNA Housing Element, plans were put in place to incentivize the use and development of ADU's, but these incentives are not in place.

- b. At HEAC meeting 4 and 4.5, only 40% of the committee (and only after significant pressure from the consultant) agreed that high density housing along ECR could move to ~20 units/acre (not the 50+/acre currently included in the town hall site plan).
- c. Less drastic zoning increases were supported, but not applied in the HE Plan
- d. Senior and School Worker Housing were set as primary solutions, also not in plan
- e. Minutes from the HEAC meetings were not collected or shared, and the next HEAC meeting is not until December, when the process will be virtually locked. Multiple HEAC members are vocally proposing alternative plans, but have so far been ignored.

2. Please Address: The process for including broader community input is deeply flawed:

- a. The majority of residents had no idea what a Housing Element was, let alone it was being submitted to the state, regardless of the Town's assertion of dozens of communications to that affect. We will be directly impacted and the first we heard of the proposal for the Town Hall Campus proposals was three weeks ago.
- b. Those directly affected by a proposed site STILL have not been contacted directly, unlike standard building site inputs and despite Town Hall promises to the contrary. For example, if my neighbor wants to remodel their home, they are REQUIRED to alert all nearby neighbors IN WRITING. We have seen only generic postcards.
- c. Preliminary "jelly" plans for the Town Hall Campus are only being provided 8 days before community input closes- and yet the town expects the Town Hall Campus site to hold 100-150 units of 650sf each (up to 450+ people)

3. Please Address: A lack of transparency has led to confusion and lack of trust:

- a. There is zero detail to be found publicly about how the new Town Hall housing density calculation was created. At a recent Town Hall presentation, we were told it was calculated by the housing consultant and stressed that no developers had been contacted or involved in the current proposals...despite written proof to the contrary posted on the Town website (RFPs (Request For Proposals) for a "Master Planning and Conceptual Design for the Re-development for Town Hall Campus" have already gone out as of April 28, 2022, according to the Town Website).

b. Different Planning staff have told us at Open Houses the Town Hall site would be: 45 feet, 60 feet, no more than 60 feet, Greater than 60 feet. It has been labeled as 100 units, >100 units, minimum of 100 units, 100-150 units.

c. An elderly neighbor anxious about the plan was cold-called by the planning department and actively misled – they were told that they should not worry because it was unlikely that anything would ever be built, and definitely not for years. Christine Krolik, vice mayor, in contrast, said that town-owned sites would have the expectation that development must occur within the 8 year period.

d. When asked if any developers have been consulted, we were told that they have not, that the housing consultant has consulted with developers, and that consultant has floated ideas of leasing the site to developers. This is a direct conflict of interest (see below)

e. Why some sites were considered and others were not is not captured anywhere to be reviewed, but was apparently subject to the consultant's review.

f. Only 3-4 of 13 sites and 4 town-owned properties are currently addressed in the plan. 3 of the 4 are unlikely to be developed as they are privately owned and put in the Housing Element without the owner's consent. Target sites changed from 3 to 4 during the community input timing, from draft to proposed Housing Element Plan.

g. RD-3 still does not have zoning specifications, despite a potential 100-150 unit development being planned in this zoning. Shouldn't the zoning specs pre-date planning and not the other way around?

h. Some owner-occupied sites were only considered for 12 units in a much bigger area than the Town Hall campus, which has been considered for up to 150 units, but there has been no rationale shared.

4. Please Address: Residents are being directly affected in difficult and unintended ways:

a. Per the current proposal, renters in Town-Owned houses would need to be evicted.

b. Owners of estate sites were not even consulted about having housing built on their property.

- c. Per the current proposal, disabled and elderly home owners near the Town Hall Campus could find their primary egress via Walnut Avenue blocked. When asked about the current proposal for Walnut Avenue, Town Planners have been evasive about Walnut Avenue being a “pass-through” or walkway. On the proposed map, it’s even moved to a new location.
- d. If Walnut is blocked per the new proposal, the population of Walnut Ave would lose their access to El Camino Real via Floribunda. Blocking off Walnut Ave was rejected once before due to lack of 96’ turn-around access for Emergency Crews under San Mateo County Fire Safety Code.
- e. If Walnut is blocked per the new proposal, Fire Code would also require that there be no parking on that street as it is narrower than 26’, further impacting both Hillsborough and Burlingame residents who live there and shifting parking further into Hillsborough.
- f. Those living on Walnut or in the Ryan Tract on the north side of Floribunda would have limited ability to access El Camino Real due to the Walnut Ave closure and significant parking and traffic issues. Also, the nearest left turn onto ECR North at a light, for bikers and pedestrians, would be blocks away.
- g. At the recent North School Open House - Tim Anderson of City Planning said the newly proposed Town Hall Campus, at 45 feet tall would have a “significant impact” on homeowners in a 500-1000 ft radius in terms of light, noise, and parking and more.

5. Please address: To date, the proposed Town Hall Campus would be a) a major site for 100-150 units – and critical to the achievement of a 554+unit plan, b) the only site fully Town-owned (as such likely to require development within 8yrs), and c) the only site not dependent on private initiative. Despite this, there are no formal plans published and no studies evaluated for site worthiness (environmental, traffic, water, sewage, school impacts, etc.). To date, the common response to those who ask about these impacts is “It will be years/may not happen/don’t worry”; rather than actually addressing legitimate concerns. Studies should be undertaken before the Town Hall Campus project is added to the Housing Element and should include:

- a. Historical analysis
- b. Environmental- Full EIR, not just a limited CEQA, including the culvert underneath the site, migratory birds that reside in the redwoods nearby, etc
- c. Light and Shadow Impact Analysis
- d. Utilities analysis of all the utilities in places that already struggle in this area of Hillsborough (power, water, waste)

- e. Cost of Infrastructure repairs- our utility costs are the highest on the peninsula and growing- 5-6% increases in water and waste rates that already assume zero population growth (contrary to HE plan), including removal of water tanks and replacement of inadequate water and sewer piping across fault lines
- f. This corner of Hillsborough is in the SFO Airport Influence Zone- what is the impact?
- g. Cell/Data inadequacies that currently exist
- h. School needs and impact for 400-500 additional residents
- i. Parking and Traffic impact
- j. Investigation of the current vacancy rate of the housing sites already built in nearby towns.

6. Please Address: Any Housing Element that is submitted to the State should also directly outline the impact on existing Hillsborough/San Mateo requirements/laws/guidelines, such as:

- a. "Complete Streets" adopted in 2015 ensuring throughput and access in exchange for Hillsborough's ability to apply for transportation grants
- b. San Mateo Emergency Vehicles guidelines allowing for 35' wide streets with throughway or 96' cul de sacs.
- c. The ongoing multi-year project for widening/repaving of El Camino Real next to City Hall – and the impact of that ongoing project on setbacks
- d. Construction-related parking limitations including length, curb height, markings etc during what would likely be a multi-year construction process
- e. Hillsborough residential parking laws, including no overnight street parking, to ensure safety as a walking and biking hub for youth to seniors
- f. Compliance with current Hillsborough noise limitations/ordinances for various neighborhood types

7. Please address: Perceived conflict of interest

- a. The Town says they are not currently working with any developers– and yet mention their consultants have worked with developers to provide unit estimates, land lease ideas, ideas for public private partnerships to pay for replacement of the police department etc

b. Developers can obtain up to $1500/month per unit from city/state grants for low-moderate income housing. This makes it a developer's incentive to put in as many units as possible: by law, 650sf units can hold up to 3 people. With special high-density exceptions, this can be with no parking- and yet anyone living on the peninsula will require parking for access to jobs and services

c. No zoning has been set for RD-3 until after basic plans and submission to HDC is in place. This means that the zoning could be set AFTER the developers design whatever plan they would like.

d. No list of developers consulted by consultants has been made available

8. Please Address: Has the town studied the actual needs of low to moderate income families who would like to live here? The AMI for San Mateo County is ~$180,000 for a family of four. Very-low and Low income housing is a huge need, and honestly, so is helping our homeless and at-risk of homelessness population. Housing is a huge issue, but so is access to services, groceries, jobs, health support etc. Please ask those amazing citizens in our community who are experts on this topic to help support these plans.

SO- What can we do? The town cannot stick their head in the sand – increased housing is a state law, we need to do something.

Here are some ideas:

1. The easiest solution is to up the number of ADU's in the Housing Element plan: This is happening anyways- and it helps everyone. ADU projections were woefully undercounted by using 3-yr averages during a pandemic and a time when ADU permits often ran into 5-6 month timelines. The town could vastly increase the number of ADU's, Junior ADU's and amnesty ADU's. Give the incentives that have been discussed since 2014, encourage residents like the HEAC encouraged. Encourage tax breaks to rent these out rather than keep them as home offices. Perhaps even consider zoning for small live/work offices for the many work-from-home and entrepreneurs among us?

2. Since 2005, the RHNA's have been discussing more senior housing. The silver tsunami is real. By 2050, more than 25% of the nation will be >65 yrs old. The housing crisis for seniors will be intense - and their housing and care does create jobs. Opportunities to create light to mid density senior housing is a more realistic way to make low/no parking sites work, and can create revenue and jobs without creating misaligned incentives. Using town-owned open sites to do so should be possible as a site for development. We urge the town to explore these HEAC-suggested options, as was outlined in the 2014 Hillsborough RHNA. Create these sites using the HEAC constrained limits of 20 units per acre, with current height restrictions, after extensive study and community input, with extensive setback, no street closure, and no impact on elderly and disabled residents.

3. Re-approach private schools and other owners of private/business sites about putting in place long-term plans to build limited blocks of teacher housing on site every time they go through a school increase in size.
4. As a contingency, allow for small zoning changes to allow when larger sites homes become open that do not run afoul of private property rights.

Thank you for listening. We understand that you have a big task ahead of you, but we ask that you conduct it with more transparency and care for Hillsborough and its residents. We moved here BECAUSE of the lovely atmosphere and great schools and that everyone here cares deeply about the future of California, Hillsborough, and our communities (now and in the future).

We look forward to seeing you address these concerns at the Town Hall.

I'm writing to express my deep concern about the draft Housing Element plan that is currently being considered by Hillsborough. And to voice my opposition to the plan. I do not support it.

I believe the plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as a solution to meet California's requirements.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Finally, I'd like to say a big 'THANK YOU!' to all of you for representing our community! I realize it's a volunteer position — and at times a thankless one!

Hello:

Since you are required to show added housing, I'm wondering if the best place to start would be to find out how much housing you actually need. I'm quite certain that MANY houses in hillsborough already have ADU's that the town doesn't know about. Not that it's a secret but a lot of these houses are old and are frankly more than just the listed house. Our house for example has the carriage house that has two different levels/ entrances - so that's two extra units. We also have a one bedroom apartment under the house- that's a 3rd unit. Why are you not polling the citizens to see how many extra units we already have while doing nothing?

Hello,

We are writing this letter in support of the alternate plan proposed by the Smart Housing For Hillsborough team. The Housing Element plans submitted by the consulting firm should NOT be the only plan considered by our Town Council. I agree that affordable housing is one of the most pressing issues facing our state, and that essential workers in our town should have the option to live where they work. The clear answer to this problem in Hillsborough which lacks the infrastructure for multi-family housing is ADUs. This solution is already in progress in our town, and can have an impact immediately. Re-zoning Hillsborough will only be an economic opportunity for developers at the expense of existing residents and potential home buyers.

Many existing guest and pool houses can be upgraded to meet the specifications of an ADU or JDU. Affordable housing can be increased in Hillsborough much sooner than the eight year time frame by providing incentives for home owners to rent to essential workers or senior citizens looking to downsize.

Fire, sewage, transportation and other infrastructure issues have been mentioned, but we must also consider the impact on the environment with reduction of green space and trees in our beautiful town

One size does not fit all in terms of solving for the housing crisis in our state. Re-zoning Hillsborough and high-density housing structures are not the answer. The Hillsborough Town Council should consider alternate plans to help solve the housing problem at hand while retaining the essence of our beautiful town

Sincerely,
Stephanie and Jonathan Cantwell

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz, I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I want to register my opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically:

- I support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the buffer, and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals.
- There are 54 privately owned, vacant lots larger than 0.5 acres in Hillsborough. Put in place an ombudsman to work on outreach, policies for incentives, and to help shepherd their projects to completion. Several of these vacant lots are substantially larger than 0.5 acres and can be developed by their owners to significantly more than just one unit per lot. We could accommodate a total potential of well over 100 units of Above Median Income housing on these properties alone. With good policy and an ombudsman, we could certainly get to most of our AMI allocation with this approach.
- I support a substantial increase in the number of ADU's/JADU's in our Housing Element for 2023-2031. I believe the number of ADU's we can justify in our plan is at least 512 units, using 2021 permits as the basis and explaining the policies we changed that will make this our future trajectory during the RHNA 6 cycle. Yes, it may be outside the "safe harbor," but it is easily justifiable based on our results from RHNA cycle 5. Additionally, we can bolster the credibility of this approach if we pass ordinances and commit to policies friendly to an increase in ADU's ("pool house" amnesty, allowing more or larger ADU's for lot sizes > 0.7 acres, allowing one attached and one detached ADU for all lot sizes, eliminating fees, streamlining approval, and incentives to maximize ADU production for new construction and substantial remodels). Cementing these policies in ordinances before submitting our RHNA proposal to HCD will justify why our ADU numbers will remain high. Atherton has an excellent set of ordinances and policies that we can utilize and extend.
- I oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency situations, destroy property values, and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning - it isn't needed if we use the more aggressive approach to ADU's and correctly size our required buffer.
- I oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those home owners with no compensation, and isn't needed. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future.
- I support a much more modest buffer in our plan. We should start with a proposal of approximately 10% buffer, based on our past compliance and successful outcomes in all RHNA Cycles to date. If HCD objects, we could negotiate with them to come to the best possible number for Hillsborough.
- I propose that we create a list of contingency parcels to be included in our plan if negotiations with HCD require them, or if future results require them. A Council member should reach out to the owners/trustees of all deed restricted open space parcels, and negotiate with them to remove the deed restrictions for the good of the town. We can include the Town Hall site and Tobin Clark estates in this list. And, to prepare for future RHNA cycles (or for a shortfall in the current cycle), we should identify and begin the process of annexation for properties we can use to meet our future requirements including 1551 Crystal Springs Road and some of the properties near the intersection of Skyline/Black Mountain Road and Golf Course Drive.

I'm sure you've heard feedback along these lines as you've been considering this plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Sincerely,
Dennis Moore

Subject: Opposition to Draft Housing Element
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 7:39:23 AM

Dear Hillsborough City Council,

I am writing this email to express my strong opposition to the draft housing element. This plan will ruin the character of Hillsborough and do nothing to supply additional intelligently located housing in California.

There should be no changes in zoning to allow for apartment or townhome style developments. The town should remain exclusively single-family detached homes with ADUs and JADUs used to meet the state mandated plan. Hillsborough at its core is a low-density community with open space and a small-town feel. That is one of the major reasons many residents choose to live in Hillsborough.

The draft housing element miscalculates the potential construction of new ADUs and JADUs over the next few years. Due to the Covid shutdown ADUs and JADUs constructed was stunted, but 2021 is indicative of the number of ADUs and JADUs that will be built. Using this number with an annual growth rate is more accurate. It will meet the vast majority of new state mandated housing.

There are vacant parcels in Hillsborough that will be developed over time. This will be easier by allowing flexibility in lot sizes down to 1/3 of an acre as suggested and which is a reasonable compromise. This will meet the remainder of the state mandated new housing.

Hillsborough does not have the town or transportation resources to support a major influx of dense apartment style housing. This is poor city planning that will lead to a huge increase in traffic and strain on our resources with no financial plan for how to pay for the additional costs and resources required in adding hundreds of residents to our town. There is no plan in place on how to pay for additional city staff, police, fire and school resources required for adding additional housing. The proposal will strain our already understaffed town. Dense apartment style development should be done near transit centers such as the Millbrae Bart/Caltrain station where Burlingame and Millbrae are building thousands of units. Bus transportation along El Camino is not a viable solution for most residents and any new housing in Hillsborough will lead to a proportionate increase in vehicular traffic to streets with no sidewalks endangering pedestrians and bikers many of whom are children on their way to school.

The 20% buffer is too large. Hillsborough should use the minimum units required in its plan. Hillsborough has a good history of adding units so has credibility with the state in adding additional units.

In conclusion, I encourage you to reject the Draft Housing Element and rework it to eliminate any dense apartment or townhome style multifamily development. Maintain the character of Hillsborough our future is in your hands.

Re: Opposition to Draft Housing Element Plan

I am writing to voice my opposition to the Draft Housing Element Plan.

I support the state's goal of creating more housing. But I don't believe the current draft adequately considers the options we have available to meet our housing requirements or adequately considers the negative impacts of the options as proposed.

Specifically lacking from the presentation materials was any consideration of our town's eminent domain options in regards to land adjacent to Hillsborough, opposite the 280 corridor and currently held by the PUC. The consultants hired did not appear to give any consideration to this option. I believe that location may be more ideally suited to providing the type of housing being sought than could be gained by reducing our minimum lot size standards from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{3}$ of an acre, for example. Given the California's urgent need for housing and the current use of that land, it may be ripe for eminent domain by the town yet no investigation of that opportunity seems to have been conducted.

I also believe that the allocation given to ADU's is far lacking. I personally began researching my ADU options prior to the pandemic, put those plans on hold because of the pandemic and plan to reinstate that process shortly. Many friends of mine in town are in the same situation. It's anecdotal of course. But the projections contained in the plan, are based on a historical review that seems to fail to take into consideration the reality of the difficulties and delays experienced during the pandemic as well as the increased interest generated by new regulations.

Importantly, and as evidenced by the conversations, comments, questions and shock on display at the recent "open houses" make it clear that the community was not adequately involved in the development of this Draft. I have no doubt that the minimum regulatory required notification was followed, and I know how hard it can be to get people's attention. But the fact is that despite the efforts that were made, the vast majority of our community, myself included, was caught by surprise and believes that they were given insufficient opportunities or time for meaningful study or input.

I strongly urge that the Draft Housing Element Plan NOT be approved and that the process be continued in a manner that allows for greater consideration of the opportunities available to our community and the various expertise it offers by involving our community in a more thoughtful manner.

Thank you for your efforts. I know that this is a difficult process and that meeting our communities evolving housing needs in a thoughtful manner is as important to you as it is to me. Unfortunately, the Draft Housing Element Plan completely fails to do that.

Thank you,

Riyad Salma

Subject: Draft Housing Element Plan feedback
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 5:48:44 PM

I am writing to provide my feedback on the Draft Housing Element plan.

I am providing these comments on, and objections to, the draft Housing Element Plan dated August 4, 2022 ("Draft Plan") – as a Hillsborough resident since 2007.

Firstly, I recognize that this is a difficult issue and I'm sure a lot of time, effort and money (I see we have hired consultants) have gone into addressing this situation. I also appreciate that no doubt a lot of people have worked hard on this for which I'm thankful. My goal is to be helpful and part of a solution, not part of the problem.

That said, the plan as it stands is totally unacceptable to me and the many people in town that I have spoken to about it.

It seems to me that little consideration has been given to the need to preserve and protect the characteristics of our unique town.

We moved to Hillsborough 15 years ago for the same reason that most people move here, for the excellent schools and the unique beauty of the town.

I believe that the town should be creative in protecting our town from this ill-thought through mandate from the California bureaucracy and not cave in and severely impact the town and its residents which the current proposal is likely to do. The current proposal does not seem to prioritize the desires of the residents.

I believe:

We should target the state-mandated 554 housing units -- which is already too high, a remarkable 12% increase over Hillsborough's existing housing stock, in an era when California's population is decreasing.

The Draft Plan proposes that we should voluntarily exceed the 554-unit mandate, in the name of a "buffer" that would take us to a goal of 665 new housing units for Hillsborough. There is no need for the Town to do this. Nor is there any legal requirement that we do this. A 12% increase is more than enough. Our target number should remain 554, not 665.

The Draft Plan provides far too few ADUs. ADUs should be the primary means of meeting our 554-unit allocation.

The council should immediately pass ordinances before submitting our plan, allowing for more ADU's and more incentives for ADU's.

We should take a more realistic, and current, estimate of 65 ADUs per year (which is the 2021-22 rate). As I understand it over 8 years that would produce 520 housing units.

For the remaining 34 units, we should continue to lobby the State (see FAQ 12) to accept some or all of our 101-unit overage from HE5.

We should not change our zoning to add the proposed new HD-2 and HD-3. Under the above strategy, new zoning is not necessary to meet the 554 number.

No to smaller minimum lot sizes, no to reduced setbacks, no to increased high allowances, no to increased FAR (floor area ratio), and no to reduced landscaping coverage.

The town should fully consider the impact of any plan on our schools and infrastructure. The current plan does not address these critical issues.

The proposed development of the Town Hall campus is very concerning. There seems to be no consideration taken for the potential impact on the surrounding community. At the first community meeting the town manager when asked about parking said that there has been no consideration taken for parking in the plan. She said these residents won't drive "as they don't have cars." This is obviously not true and could have a serious impact on the surrounding neighborhood. It seems to me that this is just one illustration of how this proposal was developed without due consideration of the multiple negative impacts that this plan would have on our residents.

Alternative Proposal

I am aware that an alternative plan has been submitted by members of the advisory board that looks like it would do a far better job of maintaining the unique character of the town.

Why has the community not been shown this plan which would apparently deliver the state's requirement without changing the character of the town?

Summary

I understand that the Town is trying to avoid confrontation with the state. However we must protect our town and community from this senseless mandate from Sacramento.

I am totally opposed to the current plan and believe a rethink is required.

I recommend that the alternative plan should be seriously considered and discussed and most likely should form the basis of our town's submission.

Thanks again for all that you do for our town.

I appreciate your service.

Yours respectfully,

Guy Longworth

Hello,

I'm writing to express my deep concern about the draft Housing Element plan that is currently being considered by Hillsborough. And to voice my opposition to the plan. I do not support it.

I believe the plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as a solution to meet California's requirements.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Thank you,

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

First, we would like to thank you all for your efforts in attempting to approve of a Housing Element Draft that meets the State requirements as well as the community needs, not an easy task.

I've lived in Hillsborough for 44 years and we love living here and we have loved raising our family in this amazing community. Now that we understand what is at stake, we plan on building a JADU by converting a garage space in the next few years. Since a few weeks ago when we first learned of the 100-150 units that are proposed in our neighborhood, we have spoken to close to 200 people in our North School District about the Housing Element Plan. Despite the Town's attempts to inform the community, not one person we spoke with (outside of two HEAC members) understood what is happening and what the potential impacts and implications of the Housing Element will be. This is important to note because the Town outreach was critically ineffective and the town residents feel shocked, blindsided and that our interests have not been represented.

We strongly oppose the Housing Element Draft as proposed. We understand and agree that Hillsborough needs to meet the Housing Element allotment due to our current housing crisis, and we support the need for affordable housing, but this plan has been fatally flawed from the very start in a way which set the whole process off in the WRONG direction. The State guidelines on the ADU calculations suggest taking the previous rolling three-year average. This is only GUIDANCE not a REQUIREMENT. The flaw with this calculation is that we had COVID-19 in 2019 and 2020 where the State had literally ordered people not to work, to stay home, to stay separate, limited certain types of construction, to isolate, etc. In those two COVID years we still had ADU completion of 20 and 25 units. As soon as the new legislation for ADU's came out (which streamlined the process), coupled with COVID-19 pandemic ending, our ADU production shot through the roof with 89 ADU applications, 81 entitlements given and 64 ADU permits in 2021 and 2022 is on track for potentially more ADU's/ year. How is it rational in any way to use the artificially low ADU production years of 2019 and 2020 as factors in a calculation that massively impacts the layout of our town for the next 8 years? The State cannot impose work restrictions on communities and then use those time periods of lower output/ production (2019 & 2020) as a measure or basis for any estimates of future ADU production (unless they are predicting that we're going into another pandemic). This argument has solid ground and needs to be pushed back on as firmly as possible by our Town. We need to have a plan that utilizes ADU's as the primary way to solve our Housing Element allotment. We are on track to have a two year rolling average of at least 62 ADU's/ year- which over 8 years is 496 units, vs the 250 proposed in the current draft of the Housing Element. At every school event, soccer game, baseball game, birthday party etc., the hot topic for the last two years has been ADU's. Everyone wants one! The majority of the close to 200 people we spoke with have plans to complete ADU's in the next few years, most were waiting for the craziness of COVID to end and get a sense of normalcy before starting a stressful project. Because of the major miscalculation by our consultants, every step after this has been going in the wrong direction and has been a mistake. Every problem the Draft worked on solving was based on that idea that we needed to solve for 400 extra units vs 100-150.

The "Buffer" guidelines that the State has suggested is between 15-30% (in case some units don't get built). The Draft offered 20%, which is 5% more than even the minimum guidelines. Why didn't we go with the minimum of 15%, or even better, why not go past the "guidelines and make a strong case for only a 10% buffer? The State is receptive to an increased ADU allotment or deviating from the guidelines if we can show a real plan as to how the Town will complete the increased amount of ADU units. Hillsborough can do several things to demonstrate to the State that the Town will far exceed our current sustainable number of 62/ units/ year by doing the following:

1. Implement an education outreach plan. If residents were educated to the fact that if we don't meet our ADU allotment we will face rezoning in ways that are negatively impactful to

- our town (fire, traffic, schooling teacher/ child ratio and funding, utilities, density= fire danger, etc.) people would feel more invested in speeding up their ADU timelines.
2. Offer financial incentives to qualifying applicants- perhaps waiving fees for fixed income seniors or families. Perhaps waiving increased taxes and fees.
 3. Pre-approve of three ADU Prefab Designs- (Per the Consultant named Robert Kain) The Town can approve a preset number of approved ADU designs made by manufactured home builders. This would allow people to know that their project design is already approved, and the costs will be almost entirely predictable and economical due to the pre-fab nature of these ADU's. The consultant said this would go a long way with the State.
 4. New Home Construction & Significant Remodels- All new homes permitted will be required to include one ADU and one J-ADU. Any building projects valued at over $1,500,000 must include an ADU or JADU
 5. Conversion of Existing Real Estate- Outreach to property owners who have easily converted real estate, guest houses, pool houses, etc.

Perhaps the most unacceptable idea is regarding the Town Hall site, which includes re-zoning for a 100-150 unit building with no underground parking and in exchange the Town gets a new police station and Town Hall. While this may represent the interest of the police department and the employees of the Town, it does not represent one resident's interest in the Ryan Tract. There is a serious, perceived conflict of interest with this site- the optics do not look good when the entire neighborhood is against this proposal, but the Town is for it and the Town has something very significant to gain. There needs to be an explanation as to why this plan is so out of touch with what our community would like to see there. There have been no serious Historical Resource Surveys on the historic structures in the Town Hall area, including the police station. Having a high rise on our charming and historically significant police station is unacceptable. These historic structures cannot be torn down. The current draft proposes to have only the Town Hall site meet 100% of the Town's affordable Housing allotment instead of distributing that allotment equally throughout the Town's proposed sites. This is highly discriminatory and shows a total lack of equity by placing 100% of all the affordable housing component in one dense, under parked building versus integrating that housing component across all proposed sites. That economic class of residents do not deserve to be ghettoized and isolated, they deserve to be woven into our community in a thoughtful way spread over many sites and all school districts. The second issue of serious concern is the severe lack of parking. The current plan only has surface parking and has NO underground parking. Regardless of the State allowing developers to "get away" with no parking, this site needs to be zoned for 1:1 parking for any units, just like every other site proposed. The Town is here to represent the interests of its residents, not the bottom line for a developer. We live on Fairway Circle and any time there is a Council meeting or an event at Town Hall, Floribunda sidewalks are littered with cars as well as Fairway Circle. This will become much worse with a lack of underground parking. The idea that people of lower incomes do not need or do not have cars is preposterous and discriminatory. We rent apartments to many Section 8 tenants, they all have cars, some have two. Every person who works in Hillsborough (housekeepers, teachers, janitors, gardeners, maintenance technicians, service people) ALL have cars. I mention this because Towns line about who will occupy these homes has been, "it will be people who work for you all, like your gardeners and housekeepers). Cars equal mobility, mobility equals opportunity, opportunity equals economic stability. Therefore no matter what income bracket moves into one of these units they will either need or want a car if they don't already have one. Purchasing a car will always be a top priority until there is adequate, high quality public transportation and that is not on the horizon for the next several decades.

This site cannot be zoned for more than 20-30 units, in line with the rest of El Camino Real. The property needs to have 1:1 underground parking so the community isn't negatively affected by the increased traffic and parking needs. There still needs to be adequate parking for Town Hall events, because currently, we are in need of MORE parking even though there is no new development on site. The 20-30 units should be senior housing which fits the need of our community much more than general use housing. If the Town really needs a new Town Hall and Police Station, why not put an extra tax on the community or a bond measure? Chatter about this solution was popular and well received. Everyone I spoke with was in favor of this solution so the Town wouldn't be compromised when thinking of the potential for this site. Lastly, when I asked the City Manager, Ann about why there was no underground parking, she told me "Because it is economically unfeasible." My profession is commercial real estate and development. The Burlingame Post office and the two new developments on California and Burlingame Avenue each have 4-5 stories of underground parking. We know the developer of the two California lots, Dewey Land Company. All three sites had similar, serious issues to deal with (underground services, utilities, a culver, etc.). Each site was built, and each site “penciled” for the developers. The only reason this project would not pencil is if the Town makes the ill-advised decision to create only one site that absorbs 100% of the affordable housing component. This site makes incredible sense for senior housing. Direct route to the ER on El Camino. Right by EMT’s, Police and Fire, easy to walk places, etc. The need is greater than even regular housing. Please do not believe that having underground parking is economically unfeasible. If market rate housing and affordable housing have a more balanced ratio in this site, the project quickly becomes economically feasible.

Whatever zoning is created for this site MUST include deeded parking ratios of 1:1 as well as outlawing any cell phone towers or roof decks on the properties. This is the appropriate time to make such restrictions.

We strongly oppose the idea of converting the Town Hall parking lot and the conversion of a single-family residence to the new police station and Town Hall. This goes against every urban planning doctrine. Streets, like Walnut, should be used as transition streets between property types (commercial to residential). It will be a permanent scar on the neighborhood to intermingle residential housing with commercial buildings. It will also dramatically impact light, shadows, noise, traffic and privacy of the adjoining residential lots- all of whom are strongly opposed to this plan.

Last is the unacceptable timelines given to our community to provide thoughtful feedback. The timelines provided are totally and completely inadequate. We still have not seen the renderings of the Town Hall site and our public comment is due to expire on September 19th. I urge you to extend this deadline to allow more community members to provide you their feedback. If your goal is to hear the community, which I hope it is, you will allow more time to hear more neighbors. Members of the HEAC who oppose the current plan feel that the Town has adequately provided ample opportunity to provide thoughtful feedback and has not taken the existing feedback by and implemented it. Members of the HEAC committee have told me personally that they perceived the consultants which the Town hired had an agenda. That agenda was to put apartment buildings in Hillsborough and were relentless until they got what they wanted. They did not approach this from a perspective of solving this our allotment mostly with ADU’s, that was an error that needs to be remedied. No members of our HEAC were attorneys’, real estate professionals, or urban planners. We essentially had a HEAC with no professionally qualified members who could offer insightful alternatives to the group. We hired an out-of-town group of consultants from Los Angeles to draft a totally unacceptable Housing Element Draft. They should have been advising, but it appears the consultants strongly steered the direction of the Housing Element in a way that is in total opposition to Town resident interests. The current draft needs to be thrown out and redrafted with ADU’s as the primary source of our housing allotment, do not move the Town Hall or Police Station and seriously consider how to get senior housing built on the Town Hall site with 1:1 parking.

Thank you,

Laith & Katie Salma

Hi

I had an opportunity to review the draft material on Housing Development on your website. I attended the 6pm Public Open House yesterday evening at North School Multipurpose Room. I briefly spoke with Ms. Liz Ruess, and I am copying her on my candid feedback regarding this unprecedented project for the Town of Hillsborough.

High level questions at the outset

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?
Intended and unintended consequences?
How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware of this project, and how many have provided their feedback?

Who is driving this Draft Housing Element?

- If it is the State of California, their credibility has been on a very steep decline for over several decades. I would think the State is the least genuinely concerned body about the average worker in the State or Town of Hillsborough.
- Quality of life and living costs in California with high taxes, inflation, increasing crime rates is the real issue, not low-cost housing.
- I believe California has lost residents to other states every year since 2001.
- My employer, Viavi, moved its headquarters from San Jose to Chandler, Arizona. Oracle and HP moved to Texas, others will follow.
 - 396,000k regulations in the State of California.
 - Declining quality and slow services.
 - Example: City of Chandler, AZ offered, and we used "Concierge Service", on construction permitting & approval process. They require and we adhere to very sound water recycling, solar power use, very good environmental measures etc.
 - We have to be mindful, cost of housing, reasonable mortgage rates, only one cost element vs many others, like availability-reliability of water & utilities, higher State Taxes, etc
- Hillsborough Town should not accept, at face value, a "mandate from the State"

Intended and unintended consequences have been fully considered?

- How many teachers, firefighters and police expressed active interest in this project?

- How many of them drive more than 30 miles each-way to work?
 - “A few miles driving distance to work” seems attractive, but a very unreasonable expectation and requirement.
- What is the projected sale price of proposed low-cost housing in Hillsborough?
 - With even lower cost housing choices within 15 miles of Hillsborough, interested firefighters, police & teachers will really buy such units in Hillsborough?
- Tinkering with the very special--charming Town of Hillsborough, heritage & uniqueness. will most certainly have unintended consequences
 - I believe this initiative will definitely make developers; utility companies, others richer
 - Have unforeseen large infrastructure costs in water, sewer, schools, etc been quantified and considered?
 - The Town could see some exodus from Hillsborough

My own immigrant's story,
attraction was: equality of opportunities NOT equality of outcomes,

- 50 years ago, fresh out of high school, with $200 in my pocket I came to America: stayed with an American family, dreamt of buying a house in Hillsborough attended CSM, UC Berkeley,
 - 37-Years ago I married my beautiful wife from Vancouver, BC, spent 7 years in Penang running HP's very large R&D and Manufacturing facility. Returned in 1995 with four children and purchased a beautiful house in precious and highly esteemed Hillsborough
 - We have three daughters and a son, they initially attended the KZV Armenian School in San Francisco
 - Then attended West and Crocker schools----great academics, character education, sports, best music teacher, etc
 - Hillsborough residents: awesome people, highly educated, successful, high parental participation in local schools
 - Our children later attended: San Mateo High School, UC Davis, University of Santa Clara, USC, University of Rome and Sorbonne. They all learned to appreciate diversity, different cultures, came back, and have successful jobs in the Bay Area.

How many of the 11,000 Hillsborough Residents are aware, how many have provided their feedback on this huge project?

- Hillsborough Town set up key meetings in August and September —high vacation months. There were quite a few people last night, but I would think, they make up a tiny fraction of the residents.
 - Why not send a summary email (with less than ten slides) to all residents to make them better aware
 - 11,000 residents: Should get a high percentage of them to agree before this measure is seriously considered for implementation

- Even if passed, only a “baby step” should be considered in only one location in the Town to learn from this experience.

Thanks for listening. I work for a high-tech company and manage their Real Estate, EH&S, and Facilities in 60 global locations. I also manage Sourcing & Procurement.

Subject: Feedback on Hillsborough Housing Plan
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 3:30:25 PM

Hello, my family has lived in Hillsborough for ten years and we currently reside at 8 Homs Court. I have just recently gotten up to speed on the Town's initial draft plan to provide more housing units, and I wanted to provide you with my feedback (unfortunately, I was unable to attend the Town meeting last night). In general, I'm unhappy with the initial draft plan's proposal to meet the RHNA obligations through greater housing density by "up-zoning" through smaller lot sizes, increased FAR, etc. I worry that, if implemented, this would really have a dramatic effect on the character of the Town and what makes it attractive to many of us who live here. It seems like a plan that allows the consultants to meet their numbers without taking into account the actual people who live here.

My understanding is that there is an alternate "Smart Housing for Hillsborough" plan that proposes to fulfill the Town's obligations via a more measured approach, relying more substantially on increasing the number of ADUs. We are actually in the process of completing a new ADU this year on our own property and some of the recent changes to the ADU process made it much easier to undertake our project. I have no doubt that further changes to the ADU process/incentives would continue to drive more ADUs and help offset the need for installing high density housing in the middle of existing neighborhoods.

More generally, I worry that the initial draft plan has been a rushed process that is not supported by a significant majority (or any majority) of Hillsborough residents, and I think everyone would be in favor of getting behind a plan that has much more community support. Let's find a way to create more housing while also retaining the attributes that attracted us to Hillsborough!

Subject: hi - important feedback re: current draft housing plan

Dear Hillsborough Housing Committee, Mayor Al Royse, Vice Mayor Christine Krolik, and Council Members,

I wanted to send an email since all of the many homeowners I've spoken to in Hillsborough along with my family are extremely concerned about the current draft plan for housing. In the 16 years that we've lived here, this is probably the most important issue that affects our town's aesthetics and natural features, safety, schools, property values, traffic - basically everything is at stake and could be affected adversely by the current plan. There is a reason our town is such a special, beautiful and safe place to live and we hope that we can best preserve what attracted us all to move here as much as possible. As such, most homeowners are alarmed and would like to respectfully ask that the hard-working people who are in charge of representing us to please consider some of the proposed alternative plans that can still help us achieve the state goals without giving up so much.

One of the plans is called Smart Housing for Hillsborough and seems to have some excellent alternative ideas. Please do not vote for or pass the current plan that was led by an outside consultant with no personal ties to this special place that is home to us. We should look carefully at other towns (Atherton, Woodside) with similar profiles and consider what they've done.

Thanks for your efforts to ensure that the town of Hillsborough will not suffer from any detrimental decisions without carefully considering the feedback of its homeowners in order to move forward with a plan that most accept and support versus the current draft plan.

Please let us know if there's anything we can do towards helping the town to reach an alternative plan that protects us better.

Best regards,
Amy and Michael Liou

Mayor Alvin Royse and Vice Mayor Christine Krolic

Council Members Sophie Cole, Laurence May and Marie Chuang-

I strongly oppose the Housing Element Draft as proposed-

- Please consider increasing the number of new ADU's to satisfy the state
- DO NOT alter the character of our town
- NO to "upzones" – do not change our town's character
- Get creative about educating residents and how you can make ADU process more streamlined
- Homeowners moved to this town for the suburban space, beauty and excellent schools
- Residents I know are angry and shocked by this proposal
- The Town Hall site is proposed to be large multifamily structure with 100 or more units and no parking- this is a terrible planning decision- how is this legal? Anytime you develop a project you need to plan for parking

- Where are these proposed residents supposed to park- along Floribunda? This is ridiculous
- Rather than hire a consultant that lives out of the area- you all need to have a plan developed by residents of Hillsborough- we need to be careful and not give up our Town's character because we have a deadline to submit to state
- DO NOT rely on a consultant- please listen to your community
- The proposal is unacceptable- please do not let this be your legacy to our great community

Subject: Hillsborough Housing Plan -
Date: Wednesday, September 7, 2022 12:24:45 PM

Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik,
Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz,

First of all I would like to thank all of you for your efforts in crafting a Housing Element Draft that meets the State requirements, I know it's not easy and you are trying to please the community and satisfy the State.

I strongly oppose the Housing Element Draft as proposed. I understand and agree that Hillsborough needs to meet the Housing Element allotment due to our current housing crisis, but this plan has been fatally flawed from the very start in a way which set the whole process off in the WRONG direction. The State guidelines on the ADU calculations suggest taking the previous rolling three year average.

This is only GUIDANCE not a REQUIREMENT!

The flaw with this calculation is that we had COVID-19 in 2019 and 2020 where the state had literally ordered people not to work, to stay home, to stay separate, limited certain types of construction, to isolate, etc.

In those two COVID years we had ADU's completion of 26 and 28 units. As soon as the new legislation for ADU's came out (which streamlined the process), coupled with COVID-19 pandemic ending, our ADU production shot through the roof with 65 ADUs in one year and this year we are on track for 60 ADU's/ year. How is it rational in any way to use the artificially low ADU production years of 2019 and 2020 as factors in a calculation that massively impacts the layout of our town for the next 8 years!? This needs to be pushed back on as firmly as possible.

We need to have a plan that utilizes ADU's as the primary way to solve our Housing Element allotment. We have a clear track record of creating at least 60 units/ year- which over 8 years is 480 units, vs the 250 proposed in the current draft of the Housing Element. At every school event, soccer game, baseball game, birthday party etc, the hot topic for the last two years has been ADU's. The majority of the close to 200 people I spoke with have plans to complete ADU's in the next few years, most were waiting for the craziness of COVID to end and get a sense of normalcy before starting a stressful project.

Because of the major miscalculation by our consultants, every step after this has been going in the wrong direction and has been a mistake. Every problem the Draft worked on solving was based on that idea that we needed to solve for 400 extra units vs 100-150.

The "Buffer" guidelines that the State has suggested is between 15-30% (in case some units don't get built). The Draft offered 20%- more than even the minimum guidelines. Why didn't we go with the minimum of 15%, or even better, why not go past the "guidelines and make a strong case for only a 10% buffer? The State is receptive to an increased ADU allotment or bending the guidelines if we can show a real plan as to how the Town will complete the increased amount of ADU units. Hillsborough can do a number of things to demonstrate to the State that we will far exceed our number of 60/ units/ year by doing the following:

1) Implement an education outreach plan

If residents were educated to the fact that if we don't meet our ADU allotment we will face rezoning in ways that are negatively impactful to our town (fire, traffic, schooling teacher/ child ratio and funding, utilities, density= fire danger, etc.) people would feel more invested in speeding up their ADU timelines.

2) Offer financial incentives to qualifying applicants- perhaps waiving fees for fixed income seniors or families. Perhaps waiving increased taxes and fees.

3) Per the Consultant

(Robert)- The Town can "pre-approve" of three ADU pre-fab designs made by manufactured home builders. This would allow people to know that their project is already approved and the costs will be almost entirely predictable and economical due to the pre-fab nature of these ADU's. The consultant said this would go a long way with the State.

Perhaps

the most egregious idea is the Town Hall site, which includes re-zoning for a 100-150 unit building with no underground parking in exchange the Town gets a new police station and Town Hall.

While this may represent the interest of the police department and the employees of the Town, it does not represent one residents interest in the Ryan Tract.

There is a serious, perceived conflict of interest with this site- the optics do not look good when the entire neighborhood is against this proposal, but the Town is for it and the Town has something significant to gain. Having a high rise on our charming and historically significant police station is unacceptable.

These historic structures cannot be torn down. The current draft proposes to have only the Town Hall site meet 100% of the Town's affordable Housing allotment instead of distributing that allotment equally throughout the Town's proposed sites. This is highly discriminatory and shows a total lack of equity. The second issue of serious concern to me and everyone I spoke with is the severe lack of parking. The current plan only has surface parking and has NO underground parking. Regardless of the State allowing developers to "get away" with no parking, this site needs to be zoned for 1:1 parking for any units, just like every other site proposed.

The Town is here to represent the interests of its residents, not the bottom line for a developer. The idea that people of lower incomes do not need or do not have cars is preposterous and discriminatory.

Every person who works in Hillsborough (housekeepers, teachers, janitors, gardeners, maintenance technicians, service people) ALL have cars. I mention this because Towns line about who will occupy these homes has been, "it will be people who work for you all, like your gardeners and housekeepers). This site cannot be zoned for more housing than what the parking can accommodate, with no more than 20-30 units, preferably senior housing which fits the need of our community much more than general use housing.

If the Town really needs a new Town Hall and Police Station, why not put an extra tax on the community or a bond measure? Everyone I spoke with was in favor of this solution versus the City selling it's residents out to get a new Town Hall and Police Department.

Whatever zoning is created for this site MUST include deeded parking ratios of 1:1 as well as outlawing any cell phone towers or roof decks on the properties. This is the appropriate time to make such restrictions.

I strongly oppose the idea of converting the Town Hall parking lot and the conversion of a single family residence to the new police station and Town Hall. This goes against every urban planning doctrine. Streets, like Walnut, should be used as transition streets between property types (commercial to residential). It will be a permanent scar on the neighborhood to intermingle residential housing with commercial buildings. It will also dramatically impact light, shadows, noise and privacy of the adjoining residential lots- all of who are strongly opposed to this plan.

Lastly, is the unacceptable timelines given to our community to provide thoughtful feedback. The timelines provided are totally and completely inadequate. We still have not seen the renderings of the Town Hall site and our public comment is due to expire on September 19th. I urge you to extend this deadline to allow more community members to provide you their feedback. IF your goal is to hear the community, which I hope it is, you will allow more time to hear more neighbors. The citizens do not feel that the Town has adequately provided ample opportunity to provide thoughtful feedback and has not taken the existing feedback by citizens and by members of the HEAC who oppose the current plan.

Members of the HEAC committee have told me personally that the consultants hired had an agenda to put apartment buildings in Hillsborough and were relentless in the meetings with our HEAC until they got what they wanted.

They did not approach this from a perspective of solving this our allotment mostly with ADU's, that was an error that needed to be remedied. No members of our HEAC were attorneys real estate professional, or urban planners. We essentially had a HEAC with no professionally qualified members who could offer insightful alternatives to the group. We allowed an out of town group of consultants from Los Angelas to draft a totally unacceptable Housing Element Draft. It needs to be thrown out and redrafted with ADU's as the primary source of our housing allotment.

Thank You,
Marc Snyder

I am writing following last night's meeting on the Housing Element plans to meet the state's affordability plans. Currently to date we have yet to see an impact report on proposed multifamily, lot splits etc. We are tracking to the state's goals through the ADU process and with city encouragement we could easily exceed. I recently built an ADU and while the process is easier than a standard permit the fees associated and the difficulty with the nuances is still an obstacle (4-6 month approval). ADUs are a great approach as the resident then bears the cost of operating, owning and maintaining versus leaving that up to a developer- putting more pressure on city resources (Parking, fire, schools, police etc). IF the council would ease the burden we could easily meet the goals as the 2021 run rate would hit the targets. That would eliminate the need for "up-zoning" - no smaller minimum lot sizes, no reduced setbacks, no increased height allowances, no increased FAR (floor area ratio), and no reduced landscaping coverage.

Thank you for your time,

Brad

Good morning!

I'm writing to express my deep concern about the draft Housing Element plan that is currently being considered by Hillsborough. And to voice my opposition to the plan. I do not support it.

I believe the plan should be adjusted to put a far greater emphasis on ADU's as a solution to meet California's requirements.

I prefer the Smart Housing For Hillsborough Plan and would urge the town of Hillsborough to adjust the current draft proposal to incorporate many elements of this alternative plan.

Finally, I'd like to say a big 'THANK YOU!' to all of you for representing our community! I realize it's a volunteer position — and at times a thankless one!

Warm regards,

Some of the locations being discussed to add housing also make no sense when you are going to build on a schools land which would take away capacity at a school and also add lots of additional people/students, so thats a huge net loss.

To whom it may concern:

This is to let you know that we are out of the country and unable to attend the September 6 meeting. We are therefore submitting this letter to voice our concern.

We understand the need for more affordable housing units in CA however the current proposed plan from the consultants is unacceptable. The consulting firm presented a one size fits all plan to appease Sacramento without thinking critically if there is a better path available for Hillsborough. The consultant has offered a blanket plan (e.g. rezoning) that is not tailored to our community and minimizes what is actually working and has exceeded historical expectations (ADUs). The focus of Hillsborough's plan must be on ADU's and must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. Not enough has been done by way of partnering with residents to explore satisfying State requirements through more aggressive measures around allowing for and providing incentives for ADU's & JADU's. Based on the 2021 ADU run-rate it seems the entire 8 year allocation can be met through ADU's alone and the town council is underestimating the potential for ADU's as part of its proposed plan.

Furthermore, there is a clear lack of planning for infrastructure in this plan: sewer, water, cellular coverage, electrical and parking need to be heavily considered. More specifically, where is the parking plan for the apartment units located on El Camino? What about the impact on our streets and sidewalks? If numerous apartment units are to be built in the Town Hall area, the traffic, which is already very busy, will become overwhelming. Without a proper parking plan in place, there will be a direct impact on all of the streets in the surrounding area. Additionally, reduction in lot sizes and denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency services, diminish the quality of our town's crown jewel (our schools) and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special.

The fact that we have zero commerce and 70% of our town is designated as a High Fire Risk zone, 554 units seems like a very aggressive requirement for our town and must also be addressed.

Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. The clear answer here is incorporating much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's as other towns have done and rejection of all other strategies. Atherton successfully removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. Hillsborough must follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal.

You now have an opportunity to listen to your citizens, set aside the consultant's flawed recommendation, and make the right decision before it's too late. If the Council passes ordinances allowing for more ADU's/JADU's, it can all but eliminate any need for high density housing.

Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

Thank You

To whom it may concern:

I am learning more about the draft housing plan, and while I absolutely recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and deeply appreciate the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our town, the current plan is far too complex. The consulting firm seems to have run a playbook that was one size fits all approach to appease Sacramento without thinking critically if there is a better path forward. The consultant has offered a blanket plan (ie: re-zoning) that is not tailored to our community and minimizes what is actually working and has exceeded historical expectations (ie ADUs).

The focus of Hillsborough's plan must be on ADU and vacant lot development and must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. Hello,

We are writing this letter in support of the alternate plan proposed by the Smart Housing For Hillsborough team. The previous plans submitted by the outside planning group should NOT be the only plan considered by our Town Council. Even though the state is "only requesting a plan" at this time, there will be severe impacts on many neighborhoods once developers jump in and take advantage of zoning changes proposed that are presented to the Town members as "just a plan."

The Town should have surveyed the number of pool houses and guest houses that already exist ~ many of which can to be upgraded to meet the specifications of an ADU or JDU, and these structures should have entered into the equations for estimating projections for ADU/JDUs. It seems the most acceptable scenario for expanding housing is to encourage more of these structures that can house younger people trying to make a living in the area as well as older people in need of housing and family care. Teachers, police and others would greatly benefit from housing such as this as well.

Fire, sewage, transportation and other infrastructure issues have been mentioned, but the impact on the environment and destruction of green space and trees is another important issue to be considered in these drastic zoning alterations.

We are requesting that our Town Council consider alternate plans and study what our neighboring towns have accomplished in their plans.

Sincerely,
Nettie and Chip Ramsay

Dear Mayor Royse, Vice Mayor Krolik, Council Members Cole, May, and Chuang, City Clerk Natusch, and City Attorney Diaz, I appreciate all the efforts you make to serve the public in Hillsborough, keeping this town such a special place for us all. I want to register my opposition to the draft Housing Element recently shared with the public. This plan is not good for the town, in my opinion. Specifically: * I support an alternate approach for our Housing Element, utilizing the maximum number of ADU's/JADU's possible, reducing or eliminating the buffer, and utilizing vacant lots to achieve our RHNA goals.

* I oppose any reduction in lot sizes, and any other changes to our current "RD" zoning. This denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency situations, destroy property values, and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. Do not change our zoning. * I oppose having a goal (Policy 4, Goal 4.5) to "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing, smaller, single-family homes." This goal and its implementation will violate homeowners' property rights and penalize those homeowners with no compensation. Remove this goal from our plan, and do not implement it in the future. * I oppose using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU's and JADU's) in the plan. Other towns are using much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's in their plans, and so should we. Add more ADU/JADU's to our plan.

* I oppose using too high of a buffer, requiring more housing to achieve our RHNA obligations. Many people in our town agree on these four points - I'm sure you've heard the feedback as you've been considering this plan. Please include this email in the public record and consider it on September 12 and beyond as you finalize our submission to the California Department of Housing and Community Development. Sincerely,

Subject: General Plan Housing Element modifications regarding Strawberry Hill
Date: Tuesday, September 6, 2022 5:36:04 PM

I recognize the need for this planning and plan. I am not a NIMBY hater of any development. Additional housing units in our town and our state are desperately needed.

However, there is one very fatal flaw concerning access for development of the Strawberry Hill property. The sole access point for most of the proposed new units is currently shown as Redington Road. The road currently provides access as a narrow, dead end right of way that serves only Strawberry Hill and 4 additional homes. This road would be totally inadequate to serve the traffic from more than a hundred additional residences. My own home at the entrance to the dead end was not counted as it is at the T intersection of Redington and Skyfarm. It would however also be significantly, adversely affected by the massive increase in traffic volume.

Condemnation by eminent domain of the 4, and demolition of 3 of the 4 existing Redington Road residences would most likely be necessary in order to build a road of adequate capacity for the traffic generated by so many housing units. Further, being a dead end road and in the Urban Wildfire Zone creates an additional, serious safety hazard for emergency egress of so many new residents. ... and cellular phone service is spotty at best in this area, adding to the safety concern.

For public safety a second access point would be essential for the large number of affordable housing units being suggested. Macadamia might be openable for access onto the current, upper Strawberry Hill driveway, but the site topography may or may not allow such access. If a reasonable capacity through roadway can not be provided, the number of units proposed for Strawberry Hill should be greatly reduced.

Thank you for your consideration of my comments.

My background is as a retired civil/sanitary/environmental engineer (MS-CE Stanford), and other stuff.

I have family in town, and we have dinner plans tonight, so I am sorry that I will not be able to attend the meeting.

Let me start by saying that I absolutely agree that we need to address the housing need. There has to be a better plan than what is currently proposed. After reviewing the general plan that has been made public to the Town, I have to say that there are some points that I still question.

How did we get allotted 500+ units for a subset of 94010 (why couldn't Burlingame and Hillsborough be combined in this ridiculously large number for a population forecast?). There have been conversations that the large number was appealed to, so what happened with that conversation? And if it was appealed, then others understood that planning for 500+ is challenging.

Can we incentivize current homeowners with construction of ADUs and JADUs or multiple on-site ADUs and JADUs?

Can we include in the plan the additional land that the Town currently owns and begin with potential construction at those lots? I never understood why DeGuigne and Brooke Court were in the plan when I wasn't sure if the families were notified and if they were going to support high density housing or additional housing on their lots.

How do we think about infrastructure and schooling for 500-800 potential new students (if we have families that have 1-2 school-age children)?

There are many others more eloquent than me and who have done greater research than I have, but I have learned so much being on this committee. Having the opportunity to listen to other HEAC members who come from various socioeconomic backgrounds, I have altered how I view/think about this housing issue from 'yes, let's build everywhere' to 'wait a minute, we need to be more thoughtful'.

Can we create a more thoughtful plan that listens to and includes the voices of our townspeople?

With great regard to you and this process,

Build housing where there is transportation as you propose at Town Hall or perhaps maybe along skyline/280. To rezone to 1/3 acre throughout Hillsborough and to reduce setbacks and increase FAR throughout all of Hillsborough is obviously not ideal--- we can do better! I have read the alternative plan which is clearly superior than what is currently being considered. Hillsborough was not created with the transportation, roads or enough schools to go to high density. I realize things are changing and perhaps need to change-- but rezoning all of Hillsborough without a plan for the schools and transportation is not acceptable. Keeping our zoning intact and then plans like expanded ADU's would be much more attractive than the unnecessary bold/extreme step of changing lot sizes to 1/3 acre and increased FAR. I am not in favor of the current-- we can do better.

Hello,

As a Hillsborough resident I have many concerns with the proposed plan because it will completely change the feeling of our unique town and the reason we all pay a premium to live here.

First of all, there is not enough being done to fight to keep our town from drastically changing with the proposed zoning and rule changes. The city council, housing committee, Mayor and other elected officials need to do more! They have to get more aggressive with the number of ADU's, including passing ordinances now before submitting our plan, allowing for more ADU's and more incentives for ADU's. If the Council passes such ordinances, it can justify a much higher number of ADU's, which would potentially eliminate (or at least drastically slash) any high density housing in their plan. Other towns similar to ours have done this and we need to fight for that as well!

You must also demand that there be no "up-zoning", as this imposes a very unfair restriction on anyone who currently owns a smaller home, and no to smaller minimum lot sizes, no to reduced setbacks, no to increased high allowances, no to increased FAR (floor area ration), and no to reduced landscaping coverage.

If any of the proposed zoning changes are approved, they must be limited to a one time exception and not the norm, as that would ensure our town doesn't get taken over by developers, but rather stays a town of predominantly single family homes, as it was intended to be, and why it's so highly coveted.

If affordable housing absolutely has to be added, then the developers must be required to stick to strict architectural guidelines that are regulated and enforced by the town. These guidelines must be put in place so the new buildings blend in with the beautiful architecture that is all around Hillsborough.

Dennis Moore has proposed a new plan that is much improved over the original and I support aspects of that plan, although I still think there is more work to be done to preserve our small town and ensure we've exhausted all options first, and laid out very specific changes/guidelines in zoning and architecture that will only apply to the new developments going in related to this mandate.

Dana Gross

Subject: Feedback on HEAC plan
Date: Tuesday, September 6, 2022 1:37:28 PM

My name is Chris Kruse and I live with my wife, Stephanie, and my family in Hillsborough. We moved to Hillsborough in 1996 and have lived in 2 homes since then. We currently reside at 120 Redwood Drive.

I've read the Housing Element Public Review Draft document provided on the Hillsborough website. Based on this review, the following is my feedback on the process so far and the plan.

1. Notwithstanding the fact I have lived in Hillsborough for over 25 years, I was not aware of the State requirement to provide 554 new housing units to low and medium-income citizens. Whatever outreach was done, and it appeared to be extensive, did not reach me. Shockingly, my water bill gets to me every month.
2. The Element draft does not appropriately capture the importance of ADU and JADU dwellings on our property. Given the number of permits issued to date, we can significantly decrease the need to build large-scale multi-unit housing if we made the ADU process easier and less confusing. The plan should include 50% of our objective to be handled by more ADU units over the next 8 years.
3. The concept of "up zoning" is ludicrous. We purchased homes here for a reason, and to carve up land and build many smaller homes is in direct conflict with the foundation of our Community.
4. The concept of "reducing setbacks" is also a major problem. Our homes and the privacy and security we enjoy is directly related to the distance (40') between dwellings. If we wanted to live closer to our neighbors, we would have not chosen Hillsborough. This idea represents a material breach of our civic contract with the Town of Hillsborough and would lead to lengthy, expensive litigation. I guarantee it.
5. The concept of "taller buildings" is also a major problem. Again, the impact on home values if multi-story apartment buildings emerged would be devastating.
6. The ideas around reduced landscape coverage is also a problem. We live here and take pride in our property. To "de-beautify" it with less landscaping and more cement is contrary to the spirit of Hillsborough.

I am certain there is more work to be done on a plan that makes better sense. I will NOT support the existing plan and believe our process needs more time and input from the community. There are alternatives available that the existing HEAC has not considered and I demand we take the time for a more thoughtful and larger community-based approach to solving these problems. We certainly have the time to do so - this plan is pre-mature.

Sincerely,

Chris Kruse

To whom it may concern:

In reviewing the draft housing plan, and while I recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and deeply appreciate the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our town, the current proposed plan from the consultants is unacceptable and a superior alternative has emerged. The consulting firm ran a playbook that was one size fits all to appease Sacramento without thinking critically if there is a better path available for Hillsborough. The consultant has offered a blanket plan (e.g. rezoning) that is not tailored to our community and minimizes what is actually working and has exceeded historical expectations (ADUs). The focus of Hillsborough's plan must be on ADU's and vacant lot development and must NOT include any mention of smaller minimum lot sizes, reduced setbacks (outside of the reduced setbacks for ADU's/JADU's), increases to height allowances, increased floor area ratio or reduced landscaping coverage. Not enough has been done by way of partnering with residents to explore satisfying State requirements through more aggressive measures around allowing for and providing incentives for ADU's & JADU's. Based on the 2021 ADU run-rate it seems the entire 8 year allocation can be met through ADU's alone and the town council is underestimating the potential for ADU's as part of its proposed plan.

Furthermore, there is a clear lack of planning for infrastructure in this plan: sewer, water, cellular coverage, electrical and parking need to be heavily considered. More specifically, where is the parking plan for the apartment units located on El Camino? What about the impact on our streets and sidewalks? If apartment units are to be built in the Town Hall area, the traffic, which is already very busy, will become overwhelming. Without a proper parking plan in place, there will be a direct impact on all of the streets in the surrounding area. Additionally, reduction in lot sizes and denser housing throughout our neighborhoods will create danger in fire and other emergency services, diminish the quality of our town's crown jewel (our schools) and eliminate what makes Hillsborough special. The fact that we have zero commerce and 70% of our town is designated as a High Fire Risk zone, 554 units seems overly aggressive requirement for our town and must also be addressed, especially as the town should get credit for having done more than what was required over the past decade in adding housing..

I know the town is trying their best, but as Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. The clear answer here is incorporating much higher numbers of ADU/JADU's as other towns have done and rejection of all other strategies. Using such a small number of Accessory Dwelling Units in the current plan shows that the consultant has not done enough by way of informing, communicating and partnering with homeowners on how to go about building more ADU/JADU's. Atherton successfully removed multi-family townhomes and overlay zones from their RHNA proposal with the help of their mayor and councilwoman. Hillsborough must follow the plan Atherton has proposed and remove all multi-family overlay zones from the proposal. You now have an opportunity to listen to your citizens, set aside the consultant's flawed recommendation, and make the right decision before it's too late. If the Council passes ordinances allowing for more ADU's/JADU's, it can all but eliminate any need for high density housing.

I am learning more about the draft housing plan, and while I absolutely recognize the need for more affordable housing units in CA and deeply appreciate the efforts that have been put forth on behalf of our town, the current plan is far too complex. It is not in line with the city council's purpose to "Oppose legislation that seeks to undermine the ability for Council to enact its long-term mission and vision for the Town of Hillsborough."

I know the town is trying their best, but as Atherton has shown, the support of the council is needed to push forward a plan that does NOT include rezoning or lot splitting. Subject: Proposed Rezoning of the Town of Hillsborough
Date: Tuesday, September 6, 2022 9:31:50 AM

To all involved in this process,

Let me state up front: I am adamantly opposed to your proposed rezoning/housing plan. I also respectfully request that this email and my comments be entered into the Public Record. Thank you.

It appears that there are many points of contention in your proposed plan to change the nature of our town. Any (misguided) edict from Sacramento aside, there are serious matters that remain ignored in this plan and that will negatively impact current residents, children, wildlife, safety, property values, long-standing land ownership definitions and so on.

First of all, I see no mention of concurrent, or better, pre-need upgrades to infrastructure. Up here on Tournament, it can take ten minutes for an officer to arrive on the scene after a burglar alarm deploys. Add 18 units off Brooke Court (which is in the middle of a high fire danger zone, by the way) and the attendant traffic that goes along with another 18-36 cars, and that could put those in my neighborhood at serious risk from n'er do wells.

Second, without sufficient street accommodation, how will the fire trucks and EMT units access this area in an emergency? Are you planning to assess developers the appropriate amounts to add water, sewer, road widening (which, of course, no one here is interested in at all)? Will those affected receive a reduction in our property and service taxes for the inconvenience?

Third, with an additional 550+ units and, say, an average of two children per unit, where do you propose adding 1000 kids to our school? Existing campuses operate at capacity as it is. Then, you will need teachers, who have to drive to the schools, and to live someplace. Was this discussed?

Fourth, why did you choose the consultant you hired, one with no experience advising exclusively single-family home charter towns like ours?

Fifth, why propose reengineering the lot layouts and landscaping parameters, which make Hillsborough a place where people are happy to pay a premium to live? It will turn Hillsborough into just another cramped suburb. We have open space. We have a few monstrous parcels which some landowners may be willing to subdivide given the right incentives. We have BCC, which benefits only a handful of people and uses scarce water resources to keep its greens green. Was any thought given to this low-hanging fruit before trying to empower developers (many of whom will be non-resident) to swoop in, buy a house, tear it down, and build four four-plex units, perhaps across the street from your home?

I'm really disappointed in the limited vision of this plan. It appears that there is a lack of communication between the Town and the initial 17-member committee based upon my conversations with many people, as well as or in the alternative a lack of disclosure and transparency between the consultant and the HEAC committee. If, as Mayor Royse extolls, this is THE most critical issue facing our town in the past fifty years, why is it that most of us are only learning about it now, with only a few weeks to oppose it before it heads to Sacramento for approval or disapproval? It seems to me that your communications should have been titled "HOUSING ELEMENT PLAN ENVISIONS HUGE, HIGH-DENSITY REZONING OF THE TOWN OF HILLSBOROUGH THAT WILL IRREVERSIBLY ALTER THE COMMUNITY FABRIC. WEIGH IN WITH YOUR COMMENTS NOW." That is a message that would have resonated with all of us in time to effect reasonable, workable alternatives.

Do you really believe that Sac will seize control of Town Hall if you don't submit a plan that entirely transforms our town into a densely populated suburb? I'm sorry to say this, but they can't even control EDD or DMV. What possible incentive would they have to start taking over town governments? You are smart people and conscientious neighbors. The reason most of us moved here is to take advantage of the space and the schools. Remove both incentives, and you're left with just another dysfunctional California town bent on socially reengineering existing residents into a mass exodus, while developers laugh all the way to the bank.

Or is that the goal?

Sincerely,
Medea Bern

Subject: Comments on ledraft RHNA housing element
Date: Monday, September 5, 2022 10:17:36 PM

I oppose the 8/4/22 draft of the RHNA housing element. Due to other commitments I can not attend the 2 public meetings, but want to comment on problems I have with the draft.

I oppose changing the zoning from 1/2 to 1/3 acre and changes in frontage and landscape area.

This is a drastic first step toward changing the look and feel of the town. I purchased a home here in large part due to the peaceful atmosphere, trees, gardens etc. The interests of the residents who live here should come first rather than the interests of those who might want to live here.

I believe that changing the zoning will result in town property being less valuable.

I do a lot of walking and there are mostly no sidewalks. If there is increased density walking may be more risky. Would developers of properties be required to put in sidewalks?

I don't feel that there has been adequate consideration of vacant lots owned by the city and private individuals. The consultants could have made a presentation with alternate scenarios, but did not do so.

While redeveloping the town hall site may be a way to meet the RHNA requirements, the town council and staff appeared to have gotten a slow start on getting an analysis done of the site and its potential, possible impacts on traffic flow, etc. But we are asked to approve something that has not been studied. If an analysis was available it could be objectively analyzed, But of course it is not.

I also strongly oppose Goal 4.5 which is stated to be "Discourage redevelopment of sites with existing smaller family homes". This would limit the owner of private property to take out an older house which is not in good shape or which has other various problems or where the owner or new buyer wants something different. This does not seem like a goal that is required to meet RHNA. Over time this would degrade the look and feel of the town and create run down homes, lessening property values. It is hard to put into words how strongly I oppose this. Any local politician that favors this will have to do some explaining.

I also oppose 4.3 which would assess an affordable housing fee against new above moderate income development. This is essentially taxing above moderate income developers and owners to fund "affordable housing". If affordable housing can't be built with federal, state or county funding or funding from foundations or charitable organizations, why should a subset of Hillsborough residents be required to fund this. How much would such impact fees be? This proposal calls for a study but the way that the goal is phrased, it is pretty clear that the goal of the study is to support such a fee, so the study does not start by being neutral. There is nothing in the draft that gives the background on such impact fees. Strongly oppose.

As far as all the fair housing charts showing different racial groups etc I don't understand what is being proposed and why all these charts are included. I am of Asian ethnicity and aware that Hillsborough is very popular with Asian business owners, entrepreneurs and Asian investors. Would be opposed to any kind of quotas or set asides that are based on race or ethnicity that might disadvantage Asians versus some other race on someone's theory that other races are somehow entitled to more representation here.

This whole draft needs a major overhaul.

To Whom It May Concern,

My wife and I have lived in the city of Hillsborough since 1985. We take great pride in living in this fine city. One of the reasons my wife and I continue to stay here is that we find this city to be among the safest in the Bay Area. As we reach the twilight of our lives, we have to be concerned with our own safety. I am in my nineties and my wife in her eighties, our kids have long since moved away and we are alone together. We have created a life for ourselves that centers around our well being. We love walking the streets of Hillsborough each day and have become acquainted with a few of our wonderful neighbors. As you know, Hillsborough has a well deserved reputation as an upscale city, home to some very dynamic individuals. The ability to attract this caliber of people is directly related to the way of life possible in Hillsborough.

We are aware of the proposed State Mandate which requires Hillsborough to create additional housing within the City limits. We strongly believe this could greatly inhibit the exact lifestyle that makes Hillsborough so attractive. It appears a viable solution could be for the City to allow In-Law units on the premises of existing homes, and we trust this would satisfy the need for new housing while allowing Hillsborough to maintain its charm and sophistication.

Thank you for your consideration. Please feel free to reach out to us should you desire additional commentary on this important matter.

To Council Members:

Unfortunately, we will be back East and unable to make the Tuesday meeting. Regardless, we want to express our strong opposition to the extensive zoning changes that are being proposed in the current plan.

It is vital that the town focuses on its citizens and their desires, not what is dictated from Sacramento. As often has proven to be the case, legal challenges have been successful such that the citizens of a town's legal rights are upheld.

As importantly, this plan likely will lower property values which in turn will lower overall economic revenue to the city, county, and state. Exactly the wrong outcome at a time the City needs extensive repair to its aging infrastructure.

We urge you to recognize your duty is to the citizens of Hillsborough and not the State. It's clear that Hillsborough's citizens, when educated about the proposal, feel the plan is not consistent with their desires. We ask that you defend these wishes as compared to blindly following the State's requests. Doing such will only lead to years in the courts and ultimately defeat of what is not legally enforceable. Avoid going down a path that wastes money, time, and effort of all the above constituents.

I am writing to express my opposition to the proposed housing plan being considered by the council.

My husband and I moved to Hillsborough 16 years ago for the same reason that most people move here - for the excellent schools and the unique beauty of the community. The proposal to change the zoning laws in town to allow more dense housing would destroy the community that we know and love. I believe that the town should attempt to meet our low income housing obligation through incentives to create more ADU's, which would allow us to create low income housing without changing the character of our beautiful town. The council should pass ordinances now before submitting our plan, allowing for more ADU's and more incentives for ADU's. If the Council passes such ordinances, it can justify a much higher number of ADU's, which would potentially eliminate (or at least drastically slash) any high density housing in their plan. The proposal for "up zoning" is unacceptable. No to smaller minimum lot sizes, no to reduced setbacks, no to increased high allowances, no to increased FAR (floor area ratio), and no to reduced landscaping coverage.

The proposed changes the council is considering would be a deadly blow to our beloved town. There has been zero consideration taken for the impact on our schools, and our infrastructure. The citizens of Hillsborough chose this place for its semi rural beauty and its award winning schools - both of which are at grave risk from the town's current proposal. I urge you to reconsider before it is too late.

Thank you.

Subject: Comments: Draft housing element and plan
Date: Saturday, September 3, 2022 2:52:23 PM

To whom it may concern, I request that all comments submitted to the town of Hillsborough on the DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN be made publicly available to all town residents.

THOUGHTS ON THE DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN

Good things that have happened:

1. Town residents and the HCA are getting involved in the discussion
2. Town staff have made limited efforts to involve town residents

Significant Problems:

1. I do not see any appreciable buy-in from either 1) Town staff or 2) Town residents for the overall goals of the "Housing Element"
 - For example: the City Manager told me "this is just a plan"
2. I do not know who planned the process that led to the DRAFT 2023-2031 plan, but whoever did, and instructed staff, consultants and volunteer residents to come up with one draft plan set this process off in the wrong direction from the outset. There are many ways to accommodate the overall goals of the "Housing Element". It would have been much better to come up with 2-3 plans and then have residents debate and discuss which plan(s) best suit the town of Hillsborough.
3. The town has many intelligent & capable residents who are willing to help. The town is not using the resources that it has at its disposal optimally.
4. It is not reasonable to put forth such a plan and not examine how the town might deal with the impacts on the "the infrastructure" in Hillsborough - one is talking about adding about 600 housing units to the town (this is a significant percentage of the town's housing units):
 - Schools
 - The water system
 - The police
 - The firemen
 - Town staff (who clearly are already over capacity and currently are not able to properly monitor building projects in the town)
 - Evacuation routes in the event of an emergency situation
 - The power grid (which is already not maintained properly)
 - Communications
 - Fire safety - adding about 600 units will lead to higher density housing in many areas of the town that are already considered to be a high fire risk areas

- Roads
 - Property values
5. Land is expensive in Hillsborough and there is a lot of money to be made building additional and/or different housing units in Hillsborough. While some feel this is just a plan - market forces are going to push rapid development of areas that are either sub-divided and/or re-zoned to smaller lot sizes

Suggestions:

1. Listen carefully to the wishes of the residents, they are the ones that need to live with implementation of any Housing Element Plan that the town submits
2. Make use of the many intelligent & capable residents who are willing to help think through the issues and suggest alternative plans
3. Facilitate submission of independently generated alternative plans and promote them at town halls
4. Give alternative plans equal and objective attention - plans suggesting meeting the RHNA by incenting the use of ADU's in Hillsborough are a good way to get around many of the failings of the plan that is currently available and circulated by town staff (DRAFT 2023-2031 HOUSING ELEMENT & PLAN)
5. Do not give in to deadlines and time pressure - those of us who have written grants know that the best product emerges close to deadlines

Question:

1. There may be elderly residents, retirees (or others) and tenants in Hillsborough who are already within the 4 AMI categories (120%, 81-120%, 51-80%, 0-50%). Have town staff made themselves aware of how many such parties are already within Hillsborough? Should they (and the homes/ADU's/Jr ADU's/rooms that they occupy) be counted for the purposes of meeting the Housing Element?

Best,

Re: Draft Housing Element Plan

Date: September 2, 2022

As a longtime Hillsborough resident I write to provide comments on the Draft Housing Element Plan. The comments address certain issues related to the Plan and to its implementation, but also to issues related to community disclosure. Adoption of the plan is a political decision for the Town Council and if it seeks community buy-in the disclosure needs to be full and complete

1. Disclosure to the Community Requires Disclosure of the Future Impact. The Advisory Committee process and the Open Houses seem to have been a thought-through way to communicate some Housing Element Plan issues to the town. Full disclosure, however, requires information regarding future impacts on the community if the Plan is implemented and the required 554 units built. No major project can be completed today without some type of environmental impact assessment. I suggest preparation of something more comprehensive in addition to customary environmental issues. The staff report does not deal with issues beyond the Plan itself and this does not provide satisfactory disclosure to the council or to the community. I understand the town cannot guess what developers may propose, but there are issues that can be determined or estimated based on expert advice. Some issues to consider and quantify include:
 - a. How much will implementation of the Plan cost. The consultant and legal fees will be substantial to prepare the Plan and to amend the town's zoning.
 - b. What additional planning and building staff will be hired to meet the required timely processing of applications?
 - c. What capital improvements will have to be paid for by the town? Will all the costs to develop the 10+ acre parcels be paid for by the developers? What about the town hall complex?
 - d. What fire, traffic and environmental issues will result from Plan implementation?
 - e. How will the development impact the town's sewer issues?
 - f. What additional fire and police resources will be required? An additional fire station?
 - g. How will the schools be impacted?
 - h. Will any additional taxes be required to implement the above?
2. The town does not have to accede to every bureaucratic interpretation of the law. I detected an approach by the council and by the staff to make broad concessions to get the Plan approved on the best possible terms and see what happens going forward. I believe this strategy does not serve the community well. Similarly situated communities, such as Atherton, are taking more aggressive postures with respect to compliance. The interests of the community may be best served by an adversary process with the state over the Plan. There are issues where drawing a line in the sand is appropriate. In doing so, of course, the town needs to recognize that Hillsborough could be a target and that some care needs to be taken to create confrontations only where something can be gained. We should not be embarrassed to affirm the single-family character of the town and to point out how the well-resourced developer and subsidized housing advocates urge policies contrary to the character of our town. These interests are not our friends.
3. Planning for the future. A necessary aspect of the town's planning needs to be a thorough understanding of how developers and others will seek to take advantage of the relaxed zoning. There are significant downsides to the proposed zoning, particularly from the overlays. It is in the nature of the process that developers and others will seek variances and other exceptions to maximize their financial advantage. When new and different zoning laws are implemented, anticipating how developers will try to take “full advantage” is important to understand. While difficult to quantify, there should be some disclosure that the town anticipates future legal expenses, which may be substantial, in connection with implementation. The town should retain a first-rate legal team experienced in litigation and free of conflicts. The developers and subsidized housing groups are already lawyered up.

4. Non-Resident Intervenors. There should be publicly available disclosure of the names and addresses of all persons not residents of the town who communicate with the staff or otherwise comment on the plan. I think the community should be aware that the town may be making payments to intervenors’ lawyers.
5. Consultant Conflicts. The plan and the related process do not seem to adequately appreciate the conflicts of the town’s consultants. The general nature of the process is that the consultants normally deal with regulators on behalf of multiple clients and the town’s positions can be adversely affected by an unwillingness by the consultants to take inconsistent positions. From my limited involvement in the process, it seems that the town is entirely too willing to accept bureaucratic interpretations of the relevant statutes and rules on the word of its consultants.
6. Private Schools. The two private schools should be a greater part of the solution. Both institutions are commercial enterprises that have students from other communities. They have received substantial concessions from the town in the past and may seek such concessions in the future.
7. Political Endorsements. I believe our political leaders should carefully consider future endorsements of local politicians who have track records supporting the legislation or policies creating the issues we are trying to address.

Please let me know if you have any questions. I may provide further comments as the process develops.

To Whom It May Concern:

A quick perusal of news sources suggests what I believe to be true: unlike Atherton or Woodside--or I suspect other similarly situated cities throughout California--the city government of Hillsborough has basically caved in to what is possibly a legally-challengeable law from the state, with no evidence of much attempt to preserve the character--and the property values--of the town.

There is a long legal tradition that shows that rezoning that limits people's economic use can be considered a taking. There is absolutely no doubt that the proposed changes will decrease the desirability--and therefore the value--of Hillsborough real estate by increasing density significantly and also resulting in the destruction of trees and open space. Although zoning changes that destroy value have not been litigated yet, at least successfully, I strongly urge Hillsborough to join with similarly situated cities and pursue precisely this course of action.

Moreover, the denial of appeals of the proposed number of additional units by ABAG or similar bodies does NOT mean that there is no other avenue for redress.

I am shocked and disappointed that Hillsborough's government has taken what I (and others) perceive to be such a limited, circumscribed, and passive approach to preserving the unique aspects and values of the town.

We can, and should, do more to preserve what has made Hillsborough such a desirable, and valuable, place to live.

Hi,

I read through all 150 pages of the draft document and I'm struggling to grasp the so-what of all of this. I'm not sure if that is deliberate? Could someone summarize how this will affect your average Hillsborough (current) resident, summarized in less than one page?

What will be the effect on Hillsborough schools? Taxes? The appearance of the areas near El Camino? Traffic?

For all the proposals that are being made, can we draw examples from other areas that have made similar changes and what outcomes that produced? That would be helpful.

Although means and ends are both important, I think most people ultimately want to know what it means for them in plain language rather than the minutiae of what obscure property act is being followed or not.

From what I understand about the proposal, a focus on ADUs, some plot subdivision and redevelopment of the town hall area all sound fairly sensible, but I'm not sure whether all the second-order effects have been thought through. For example: you can't park on the streets in Hillsborough. So where do all the extra cars go?

Yours sincerely,

Miles

Dear Hillsborough staff,

I live at [REDACTED] and have so since 2002. I built a new home there with a detached 800 Sq' cottage. I also happen to have been in the manufactured housing business for the last 40 years. I have small ADU's on display here in Sunnyvale which is quite nice. I have more models at my display center in San Jose as well. These homes come in all sizes and can be built in six weeks time. They are very affordable and would fit your ADU bill requirement program to a tee. These homes are built to the federal HUD code standards for certification purposes only. Because I am here locally, we have them enhanced and built to a much higher level which even Hillsborough would appreciate. They come standard with steel gurderd floors for superior rigidity. I would be happy to offer my services if and when it would be convenient. I am very familiar with the ADRB process in our town because my wife and myself went through the process when we built our home. Farro Essalat, now retired was our architect.

If I can be of service to assist in any way ADU, please by all means let me know.

Dear Members

I'd like to suggest an additional element (or two)

To encourage ADUs, don't charge property taxes on these units.

Subsidize their construction. Twenty percent of the subsidy could be given for each year, up to 5, that the unit is rented to essential service workers: police, fire, teachers or similar in our community.

I was told that Daly City built a multifamily building and subsidizes half the rent, available to essential service workers. Something like this could be worked out for the units at our Town Hall.

Thank you for your work and for your consideration of these ideas.

Best wishes,

Subject: Hillsborough Housing Element and Development of the Town Center Site

Town of Hillsborough
City of Burlingame

August 30, 2022

To Whom It May Concern,

I am a 40 year resident of Burlingame adjacent to Hillsborough. I see the Town of Hillsborough is studying a new housing element of the general plan. As a former Planning Director and Community Development Director, I can appreciate the efforts and difficulties of local agencies trying to adopt workable housing elements and increase housing supply. I applaud your efforts.

I note that one of the sites under consideration is the Town Center site. Professionally, I think it's a very good site to consider for housing as well as other community functions. That said, it is currently bisected by Walnut Avenue, which is a vital link in the traffic system in this area.

Development of the Town Center site should include a thorough analysis of traffic, traffic patterns and traffic impacts. If closing Walnut Ave is under consideration, impacts, mitigation measures, findings and alternatives to that must be considered as well. One of the alternatives for study should be developing the site without closing Walnut.

In 2006, the Town of Hillsborough formally considered closing Walnut Ave to allow it to consolidate its Town Center site into one contiguous unit. At that time, I submitted a letter to Hillsborough and Burlingame outlining some issues that I felt should be addressed. My comments are a relevant starting point for discussion today. A copy is attached below.

Please include this email and attached letter as part of the record on the Hillsborough Housing Element and any closure of Walnut Ave.

Sincerely,

James Sorensen

Closure of Walnut Avenue

Dear Ms. DeBry:

SUMMARY

- 1) Walnut Avenue should not be closed to through traffic, because it is still needed for vehicular traffic and traffic safety. Closing Walnut to through traffic will adversely change traffic patterns and inconvenience a large number of people.

I don't have an opinion whether providing year round overflow parking and a plaza/park are important projects for the Town of Hillsborough to undertake. If the Town deems them important, it's my opinion they should be done with the least impact on the community-at-large. If least impact on the community-at-large means the project(s) will cost more, the Town must weigh whether the projects are worth that cost.

The Town can achieve its objective of providing year round overflow parking for the Town Hall by paving and professionally landscaping the overflow lot at the northwest corner of Walnut and Floribunda Avenues. This can be done relatively inexpensively and not detract from the appearance of this gateway to Hillsborough. A small plaza/park could be incorporated into this site by giving up a bit of the area devoted to parking. Also, some sort of design could be developed that allows park use when overflow parking needs are low and parking use when overflow parking needs are great.

The Town could achieve its alternative objective of providing year round overflow parking and a plaza/park located on one consolidated Town Hall site by relocating Walnut Avenue. This would achieve its objectives without causing traffic, traffic safety, and emergency service impacts to the greater Hillsborough-Burlingame community. In terms of financial cost, relocating Walnut may have a high price but if the desire to consolidate office, parking, and plaza/park is great enough, the Town should be willing to pay it as opposed to causing impacts and inconveniencing the greater community-at-large.

The Town of Hillsborough should achieve its objectives while keeping Walnut open.

- 2) Should the Town decide to pursue closing Walnut, a professional traffic study and environmental impact report (EIR) analyzing and documenting the impacts of the project will have to be prepared and findings justifying such an action will have to be made, prior to a decision to close the street to through traffic.

INTRODUCTION

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the potential closure of Walnut near Floribunda. The information I have on the proposal is what I've read at the Town of Hillsborough website. In particular, the pdf file entitled "Proposed Walnut Avenue Closure Information" provided the most comprehensive information on the purpose, options under consideration, impacts, and design elements of the proposed closure. If there is additional information available, perhaps you could direct me to it.

The stated primary goal of the Town is to provide additional improved parking spaces to accommodate employees and overflow parking needs at the Town Hall. At the same time, the Town wishes to preserve and enhance the appearance of the Floribunda entrance to the Town and perhaps provide some additional plaza/park space, if extra land were available.

The Town has sent out over 600 notices to private parties and public agencies trying to elicit as much input as possible over the proposal. The extensive public notification indicates a desire of the Town of Hillsborough to thoroughly understand the implications of this proposed project and consider the views and concerns of its residents and those of its good neighbor, Burlingame.

Overflow parking for the Town Hall is currently provided on an unimproved lot at the northwest corner of Walnut and Floribunda. Because the lot becomes muddy during the rainy season, the Town cannot count on its availability for overflow parking throughout the year. The basic options the Town is considering for adding year round parking include: 1) paving, draining, and landscaping the presently unimproved overflow parking lot while leaving the current alignment and function of Walnut Avenue unchanged; 2) relocating Walnut Avenue to the westerly edge of the current overflow lot and then paving, draining, and landscaping the remaining portion of the lot and consolidating it with the abandoned portion of Walnut and the existing Town Hall site; and 3) closing Walnut Street to through traffic by terminating it in a cul-de-sac, with the remaining area of the overflow lot, the abandoned portion of Walnut, and the Town Hall site consolidated into one facility.

OPTIONS

Option 1 – Paving, draining, and landscaping the presently unimproved overflow parking lot while leaving the current alignment and function of Walnut Avenue unchanged.

PROS:

- Town's stated need for year round overflow parking is accommodated

- Town's desire to not detract from the appearance of the Floribunda entrance to the Town is achieved, assuming the improved lot is professionally and sensitively landscaped
- Traffic patterns and congestion in Hillsborough and Burlingame will not change and impacts on traffic safety and emergency response will remain as they currently are
- This option creates the least inconvenience for most residents in the area
- This option is either the least expensive or one of the least expensive
- Project could possibly be categorically exempt from CEQA or at most subject to a negative declaration

CONS:

- Overflow lot and Town Hall site will not be consolidated into one site
- Neighboring property to the west of the overflow parking area may have active parking adjacent to it for more days out of the year
- There may be issues with the existing use of the overflow lot and these may need to be addressed (lights, noise, etc.)

CONCLUSION:

This option has little to argue against it. It satisfies the basic objectives of the project and needs of the Town with the least impact on the community-at-large. With the possible exception of the neighbor(s) immediately to the west of the overflow lot, no mitigations would be necessary. A small plaza/park could be incorporated into this site by giving up a bit of the area devoted to parking. Alternatively, some sort of design could be developed that allows park use when overflow parking needs are low and parking use when overflow parking needs are great. It preserves the existing street system which allows traffic to disperse throughout the neighborhood without artificially concentrating traffic 1) where it otherwise would not be concentrated and 2) where excess traffic carrying capacity is unavailable. Existing traffic patterns would remain unchanged. Existing provision of emergency services would remain unchanged.

Option 2 – Relocating Walnut Avenue to the westerly edge of the current overflow lot and then paving, draining, and landscaping the remaining portion of the lot and consolidating it with the abandoned portion of Walnut and the existing Town Hall site

PROS:

- Town's stated need for year round overflow parking is accommodated
- Overflow lot, space for a small plaza/park, and Town Hall site will be consolidated into one site
- Town's desire to not detract from the appearance of the Floribunda entrance to the Town is achieved, assuming the improved lot is professionally and sensitively landscaped
- Traffic patterns and congestion in Hillsborough and Burlingame will not change and impacts on traffic safety and emergency response will remain as they currently are
- Inconvenience for most residents in the area is minimized because traffic patterns remain the same

- In order that Walnut Avenue intersect Floribunda at right angles, there may be some excess space adjacent to the property to the west that the Town might landscape as a buffer
- Project would be subject to CEQA, but because traffic patterns don't change and traffic doesn't become concentrated in inappropriate locations, a negative declaration would appear appropriate

CONS:

- Neighboring property owners to the west of the new alignment of Walnut Avenue may believe the new road will have impacts on their properties. Additional study (noise, light, etc.) with possible mitigation would likely be necessary to resolve any issues.
- Town believes this to be the most expensive option

CONCLUSION:

Option 2's impacts on the community-at-large are basically the same as Option 1 – de minimis. In terms of financial cost, relocating Walnut may have a high price, but if the desire to consolidate office, parking, and plaza/park is great enough, the Town should be willing to pay it as opposed to causing impacts and inconveniencing the greater community-at-large. Option 2 preserves the existing street system which allows traffic to disperse throughout the neighborhood without artificially concentrating traffic 1) where it otherwise would not be concentrated and 2) where excess traffic carrying capacity is unavailable.

Option 3 - Closing Walnut Street to through traffic by terminating it in a cul-de-sac, with the remaining area of the overflow lot, the abandoned portion of Walnut, and the Town Hall site consolidated into one facility

PROS:

- Town's stated need for year round overflow parking is accommodated
- Overflow lot, possible plaza/park, and Town Hall site will be consolidated into one site
- Town's desire to not detract from the appearance of the Floribunda entrance to the Town is achieved, assuming the improved lot is professionally and sensitively landscaped
- Neighboring property owners to the west of the overflow lot may believe this to have the least impact on them
- Town believes this option will cost somewhere between Option 1 and Option 2

CONS:

- Traffic patterns and congestion in Hillsborough and Burlingame will change and impacts on traffic safety and emergency response will certainly change. Residents who previously utilized the safer, signal-controlled intersection at Floribunda and El Camino will be forced to use the less safe Willow - El Camino intersection or go searching for other intersections, such as Arc - El Camino, Forestview El Camino and Sanchez-El Camino. Willow, Arc and Forestview are all narrow streets. With on-street parking on both sides, the vehicular travel way effectively gets squeezed down to a single lane. Redirecting traffic to these streets will congest them even more. At Hillsborough's request, Burlingame could extend red-curbed no parking zones farther from the intersections with El Camino, but this is only a partial mitigation, restricts already limited on-street parking, and inconveniences residents on these streets. Sight distance is seriously impaired at the Willow-El Camino and Forestview-El Camino intersections. In addition, these and other intersections along El Camino north of Floribunda flood during heavy rains compromising their effectiveness to safely move vehicles through. Left-turn movements from El Camino to Willow, Arc and Forestview will be made more difficult as there will be greater congestion at these intersections. This will expose vehicles on El Camino for longer periods of time to the risk of rear-end collisions or create more opportunities for other types of collisions as vehicles rapidly change lanes to avoid vehicles waiting to turn left. (I haven't seen what Caltrans' position is on this concept.) Currently, the Floribunda-Walnut link serves as an important relief valve for El Camino.

- The sub-option of installing a "not a through street" sign on Walnut but still having the road open via driveway(s) may have a couple of effects. First, if the sign is successful in redirecting traffic, then changes in traffic patterns and traffic impacts would result as noted above. If cars still use Walnut as a through route to the Floribunda traffic signal but instead have to traverse a driveway and parking lot, this would mix through traffic with parking lot traffic to the detriment of both.
- Inconvenience for most residents in the area will significantly increase
- Project would be subject to CEQA and a fair argument can be made that significant adverse and probably unavoidable impacts will result from this particular road closure. Professional traffic studies would have to be done to appropriately analyze traffic flow and safety impacts resulting from this action. A focused EIR analyzing traffic impacts, traffic safety impacts, and impacts to emergency response would be the result.

CONCLUSION:

Option 3's impacts on the community-at-large are certain to be significant and would have to be studied to understand their full extent. Cost of this option may approach or surpass Option 2, if environmental review and mitigations are factored in. This option trades a) critical modifications in traffic patterns, concentrations of traffic on narrow streets, decreases in traffic safety, and inconvenience for a large number of people for b) an overflow parking lot and possible plaza/park consolidated with the Town Hall site. If the desire of the Town is to have offices, parking, and plaza/park consolidated on one Town Hall site, Option 2 (relocating Walnut) accomplishes this without adverse effects on the Burlingame-Hillsborough-Caltrans traffic system. Option 2 may be fairly costly, but if it is really important to the Town to have a consolidated Town Hall site, then it should be worth the cost to move Walnut.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

The state legislature has determined that closing roads and vacating rights of way are serious actions and may only be taken by a local legislative body with authority for streets and highways in its jurisdiction. Both the California Vehicle Code and Streets and Highways Code provide a procedure which must be followed and findings that must be made before a road can be closed, particularly where that road serves more than one jurisdiction. Among the various findings that must be made are: 1) that the street is no longer needed for vehicular traffic, and 2) that the closure is in the interests of public safety and meets various additional requirements.

A fair argument can be made that this road connection is still needed (some would say vital) and closure would not be in the interests of public safety. Since findings must be supported by substantial evidence in the record and given what we know right now, it's difficult to see how these findings could be made and be so supported. If the Town decides to pursue closure of the street to satisfy its need for more overflow parking, traffic studies and an EIR will have to be prepared to fully analyze and document the impacts of the project.

I won't be able to attend the meeting November 15th. Please share these thoughts with the City Council and other appropriate town officials. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact me at james.sorensen@acgov.org or [REDACTED] 0 or [REDACTED].

Subject: Comments on Draft Housing Element Plan for Hillsborough
Date: Friday, August 26, 2022 1:28:19 PM

I have reviewed the presentation of the plan, and have also looked at plans developed by Atherton and Woodside, which are comparable towns. Comments below:

- I do not support a long term plan that gradually reduces minimum lot size to 1/4 acre. This fundamentally changes the nature of the town which derives its attractiveness from open spaces, many trees and a green environment
- I believe the option of significantly increasing the number of ADUs has not been sufficiently investigated. This could be accomplished by a combination of incentives, rapid approval process and encouraging rental of these units. It would also keep the essential charm and nature of Hillsborough largely intact
- Large undeveloped spaces (such as Strawberry Hill) need to be protected, with offsets coming from other solutions such as higher density housing near El Camino and on town owned land

The draft housing proposal, which has a very large impact on Hillsborough has not been sufficiently communicated to citizens who live here. There should be a bigger effort to reach out to our community. The draft proposal and accompanying presentation are dense and not easy to follow. Condense it to a shorter presentation with the most important changes highlighted, publicize it through various online platforms and an email campaign inviting citizens to read the summary plan and comment on it.

The proposed changes to create RD1 are ill advised. The current half acre single-family zoning is exclusionary and racist. The proposal to reduce it to one-third acre does nothing to alter that fact (15 of 554 required units is negligible). Make the change more meaningful, say one- or two-tenths acre, or save it for a future demand. I vote for the former.

August 24, 2022

Dear Council Members,

At this time, I feel compelled to speak up. Having grown up in Hillsborough, I consider myself a long time resident. In all the years, through many controversies and rough decisions the town and school district have had to make, I have never seen a process managed as poorly as this one for the housing element. Committees have always functioned as true committees working together sharing concerns, ideas, and considering possible solutions. I don't see this happening now.

First, residents were informed that if they were already serving on a town committee, they could not be a member of the committee for the housing element. What better qualified people would you want on this committee? These are the residents who are truly dedicated and involved in the town and volunteer their time. They desired to assist and be part of the process moving forward.

I watched two of the Town HEAC meetings and was thoroughly disappointed and upset. After watching the meetings, I couldn't bring myself to watch the rest. All I saw was a long presentation by town staff and a hired consultant. Then each committee member in turn was asked if he or she had a comment. There was no back and forth discussion and sharing of ideas between committee members. To me, this is not truly a working committee. Additionally, there were no representatives from the police department, fire department, public works, etc. All of these departments will be greatly impacted by these proposed changes.

Historically, communications and transparency have been of foremost importance in Hillsborough -- both with the school district and with the town. An effort has always been made to reach out to residents and to make it as easy as possible to understand the "issue" at hand. For instance, when there was a bond issue pending, coffees, neighborhood gatherings, and public meetings were held. Residents could be informed about the proposal, ask questions, and give input before the final decision was made.

As a member of the Citizens Communication Advisory Committee (CCAC) for many years, I can't stress enough how important communication is between the town and its residents. Holding only two town hall meetings is not sufficient. Believe it or not, for many residents, the August 18th meeting was the first time they were aware of the housing element and what it involved. If the Town Council wants the residents to be more receptive, it needs to communicate better and be available to answer questions. There needs to be more postcards, notices, flyers, open forums, signs or any way to publicize what the town is facing.

The community event last Thursday night , August 18th, was a disappointment and more of the same. Yes, each “station” had something to present, but why couldn’t all of the residents participating that evening hear the questions and answers at the same time. For example, if you were at Station 3 you couldn’t share and hear the questions and answers at Station 5. All residents should be hearing the same information at the same time. This prevents confusion, misunderstanding, and provides clarity and transparency.

Writing comments on index cards might be helpful. But if these comments could have been shared with those in attendance, this would have been more informative and could have opened discussion. That is what a true town meeting should be---communicating.

Some residents had never been to North School -- there was no signage from the bottom of the driveway to tell attendees where the meeting was being held. This is a small step toward communicating in a positive manner where residents feel welcome.

The town staff and this committee have been working hard for 8 or so months, so why are there only plot plans drawn for the private properties—Strawberry Hill, the DeGuigne Estate and 50 Brooke Court and not for the Town Hall Campus.? Have or will these private property owners agreed to have their property sub-divided as drawn?

There is slight mention of the Town Hall property being developed, but no visual plan. Why? This will definitely affect the entire community especially those residents living nearby who are most likely facing a large decline in their property value along with a change in their environment. It appears that they haven’t been advised as to the potential plan for the town property. The town staff should be part of the design and planning process to provide input for each department’s needs. Additionally, what are the plans for providing facilities for town departments during this building process?

Has the committee taken into account the affect these changes will make on the general infrastructure of the town? There will be a significant increase on the fire danger in the steep areas (WUI) , the fire department, the police department, the roads, the traffic, and the water and sewer. Most likely there would also be an increase in the student population.

These are my thoughts and concerns. Hopefully more consideration will be given to residents’ true concerns when preparing for the future and not just filling in the boxes.

Thank you to those who have spent many hours volunteering. They deserve to be recognized and appreciated.

Sincerely,

Diana Witzel

Subject: Housing units
Date: Tuesday, August 23, 2022 2:35:21 PM

Dear Committee Members,

Thank you for the time you've spent thinking through our community's housing issues. The proposal to build a 100-unit apartment complex with 650 sft units is one way to go about tackling the problem. A concern I have is that the size of these units is too small to accommodate families who are the heartbeat of our community. I have volunteered with the Hillsborough Schools Foundation for several years now and see the amount of work that goes into getting buy-in from our new families to invest in all of the kids of Hillsborough. But once they do, they feel very invested and help volunteer at the schools, run AYSO, little league, etc. My concern is that small units won't be able to truly accommodate families, and perhaps some will use the rental address as a way to participate in the school system without contributing in a meaningful way.

The quality of the schools are the center of what makes our town special. Have we thought through the repercussions of adding this many residential units that are not going to be family friendly? If the quality of our schools and the community bonds are diminished, then doesn't that decrease everyone's quality of life and property values?

Thanks for reading my comment,
Amy Reisenberg

Subject: Draft Housing Element Goal 4.5
Date: Monday, August 22, 2022 6:03:55 PM

I have major concerns about Goal 4.5 (a), (b) and (c) as written.

To start, as a HEAC committee member, this was never a proposal or policy we discussed. This may be something that one of the consultants chose to insert in the draft. Even considering limiting homeowners ability to redevelop their property is a step too far for me to support.

Why was this inserted in the draft? At whose suggestion?

At a minimum, it is insulting to the HEAC volunteers that this 4.5 is inserted in the plan without any discussion. So in my mind as a HEAC member I have a problem with the substance but also the process on this issue.

I don't believe that the politics in the Town would support using Town budget to fund a study that would potentially limit homeowners ability to redevelop an older property they may own or significantly upgrade or development an investment propriety they own. I think this is politically radioactive.

The Town has a number of ranch style houses that are not very architecturally distinguished and many of them will probably not age well. It will be a major problem over the years if those properties must age in place as they are in the hope that it will achieve some goal.

The private market is making choices about housing values in the town, what houses are in need of redevelopment, etc and I don't favor any study that might impose a system that would dictate losers and winners or impact a private property owner's ability to do what they choose with the lot as long as it meets the architectural standards and zoning standards.

Can't support the draft housing element with this feature.

Thank you.

Subject: Housing Element re Strawberry Hill
Date: Sunday, August 21, 2022 9:15:16 PM

I will send some other comments soon, but this particular comment relates to the conceptual use plan for Strawberry Hill as illustrated on p.101 of the draft Housing Element.

As currently conceived it does not appear that you are intending to envision access to the proposed 170 units (purple affordable housing area) from Macadamia. It appears that currently access would only be from the area at the low end of the site near Eucalyptus and Skyfarm.

This would be unacceptable for multiple reasons:

1. Big danger of people getting trapped if there is a fire that moves uphill towards the affordable housing area in what is a very wooded area. As currently shown on the diagrams, the only exit would be downhill
2. This design would create excessive amounts of traffic on lower Skyline and along Eucalyptus. No public transit serves that area, and residents would need to have a car or use Uber, Lyft etc. We are talking hundred of car trips each day and only one access road.

If and when this draft is finalized it must be amended to show a proposed access road or driveway off of Macadamia into the purple affordable housing area. Such an access point would provide a safety valve and traffic moving toward 280 would not need to be routed onto lower Skyline/Eucalyptus.

Thank you.

Subject: Followup re: Alternative ADU Proposal and Supporting Documentation

Dear Mr. Mayor,

It was a pleasure meeting and speaking with you yesterday at the open house, along with other members of the community, staff, and Council. Attached are files from our conversation, lightly edited for clarity. (Please refer to and circulate these versions instead of the hard copy from last night, if you still have it).

The alternative proposal would emphasize ADUs, as discussed, in a way that will meet state requirements without detrimental impact to our community. Maximizing ADUs is the only feasible and realistic way to meet state mandates in a way that will be broadly acceptable given the constraints of Hillsborough's topography and infrastructure (roads, etc.)

Also, a question was brought up regarding Santa Monica's ADU plan having been rejected by the state. I looked up HCD's rejection letters on Santa Monica's proposal (attached). Bottom line-- there were numerous other issues as well, but the problem with their ADU projection was that they misrepresented ADU numbers (highlighted sections attached). We will not have that problem if our calculations are conservatively based on the permitted number of ADUs in 2021. Santa Monica also has many other fundamental differences compared to Hillsborough (commercial centers, apartment/condo complexes, different topography, etc.)

Please do not hesitate to reach out directly or to put staff or other community members in touch with me if other questions or concerns arise. I would appreciate being able to research and respond. I'm also happy to present a short synopsis to the Council and community at an upcoming Council meeting or at the September 6th open house, if you like. This could be with a couple of powerpoint slides or just outlining the proposal orally.

Additionally, we would be glad to work on collecting signatures from residents committing to develop an ADU on their property. Submitting our proposal to the state with over 550 signatures (each tied to a residence) would be very compelling. Does the town have a way to compile this electronically (e.g., an online collection/website we can direct people to, in lieu of physical signatures)?

Thank you so much; please let us know any other ways we can contribute. It is a privilege to be part of this wonderful community!

Summary

Hillsborough is required to come up with a plan for development of 554 new residences over the next 8 years, through zoning changes and looser permitting restrictions. All cities and towns in California are affected by this state law, and must submit housing plans to the state. The town's consultants have prepared a draft proposal for public comment until September 19. The final decision on what to submit to the state is made by Hillsborough City Council.

The full draft plan is attached, intended to provide for 665 new units (554 + a 20% additional buffer). High-level summary of the proposal:

- Increase Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) on existing properties (Note: this has been happening for years and has not affected the character of Hillsborough)
- Rezone the entire town: reduce minimum lot size to 1/3 acre (from ½ acre) and minimum house size to 800 sqft
- Study the Town Hall land for future redevelopment
- Rezone Strawberry Hill (Regan Estate) to add 187 units, including 172 affordable high-density units (52 very low income)
- Rezone the De Guigne Estate (San Mateo border) to add 24 new standard residences + 48 new affordable housing units
- Rezone 50 Brooke Court (across from College of San Mateo) to add 12 townhouses

The draft proposal prepared by Hillsborough's consultants is flawed and warrants complete revision.

The 20% extra planned units are unnecessary. The proposal relies on a massive high-density affordable housing complex in the middle of town (Strawberry Hill). ADU calculations underestimate the number of ADUs that Hillsborough could achieve. ADUs alone can provide for most or all of Hillsborough's required new housing, compliant with state regulations.

Alternative Proposal

1. Remove the 20% additional buffer, which is not required
2. Use 2021 numbers for ADU estimates, which is permitted by the state.
3. Submit an ADU-only proposal (this is essentially what Atherton did)
 - With or without the study of the Town Hall campus
 - With or without 50 Brooke Court townhouses across from College of San Mateo

Details - Flaws in the Draft Proposal - Overall

1. The town does not need to plan more housing than the state mandate

The town's consultants claim a 20% additional no-net loss buffer is strongly recommended by the state housing department (HCD)—which would increase Hillsborough's housing allocation from 554 mandated units to 665 units. This claim is incorrect. Per the attached document from the state agency, it is "best practice" but not required to apply a 15-30% additional buffer.

2. Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) are underestimated

The chosen approach to estimate future ADUs disadvantages Hillsborough and is not appropriate. The Town very conservatively projects future ADUs based on the past 3.5 years of data. However, the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) methodology specifically prescribes using shorter periods of time when warranted (see attached file). Jurisdictions can use one year of higher ADU numbers if there is a logical explanation for the increase (e.g., loosened regulations), and can even project higher future ADU numbers if a plan to increase ADU production has been put in place.

Hillsborough has met and exceeded both conditions. Per the draft housing element, there was a sharp uptick in ADU permits in 2021 compared to prior years, with more than 2.5 times as many new building permits issued in 2021 vs. 2020 (64 vs. 25) and 4 times as many as in 2018 (64 vs. 16) (page 89). The number of new applications was even greater (89 in 2021, page 18). This has a logical explanation. The town established a process to guide people through ADU review and approval beginning in 2020.

Since the Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA) calculation is based on an annual estimate x 8 years, if the town approves all applications per CA law intent, $89 \times 8 = 712$, which by itself would be sufficient to account for all the required housing units—without imposing involuntary rezoning, etc. Even using a safer approach based on actual number of permits issued ($64 \times 8 = 512$) would provide for the vast majority of Hillsborough's allocation. The remaining balance could be accommodated with 12 townhouses on the San Mateo side of 50 Brooke Court and 30 units across Town Hall campus.

3. Proposed high-density development is not feasible due to terrain and infrastructure

The housing element comments on the rural nature of the town, its hilly terrain, high fire risk, no businesses/commercial centers, no stop lights, streetlights, or sidewalks. It is considered a "mountain route" by the United States Postal Service due to steep slopes and often narrow, one-lane curvilinear streets. However, these considerations appear to have been disregarded in the new proposal. In contrast, other neighboring towns have proposed new housing near transit corridors, strategically located for access to transportation, shopping, etc. and to minimize disruption to the community (including road traffic) and minimize negative impact on property values.

4. Hillsborough's approach is not consistent with comparable towns

We consulted with a real estate attorney, who has ten years of prior service as a planning commissioner, eight years as a city councilman, and two terms as the Mayor of Atherton, California. He indicated that most other Bay Area municipalities have taken a much more measured approach to plan the minimum number of units in a way that makes sense for their communities.

5. Proposed zoning changes are too broad, and their potential impact is underestimated

The proposed rezoning of the entire town to reduce lot sizes to encourage subdivisions and new construction is stated to yield up to 232 additional potential dwellings but is only projected to contribute 15 new dwellings. The town should either limit rezoning or claim more credit for the potential new residences from comprehensive rezoning.

Details - Flaws in the Draft Proposal – Specific Sites

1. Specific to Strawberry Hill (Regan Estate):

Strawberry Hill would be zoned for a large high-density multistory affordable housing complex in the middle of Hillsborough. It was inappropriately relisted from the last housing element, called by a different name, and does not have two existing access roads used to justify the high number of new units

A. Does not meet relisting requirements

The state has imposed new limits on reuse of sites identified in prior housing elements. Per the source California bill (2017 SB 1317 Section 3 65583.2.c), relisted sites must (a) be rezoned to include low-income units and (b) must have realistic and demonstrated potential for redevelopment during the next 8 years. We do not believe that Strawberry Hill should qualify per the latter criteria. The trustee for the property joined the City Council meeting on Monday 8/8. He had not been consulted in the plan and opposed high-density affordable housing as described.

B. Misleading rebranding (called Regan Estate in 2014, Strawberry Hill now)

Strawberry Hill was included in the last Housing Element submitted to the state in 2014. In 2014 it was called the Regan Estate, now it is called Strawberry Hill. This rebranding is disingenuous.

C. More units than in 2014 without justification (from 10 to 187 units)

In the 2014 Housing Element, Strawberry Hill was stated to have "topographical and access challenges" which would constrain development to approximately 10 residences consistent with the character of Hillsborough. These topographical and access factors are unchanged, despite being disregarded in the draft proposal to place 187 residences in structure(s) up to 4-6 stories, immediately adjacent to the historic residence at Strawberry Hill.

D. Access roads are misrepresented and used to justify the proposal

Strawberry Hill is claimed to have two current points of access, used as a justification for ability to have a high number of units while remaining compliant with California rules. However, there is no existing road extending directly from Macadamia Drive to the proposed affordable housing zone at Strawberry Hill.

2. Specific to De Guigne Estate:

A. More units than in 2014 without justification (from 10 to 72 units)

Similar to Strawberry Hill, in the 2014 Housing Element, the De Guigne Estate was stated to have "topographical and access challenges" which would constrain development to approximately 10 residences consistent with the character of Hillsborough. These topographical and access factors are also unchanged, but disregarded in the draft proposal to place 72 residences including 48 units across eight six-unit buildings.

David White, City Manager
City of Santa Monica
1685 Main Street
Santa Monica, CA 90401

Dear David White:

RE: City of Santa Monica's 6th Cycle (2021-2029) Adopted Housing Element

Thank you for submitting the City of Santa Monica's (City) housing element adopted on October 12, 2021 and received for review on November 10, 2021. Pursuant to Government Code section 65585, subdivision (h), the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) is reporting the results of its review. In addition, HCD considered comments from Kenneth Kutcher, Abundant Housing LA, Santa Monica Housing Council, Jason Mastbaum, Tieira Ryder, YIMBY Law, Matthew Millen and the League of Women Voters of Santa Monica, pursuant to Government Code section 65585, subdivision (c).

The adopted element addresses many statutory requirements described in HCD's August 30, 2021 review; however, revisions will be necessary to comply with State Housing Element Law (Article 10.6 of the Gov. Code). The enclosed Appendix describes the revisions needed to comply with State Housing Element Law.

Public participation in the development, adoption and implementation of the housing element is essential to effective housing planning. Throughout the housing element process, the City should continue to engage the community, including organizations that represent lower-income and special needs households and commenters on this review, by making information regularly available and considering and incorporating comments where appropriate.

As a reminder, the City's 6th cycle housing element was due October 15, 2021. As of today, the City has not completed the housing element process for the 6th cycle. The City's 5th cycle housing element no longer satisfies statutory requirements. HCD encourages the City to revise the element as described above, adopt, and submit to HCD to regain housing element compliance.

For your information, pursuant to Assembly Bill 1398 (Chapter 358, Statutes of 2021), if a local government fails to adopt a compliant housing element within 120 days of the statutory deadline (October 15, 2021), then any rezoning to accommodate the regional housing needs allocation, including for lower-income households, shall be completed no later than one year from the statutory deadline. Otherwise, the local government's housing element will no longer comply with State Housing Element Law, and HCD may revoke its finding of substantial compliance pursuant to Government Code section 65585, subdivision (i).

Several federal, state, and regional funding programs consider housing element compliance as an eligibility or ranking criteria. For example, the CalTrans Senate Bill (SB) 1 Sustainable Communities grant; the Strategic Growth Council and HCD's Affordable Housing and Sustainable Communities programs; and HCD's Permanent Local Housing Allocation consider housing element compliance and/or annual reporting requirements pursuant to Government Code section 65400. With a compliant housing element, the City will meet housing element requirements for these and other funding sources.

We appreciate your hard work and the diligent effort and cooperation of the entire housing element update team. We are committed to assisting the City in addressing all statutory requirements of State Housing Element Law. If you have any questions or need additional technical assistance, please contact me at paul.mcdougall@hcd.ca.gov.

Sincerely,

Paul McDougall

APPENDIX CITY OF SANTA MONICA

The following changes are necessary to bring the City's housing element into compliance with Article 10.6 of the Government Code. Accompanying each recommended change, we cite the supporting section of the Government Code.

Housing element technical assistance information is available on HCD's website at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/housing-element/housing-element-memos.shtml>. Among other resources, the housing element section contains HCD's latest technical assistance tool, Building Blocks for Effective Housing Elements (Building Blocks), available at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/index.shtml> and includes the Government Code addressing State Housing Element Law and other resources.

A. Housing Needs, Resources, and Constraints

1. Affirmatively further[ing] fair housing in accordance with Chapter 15 (commencing with Section 8899.50) of Division 1 of Title 2...shall include an assessment of fair housing in the jurisdiction. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(10)(A).)

Sites Inventory: While the element includes some general discussion regarding the identification of sites and affirmatively furthering fair housing (AFFH). The element should still include analysis such as the number of units by income group and location, impact, or lack of, on existing patterns and isolation of the regional housing need allocation (RHNA) to evaluate whether fair housing conditions are improved or exacerbated.

Local Data and Knowledge, and Other Relevant Factors: The element generally was not revised to address this requirement. Please see HCD's prior review.

Goals, Priorities, Metrics, and Milestones: The element must be revised to add or modify goals and actions based on the outcomes of a complete analysis. Actions must have metrics and milestones to target meaningful outcomes and must address housing mobility enhancement, new housing choices and affordability in high opportunity areas, place-based strategies for community revitalization and displacement protection.

2. An inventory of land suitable and available for residential development, including vacant sites and sites having realistic and demonstrated potential for redevelopment during the planning period to meet the locality's housing need for a designated income level, and an analysis of the relationship of zoning and public facilities and services to these sites. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(3).)

Realistic Capacity: The element now lists recent developments to support capacity assumptions, however, the analysis of realistic capacity should also account for recent development by affordability as noted in the prior review. This is particularly important since some development affordable to lower-income households may not be built at higher densities assumed in the inventory. In addition, as noted in the prior review, the calculation of residential capacity should account for the likelihood of 100 percent nonresidential uses.

The element describes some recent trends and concludes residential is very likely, but the information also indicates that 100 percent nonresidential uses does occur (p. F-7) and the element should account for this likelihood in the calculation of capacity.

Suitability of Nonvacant Sites: The element includes some additional discussion of the various categories of sites, market conditions and lists some recent redevelopment activity. However, the element should still include analysis of the extent existing uses impede additional development. For example, the element describes various factors utilized to identify high potential sites but does not appear to reflect all of those factors in the inventory. Further, the element lists recent trends but should also utilize those trends to support the validity of factors used to determine potential. Please see HCD's prior review for additional information.

In addition, for your information, the element relies on nonvacant sites to accommodate 50 percent or more of the housing needs for lower-income households, which triggers requirements to make findings based on substantial evidence that the existing use is not an impediment and will likely discontinue in the planning period. While the resolution of adoption includes the appropriate findings, any changes to the analysis should be reflected in future re-adoption of the element.

City-Owned Sites: The element now lists City-Owned sites and indicates sites can be available for development in the planning period. However, given the reliance on these sites and as noted in the prior review, the element should include some discussion on the potential schedule of availability for development in the planning period and revise programs as appropriate to facilitate development on these sites in the planning period.

Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU): The element now clarifies recent ADU trends to include permitted units and adjusts the number of ADUs assumed to be permitted in the planning period. However, as noted in the prior review, HCD records indicate far different ADU trends than what is indicated in the element. The City should reconcile these figures and adjust assumptions as appropriate. Please see HCD's prior review for additional information.

Small Sites: Sites smaller than a half-acre in size are deemed inadequate to accommodate housing for lower-income housing unless it is demonstrated that sites of equivalent size and affordability were successfully developed during the prior planning period or unless the housing element describes other evidence these sites are adequate to accommodate lower income housing. The element lists some recent trends on small sites; however, these trends do not appear to align with assumptions in the inventory as noted in the prior review. For example, the element identifies many sites that accommodate less than 15 units for lower-income households, but trends indicate most developments that are 100 percent affordable for lower-income households are 15 or more units. Please see HCD's prior review for additional information.

Infrastructure: As noted in the prior review, the element must still describe sufficient existing and planned total infrastructure sewer capacity to accommodate the RHNA and include programs, if necessary.

Electronic Site Inventory: As noted in the prior review, pursuant to Government Code section 65583.3, subdivision (b), the City must utilize standards, forms, and definitions adopted by HCD when preparing the sites inventory and submit an electronic version of the sites inventory. While the City has submitted an electronic version of the sites inventory, if changes occur, any future re-adopted versions of the element must also submit the electronic version of the sites inventory.

Zoning for a Variety of Housing Types:

- Emergency Shelters: The element discusses the number of parcels in various zones but should still discuss opportunities for redevelopment or reuse. In addition, the element indicates parking requirements are inconsistent with AB 139 (Chapter 335, Statutes of 2019) and Program should specifically commit to revise parking requirements.
 - Permanent Supportive Housing: The element describes permanent supportive housing uses are permitted uses but should clarify the uses are permitted without discretionary action. If necessary, programs should specifically commit to amend zoning to permit these uses without discretionary action.
 - Employee Housing: The element states the City does not regulate housing for six or fewer persons and therefore complies with the Employee Housing Act. However, zoning should explicitly comply with the provisions of the Employee Housing Act and programs should be revised to specifically amend zoning and procedures. Please see HCD's prior review.
3. An analysis of potential and actual governmental constraints upon the maintenance, improvement, or development of housing for all income levels, including the types of housing identified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (c), and for persons with disabilities as identified in the analysis pursuant to paragraph (7), including land use controls, building codes and their enforcement, site improvements, fees and other exactions required of developers, and local processing and permit procedures... (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(5).)

Land Use Controls: The element generally describes programs that were added to address constraints. However, those programs do not include specific commitment to remove or modify standards and generally commit to only review and change land use controls if necessary. Instead, the element update should review or analyze those land use controls and programs should specifically commit to address constraints. Please see HCD's prior review for additional information.

Fees and Exaction: The element generally describes that typical development on identified sites will not require a conditional use permit and therefore no analysis of planning fees as potential constraints is necessary. However, the element should evaluate fees as constraints regardless of the RHNA or identified sites. Please see HCD's prior review.

Local Processing and Permit Procedures: While the element now includes Program 1.B to streamline architectural review, it must still evaluate approval findings for impacts on housing and add or modify programs as appropriate. Please see HCD's prior review.

B. Housing Programs

1. Identify actions that will be taken to make sites available during the planning period with appropriate zoning and development standards and with services and facilities to accommodate that portion of the city's or county's share of the regional housing need for each income level that could not be accommodated on sites identified in the inventory completed pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) without rezoning, and to comply with the requirements of Government Code section 65584.09. Sites shall be identified as needed to facilitate and encourage the development of a variety of types of housing for all income levels, including multifamily rental housing, factory-built housing, mobilehomes, housing for agricultural employees, supportive housing, single-room occupancy units, emergency shelters, and transitional housing. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(1).)

As noted in Finding A2, the element does not include a complete site analysis; therefore, the adequacy of sites and zoning were not established. Based on the results of a complete sites inventory and analysis, the City may need to add or revise programs to address a shortfall of sites or zoning available to encourage a variety of housing types. In addition, the element should be revised as follows:

- Shortfall of Sites: Program 1.A (By-right Approvals) mentions various zoning amendment, however, as noted in the prior review, the Program must specifically commit to acreage, allowable densities, anticipated units and meet all requirements pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).
 - Program 1A (Streamlined Approvals for Housing Projects): As noted in the prior review, this program should clarify the allowance of by-right developments for sites identified in previous cycles if the project includes at least 20 percent affordable housing pursuant to Government Code Section 65583.2.
 - City-Owned Sites: Program 2E (Affordable Housing on City-owned/Publicly-owned Land) was revised to issue at least one request for proposal in the planning period. But, given the reliance on City-Owned sites, the Program should have far greater commitment to facilitate development on City-owned sites and in stride with assumption for the planning period. Please see HCD's prior review for additional information, including rezoning pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).
2. Address and, where appropriate and legally possible, remove governmental and nongovernmental constraints to the maintenance, improvement, and development of housing, including housing for all income levels and housing for persons with disabilities. The program shall remove constraints to, and provide reasonable accommodations for housing designed for, intended for occupancy by, or with supportive services for, persons with disabilities. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(3).)

As noted in Findings A3, the element requires a complete analysis of potential governmental and nongovernmental constraints. Depending upon the results of that analysis, the City may need to revise or add programs and address and remove or mitigate any identified constraints.

In addition, while the element includes Program 2.I to amend zoning for a variety of housing types, the Program should include specific commitment to amend zoning for identified constraints related to the definition of households, residential care facilities for seven or more persons, parking for emergency shelters, permanent supportive housing and employee housing.

3. Promote and affirmatively further fair housing opportunities and promote housing throughout the community or communities for all persons regardless of race, religion, sex, marital status, ancestry, national origin, color, familial status, or disability, and other characteristics protected by the California Fair Employment and Housing Act (Part 2.8 (commencing with Section 12900) of Division 3 of Title 2), Section 65008, and any other state and federal fair housing and planning law. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(5).)

As noted in Finding A1, the element requires a complete analysis of AFFH. Depending upon the results of that analysis, the City may need to revise or add programs to affirmatively further fair housing. In addition, HCD's prior review found the City should revise Program 4.D (Rezoning R1 Neighborhoods) with meaningful and sufficient actions to overcome patterns of segregation and foster inclusive communities. In response, the element now appears to only promote accessory dwelling units; an insufficient action given the perpetuated segregation noted in the element. Please see HCD's prior review.

Jing Yeo, Planning Manager
Community Development Department
City of Santa Monica
1685 Main Street – Mail Stop 28
Santa Monica, CA 90401

Dear Jing Yeo:

RE: Review of the City of Santa Monica's 6th Cycle (2021-2029) Draft Housing Element

Thank you for submitting the City of Santa Monica's (City) draft housing element received for review on July 1, 2021. Pursuant to Government Code section 65585, subdivision (b), the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) is reporting the results of its review. Our review was facilitated by a telephone conversation on August 24, 2021 with you, Rachel Kwok, George Cardona, David Martin, Heidi von Tongeln, and the City's consultant John Douglas. In addition, HCD considered comments from Abundant Housing LA, the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, the Santa Monica Housing Council, Jason Mastbaum, Tieira Ryder, Brad Ewing, Matthew Millen, Adam Buchbinder, Ann Paulson, Matthew Stevens, Ken Kutcher, Lee Kaplan, and Haley Feng, pursuant to Government Code section 65585, subdivision (c).

The draft element addresses many statutory requirements; however, revisions will be necessary to comply with State Housing Element Law (Article 10.6 of the Gov. Code). The enclosed Appendix describes the revisions needed to comply with State Housing Element Law.

To remain on an eight-year planning cycle, the City must adopt its housing element within 120 calendar days from the statutory due date of October 15, 2021 for Southern California Association of Government (SCAG) localities. If adopted after this date, Government Code section 65588, subdivision (e)(4), requires the housing element be revised every four years until adopting at least two consecutive revisions by the statutory deadline. For more information on housing element adoption requirements, please visit HCD's website at: http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/housing-element/housing-element-memos/docs/sb375_final100413.pdf.

Public participation in the development, adoption and implementation of the housing element is essential to effective housing planning. Throughout the housing element process, the City should continue to engage the community, including organizations that represent lower-income and special needs households, by making information regularly available and considering and incorporating comments where appropriate.

Several federal, state, and regional funding programs consider housing element compliance as an eligibility or ranking criteria. For example, the CalTrans Senate Bill (SB) 1 Sustainable Communities grant; the Strategic Growth Council and HCD's Affordable Housing and Sustainable Communities programs; and HCD's Permanent Local Housing Allocation consider housing element compliance and/or annual reporting requirements pursuant to Government Code section 65400. With a compliant housing element, the City will meet housing element requirements for these and other funding sources.

We appreciate your hard work and the diligent effort and cooperation of the entire housing element update team. We are committed to assisting the City in addressing all statutory requirements of State Housing Element Law. If you have any questions or need additional technical assistance, please contact John Buettner, of our staff, at john.buettner@hcd.ca.gov.

Sincerely,

APPENDIX CITY OF SANTA MONICA

The following changes are necessary to bring the City's housing element into compliance with Article 10.6 of the Government Code. Accompanying each recommended change, we cite the supporting section of the Government Code.

Housing element technical assistance information is available on HCD's website at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/housing-element/housing-element-memos.shtml>. Among other resources, the housing element section contains HCD's latest technical assistance tool, Building Blocks for Effective Housing Elements (Building Blocks), available at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/index.shtml> and includes the Government Code addressing State Housing Element Law and other resources.

A. Housing Needs, Resources, and Constraints

1. Affirmatively further[ing] fair housing in accordance with Chapter 15 (commencing with Section 8899.50) of Division 1 of Title 2...shall include an assessment of fair housing in the jurisdiction. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(10)(A).)

Fair Housing Enforcement and Outreach: While the element provides an analysis for Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing (AFFH) beginning on page 27, it generally does not address the requirement to provide an Assessment of Fair Housing (AFH) within the City. The element must include the City's ability to provide enforcement and outreach capacity which can consist of actions such as the City's ability to investigate complaints, obtain remedies, or the City's ability to engage in fair housing testing. Additionally, the analysis must also describe compliance with existing fair housing laws and regulations and include information on fair housing outreach capacity. For further guidance, please visit HCD's AFFH in California webpage at <https://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/affh/index.shtml>.

Integration and Segregation: The element includes data and analysis on integration and segregation by race and income. However, the element must also analyze segregation and integration by familial status and persons with disabilities.

Areas of Concentrated Poverty and Affluence: The element includes information relative to Racially and Ethnically Concentrated Areas of Poverty (R/ECAP) but should also address concentrated areas of affluence. The combination of the R/ECAP and areas of affluence analyses will help guide goals and actions to address fair housing issues. The analysis should evaluate the patterns and changes over time at a local (e.g., neighborhood to neighborhood) and regional level (e.g., city to region).

Disproportionate Housing Needs including Displacement Risk: The element includes an adequate analysis regarding displacement risk. Additionally, the element should analyze the trends and patterns for overpayment (i.e. cost burden), overcrowding, substandard housing conditions, and persons experiencing homelessness.

Local Data and Knowledge, and Other Relevant Factors: The element must include local data, knowledge, and other relevant factors to discuss and analyze any unique attributes about the City related to fair housing issues. The element should complement federal, state, and regional data with local data and knowledge where appropriate to capture emerging trends and issues, including utilizing knowledge from local and regional advocates and service providers. Also, the element includes meaningful analysis related to historical practices but should also discuss past, present and future investment practices and other information as appropriate.

Sites Inventory: The element includes a general conclusion of the site inventory relative to access to opportunity. However, the element should address all components of the AFFH (e.g., segregation and integration and disproportionate housing needs, including displacement). The analysis should also address sites for all income groups separately (e.g., lower, moderate and above moderate), whether conditions are improved or exacerbated and any isolation of the lower-income regional housing needs allocation.

Goals, Priorities, Metrics, and Milestones: The element must be revised to add or modify goals and actions based on the outcomes of a complete analysis. Goals and actions must specifically respond to the analysis and to the identified and prioritized contributing factors to fair housing issues and must be significant and meaningful enough to overcome identified patterns and trends. Currently, the element identifies programs to promote and conserve affordable housing; however, most of these programs do not appear to facilitate any meaningful change nor address affirmatively furthering fair housing requirements. Actions must have metrics and milestones as appropriate and must address housing mobility enhancement, new housing choices and affordability in high opportunity areas, place-based strategies for community preservation and revitalization and displacement protection.

2. Include an analysis of population and employment trends and documentation of projections and a quantification of the locality's existing and projected needs for all income levels, including extremely low-income households. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(1).)

Extremely Low-Income (ELI) Households: The element includes quantification of ELI households but must also identify projected housing needs. The projected housing need for ELI households can be calculated by using available census data to determine the number of very low-income households that qualify as ELI households or presume that 50 percent of the regional housing need allocation (RHNA) for very low-income households qualify as ELI households. Additionally, given the unique and disproportionate needs of ELI households, the element should expand its analysis to better formulate policies and programs. For example, the element could analyze tenure, cost burden, overcrowding and other household characteristics then examine the availability of resources to determine gaps in housing needs. For additional information, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/housing-needs/extremely-low-income-housing-needs.shtml>.

3. Include an analysis and documentation of household characteristics, including level of payment compared to ability to pay, housing characteristics, including overcrowding, and housing stock condition. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(2).)

Housing Stock Condition: The element identifies the age of the housing stock and provides basic ACS data on substandard conditions (beginning on page B-17). However, it must also include analysis of the condition of the existing housing stock and estimate the number of units in need of rehabilitation and replacement. For example, the analysis could include estimates from a recent windshield survey or sampling, estimates from the code enforcement agency, or information from knowledgeable organizations. For additional information, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/housing-needs/housing-stock-characteristics.shtml>.

4. An inventory of land suitable and available for residential development, including vacant sites and sites having realistic and demonstrated potential for redevelopment during the planning period to meet the locality's housing need for a designated income level, and an analysis of the relationship of zoning and public facilities and services to these sites. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(3).)

Progress in Meeting the RHNA: The City's RHNA may be reduced by the number of new units built since July 1, 2021. The element indicates (p. F-9) 1,670 approved and 756 pending units (before applying a 10 percent reduction) toward the RHNA but must also demonstrate the affordability of the units. Specifically, the element must assign these units to the various income groups based on actual or anticipated sales price or rent level of the units or other mechanisms ensuring affordability (e.g., deed-restrictions) and demonstrate their availability in the planning period.

Realistic Capacity: The element must include an estimate of the number of units that can be accommodated on each site in the inventory. The estimate may rely on established minimum density standards or include analysis demonstrating how the number of units for each site was determined. The estimate of the number of units accounts for land use controls and sites improvements however does not support assuming maximum floor areas for every site. The element should include additional and clear supporting information on typical densities of existing or approved residential developments at a similar affordability level. For example, the element could clearly list recent projects, the zone, acreage, built density, allowable density or floor areas, level of affordability and presence of exceptions such as a density bonus.

In addition, the element appears to assume residential development on sites with zoning that allow 100 percent nonresidential uses. The element must account for the likelihood of nonresidential uses. For example, the element could analyze all development activity in these nonresidential zones, how often residential development occurs and adjust residential capacity calculation, policies, and program accordingly. The element should include analysis based on factors such as development trends, performance standards or other relevant factors. For additional information, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/site-inventory-analysis/analysis-of-sites-and-zoning.shtml#zoning>.

Suitability of Nonvacant Sites: The element does not adequately address this requirement. The element must include an analysis to demonstrate the potential for additional development within the planning period. The analysis shall consider factors including, the extent to which existing uses may constitute an impediment to additional residential development, the City's past experience with converting existing uses to higher density residential development, the current market demand for the existing use, an analysis of any existing leases or other contracts that would perpetuate the existing use or prevent redevelopment of the site for additional residential development, development trends, market conditions, and regulatory or other incentives or standards to encourage additional residential development on these sites. For example:

- the element should discuss recent redevelopment trends and how those trends relate to identified sites and categories (p. F-2) in the planning period;
- denote the site categories in the inventory, including whether the site is a high potential site;
- discuss why some approved and pending projects do not have high potential and any impacts on their development in the planning period;
- describe recent experience with developing some of the site categories and relate those characteristics to the inventory;
- identify all sites in the inventory with known development interest, expiring leases or other indicators of turnover in ownership that may lead to development;
- support the use of factors such as age of structure and assessor value ratio and reflect those values on a parcel basis; and
- include additional analysis demonstrating the potential for redevelopment in each of the categories

In addition, for your information, the element relies on nonvacant sites to accommodate 50 percent or more of the housing needs for lower-income households, which triggers requirements to make findings based on substantial evidence that the existing use is not an impediment and will likely discontinue in the planning period.

Finally, the element identifies sites with existing residential uses. Absent a replacement housing policy, these sites are not adequate sites to accommodate lower-income households. The replacement housing policy has the same requirements as set forth in Government Code section 65915, subdivision (c)(3). The housing element must be revised to include analysis, if necessary and a program.

City-Owned Sites: The element must include additional discussion on each of the City-owned sites identified to accommodate the RHNA. Specifically, the analysis should address general plan designations, allowable densities, support for residential capacity assumptions, existing uses and any known conditions that preclude development in the planning period and the potential schedule for development. If zoning does not currently allow residential uses at appropriate densities, then the element must include programs to rezone sites pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).

Zoning Appropriate for Lower-Income Households: The element must demonstrate densities appropriate to accommodate housing for lower-income households. For communities with densities that meet specific standards (at least 30 units per acre for Santa Monica), no analysis is required. (Gov. Code, § 65583.2, subd. (c)(3).) Otherwise, an analysis must demonstrate appropriate densities based on factors such as market demand, financial feasibility and development experience within identified zones. The element states (page F-13) that sites identified for lower-income households can accommodate densities greater than 30 units per acre; however, the inventory assigns maximum densities less than 30 units per acre toward the lower-income RHNA. As a result, the element should explain how these sites can allow up to 30 units per acre or more (without exceptions), include analysis as described above or programs to rezone sites pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).

Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU): ADUs may be counted toward the RHNA based on past permitted units in the prior planning period, affordability, resources and incentives and other factors. The element organizes recent ADU trends into three categories: in-progress, permits issued and completed. Based on communications, these categories are mutually exclusive; however, the element should clarify that ADUs are not counted across multiple categories. Also, while information on in-progress may be utilized to inform the potential for ADUs in the planning period, the analysis should be based on permitted ADUs and the in-progress information should be ancillary to permitted ADU. Finally, for your information, HCD records indicate permitted ADUs of 20 in 2018, 30 in 2019 and 27 in 2020. These numbers are significantly less than the City's assumptions. The element should reconcile these numbers and adjust assumptions as appropriate

Small Sites: Sites smaller than a half-acre in size are deemed inadequate to accommodate housing for lower-income housing unless it is demonstrated that sites of equivalent size were successfully developed during the prior planning period for an equivalent number of lower-income housing units as projected for the site or unless the housing element describes other evidence the site is adequate to accommodate lower income housing. While the element lists some recent development on smaller sites, it should relate these trends to identified sites. For example, almost all of the recent developments, particularly developments 100% affordable to lower-income households, had at least 30 units but the element should also discuss typical sizes on identified sites. This analysis should also relate zoning and allowable densities from recent projects to identified sites. Further, many sites appear to necessitate consolidation. As a result, the element should demonstrate the potential for consolidation. Based on the outcomes of the analysis, the sites inventory should be adjusted as needed and programs should be added or modified.

Infrastructure: The element should clarify sufficient existing and planned total infrastructure capacity (water and sewer) to accommodate the RHNA and include programs, if appropriate.

Water Sewer Priority: Water and sewer service providers must establish specific procedures to grant priority water and sewer service to developments with units affordable to lower-income households. (Gov. Code, § 65589.7.) Local governments are required to immediately deliver the housing element to water and sewer service providers. The element should discuss compliance with this requirement and if necessary, add or modify programs to establish a written procedure by a date early in the planning period. For additional information and sample cover memo, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/other-requirements/priority-for-water-sewer.shtml>.

Electronic Sites Inventory: Pursuant to Government Code section 65583.3, subdivision (b), the City must utilize standards, forms, and definitions adopted by HCD when preparing the sites inventory. Please see HCD's housing element webpage at <https://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/housing-element/index.shtml> for a copy of the form and instructions. The City can reach out to HCD at sitesinventory@hcd.ca.gov for technical assistance. Please note, upon adoption of the housing element, the City must submit an electronic version of the sites inventory with its adopted housing element to sitesinventory@hcd.ca.gov.

Sites with Zoning for a Variety of Housing Types:

- Emergency Shelters: The element must demonstrate the BTV, MUC, and PL zones have sufficient capacity to accommodate the need for emergency shelters. This analysis should address typical parcel sizes, opportunities for redevelopment or reuse, proximity to transit, services and hazards. In addition, the element should describe how emergency shelter parking requirements comply with AB 139 (Chapter 335, Statutes of 2019) or include a program to comply with this requirement.
- Permanent Supportive Housing: Supportive housing shall be a use by-right in zones where multifamily and mixed uses are permitted, including nonresidential zones permitting multifamily uses pursuant to Government Code section 65651. The element must demonstrate compliance with this requirement and include programs as appropriate.
- Employee Housing: The element must demonstrate zoning is consistent with the Employee Housing Act (Health and Safety Code, § 17000 et seq.) or add or modify programs. Specifically, section 17021.5 requires employee housing for six or fewer employees to be treated as a single-family structure and permitted in the same manner as other dwellings of the same type in the same zone.
- Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs): The element indicates the City modified its zoning code to ease barriers to the development of ADUs. However, after a cursory review of the City's ordinance, the department discovered several areas which were not consistent with State ADU Law. This includes, but is not limited to, standards for ADUs and JADUs established by converting floor areas of existing structures, as found in section 9.35.025. HCD will provide a complete listing of ADU noncompliance issues under a separate cover. As a result, the element should add a program to update the City's ADU ordinance to comply with State law. For more information, please consult HCD's ADU Guidebook, published in December 2020, which provides detailed information on new state requirements surrounding ADU development; see link: https://www.hcd.ca.gov/policy-research/docs/adu_december_2020_handbook.pdf. Please also note that any applications for an ADU / Junior Accessory Dwelling Unit (JADU) permit must be permitted in accordance with current state law, regardless of the City's adopted ordinance.

5. An analysis of potential and actual governmental constraints upon the maintenance, improvement, or development of housing for all income levels, including the types of housing identified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (c), and for persons with disabilities as identified in the analysis pursuant to paragraph (7), including land use controls, building codes and their enforcement, site improvements, fees and other exactions required of developers, and local processing and permit procedures... (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(5).)

Land-Use Controls: The element must identify and analyze all relevant land-use controls impacts as potential constraints on a variety of housing types. The analysis should analyze land-use controls independently and cumulatively with other land-use controls. The analysis should address any impacts on cost, supply, housing choice, affordability, timing, approval certainty and ability to achieve maximum densities and include programs to address identified constraints.

Fees and Exaction: The element must describe all required fees for single family and multifamily housing development, including planning and impact fees, and analyze their impact as potential constraints on housing supply, cost, timing and affordability. While the element identifies these fees, the City should also analyze the impacts of these fees and include programs as appropriate. For example, the element should address planning fees for conditional use permits. The element should also address the total fees for 3-Unit/Condominium developments (page E-38) and typical multifamily development. Finally, the element should evaluate the cumulative impact of fees on development costs instead of sales prices. For additional information and a sample analysis and tables, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/constraints/fees-and-exactions.shtml>.

Local Processing and Permit Procedures: The element describes the Development Review Permit (DRP) and Architectural Review Board (ARB) discretionary processes (pages E-43, E-44) but must also analyze impacts on housing cost, supply and approval certainty. For example, the analysis should address approval findings such as "...both compatible and relate harmoniously to surrounding sites and neighborhoods", "...expressive of good taste, good design, and in general contributes to the image of Santa Monica as a place of beauty, creativity and individuality.", "inferior quality" "...cause the nature of the local neighborhood or environment to materially depreciate in appearance and value.", and "... compatible with developments on land in the general area." Based on the findings of the additional analyses, programs may need to be added or modified to address identified constraints.

SB 35 Streamlined Ministerial Approval Process: While the element notes the City is not subject to SB 35 (Chapter 366, Statutes of 2017), conditions may change in the 6th cycle planning period. As a result, the element should clarify whether the City has a written procedure and if not, add or modify programs as appropriate.

Codes and Enforcement: While the element provides a general description on implementation of the building code, the element must also identify any local amendments to the building code and analyze their impact as potential constraints on housing supply and affordability

On-/Off-Site Improvements: The element describes the City may require on- and off-site improvements but should also identify and analyze the actual standards for impacts on the cost and supply of housing. For additional information and a sample analysis, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/constraints/codes-and-enforcement-on-offsite-improvement-standards.shtml>.

Constraints on Housing for Persons with Disabilities: The element must include analysis of potential constraints on housing for persons with disabilities, as follows:

- Reasonable Accommodations: The element should generally describe and analyze approval findings for reasonable accommodation.
- Group Homes for Seven or More Persons: The element appears to indicate that some group homes for seven or more persons are excluded from single-family zones and subject to a conditional use permit. The element should specifically analyze these constraints for impacts on housing supply and choices and approval certainty and objectivity for housing for persons with disabilities and add or modify programs as appropriate.
- Definition of a Family/Household: The element defines a Household as “One or more persons living together in a single dwelling unit, with access to and use of all common living and eating areas and all common areas and facilities for the preparation and storage of food and who maintain a single mortgage, lease, or rental agreement for all members of the household (page E-32).” The element should analyze the provision to “maintain a single mortgage, lease, or rental agreement for all members of the household”, whether this is a potential constraint on housing for persons with disabilities and add or modify programs as appropriate.

6. An analysis of potential and actual nongovernmental constraints upon the maintenance, improvement, or development of housing for all income levels, including the availability of financing, the price of land, the cost of construction, the requests to develop housing at densities below those anticipated in the analysis required by subdivision (c) of Government Code section 65583.2, and the length of time between receiving approval for a housing development and submittal of an application for building permits for that housing development that hinder the construction of a locality's share of the regional housing need in accordance with Government Code section 65584. The analysis shall also demonstrate local efforts to remove nongovernmental constraints that create a gap between the locality's planning for the development of housing for all income levels and the construction of that housing. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(6).)

Time between Approval and Building Permit: The element must analyze the length of time between receiving approval for a housing development and submittal of an application for building permits and any hinderance on the construction of a locality's share of the regional housing need.

7. Analyze any special housing needs such as elderly; persons with disabilities, including a developmental disability; large families; farmworkers; families with female heads of households; and families and persons in need of emergency shelter. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(7).)

Farmworkers: The element states (page B-33) Santa Monica does not support the agriculture industry and there is no need for farmworkers. Farmworkers from the broader area and those employed seasonally may have housing needs. As a result, the element should at least acknowledge the housing needs of permanent and seasonal farmworkers at a county-level (e.g., USDA county-level farmworker data) and include programs as appropriate.

8. Analyze existing assisted housing developments that are eligible to change to non-low-income housing uses during the next 10 years due to termination of subsidy contracts, mortgage prepayment, or expiration of use restrictions. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (a)(9) through 65583(a)(9)(D).)

The element identifies certain “at-risk” projects and provides basic analysis and assessment but should also expand the list of eligible entities. Qualified entities are public and private non-profit corporations known to the City to have the legal and managerial capacity to acquire and manage at-risk units. For more information, please see <https://www.hcd.ca.gov/policy-research/preserving-existing-affordable-housing.shtml>.

B. Housing Programs

1. Identify actions that will be taken to make sites available during the planning period with appropriate zoning and development standards and with services and facilities to accommodate that portion of the city's or county's share of the regional housing need for each income level that could not be accommodated on sites identified in the inventory completed pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) without rezoning, and to comply with the requirements of Government Code section 65584.09. Sites shall be identified as needed to facilitate and encourage the development of a variety of types of housing for all income levels, including multifamily rental housing, factory-built housing, mobilehomes, housing for agricultural employees, supportive housing, single-room occupancy units, emergency shelters, and transitional housing. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(1).)

As noted in Finding A4, the element does not include a complete site analysis; therefore, the adequacy of sites and zoning were not established. Based on the results of a complete sites inventory and analysis, the City may need to add or revise programs to address a shortfall of sites or zoning available to encourage a variety of housing types. In addition:

- Shortfall of Sites: The parcel listing indicates some sites will need to be rezoned to accommodate the regional housing needs allocation. If so, program(s) must specifically commit to acreage, allowable densities and anticipated units. In addition, if necessary, to accommodate the housing needs of lower-income households, program(s) should specifically commit to rezoning pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).
 - Program 1A (Streamlined Approvals for Housing Projects): This program should clarify the allowance of by-right developments for sites identified in previous cycles if the project includes at least 20 percent affordable housing pursuant to Government Code Section 65583.2.
 - Replacement Housing Requirements: The housing element must include a program to provide replacement housing (Gov. Code, § 65583.2, subd. (g)(3)). The replacement housing program must adhere to the same requirements as set forth in Government Code section 65915, subdivision (c)(3).
 - City-Owned Sites: Program 2B (Right of First Offer Ordinance): The program should go beyond explore and commit to establish an ordinance or some other similar mechanism. Program 2E (Affordable Housing on City-owned/Publicly-owned Land) should go beyond assessing properties and commit to steps and a schedule to facilitate development on City-owned sites. In addition, if zoning at appropriate densities is necessary, Program 2E should commit to rezoning pursuant to Government Code section 65583.2, subdivisions (h) and (i).
2. The housing element shall contain programs which assist in the development of adequate housing to meet the needs of extremely low-, very low-, low- and moderate-income households. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(2).)

Program 2F (New Affordable Housing Finance Programs): While this program commits to leveraging new sources of state, federal and philanthropic funding for special needs housing, it should go beyond exploring new financing tools and commit to pursue and assist with funding or support funding applications on a regular basis (e.g., at least annually). In addition, the program should include regular outreach (e.g., at least annually) to developers of affordable housing and explicit commitment to assist in the development of housing affordable extremely low-income (ELI) households. Program actions could include prioritizing some funding for housing developments affordable to ELI households and offering financial incentives or regulatory concessions to encourage the development of housing types, such as multifamily, single-room occupancy (SRO) units, to address the identified housing needs for ELI households. For additional information, see the Building Blocks at <http://www.hcd.ca.gov/community-development/building-blocks/housing-needs/extremely-low-income-housing-needs.shtml>.

3. Address and, where appropriate and legally possible, remove governmental and nongovernmental constraints to the maintenance, improvement, and development of housing, including housing for all income levels and housing for persons with disabilities. The program shall remove constraints to, and provide reasonable accommodations for housing designed for, intended for occupancy by, or with supportive services for, persons with disabilities. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(3).)

As noted in Findings A5 and A6, the element requires a complete analysis of potential governmental and non-governmental constraints. Depending upon the results of that analysis, the City may need to revise or add programs and address and remove or mitigate any identified constraints. In addition:

- Program 1B (Streamline the Architectural Review): While the program commits to adopt new streamlining procedures, it should include specific commitments to address identified constraints such as approval findings as noted in Finding A5.
 - Program 1D (Explore Reducing or Eliminating Parking Requirements): In addition to exploring changes to parking requirements, the program should commit to actual modifications of parking requirements.
4. Promote and affirmatively further fair housing opportunities and promote housing throughout the community or communities for all persons regardless of race, religion, sex, marital status, ancestry, national origin, color, familial status, or disability, and other characteristics protected by the California Fair Employment and Housing Act (Part 2.8 (commencing with Section 12900) of Division 3 of Title 2), Section 65008, and any other state and federal fair housing and planning law. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(5).)

As noted in Finding A1, the element requires a complete analysis of AFFH. Depending upon the results of that analysis, the City may need to revise or add programs to affirmatively further fair housing. In addition, Program 4D (Rezoning Selected Portions of R1 Zone Neighborhoods) notes historical practices have perpetuated segregation and hinder fair access to housing. As a result, the program should go well beyond exploring options and must commit to meaningful and sufficient actions to overcome patterns of segregation and foster inclusive communities. These actions should not be limited by the regional housing needs allocation and must include metrics and milestones as noted under Finding A1.

5. The housing program shall preserve for low-income household the assisted housing developments identified pursuant to paragraph (9) of subdivision (a). The program for preservation of the assisted housing developments shall utilize, to the extent necessary, all available federal, state, and local financing and subsidy programs identified in paragraph (9) of subdivision (a), except where a community has other urgent needs for which alternative funding sources are not available. The program may include strategies that involve local regulation and technical assistance. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(6).)

Program 3C: Facilitate the Conservation of Restricted and Non-Restricted At-Risk Housing: This program commits the City to annual monitoring of its affordable housing stock at-risk of conversion to market rate. The program should be revised to commit the City to noticing residents and owners of potential conversion dates, coordinating with qualified entities for potential purchase, and to seek funding assistance specifically for these type projects.

C. Quantified Objectives

Establish the number of housing units, by income level, that can be constructed, rehabilitated, and conserved over a five-year time frame. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (b)(1 & 2).)

The element provides a summary of quantified objectives starting on page 95 of the policy document. These objectives include new construction and rehabilitation but must also include conservation objectives by income group. Conservation objectives may include the variety of strategies employed by the City to promote tenant stability and the preservation of units at-risk of conversion to market rate uses. In addition, the element includes rehabilitation objectives for approximately 58 units in the 8-year planning period, and HCD encourages the City to reconsider increasing these objectives.

D. Public Participation

Local governments shall make a diligent effort to achieve public participation of all economic segments of the community in the development of the Housing Element, and the element shall describe this effort. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd.(c)(8).)

The element describes the City took a two-part approach to public participation: (1) outreach meetings and (2) inter-department collaboration. Based on communications between HCD and the City, public participation was much broader to include all economic segments of the community. The element should describe these efforts, results and how comments were incorporated into the element.

E. Consistency with General Plan

The Housing Element shall describe the means by which consistency will be achieved with other general plan elements and community goals. (Gov. Code, § 65583, subd. (c)(7).)

For your information, some General Plan element updates are triggered by housing element adoption. For example, a jurisdiction must address environmental justice in its General Plan by the adoption of an environmental justice element, or by the integration of environmental justice goals, policies, and objectives into other General Plan elements upon the adoption or next revision of two or more elements concurrently on or after January 1, 2018. (Gov. Code, § 65302, subd. (h).) In addition, the safety and conservation elements of the General Plan must include analysis and policies regarding fire and flood hazard management and be revised upon each housing element revision. (Gov. Code, § 65302, subd. (g).) Also, the land-use element must identify and analyze disadvantaged communities (unincorporated island or fringe communities within spheres of influence areas or isolated long established legacy communities) on, or before, the housing element's adoption due date. (Gov. Code, § 65302.10, subd. (b).) HCD reminds the City to consider these timing provisions. For information, please see the Technical Advisories issued by the Governor's Office of Planning and Research at: http://opr.ca.gov/docs/OPR_Appendix_C_final.pdf and http://opr.ca.gov/docs/Final_6.26.15.pdf.

Using ADUs to Satisfy RHNA

Technical Memo

Background

Jurisdictions are allowed to use ADUs to help satisfy their RHNA requirements; however, the process is somewhat different than other aspects of the sites inventory. The standard method is to estimate the number of ADUs that will be developed in the planning period, then distribute those estimated units into each of the income categories.

Estimating Production

The estimate should be based on the average number of ADU building permits issued each year, multiplied by eight (because there are eight years in a housing element cycle). Most cities base their determination of annual ADU permits by averaging the building permits approved each year since 2018, when state law made it easier to construct the units. This is generally considered a safe harbor.

There is a small amount of flexibility in the calculations. If numbers were low in 2018 (or 2019) but were high in 2020, 2021, and 2022, a jurisdiction could potentially use 2019-2021 or 2020-2022 as the baseline. Because this is outside the safe harbor, these calculations would need to be bolstered by a logical explanation for the methodology, e.g., the jurisdiction further loosened regulations in 2019.

Projecting a higher number of ADUs than what has been demonstrated through permit approvals in recent years may be possible, but more challenging. A slightly larger number may be warranted if a robust, funded, and clear plan to increase production has been put in place. However, you are strongly encouraged to coordinate with HCD before deviating from the standard methodology.

ADU sites are not listed in the site inventory, rather they are summarized and tallied in their own subsection.

Determining the Income Distribution

ABAG conducted an analysis of ADU affordability and concluded that in most jurisdictions, the following assumptions are generally applicable. Many jurisdictions are choosing to use these numbers in lieu of conducting their own affordability analysis.

Table 1. Percent of ADUs Affordable to Different Income Categories

Percent	Income Category
30%	Very low income
30%	Low income
30%	Moderate income
10%	Above moderate

Please contact your County Collaborative Technical Assistance Provider for more information on affordability. A few key points are summarized below:

- Use building permits issued for the estimate.
- Jurisdictions do not need to list the addresses for potential ADUs.
- Make sure the assumptions in your Housing Element match the numbers reported in past year APRs.

Please visit the ABAG Housing Technical Assistance page for more information, including a webinar that covers this topic.

Sample Housing Element Write Up

The following is what a jurisdiction might include in their sites inventory section of the housing element.

Since City amended its ordinance in 2019, the number of ADUs permitted has significantly increased. City's ordinance goes beyond state law and allows 1,200 square foot ADUs. Additionally, the City website has an entire section devoted to ADUs with clear information about the standards and approval process. On average, the building department provides comments to completed ADU applications in 10 days. 2018 is not used as a base year because the old ADU standards were very restrictive and the City did not have much information on its website. Production has been consistently higher since the new ordinance went into effect.

Since 2019, the City has issued an average of 12.75 ADU permits per year, as listed below.

Year	Building Permits
2017	2
2018	1
2019	10
2020	15
2021	10
2022	16 (estimate based on first 6 months)

Based on the annual average of 12.75 ADU permits per year since 2019, the City is projecting 102 ADUs being permitted over the eight year planning period and is using ABAG's survey data to distribute the projected units by income category:

Income Category	Percentages	Totals
Very low	30%	30
Low	30%	31
Moderate	30%	31
Above moderate	10%	10

Based on these calculations, the City is able to meet approximately 1/7 of its RHNA through ADUs, and must accommodate another 598 units on the sites detailed in the sites inventory. See table below for a summary:

	V Low	Low	Mod	Above Mod	Total
RHNA	200	200	100	200	700
Pipeline / Approved Units	0	0	0	0	0
ADUs	30	31	31	10	102
Remaining RHNA	170	169	69	190	598

ADUs and Level of Scrutiny of Other Sites in Housing Elements

Cities that are heavily dependent on redevelopment sites (or technically nonvacant sites) face more scrutiny in their lower income sites inventory. ADUs can help some cities avoid this additional scrutiny/analysis. To simplify: if greater than 50 percent of the lower income RHNA can be satisfied by vacant sites, under construction (pipeline) projects, and projected ADUs, cities can avoid the higher standard.

For example: If the lower income RHNA is 100 and there are ten units under construction and sites for ten vacant units, a jurisdiction can avoid the heightened scrutiny if ADU projections are at least 31 units for the housing element period. (Half of 100 is 50. 10 under construction plus 10 vacant plus 31 ADUs is 51, or greater than 50.)

Subject: Opposing proposed affordable housing- Fight for current residents quality of life
Date: Wednesday, August 17, 2022 2:56:52 PM

Hello,

I'm an very opposed to the disproportionate growth being forced on our small community.

Our town council needs to educate all residents on what is going on. I only heard about this through Nextdoor. Every resident should have been notified and continued to be notified about these changes that would completely change our little town.

The proposed number of additional housing units is very high in proportion to our very low population, so this one size fits all approach does not work in a community like ours.

Hillsborough is a town with only single family homes and schools in it. There aren't any multi family units and due to the very high fire risk and limited water resources, adding that many new residents would put a great strain on our town. Not to mention our schools and infrastructure cannot support this type of growth.

Hillsborough does not have accessible bus lines and mass transit options that affordable housing residents need to rely on.

Our city council needs to fight for the residents of Hillsborough to preserve our towns charm and liability, like they did in Marin and Atherton. What options have you explored to create an exemption for our town? I would like an honest response to this question.

Thank you for hearing my strong thoughts on opposing the addition of multi family housing in Hillsborough and look forward to hearing what you've done to fight to preserve our small town as it is.

Sincerely,
Dana Gross

Subject: Resident Call FYI - [REDACTED]
Date: Tuesday, August 16, 2022 12:05:36 PM

Hi Team,

I just spoke with Silvia homeowner of subject address and wanted to have the convo on record.

She called with great concern wanting to know about the forthcoming “very low-income development project” planned for Town – stating that she isn’t sure how the Town could allow homeless people with mental illness live in Town and how they would transport themselves, and how that could decrease her property value.

I assured her that there was not just some large development being built out of nowhere. And that what she may have heard information about was called the Housing Element Update.

I gave her the website of the Housing Element Draft, told her about Thursday’s open house as well as the one on 9/6, and explained to her that:

the Housing Element Advisory Committee, made up of Town residents, had been working with Town staff this past year on the State mandated Housing Element (554 units) which is a plan (currently in FIRST DRAFT form) to update our zoning code to allow for potential more dense development on sites that met certain parameters (again pls see website and document text for all specifics) – and that the choice to develop a site still lies in the property owners purview.

She had said that about 9 residents all happened to meet on the street one day while walking and they were all very fearful of the coming “very low housing development”. She said the neighbors were from the Churchill, Privet, and Eugenia area.

She thanked me for my time and my very general explanation of the process, reason why this was being done, and better understanding of what “the plan” is – her initial fears were calmed by our conversation.

She said she would share this with other residents when she saw them.
She also said that she would try to make the 9/6 open house.

Best,

Nicole De Lancie

Subject: Questions for the Housing Element Committee and for August 18th Meeting
Date: Monday, August 15, 2022 12:23:20 PM

Hello,

My name is Irina Auerbuch and I live on Butternut Drive, which is five houses up from the back fence of Strawberry Estate.

I see that the Housing Element Plan is proposing building a high number of low and moderate income units on this estate.

My questions are:

- Who the low and moderate income units are supposed to be for? Only for teachers, police officers, firefighters and other city employees?
- How will the land be obtained? Are the owners of the estate willing to sell the land?
- How will the builder be chosen?
- Will Butternut Drive become the main traffic artery from this new development to 280?
- What is the timing for the plan?

I hope you will be able to include answers to these questions on August 18th meeting agenda.

Thank you.

Dear Hillsborough Managers,

Please enter my comments below into the record for tonight's meeting Re Agenda number 9. I am writing to object to the draft on the Housing Element Updates.

Re-zoning residential areas should be off the table, certainly until the Town has met its extremely high burden to demonstrate that all other options have been entirely exhausted.

Once again, we are playing defense, when we should be playing offense (like Atherton)

We need to

1. eliminate the buffer in our plan or reduce it to no more than 15%,
2. eliminate the RD-1, RD-2, and RD-3 zones and the overlay zone in favor of expanding the ADU/JADU allocation,
3. subsidize housing for police, fire, teachers, and town staff, and
4. learn what other towns like Hillsborough are doing, and band together with them to fight for our common interests

Let's please put in the work, and do the right things to preserve our town and not destroy property value [by just talking the easy path out.]

Council members:

Please enter my comments below into the record for tonight's meeting Re Agenda number 9.

Hillsborough is an entirely residential community. That is Hillsborough's hallmark. We have all paid a premium on our homes for that aesthetic environment. The Town must exhaust every possible option to preserve that environment and avoid "re-zoning" any residential area.

The astronomically high new housing allocation to Hillsborough is a problem of the Town's own making and the burden is on the Town to fix it without undermining the character of the Town or impairing our property values. The Town should have negotiated with surrounding areas to adjust the allocation to commercial areas in other jurisdictions or it should have been contested as it is 6-fold the prior allocation to Hillsborough over the last allocation cycle, notwithstanding the fact that the population is decreasing in California. Other similar communities have half the allocation of Hillsborough or even lower, such as Atherton and Belvedere.

The Town must solve this problem by exhausting every option to create housing on Town-owned property first, including Town Hall, the district office, the building and planning office, the construction yards, etc. Then on any non-residential property such as Nueva and Crystal schools, the Hillsborough Racket Club, etc. Then on any open space where a portion could be utilized or segregated subject to negotiation and even purchase.

ADUs and SB 9/10 units should be prioritized to increase housing but with legally enforceable restrictions to preserve Hillsborough's character to the maximum extent feasible.

Re-zoning residential areas should be off the table, certainly until the Town has met its extremely high burden to demonstrate that all other options have been entirely exhausted.

MI if the state Housing and Community Development agency rejects Hillsborough's plan, then Hillsborough should contest that and only resort to the last ditch option of re-zoning residential areas if legally required to do so and only on an egalitarian basis where the burden is distributed equally across all areas in Town, subject to safety exclusions such as fire and evacuation risks and infrastructure constraints.

The proposed RD1 Re-zoning is grossly inefficient. It would supposedly create 232 new opportunities but only generate 15 units. Why rezone 99% of the homeowners' properties for 7% yield? Why Re-zone 99% of the Town when it would only contribute 2% of the overall solution? It makes no sense.

The RD1 re-zoning could be eliminated if Hillsborough set a buffer of 18%. The HCD did not "strongly recommend" a buffer of 20%, rather they dropped a "helpful hint" for jurisdictions to consider a buffer with a low range of 15%.

If Hillsborough imposed a buffer of 17% or 94 units then the plan would generate 648 units which is 17 units off 20% (665) and would more than eradicate the need for any re-zoning for parcels 10 acres or less - which affects 99% of the residents.

Los Altos Hills set a buffer of 15%. Hillsborough should similarly set a maximum buffer of 15%.

Patrick Shannon

Subject: Comments on HEAC recommendations
Date: Monday, August 8, 2022 12:14:21 PM

Dear Lisa,

Please have the below statement “read” during tonight’s council meeting. Thank you!

Dear Council Members,

I completely concur with the opinions below as expressed by Aaron Zornes and other Hillsborough community members.

In particular, the current HEAC draft plan will:

- Open the floodgate to far more negative impacts than what may be needed to address the state mandate, with a point of no return
- Unfairly impact residents that are near the proposed overlay zones
- Target the US-280 corridor that is a high fire hazard zone right next to the crystal springs trails, which should have been exempted as in the case of other cities/areas with high fire hazard.

Please kindly consider the suggestions below to improve the draft plan and minimize the negative impacts to our beautiful town.

Sean Jiam

, Hillsborough

IN OUR OPINION, THE CURRENT PLAN AS PRESENTED LAST WEEK WILL NEEDLESSLY:

1. Change the character of the town for the worse and negatively affect our life savings
2. Compromise further our infrastructure problems including water supply, wildfire evacuation plans, and more
3. Increase our wildfire risk from dire to unwise and catastrophic
4. Create even more danger for (increased number of) pedestrians and wildlife among our dark and winding roads, many with no sidewalks, and
5. Create hazards and nuisances due to increased traffic and projected construction

AMONG THE SUGGESTIONS TO IMPROVE THE DRAFT PLAN, WE URGE OUR TOWN TO:

1. Learn what other towns like Hillsborough are doing and engage with them to fight for our common interests
2. Eliminate the RD-1, RD-2, and RD-3 zones and the overlay zone in favor of expanding the ADU/JADU allocation
3. Subsidize housing for police, fire, teachers, and town staff

4. Get creative and practical in increasing number of units on the large parcels by adding more than one ingress/egress to meet fire evacuation requirements, and
5. Foreswear unduly burdening so-called “transit corridor” ¼ mile within US-280 from being targeted for highest density housing

Subject: Objections to the draft housing element update
Date: Sunday, August 7, 2022 6:16:17 PM

Folks -

First, let me say that I'm so appreciative of the effort that staff, Council members, and the HEAC participants put into the work to provide input to the Housing Element update.

However, I have some objections to the resulting draft, based on things I've learned independently since I participated in HEAC (e.g., Los Altos Hills and Atherton differences with our plan, San Bruno subsidies), as well as feedback from other Hillsborough homeowners with whom I've spoken. As I understand it, for example, Los Altos Hills is not including a 20% "no net loss" buffer, but rather a 15% buffer - HEAC members were told a smaller buffer would not be acceptable to CA HDC. Atherton's plan is composed, as far as I can tell, 100% of ADU's and JADU's, which HEAC members were also told would be unacceptable to CA HDC. San Bruno is working with developers to build housing with subsidies in place for district teachers. I'm surprised this information was not shared with the HEAC - did no one on the consulting team, staff, or on the Council know about how these other similar towns are responding? I do remember asking at least in one HEAC meeting and in at least one survey response what other towns were doing, and did not get this information.

Objections and new proposals

The current plan needlessly:

1. will change the character of the town for the worse,
2. will negatively affect our life savings,
3. is being considered with no possible way of solving the infrastructure problems including water supply,
4. will take our fire risk from dire to unwise and catastrophic,
5. will create even more danger for pedestrians among our dark and winding roads many with no sidewalks, and
6. will create nuisances due to traffic and construction,

My suggestions to revise the draft plan:

1. eliminate the buffer in our plan or reduce it to no more than 15%,
2. eliminate the RD-1, RD-2, and RD-3 zones and the overlay zone in favor of expanding the ADU/JADU allocation,
3. subsidize housing for police, fire, teachers, and town staff, and
4. learn what other towns like Hillsborough are doing, and band together with them to fight for our common interests.

The longer version follows.

Given new information about what is being done in towns similar to ours, I think we should reduce the "no net loss" buffer from 20% to 15%, as was done in LAH, or even lower if we find that other towns are submitting with smaller buffers. This will reduce our required target by at least 28 units from 665 to no more than 637. This should not be objectionable to HDC - if it is, perhaps we can fight, band together with other towns like ours, and only amend and resubmit only as a last resort.

With that reduction, we can eliminate the RD-1 zone from the plan across all of Hillsborough. Leave the current RD zone, with its current definition, in place for all of Hillsborough. My fear is that - some year down the road - there will be a push to reduce the street frontage (including with "flag lots"), lot sizes, or setbacks in order to make this zoning more attractive to developers, and I don't want that day to come. The RD-1 zone was producing only an estimated 15 units, and a reduction of our buffer from 20% to 15% means we don't need those units. Again, if HDC rejects, we can argue our cause, band together with other similar towns to fight HDC, and only resubmit if absolutely required.

Given the information from Atherton, our submission to HDC should eliminate the RD-2, RD-3, and overlay zoning, delivering our full RHNA allocation only with ADU's and JADU's. We can justify a higher target by saying we will allow one JADU and two ADU's for lots ≥ 1 acres, will allow one ADU/JADU within existing home "footprints" and one ADU outside the current building's footprint for lots < 1 acre in size, will allow "amnesty" for existing structures that do not qualify, and will promote ADU/JADU construction throughout the town. Again, someday down the road, someone may push to reduce the limit on lot sizes in the RD-3 zone from 10+ acres down to 1.5 acres, flooding our town with McMansions, construction, noise, traffic, and new students, all without the infrastructure to handle any of this. Our first submission, like Atherton's, should be purely based on ADU's and JADU's, plus building on vacant lots. Again, if HDC objects, we can argue, band together with similar towns, and fight - or resubmit if that fails.

In order to benefit our town, it will be desirable for as much of the new housing units to be occupied by those who work here - after all, this whole state process is (as far as I understand it) based to some significant degree on the idea that workers cannot find affordable housing near where they work. Therefore, I proposed that we investigate what other localities are doing (e.g., San Bruno) to encourage developers to create housing which can be affordable to our Hillsborough police, CCFD fire/EMT staff permanently assigned to fire stations in our town, Hillsborough public school teachers, and Hillsborough town staff. As needed, we can find a way to subsidize their housing while they work in and serve our town in these essential capacities, perhaps by a bond measure, or with fees and surcharges of some kind.

Lastly, based on the lack of information I received during the HEAC process so far, I suspect we do not have sufficient information about what other towns like ours are doing. I'm surprised that the consultants we are paying did not raise these facts as options to HEAC even when asked, and that staff must not have known given the lack of information we received for example on what is being done in LAH and Atherton. Scientia potentia est (knowledge is power), and lack of knowledge is weakness. We need to learn more about what other towns like ours are doing, and we need to work with other towns like ours in our mutual interest.

I would appreciate this comment being referenced in any submission we make to HDC or other public agencies, be read during the upcoming August 8 city council meeting, and be included in the minutes for the upcoming August 8 city council meeting. It's unfortunate that this vital topic for our town is so late on the agenda; perhaps Mayor Royce could postpone some of the less urgent items (such as the resolutions of appreciation, presentation by Peninsula Clean Energy, the resolution relating to the Mack E Mickelson Therapy Pool, the resolutions regarding public works vehicles, the resolution accepting the 3D Tech contract, and the designation of the delegate and alternates from the town for an upcoming conference). Perhaps those items could be covered later in the agenda. Based on my discussions with other Hillsborough homeowners, I suspect there will be a lot of feedback that residents want to give regarding the Housing Element draft update.

I appreciate your consideration of this feedback, and am confident that we all share a common desire to preserve Hillsborough as the special place that it is, and that we all came here to share in. Thanks!

Dennis Moore

Dear Hillsborough City Council:

We are writing on behalf of South Bay YIMBY regarding Hillsborough's 6th Cycle Housing Element Update. As a regional pro-housing advocacy group, South Bay YIMBY works to ensure cities adopt housing elements that are fair, realistic, and lawful.

Per §8899.50(a)(1) of state code, Hillsborough's housing element must affirmatively further fair housing, which entails 'taking meaningful actions... that overcome patterns of segregation.'

The City of Hillsborough is uniquely positioned to affirmatively further fair housing, as Hillsborough is a wealthy, exclusionary city that researchers with the Othering and Belonging Institute at UC Berkeley identify as highly segregated from the rest of the Bay Area. This socioeconomic segregation is caused by the exclusionary cost of housing in your community, where an average home, as of April 30th, costs $5,644,000, which is only affordable to someone earning a salary of $814,000, meaning only the richest 1% of households can afford to settle down in your community. To put a finer point on the level of affluence in your city, the average home in your city costs more than French castles and private islands in the Caribbeans. It is thus no coincidence that your city is 38% whiter than the rest of the Bay, as well as 93% less black and 17% less brown than the rest of the Bay Area.

In a 2021 report entitled 'Exclusionary Zoning: Its Effect on Racial Discrimination in the Housing Market,' economic advisors for the White House outline how exclusionary zoning, like yours, causes segregation. Your exclusionary zoning pushes low income children to live in less resourced areas, which begets worse life outcomes from health to income. The research is clear: exclusionary zoning violates your duty to further fair housing.

To take meaningful actions that overcome patterns of segregation, we recommend you:

1. End apartment bans in high opportunity areas. This will give middle and working class families the opportunity to share in the resources your rich neighborhoods enjoy. As of 2020, your city banned apartments in 100.0% of high opportunity residential areas.
2. Accommodate 1262 low income homes in your site inventory. While substantially larger than the floor of 244 low income homes required by RHNA, 1262 is the number of homes required to bring the proportion of low income families in your city in line with the rest of the Bay Area. While this number is large enough to be politically challenging, it will always be politically challenging to overcome segregation, as AFFH requires.

Thank you,

Salim Damerdji, South Bay YIMBY

Keith Diggs, YIMBY Law
